It is getting to be well understood that no era of prosperity such as we have been looking forward to will in any sense supply the place of the hard work, economy and attention to business which are coming to be more and more regarded as essentials of success. We may reasonably hope for better times, but if they are to come in the aggregate it will be because merchants individually have been placing themselves on an improved footing. Good times do not mean an era of prosperity in which all classes of merchants, the good, the bad and the indifferent will share alike, independent of their own qualifications, but rather when the latter classes have dropped out of the race and the rewards of successful enterprise come to those who have deserved them. Let every man engaged in business strive to make the times for himself as prosperous as possible, by leaving no stone unturned and no means unemployed that will conduce to to his success. Let him profit by judicious conduct of his business; and placing his greatest reliance on such means in preference to any others, he will have no reason to be discouraged by the gloomy accounts of persons less active than himself. When also, the varied industries of the country shall receive an additional and healthy stimulents, he will be in a position to take advantage of the fact, because he has based his hopes mainly on his own qualifications as a merchant, and not alone on the fluctuations of the commercial world.

THE ART OF SPONGE-WASHING.

With regard to that all-important weapon, the sponge, many people have their peculiar tastes. The two particular kinds of this very beautiful and wonderful growth most used are the Turkey and the rock or sand sponge. The Turkey is perferred for its extreme softness, but the great difficulty in keeping it clean makes it undesirable for daily use, except for babies and very young children, who naturally require something quite soft. The rock or sand sponge, which is the common honey-comb, is the best for ordinary bath purposes, for it keeps much cleaner, being more largely perforated than the Turkey, and also cleanses and rinses away the soap more effectually than the other. In choosing one that you wish to be serviceable and wear, look for as white and woolly a one as you can find, with just a few, perhaps only two or three, large holes; this, if a sand sponge, and thoroughly deprived of sand, you will find both soft and tough—desirable qualities. The rock sponges, which are not so common, and very tough, never have sand in them. Few articles of human use are more abused than a sponge, and few things in the cause of cleanliness are allowed to reach such a dirty state. What is more unpleasant than a dirty sponge? It scents a whole room, and the odour is horrible; and how refreshing is its sweet sea-smell when new, and kept clean? If you mean to preserve your sponge as a means and implement of cleanliness, you must never allow it to lie wet; to accomplish this, after thoroughly rinsing it, you must not merely squeeze it, but you must wring it as dry as you possibly can. If it is a poor one and tears—well, never mind, you can now so cheaply buy a new one, if you ask for pantry or stable sponges, which are just as good as the better shaped so-called bath sponges. Besides, it is better to have a ragged clean one, and buy another, than use a bunch of decaying, putrefying stuff, which only gives you back the human grease and dirt you have been so careless and slovenly as to leave in it, till it becomes almost corrupt. There is a remedy for dirty sponges in the sponge-powder sold by chemists; also, slices of lemon laid to steep with it in water form another; and some people recommend vinegar—it should be white vinegar in that case. But the best of all is simple fresh cold water.

Bread at Twelve Cents.

The Montreal Witness says:—A gentleman of Cobourg (Ont.) expressed to our reporter, yesterday, surprise at the fact that bakers in this city were able to obtain from 18 to 20c. per four lb. white loaf. He asserted that in Cobourg the four lb. white loaf sold at only 12 cents, and besides, cash customers who purchase tickets were supplied from bakers' carts at even a lower rate, they being able to obtain a bakers' dozen for $1.44, or at a small fraction over 11c. per loaf. Our reporter has had conversations with several of our bakers in regard to the prices charged here, and among other reasons for their overcharges as compared with western towns, they allege that the bread here is of a better quality than that made west of here, although our Cobourg informant states that Montreal bread is no better than that turned out in Cobourg. However, as a finer quality of bread is urged as a reason for the exorbitant figure being paid here we believe it to be a fact that a large proportion of our population would prefer the Toronto or Cobourg 4 lb. white loaf at even 16. to the Montreal loaf at 18c. and 20c. The baker who will supply a 4-lb. white loaf to the general public at 15c. or 16c., even if he does not use the very best quality of flour, will meet a want of the times.

How to Mount Prints.

Stationers are often called upon to mount prints and papers when it is not convenient—or or not worth while—to send them to the picture-frame maker. The following is the proper way of doing this:—

Lightly damp the print at the back, and place it face downwards on a flat, clean surface. Brush paste (not gum) lightly over the back, so that every part may be evenly covered. Let it remain a minute or two, then take it up by the top opposite corners and place it on the mount, pressing it carefully from top to bottom with a firm, uniform pressure, so as to exclude air bubbles or blisters. Next place over it some clean paper and a flat board, on which place a weight or some heavy article. If the print is to be mounted on calico, a slight frame of wood would be required, on which the calico is strained after the print has been damped and mounted upon it.

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head.

ON A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhoea, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is SCOTT & BOWNE'S EMULSION OF PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. Price 25 cents. d166-w45-1m

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.00! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—6 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable Raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Peese says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, so far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest flavored, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $30 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the Rural New-Yorker it yielded, last season, at the rate of 82 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardiest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kaempferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomoea leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Babb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collection of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of these cannot at present be purchased.

CHANCERY SALE

OF

Valuable Dwellings

IN THE

TOWN of PETERBOROUGH.

PURSUANT to the decree and final order for sale made in this cause, bearing date respectively the 20th day of September, and the 8th day of October, A. D., 1879, and made in a cause of LUNDY vs. PURSER, there will be sold, with the approbation of C. A. Weller, Esquire, Master of the Court of Chancery at Peterborough, at his Chambers, over the Bank of Toronto,

IN THE TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH,

ON SATURDAY,

The 8th Day of NOVEMBER next,

at the hour of TWO o'clock in the afternoon, the following lands and premises, in two Parcels:—

Parcel No. 1.

Being composed of parts of Lots Numbers 22 and 24, north of McDonnel street and west of George street, and parts of Lots Numbers 22 and 23 south of London street and west of George street, in the said Town of Peterborough, owned by the defendant, Samuel Purser, described as follows:—

Commencing at a point on the line between Lots 22 and 23, South from London street, 2 chains and 14 links, thence Southerly 27 links along the West side of Lot 22, thence Westerly 1 chain and 20 links (more or less) to Park street in a line running parallel to London street, thence Northerly along the East side of Park street to a point where a line running parallel to London Street and through the place of beginning intersects Park street, thence Easterly in a line parallel with London street to the place of beginning.

On this Parcel there is a comfortable wooden plastered Dwelling House, with kitchen, sheds and stable. The house is 18x24, with verandah, and contains a stone basement cellar and eight rooms. The kitchen is 12x16, built of wood and plastered, and contains a pump and sink. There is a good cistern at north-east corner of house, the water from which is conveyed into kitchen by an iron pipe. The shed is 20x24, and the stable 18x12, both built of wood. There is a well at the rear end of this parcel for use of stable. All the buildings are in a good state of repair, the house is warm and well adapted for a family residence. There is also a good yard.

Consisting of parts of lots 22 and 23 South of London Street and West of George Street, Peterborough, owned by defendant Samuel Purser, described as follows:—

Commencing at a point on the line between lots 22 and 23, south from London street 1 chains and 14 links, thence Westerly 2 chains and [illegible] links, more or less, to Park street in a line running parallel to London street, thence Northerly along the East side of Park street to a point where a line running parallel to London street and through a point on the line between lots 22 and 23, and south from London street 1 chain and 60 links, intersects Park street, thence Easterly to a point on the line between lots 22 and 23, 1 chain and 60 links South from London street, thence Southerly along the Western limit of lot 23 to the place of beginning.

On this Parcel there is a Plastered Dwelling House 24 x 20 with stone foundation which contains eight rooms, there is also a woodshed and pump in rear of the house, all in fair condition.

These properties are situated within fifteen minutes walk of the Post Office, and are in a most desirable locality.

Each Parcel will be offered for sale subject to a reserved bid, which has been fixed by the said Master.

TERMS:—Ten per cent. down, and the balance in one month from the day of sale without interest. In all other respects the terms and conditions of sale will be the standing conditions of the Court of Chancery.

Further particulars and conditions of sale may be had gratis on application at the law offices of H. H. Smith, Scott & Edwards, George Dunsford, and at the Master's office, Peterborough.

Dated at Peterborough, this 15th day of October, 1879.

A LARGE QUANTITY OF OLD NEWSPAPERS, suitable for wrapping parcels in, for sale at the REVIEW STATIONERY STORE, No. 4, Market Block.

TILLIETUDLEM.

Air—"Paddy's Wedding."

Belle, dear,
I feel so queer,
It's all the same [illegible] I try.
Abroad, abed,
You're in my head,
And fill my heart with one great sigh.
Bright as May,
Appears the day,
Yet, strange to say, I feel quite glum.
Och! Belle, my joy,
Recall the joy,
Of our trip to Tillietudlem.

Hot as fire,
Is my desire,
To press you to my heaving breast;
It's the only cure,
I'm certain sure,
Will ever bring it peaceful rest.
[illegible]
[illegible]
Close as a stamp with extra gum.
I'd kiss your eye,
And [illegible]
Than I did at Tillietudlem.

In despair,
I ask you, dear,
To try and soothe my aching heart;
[illegible]
In fact undone,
Since the day we had to part.
Can't you conspire
To get a wire
That would reach from where you are to me?
'Twould be so nice,
Just in a trice,
To speak with electricity.

I must be done,
Though scarce begun,
Speech cannot give me any ease;
The only food
Would do me good
Is to give you just one jolly squeeze.
Now don't be shy,
But send reply,
Quick as the postboy's fit to come,
And I'll remain,
Always the same,
Yours truly, Tillietudlem.

GOOD LUCK IN FARMING.

W. I. CHAMBERLAIN.

"You've had prime good luck with your young maples, ha'n't ye?"

I was so busy trimming the roadside hedge that I had hardly noticed the coming of the waggon, whence the voice proceeded. Now I looked up. It was rather a "shackley rig," and the speaker looked the worse for the wear. I didn't recognise him, though he was probably one of my "neighbors" living a few miles further back from town.

"Yes," I replied "first-rate luck. Only one has failed out of 175, and I guess that will make out to live yet. And my apple trees and peach trees all lived,"—

"Wall," he replied, "that's jest the way some folks always do seem to have luck, but I never did. Once in a while I take a fit to have an orchard or some shade trees, but it's no good. What don't die the first year, mostly give in the second, and there ain't enough left to fuss with. Get up Polly!"

As he drove on toward town I fell to trimming the hedge again, and so thinking wherein my "luck" consisted. In the first place, I had the bad luck to have a wretched clay roadside to set the trees in. It had been cut up by wheels in muddy weather till it dried up as hard as the middle of the road. But I had the "good luck to work over it three seasons, plowing, manuring and working until it became quite respectable. Then I had the luck to take maples from the nursery, well used to sunshine and ordinary soil, and to take them up carefully and have them in the ground again before the rootlets were dried at all. I also had the luck to have by each tree a bushel or more of the best soil on my farm to put around the roots before filling in any of this roadside soil, even though much improved. The trees were set in October. I had the bad luck to have a most severe April and May drought, but the good luck to mulch the trees and draw waggon-loads of water from my pond and thoroughly soak the ground above the roots of each tree with eight or ten gallons of water at a single watering. It did not need to be repeated, and when the abundant rains came, the last of May, the trees had the "luck" to be [illegible] and ready to start on with a leap, as if they had never been transplanted. But for the preparation of the [illegible] soil and the mulching and the heavy watering, these probably would not at the end of this severe drought have "been enough trees left to fuss with."

The truth about it is, that most of the "good luck" in farming and gardening is simply the result of good management and faithful, persistent industry. Good luck wintering cows means warm, well ventilated stables, good feed, regular feeding and careful handling and attendance. Good luck with early spring lambs, means careful previous management of the ewes, warm quarters and prompt attention when the lambs are dropped. Good luck selling them to the butcher, means that they are of the proper mutton breeds, and thrifty and well-fattened; and also a knowledge of the markets and the ability to hold if you cannot sell to advantage. Good luck with fruit, means a selection of varieties adapted to the given soil, climate and market, good thorough culture, and care in handling and sagacity in marketing. Good luck marketing butter, means good "butter breeds" of cows, good feed and feeding, scrupulous neatness from the milk-pail to the churn and butter crock or package, and a knowledge of the markets and of the value of the product. Good luck in curing hay, means good implements and barns, and sagacity in prognosticating the weather, or sense to read the prognostications of "Old Probabilities." Good luck raising wheat, means a rich, warm, well-drained soil, proper preparation of the ground and good seed and good sowing and spring tillage with the smoothing harrow or other harrow. A shrewd neighbor said to me; "Winter-killing of wheat is only another name for poverty of soil."

And so we might go through the entire catalogue of farm and garden processes and products. Good luck seems to be a compound, which in the "last analysis" resolves into sagacity, industry and perseverance. These three things, in agriculture and horticulture as well as in business and the professions, seem always to be rewarded. Elsewhere as well as in the law it is true, as Webster said, "There's always room up higher."

An Instructive Case of Diphtheria.

A few weeks ago a little child, whose father, a widower, lived at the time on Ontario-st., was taken ill with diphtheria of such a virulent type that it died in a very short time. Three other children of the same family were almost immediately seized by the same disorder, and on the advice of their friends the father removed them to the Hospital. The housekeeper, who had also become slightly affected, was sent to the same institution. Under the care of the officers there the woman soon recovered and went back to the house to clean it up for the reception of the children, who were also regaining their health. She, however, had not been in the house long before she was again attacked by the disease in a most malignant form, and had to be again removed to the Hospital, where she remained some time before she was cured. An investigation made subsequently revealed the fact that the drain under the house in which the family had been living was broken, thus allowing the poisonous gases to permeate the atmosphere of every room. It was a clear case of sewage poisoning.—Globe.

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 5.—The market to-day was one of the old time ones. At times very animated. The teams began to arrive at half past seven o'clock and at eight o'clock a large number of country waggons had arrived, especially with butter. At 10 o'clock, while standing in one of the Town Council Chamber windows, no less than 90 kegs of butter could be seen awaiting a turn for weighing, while a large number of kegs had already been weighed and gone into the store houses. This number, in the square, was increased up to eleven o'clock. The price to-day was steady at quotations, 18 @ 20c. for prime although 20½ was paid for some extra prime, fresh roll butter same as prime. Eggs, not plenty, but sold at 16c. Tallow made its appearance, 7c. was asked, not sold at 11 o'clock, the price asked being above the market. Beef was abundant, $4.00 @ $5.00 per hundred asked, the market price being $4.00 @ $4.50. Pork, plenty, at $4.50 @ $5.00. Mutton, abundant, no change in price to note. Chickens dropped back to 25 @ 30c. per pair, some lots, however, sold for less; they were abundant as also were geese which sold at 40 @ 45c. each. Turkeys, in fair supply, at 45 @ 50c. for about 10 pounds each. Ducks, in fair supply, at 45 @ 50c. Potatoes, in moderate supply, at 65 @ 70c. per bag. Turnips and carrots, plenty, no change. Apples not so plentiful at 70 @ 75c. per bag. Hay, abundant and slow sale at $6.00 @ $7.00, mostly at $6.00, while some loads were sold at $6.50. Straw, $2.00 per load or $2.50 and $3.00 per ton. Hides $6.00 and $6.50. Sheep pelts 75 and 85c. each. Wood, soft, unsawed, $1.75. Hardwood, no change in price. Oats, no change in price to note. Wheat receipts light, prices are a little better and we quote for fall $1.16 and $1.18, and for spring $1.12 and $1.15. No barley in. It was, taking it altogether, the best Wednesday market we have had this season.

The Right of Aliens to Hold Property.

A time-honored rule of English real property law, which our forefathers followed for a while in the States, forbade an alien to acquire, hold, or convey real property. There was no two-thirds about the matter. He could not acquire title, and his deed or will was void. The whole land escheated to Government. But there is scarcely anything left of this doctrine. In the various States laws have been passed enabling aliens to hold lands. According to a trustworthy compilation make in 1871, twenty-five of the States have practically abolished the common law rule, and enabled aliens (some of the laws say resident aliens) to own and convey lands like citizens. Eight more, New York being one, gave the privilege in a limited or peculiar way. Two only retained the common law disability. If there have been changes since 1871, they have undoubtedly been in the direction of enlarging the alien's right. In Great Britain and Ireland the disability was removed, as respects all acquisitions afterward made of property within the United Kingdom, by an act of Parliament passed in 1870. It declares that real and personal property may be acquired and disposed of by, or transmitted through, an alien in the same manner as if he were a British subject.—Am. Paper.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FATHER CHINIQUY is having lively times in Australia. In towns where he has been the houses of several of his hosts were wrecked, and when he tried to lecture he was hooted and mobbed. At Hobart Town the militia were called out and the Riot Act read before he could get a hearing.

IT is said that the man who hanged Clark Brown at Cornwall on Tuesday last was very badly handled by a mob, and that the man's name was English, formerly a whiskey detective in Toronto. At the time he hanged Williams, two years ago, he said that he took the job so as to earn money to get out of the country.

A YOUNG man of Truro, N. S., had a hair-breadth escape from instant death while engaged in marking for target practice a few days ago. After going into his butt he reappeared near the target, when a bullet fired from the 200 yard point went entirely through his body, between one arm-pit and the collar-bone. He is now out of danger. The proper use of danger flags at firing and marking points should be rigidly enforced.

ANOTHER DEATH ATTRIBUTED TO DENTISTRY.—A despatch from Lexington, Ky., 22nd, to the Cincinnati Enquirer says: "Some months ago a young married man named Wm. Hale had a [illegible]. As is well known by the dental profession, the agent generally employed to produce this effect is arsenic. The application became a worse irritant than the former exposed condition of the nerve, and the pain and swelling increased, so that the tooth had to be extracted. But the suppuration which had set in did not cease with the loss of the tooth. It went on spreading and devouring bone and muscle in its progress until at last the whole head and face became envolved, presenting a frightful aspect, and causing the death of the patient last Saturday morning."

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents per week.

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem [illegible] "Cold Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable.

Stop that Cough.

HAGYARD'S PECTORAL BALSAM is composed of the most healing balsams and gums. The balsams, which enter into its composition, were used by natives when America was first discovered, and are combined with other vegetable tonics, so blended together, that it is a specific for all affections of the throat and lungs. Thousands of bottles are used annually, and it is considered one of the standard preparations of the day. For Coughs, Colds, etc. For sale by all dealers at 25cts. per bottle.

The most perilous hour of a person's life is when he is tempted to despond. No one should despond—not even the young man who is enfeebled, both mentally and physically, by habits of early discretion, as Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi will cure the most distressing case of kidney disease, etc. For sale by all dealers, at $1 per bottle.

REGULATIONS

RESPECTING THE DISPOSAL OF CERTAIN

PUBLIC LANDS

FOR THE PURPOSES OF THE

Canadian Pacific Railway

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
OTTAWA, Oct. 14, 1879.

Public notice is hereby given that the following provisions, which shall be held to apply to the lands in the Province of Manitoba, and in the territories to the west and north-west thereof, are substituted for the Regulations, dated the 9th July last, governing the mode of disposing of the Public Lands situate within 110 (one hundred and ten) miles on each side of the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which said Regulations are hereby superseded:—

1. "Until further and final survey of the said railway has been made west of the Red River, and for the purposes of these provisions, the line of the said railway shall be assumed to be on the fourth base westerly to the intersection of the said base by the line between ranges 21 and 22 west of the first principle meridian, and thence in a direct line to the confluence of the Shell River with the River Assiniboine.

2. "The country lying on each side of the line of railway shall be respectively divided into belts, as follows:—

"(1) A belt of five miles on either side of the railway, and immediately adjoining the same, to be called Belt A;

"(2) A belt of fifteen miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt A, to be called Belt B;

"(3) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt B, to be called Belt C;

"(4) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt C, to be called Belt D; and

"(5) A belt of fifty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt D, to be called belt E.

3. "The even-numbered sections in each township throughout the several belts above described shall be open for entry as homesteads and pre-emptions of 160 acres each respectively.

4. "The odd-numbered sections in each of such Townships shall not be open to homestead or pre-emption, but shall be specially reserved and designated as Railway Lands.

5. "The Railway Lands within the several belts shall be sold at the following rates, viz:—In Belt A, $5 (five dollars) per acre; in Belt B, $4 (four dollars) per acre; in Belt C, $3 (three dollars) per acre; in Belt D, $2 (two dollars) per acre; in Belt E, $1 (one dollar) per acre; and the terms of sale of such lands shall be as follows, viz:—One-tenth in cash at the time of purchase; the balance in nine equal instalments, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum on the balance of purchase money from time to time remaining unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

6. "The Pre-emption Lands within the several belts shall be sold for the prices and on the terms respectively as follows:—In the Belts A, B and C, at $2.50 (two dollars and fifty cents) per acre; in Belt D, at $2 (two dollars) per acre; and in Belt E, at $1 (one dollar) per acre. The terms of payment to be four-tenths of the purchase money, together with interest on the latter at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, to be paid at the end of three years from the date of entry; the remainder to be paid in six equal instalments annually from and after the said date, with interest at the rate above mentioned on such portions of the purchase money as may remain unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

7. "All payments for Railway Lands, and also for Pre-emption Lands, within the several Belts, shall be in cash, and not in scrip or military or police bounty warrants.

8. "All moneys received in payment of Pre-emption Lands shall inure to and form part of the fund for railway purposes, in a similar manner to the moneys received in payment of the Railway Lands.

9. "These provisions shall be retroactive so far as relates to any and all entries of Homestead and Pre-emption Lands, or sales of Railway Lands obtained or made under the Regulations of the 9th of July, hereby superseded; any payments made in excess of the rate hereby fixed shall be credited on account of sales of such lands.

10. The Order-in-Council of the 9th of November, 1877, relating to the settlement of the lands in Manitoba which had been previously withdrawn for Railway purposes, having been cancelled, all claims of persons who settled in good faith on lands under the said Order-in-Council shall be dealt with under these provisions, as to price of Pre-emptions, according to the belt in which such lands may be situate. Where a person may have taken up two quarter-sections under the said Order-in-Council, he may retain the quarter-section upon which he has settled, has a Homestead, and the other quarter-section as a Pre-emption, under these provisions, irrespective of whether such Homestead and Pre-emption may be found to be upon an even-numbered section or otherwise. Any moneys paid by such person on account of the lands entered by him under the said Order-in-Council, will be credited to him on account of his Pre-emption purchase, under these provisions. A person who may have taken up one quarter-section under the Order-in-Council mentioned will be allowed to retain the same as a Homestead, and will be permitted to enter a second quarter-section as a Pre-emption, the money paid on account of the land previously entered to be credited to him on account of such Pre-emption.

11. "All entries of lands shall be subject to the following provisions respecting the right of way of the Canadian Pacific Railway, or of any Government colonization railway connected therewith, viz:

a "In the case of the railway crossing land entered as a Homestead, the right of way thereon, and also any land which may be required for station purposes, shall be free to the Government.

b "Where the railway crosses Pre-emptions or railway Lands, entered subsequent to the date hereof, the Government may take possession of such portion thereof as may be required for right of way or for station grounds or ballast pits, and the owner shall only be entitled to claim payment for the land so taken, at the same rate per acre as he may have paid the Government for the same.

c "In case, on the final location of the railway through lands unsurveyed, or surveyed but not entered for at the time, a person is found in occupation of land which it may be desirable in the public interest to retain, the Government reserves the right to take possession of such land, paying the squatter the value of any improvements he may have made thereon.

12. "Claims to Public Lands arising from settlement after the date hereof, in territory unsurveyed at the time of such settlement, and which may be embraced within the limits affected by the above policy, or by the extension thereof in the future over additional territory, will be ultimately dealt with in accordance with the terms prescribed above for the lands in the particular belt in which such settlement may be found to be situate, subject to the operations of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

13. "All entries after the date hereof of unoccupied lands in the Saskatchewan Agency, will be considered as provisional until the railway line through that part of the territories has been located, after which the same will be finally disposed of in accordance with these provisions, as the same may apply to the particular belt in which such lands may be found to be situated, subject, as above, to the operation of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

14. "With a view to encouraging settlement by cheapening the cost of building material, the Government reserves the right to grant licenses, renewable yearly, under Section 52 of the 'Dominion Lands Act, 1879,' to cut merchantable timber on any lands situated within the several belts above described, and any settlement upon, or sale of lands within, the territory covered by such licenses, shall for the time being be subject to the operation of such licenses.

15. "The above provisions, it will, of course, be understood will not affect sections 11 and 29, which are public school lands, or sections 8 and 26, Hudson's Bay Company's lands.

"Any further information necessary may be obtained on application at the Dominion Lands Office, Ottawa, or from the agent of Dominion Lands, Winnipeg, or from any of the local agents in Manitoba or the Territories.

By order of the Minister of the Interior,

J. S. DENNIS,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

LINDSAY RUSSELL,
Surveyor General.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1879.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

I. O. F.

Court Peterborough will meet to-night at the hall on Water Street.

The Daily Evening Review.

There will be no issue of the DAILY EVENING REVIEW to-morrow on account of the holiday.

Thanksgiving Day.

The Governor-General having proclaimed to-morrow as a day of thanksgiving for the harvest, it will be observed generally a public holiday.

Fancy Slippers.

Messrs. Foot & McWhinnie are making a specialty of gentlemen's fancy slippers, of which, as in other lines, they have a well-assorted stock.

The Midland Central Poultry Association.

The Midland Central Poultry Association hold their regular meeting to-morrow (Thursday) evening, in the Constable's room, Town Hall, at half-past seven o'clock.

Donation.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Fire Brigade, held last evening, the sum of $20 was presented to their band towards buying new instruments. The band tendered the brigade a hearty and unanimous vote of thanks for their kindness.

The Snow By-Law.

The Town Council having at length passed a snow by-law, snow shovels will be at a premium, and pedestrians will have a free use of the sidewalk in winter as well as in summer. There are a very few inveterate grumblers, who object to this improvement. The by-law will be published for the information of the public.

Carswell Lodge No. 411, I. O. G. T.

This young and growing lodge will hold its first regular meeting in the new quarter, in Friendship Hall, George Street, on Thursday evening. The services will consist of the installation of officers, report of officers, &c., and an entertaining literary programme will be given. All Good Templars are invited to be present and participate.

Mechanics' Institute.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Mechanics' Institute on Tuesday evening, the Property Committee reported in favour of accepting an offer from Mr. Robt. Nicholls, of rooms for the Institute in the building formerly occupied by the Ontario Bank on Water street. The report was adopted and the Committee was authorized to make the arrangements for the removal.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are, Moderate to fresh southerly to easterly winds; cloudy to partly cloudy milder weather with snow flurries or local showers. In Peterborough the morning opened with a very moderate wind from the north west; partly cloudy to clearing weather. The snow yielding under the mild influences of the sun.

The Port Hope "Evening News."

Port Hope has now a third daily newspaper, which is certainly over-supplying the market with a vengeance, and some one will have to suffer. The latest comer, the Port Hope Evening News, is a neat, well printed little sheet, with plenty of advertising patronage at present. It is hardly fair to judge from a first number, but the absence of telegraphic news if continued, must surely prejudice this new journal, as compared with its more enterprising contemporaries. There must be a very fair opportunity of sinking a few thousand dollars.

Annual Meeting of the St. Andrew's Society

The attention of members of the above Society is called to a notice of the annual meeting to be held on Wednesday evening next, 12th instant, at eight o'clock in the Court Room adjoining the Council Chamber. The election of officers for the ensuing year will take place and the manner of celebrating the approaching anniversary will be discussed. As this is the most important meeting of the year every member should endeavor to be present, and have a voice in the management of the affairs of the Society. All should remember the date and be present at an early hour.

Peterborough Lodge, No. 360, I. O. G. T.

This lodge held its first meeting in its new quarters in the Orange Hall, on Water street, on Monday evening, when the following officers were duly installed:—H. Nesbitt, Lodge Deputy acting as G. W. Chief Templar and N. Lee, P.W. Chief Templar; acting Grand W. Marshal; N. Lee, P.W. Chief Templar; Edward Hawthorn, W. Chief Templar; Mrs. John Mowry, Vice Templar; Robt. Wier, Chap.; Mrs. H. Nesbitt, Secretary; Robt. Green, Assistant Secretary; H. Nesbitt, Financial Secretary; John Mowry, Treasurer; Robt. Stewart, Marshal; Miss Jennie Wilson, Inside Guard; Thos. Brown, Outside Guard; Miss Mary Payne and Miss Elliott, Right and Left Supporters; Miss Nettie Martyn, Organist. The literary exercises and music were interesting.

Oriental Pottery.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Messrs. Brownscombe & Goodfellow are prepared to supply ladies desiring to beautify their homes with Oriental pottery, with the article either finished or in an unfinished state, in order that they may display their own taste in its decoration. This handsome ware is very becoming in drawing-rooms for corner pieces and on mantles, and is now quite fashionable in the States. Since the Central Exhibition, Oriental pottery of various kinds has been coming more and more into use for this purpose, and even schools have been devoting some attention to teaching ladies the art of decorating their own ware. As the exercise of the taste required is both pleasing and commendable, we have no doubt but that Messrs. Brownscombe & Goodfellow will receive that liberal patronage which their beautiful exhibit at the late Central Exhibition proves them to be worthy of.

A Rare Chance.

By an advertisement in another column it will be seen that we have arranged with the publishers of the Rural New Yorker to supply it to the readers of the REVIEW on unusually favourable terms. The Rural is unquestionably one of the best, if not the best weekly paper of the kind published on the continent. Its contents are not only varied, but every number contains something of interest for every member of the family, old and young, male and female, and it only requires to be known to be appreciated. We venture to predict that those who take it for the year 1880 will not do without it in 1881, even if it were to cost alone the sum now asked for both it and the REVIEW. In addition to all this, the subscriber will receive a package of seeds, which can scarcely fail to be worth to the farmer and gardener nearly the whole amount of their subscriptions. Read the advertisement in another column.

Chas. Stapleton's Coming Sales.

The following auction sales are advertised to take place at the dates and places mentioned below:—

Saturday, Nov. 8.—Bailiff's Sale of Horses, Wagon, &c., Johnston et al v. Pickens, at the Market Square.

Saturday, Nov. 8.—Bailiff's Sale of Horses, Wagons, Buggy, &c., Brophy v. Sweeney. Sale at the Market Square at 11 o'clock.

Saturday, Nov. 8.—Large and important Sale of 21 Horses, Wagons, &c., at T. Cavanagh's yard, at 1 p.m. No reserve.

Tuesday, Nov. 11.—Large and Important Sale of Farm Stock and Farm of Mr. Patrick Ryan, on the premises, lot 6, in 7th con. Township of Douro, known as the "Timothy Leahy Farm," on the Dummer Road, about 8 miles from Peterborough. Lunch at noon. Sale at 12.30. No reserve.

Thursday, Nov. 13.—Bona-fide Sale of Farm Stock, Implements and Farm of Mr. John Moncrief, on the premises, E½ lot 3, in 8th con. Township of North Monaghan, about 3 miles from Springville. Sale at 12.30. Bear in mind no reserve.

Saturday, Nov. 15.—Mortgage Sale of Farm Properties in the Township of Douro, viz: 1. Part of lot No. 19, in 7th con. Douro, in the Village of Lakefield, in the matter Re Boulton. 2. W½ lot No. 2, in 2nd con. Township of Douro, in the matter Re John Sullivan, Indian River. Sale at the Stewart House at 1 p.m.

Wednesday, Nov. 19.—General Credit Sale of Farm Stock and Implements of Mr. Frank Sloman, on the premises, lot 28, in 10th con. Township of Otonabee, on Block Road. Sale at 1 p.m. Lunch at noon. No reserve.

Friendship Temple, No. 168.

The first regular meeting in the new quarter of this lodge was held on Tuesday evening in their hall, on George Street. The services, installation of officers and the literary entertainment, were interesting, and there seemed to be a revival of interest manifested. The lodge was well attended. The Grand Lodge was represented by the Lodge Deputy, Mr. Frank Adams as Grand W. Chief Templar, assisted by Walter John Hooper as Grand Marshal, and Past District Deputy W. A. Kelsey as Grand Secretary, who installed the following named officers elect:—R. J. Kelso, P.W.C.T.; Wm. H. White, Chief T., re-elected; Miss M. A. Neithercut, Vice Templar; Miss M. A. Duncan, Chap.; Miss L. Fanning, Secretary; Robt. J. Hamilton, Fin. Secretary; D. Pentland, Treas.; W. H. Mitchell, Marshal; Miss Theresa Rishor, Deputy Marshal; Miss Jane Buller, Inside Guard; Cole Barrett, Outside Guard; Misses Alice Lumsden and Elizabeth Greystock, Right and Left Supporters; and Miss Heather, Organist. A communication from the Grand W. Chief Templar, requesting renewed activity in the work of the lodges and the extension of Good Templary, was received and properly disposed of according to usage.

Board of Education.

No business could be transacted by the Board of Education on Tuesday evening, for want of a quorum. There were several other meetings the same evening, and this probably was the reason of the absence of some of the Trustees. It was understood in a kind of semi-official sort of way that the future meetings of the Board should be held at the Collegiate Institute, in preference to making use of the Council Chamber as of late. The sense of security in being able to stretch their legs under their own table, and the use of unlimited stationery seemed to offer conveniences to more than compensate for any additional notoriety to be gained from sitting in the Council Room. The worthy Chairman of the Property Committee was understood to mutter something about cheese-paring, and to vow that he had had nothing better to write with at the Council Room than a sharp stick and a pot of mud. When Mr. Errett grumbles at a thing of this kind, there must be a grievance there. The Secretary was directed to call the next meeting to be held at the Institute.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

THE SNOW BY-LAW CARRIED AT LAST IN A LIMITED FORM.

The Liquor License Fees—A Very Sharp Discussion Over the Street Improvements—The Tax Collector.

The Town Council met on Tuesday evening, November 4th, at the call of the Mayor, Present the Mayor, and Councillors Cahill, Taylor, Smith, Buller, Paterson, McBain, Yelland, Douglas, Rutherford, Denne, Robertson, and Griffith.

The Mayor explained that there were certain works which had to be forwarded before the season closed, and he had called them together to consider these matters. Other pressing business might be considered if they thought fit.

The reading of the minutes of last meeting was dispensed with.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Clerk read the Treasurer's statement of receipts and expenditures for the month of October. Referred to the Finance Committee.

From the Town Treasurer, stating that he had received from the License Inspector two cheques, one for $715.73, and the other for $2,884.97, but though he had asked for particulars he could not get them.

From the Hook and Ladder Company, stating that from their small number they were unable to draw their apparatus, and suggesting that a horse should be provided for the purpose. Referred to the Fire, Water and Gas Committee to report.

From W. H. Moore, complaining of a fence on Rubidge Street. Referred to the Street Inspector with power to act.

From Edward Webb, as to dog tax with which he was charged, when he had left the corporation. The tax was directed to be remitted, after some discussion.

LICENSE FEES.

Councillor SMITH moved, seconded by Councillor DENNE,—That a copy of the communication of the Town Treasurer in regard to the License Fund be sent to the Government.—Carried.

SNOW BY-LAW.

Councillor SMITH said several efforts had been made unsuccessfully to pass a snow by-law. At their last meeting a by-law had been partly read a second time, but it had then been opposed, because it went too far, as he thought it did. He had therefore prepared another by-law, limited to the fire limits, and applicable only to snow and ice. It also applied to snow on the roofs, if at all dangerous. He moved the first reading.

Councillor RUTHERFORD seconded the motion, saying that such a by-law was required by the people; indeed he believed that a by-law was being circulated in its favor.

The by-law was read a first time at length.

In Committee of the whole on the second reading there was some discussion as to the limits of the district affected, the hour of cleaning, which was fixed at 8 p.m., and as to other points.

The by-law was put through all its remaining stages.

STREETS AND BRIDGES.

The MAYOR stated that the Street and Bridge Committee had asked the opinion of Mr. Weller as to the questions connected with the communication of Mr. Toole, asking to have a drain opened from his lot. Mr. Weller had requested further time to consider the matter.

It was allowed to stand till next meeting.

THE TOWN TAXES.

Councillor SMITH moved, seconded by Councillor PATERSON,—That the Collector be instructed to give an account weekly of the taxes collected by him, as provided by the by-law appointing him.

TOWN IMPROVEMENTS.

Councillor Paterson asked instructions as to to the tenders that had been sent in for the proposed culvert on Bethune Street and the crib-work on the Lake road.

Councillor DENNE objected to the work being done at all.

Councillor SMITH argued in favour of supporting their committees, and would move that the tenders be accepted.

Councillor MCBAIN also objected to the expenditure.

Councillor TAYLOR said, as a member of the Committee, he would like to have a legal opinion before acting.

Councillor PATERSON thought the work should be done. It was not the man who closed the watercourse, but his neighbours, who would suffer.

Councillor DOUGLAS said the proposed work would be a benefit not only to Mr. Toole, but to the town. He himself would hold the town responsible if the work was not done, and his legal advisers told him he could do so.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor SMITH,—That if the Solicitor, to whom the matter of the culvert on Bethune Street has been referred, is of opinion that the town is liable to build such culvert, the Street and Bridge Committee be authorized to have the work done, and that the expenses so incurred be covered by a special grant.

Councillor DENNE moved, seconded by Councillor MCBAIN,—That the Town Council do not interfere in any way in the matter now before us in reference to the culvert on Bethune Street.

After some further discussion the amendment was negatived and the original motion was carried.

Councillor SMITH moved, seconded by Councillor TAYLOR,—That the lowest tender received by the Street and Bridge Committee for certain work on the crib work at the Little Lake, reported by the said committee this evening, be accepted and the necessary contract be executed for the completion of the same, and that the same be paid out of the general funds of the corporation.

Councillor DENNE again objected to the expenditure of money.

Councillors DOUGLAS and SMITH pointed out that if this work were not done, that already accomplished would be destroyed and wasted.

The motion was carried.

WATERING STREETS.

Councillor PATERSON moved, seconded by Councillor MCBAIN,—That Mr. Michael O'Donnel be paid the amount of his contract for watering streets, he giving his bond for the carrying out of his contract, the same as last year.

The Council then adjourned.

COUNTY JUDGE'S CRIMINAL COURT.

Judge Dennistoun held a Criminal Court without a jury this morning.

THE QUEEN VS. JAMES NUGENT.—In this case the defendant Nugent was charged by his wife with neglecting to provide for her. The case was disposed of upon the evidence of the prosecution, the judge holding, on the authority of a judgment of the late Chief Justice Harrison in the case of the Queen against Nasmith, that it was necessary to show that the wife was in need of food, clothing or lodging; that the husband was able to provide the same; but wilfully and without lawful excuse refused or neglected so to do. The case was therefore dismissed. C. A. Weller appeared for the Crown and J. F. Dennistoun, Q.C., for the defence.

Slippery Sidewalks.

Boys and girls should not be allowed to make sliding paths with their hand-sleighs on the side walks along the hilly streets. The walks are slippery enough at best, and by sliding down upon them, they are made very dangerous, of which we have recently had painful evidence.

Thanksgiving Day Services.

On Thursday the 6th November, Divine Service will be held in the churches of Peterborough, that date having been appointed by the Governor-General as a day of general thanksgiving for the late abundant harvest.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH,—Service in the evening at half past seven o'clock.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH, Ashburnham,—Service in the evening at half-past seven o'clock.

ST. PAUL'S, PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH,—Service in the morning at eleven o'clock.

ST. ANDREW'S, PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH,—Service in the morning at eleven o'clock.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST CHURCH,—Service in the morning at eleven o'clock.

BAPTIST CHURCH,—Service in the evening at half-past seven o'clock.

BIBLE CHRISTIAN CHURCH,—Service in the morning at half-past ten o'clock, the Ashburnham and Peterborough Churches uniting, the Rev. E. Roberts officiating. Mr. Roberts will also preach in the Bethel, Matchets neighborhood, at seven o'clock in the evening.

From the Morning Papers.

WINNIPEG.

MILITIA BANQUET.—Col. Osborne Smith was entertained at a banquet on Tuesday night by the officers of the militia in Manitoba. Colonel Kennedy occupied the chair. The Mayor of Winnipeg and other leading citizens were present. In response to the toast of his health, Col. Smith eulogised the action of the Government in extending the militia system, so successful in Canada, to the Territories, as a precautionary measure, and as completing the chain of defences from ocean to ocean, a sentiment which was received with great cheering.

PORT HOPE.

UNIVERSITY HONOURS.—The Times says:—The many friends here of Mr. Alex. Allan, son of Rev. Rural Dean Allen, of Millbrook, will be glad to learn that he has carried off first-class honors at Trinity College, the reports of which say "that both Allen and Michol take first-class honors in Classics, and that Allen has carried off the Jubilee Scholarship (valued at £80), and the Prince of Wales' prize." We are sure Rev. Mr. Allen is no more proud of this success than many in our own town.

FREIGHTS AND WHARFAGE.—The News says that Mr. E. S. Vindin, of this town, paid the Midland Railway the enormous sum of $10,600, for carrying freight consigned to him over that road during last month. The wharfage paid by that gentleman for the grain passing through the Port Hope Harbor during the same period was $3,000. These figures give an indication of the extensive business transacted by Mr. Vindin, and the advantage the town receives from the conveyance of his grain through this port.

PRINTERS.—We were favoured with visits, says the News, from Mr. Barr, of the Lindsay Post, and from Mr. Romaine, formerly of the Peterborough REVIEW. The latter gentleman is, with the exception of Mr. John Lovell, of Montreal, the oldest printer in Canada.

Welland Canal Enlargement.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Welland Canal," will be received at this office until the arrival of the Eastern and Western mails on FRIDAY the 14th DAY OF NOVEMBER next, for the deepening and completion of that part of the Welland Canal, between Ramey's Bend and Port Colborne, known as Sections Nos. 33 and 34, embracing the greater part of what is called the "Rock Cut."

Plans showing the position of the work, and specifications for what remains to be done, can be seen at this office, and at the Resident Engineer's Office, Welland on and after TUESDAY the 4th DAY OF NOVEMBER next, where printed forms of tender can be obtained.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, except there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted Bank cheque for the sum of three thousand dollars for Section No. 33, and one for four thousand dollars for Section No. 34, must accompany the respective Tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque or money thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose Tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfilment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required by the deposit of money to the amount of five per cent. on the bulk sum of the contract; of which the sum sent in with the Tender will be considered a part.

Ninety per cent. only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the work.

To each Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the Contract.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
F. BRAUN,
Secretary

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Health is Happiness.

NERVOUSNESS.—A very great number of those in the middle and higher classes of society, who, without being ever actually sick, never know what real health is; who live constantly in a lower plane of living than is normal in man, who are weak all over, though not specially and constantly weak in any one organ, who may not experience piercing and grinding pain, yet suffer at times, if not always, that profound exhaustion which in many respects is worse than pain. Those in that lamentable state have always been relieved, and many permanently so by using the Victoria Syrup of Hypophosphites, it being peculiarly adapted for these cases. MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

THE POLICE NOT SUPPORTED.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—M. Andrieux has tendered his resignation as Prefect of the Paris Police, because he considers that he is insufficiently supported by the Government. President Grevy endeavored to dissuade him.

THE CAPTURED "HUASCAR."

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A despatch from Valparaiso states that the turret of Peruvian ram Huascar, that was captured by the Chilians, was destroyed, but the engines escaped injury. The death of Admiral Grau was horrible. He first had a leg, and then one of his arms shot off, and while being carried below, another shot tore his body in shreds, and the Admiral's head was the only portion of his body that was recovered.

THE ANGLO-TURKISH DIFFICULTY.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—An amicable arrangement of the Anglo-Turkish difficulty is confidently expected. The Porte will send a circular to the Powers.

LORD BEACONSFIELD'S POLICY.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 6.—The Novoe Vremya says:—"Evidently the Beaconsfield Ministry aims either at a peaceful change of Turkish Ministers, which would partially place the Turkish central authority in England's hands, or at an open rupture, threatening Constantinople with serious danger in either case."

FLOODS IN JAMAICA.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 30.—The floods have subsided and the rains ceased, but immense damage was done to the roads of the country, which it will take months to repair. Nearly a hundred lives have been lost. The coffee crop suffered heavily.

ONLY DELAYED.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—It is asserted the despatch of the British squadron to Vourlah has not been countermanded, but Admiral Hornby has telegraphed that he is delayed at Malta by the unseaworthiness of the Temeraire. A Malta telegraph says the departure of Admiral Hornby's squadron for Vourlah has been postponed for ten days.

DEMAND TO BE COMPLIED WITH.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—It is reported at Constantinople that Musurus Pasha, the Turkish Ambassador to London, having promised Lord Salisbury that the reforms insisted on by England shall be duly carried out, the British Government has countermanded the despatch of the British squadron to Vourlah. The Porte is now deliberating upon the early execution of the reforms.

GUY FAWKES' RIOT AT EXETER.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—A riot occurred in Exeter early this morning in connection with Guy Fawkes' celebration. A mob assembled in the yard of the cathedral around a bonfire, and attempted to demolish the enclosure erected to protect the City Bank. The Riot Act was read, and a company of infantry called out, who fixed bayonets and loaded with ball. This, and the free use of policemen's staves, cleared the yard in about an hour. Several arrests were made. The streets were patrolled till daylight.

ENGLAND'S HATRED OF RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 6.—The Golos refers to the change in Beaconsfield's policy, in which he lately professed to maintain the integrity and independence of Turkey. It says:—"The presence of the British fleet in the Gulf of Smyrna will open the eyes of Europe to the real cause, namely, England's implacable hatred of Russia, exhibited by British Ministers at every convenient and inconvenient opportunity."

MARTIAL LAW IN RUSSIA.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—A St. Petersburg despatch says the official newspaper gives notice of the decision of the Council of Ministers, approved by the Emperor, embodying a report of the Governor-General of Moscow, announcing that the provinces of Kalough, Toula and Riazin are placed under the operation of the Imperial ukase establishing martial law. The nomination of officials in the municipalities and courts of justice, except judges, is transferred to the Governor-General.

A ROYAL BRIDE.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Archduchess Maria Christina was met at Irun by the Spanish Ministers of Foreign Affairs and of War, with other Spanish dignitaries, who escorted her to the Palacio de Buenavista, near the Prado, in Madrid, where she is to remain for eight days before her marriage.

A BANKER FAILS AND ABSCONDS.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—M. Philipart, a great financier of Paris, has failed and absconded, owing the Banque Europeanne four million francs. The Banque Europeanne repudiate M. Philipart's Bourse transactions on their behalf.

AGITATION ON THE BOURSE.

The Times' financial article says:—"The Paris Bourse is evidently thoroughly disorganized. It will only recover after the whole speculative position which has accumulated in the past six months has been liquidated. Several declarations of defaulters were made on Wednesday in Paris. Many speculative bankers have failed to meet their engagements. The Bourse closed with a pretty general rise, but very agitated. The agitation concentrated on two securities—the shares of the Banque Europeanne and the Credit Mobilier. Philipart, or his institution, being known to have become a large holder of the latter, the Bourse thought and talked of nothing but rumours of immense losses sustained by Philipart in his speculations. It is stated the Directors of the Banque Europeanne have held an extraordinary meeting and decided on having no knowledge of Philipart's Bourse relations, which were managed personally by himself, and for which the Bank could not hold itself responsible. Philipart was reported to be at Brussels endeavoring to arrange to meet his engagements."

AMERICAN.

SHIPWRECKED SAILORS.

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—Three men were picked up yesterday off Cape Elizabeth, floating on the cabin top of their wrecked schooner. On the raft with them was the body of one of the crew, who had attempted to swim ashore with a line and was drowned.

FATAL COLLISION.

RED BANK, N.Y., Nov. 5.—A carriage containing Samuel Hendrickson and his wife, last evening was struck by a gravel train at Freehold Crossing. Hendrickson will die and his wife's recovery is doubtful.

A STREET ROW.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—During a street row last night Samuel Reeves cut right and left among the crowd. Thomas Weldon received a mortal wound and others were injured.

NEW YORK POLITICS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The World reports an interview with Robinson, who said that the first cause of the defeat of the Democratic party is found in 1877, when Kelly entered into an alliance with a corrupt canal ring, in opposition to Democratic reforms. The priests who sympathized themselves with Kelly, and desired his success, have affected the Catholic voters in their districts, though they may never have said a single word in open advocacy of him. The Governor further said that he did not think that the great corporations took part as such on either side. "All those, without exception, who desired to plunder the public had been opposing me in my late canvass. I have little doubt that with a candidate acceptable to all we can carry the State in 1880." Robinson said he was committed to no candidate, and added, "I am done with official life."

ELECTION IRREGULARITIES.

The World says there were drunken inspectors, missing poll clerks, and two days delay in some districts.

COUNTED OUT.

The Sun says the success of the Tammany nominees for Aldermen at large, and the defeat of three out of four anti-Tammany candidates is much discussed. The anti-Tammany party openly charge that their nominees were counted out.

YOUTHFUL FORGERS.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 5.—Chas. Jacquith, aged sixteen, and Fred. Easter, aged twenty-one, were arrested to-day for forging the names of Boyd & McClure, iron merchants, to checks amounting to $1,200. Easter was clerk of the firm.

THE FALL RIVER DEFAULTER.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 6.—An expert employed to examine the accounts of ex-Treasurer Payne, of the American linen mills, reports Payne's actual defalcation at $54,000 and the mill's loss $156,000. The investigation shows Payne carried the balance to his own account since 1858, or since the reorganization of the mill for the production of print cloth. Counsel for the mill states Payne said at Quebec the Directors knew nothing of the defalcation.

A MURDEROUS CHIEF.

GREELY, Col. Nov. 6.—Edward Clark, employed at the White River Agency, says Chief Douglas, the plotter of the Meeker massacre, was also concerned in the horrible Mountain Meadow massacre, committed by Mormons and Indians. Frank Dresser, found dead in a coal mine after the Meeker massacre, was not killed by Indians. He was wounded by them, but escaped and sought refuge in the mine. Finding the Indians about and fearing butchery, he blew out his brains and ended the sufferings from his wound.

JOURNALISTIC DUEL.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—A duel was fought on Wednesday near Bordeaux, between a writer on a Republican newspaper and a clerical journalist. The former received a sword thrust in the arm.

BISMARCK OVERWORKED.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—A Berlin despatch says that Bismarck is suffering from excessive long, hard work. He is not likely to experience much relief until he observes the advice of his physicians, enjoining perfect rest for a considerable time.

TRAFFIC SUSPENDED.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—A steamer is aground in the Suez Canal causing a suspension of traffic.

LARGE REVENUE.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The French revenue for 10 months of the present year ending with October, exceeds the estimates by 122,000,000 francs.

ENGLAND GIVES TIME.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The Times confirms the statement that the British fleet will not go to Vourlah. The Porte has given positive assurances that it will no longer delay the execution of the reforms. Musurus Pasha visited Lord Salisbury on Tuesday to express regret at the misunderstanding. He assured Lord Salisbury there was no change in the Porte's foreign policy. He said the Sultan was very desirous to carry out the reforms, and also that it would be feasible to appoint Baker Pasha commander of the Armenian gen d'armerie. Lord Salisbury, in reply, said the British Government could admit no further delay, and in its opinion the Turkish Empire was falling to pieces under the present indolent conduct of affairs, but considering Musurus Pasha's assurances, the Government would hold its hand.

ACTING WITH GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—A correspondent at Berlin telegraphs that the movement of the Austrian fleet is considered here to confirm the report that Austria is co-operating with England to endeavour to enforce the execution of the Treaty of Berlin.

THE GREAT DEFAULTER.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—A Paris despatch says that toward the end of 1874, Philipport burst like a meteor on the financial horizon of Paris. He created the Banque Franco Hollandaise and attached himself to many other companies. He came to grief and was declared bankrupt both at Paris and Brussels, his liabilities amounting to twenty-eight million francs. Four years elapsed and that catastrophe was sinking into oblivion when Philipport reappeared. It was reported abroad that he had satisfied his creditors by showing them that he had acted with sincerity, that he had not enriched himself, and had worked conscientiously, but had succumbed to a great coalition against him of the great railway companies, which sought to prevent him from grouping all the small lines into seventh great company. His creditors believed him and he re-appeared in the Financial world. He created a new Bank, the Banque Europeanne, was empowered to raise its capital to a hundred million francs, and issued the shares at a considerable premium. He made no promises, but simply remarked to the public it was he who invited it to subscribe. His first issue was 40,000 shares of 500 francs, nominal at 700 francs. They were subscribed four times over. The general meeting held at Brussels authorised him to continue his issues, and 17,000,000 francs entered the coffers of the Banque Europeanne. Then he commenced a kind of race against Bourse speculations. Philipport bought an enormous number of shares of the Credit Mobilier, the Chairmanship of which he wished to recover. His name was mixed up with a variety of schemes and he shone more brilliantly than ever. At the settlement of Oct. 15 it was said some difficulties stopped his operations, and that he had to pay dearly for money. The settlement passed over, but four days ago he announced to the Board of the Banque Europeanne that the coming settlement would be difficult, that he found it hard to raise money and that he was going to Liege in Belgium to procure some. He started, and two days passed without tidings of him. On Tuesday evening the Europeanne Board met and a telegram was sent to him, but received no reply. The bank's legal advisers were sent for and the state of things was examined into. Philipport's liabilities to the bank, amounts to three or four millions francs, but the bank held an enormous quantity of Credit Mobilier shares, and it reckoned its shares in the purchase of the Grand Hotel and Hotel Scribe as assets of three or four million francs. The position of the bank was therefore good on condition of the bonds it held not being thrown on the market. The statutes provided no operation of Philipport should bind the concern unless endorsed by two directors. The Board decided that it had not accepted the responsibility of Philipport's Bourse operations. The effect of the Board's decision and of Philipport's disappearance on the Bourse, was like a thunder clap. Philipport was execrated, the balance due by him reaching 6,900,000 francs. On Thursday evening it was affirmed that a compromise was about to be effected between the Banque Europeanne and the brokers to make the best of the affair.

FATAL AFFRAY.

CARONDOLET, Mo., Nov. 7.—A savage fight occurred yesterday between Harry Fecund and Patrick Gallagher, workmen in the Missouri blast furnace. Fecund's head was split open with a shovel, resulting in his death. Gallagher who was badly injured, is now in jail. There was a bad feeling between the men for several months.

WOODSTOCK.

DEMPSTER THE DEFAULTER.—Wm. Dempster, late manager of the Ingersoll branch of Molsons' Bank, whose arrest took place at Montreal the other day, was brought to the county prison on Wednesday morning by the 4.45 train from the East. He was remanded by the police magistrate, pending the assistance of counsel. Mrs. Dempster, who is in very poor health, has not yet been made aware of the situation of her husband.

The most perilous hour of a person's life is when he is tempted to despond. No one should despond—not even the young man who is out-of-sorts, both mentally and physically, by habits of early discretion, as Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi will cure the most distressing case of kidney disease, etc. For sale by all dealers, at $1 per bottle.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1879.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE publishers of the REVIEW beg to announce that they have acquired the subscription list of the Lakefield News, and that as a consequence it has become their duty to supply those who have been receiving the News with the WEEKLY REVIEW upon the same terms as they have been receiving the News during the year of their subscription, which is now current. Those who have paid in advance for the News will, of course, receive the REVIEW in lieu thereof without further charge; while those who have entered upon a year for which they have not paid, will receive the REVIEW for the balance of their year, and be only charged the subscription price of the News, only one dollar, if paid within a reasonable time, or one dollar and fifty cents if not paid before the close of their year.

By reference to the colored label on their papers, subscribers to the News will observe that the month in which their subscriptions expire has been extended, so as to allow for the time which has elapsed since the suspension of the News, thereby making up all lost time to them. Along with the list all arrearages now due or accrued on account of subscriptions to the News have become the property of the publishers of the REVIEW, and must be paid to them at their office in Peterborough, or to Mr. W. C. Saunders, Lakefield.

While the experience of the News since its inauguration has not been such as to give hope of its early resuscitation, or the starting of another independent publication to take its place, the publishers of the REVIEW are of opinion that both the interests and importance of Lakefield, as one of the most flourishing villages of the Province, demands that it should have some journal whose duty it will be to take a special interest in its affairs, and bring it under the notice of the surrounding townships. It was no doubt such a feeling as this that induced several of the leading men of Lakefield, irrespective of politics, to put their hands into their pockets for the purpose of putting "the News" upon its feet and subsequently to sustain it with a liberal patronage. Although in the present instance, the benefits may not have been commensurate with the outlay, it does not follow that nothing should be done in the same direction, or that the same object cannot be better attained at less expense. To fulfill the objects for which the News was established, it was not only necessary that it should give Lakefield and Lakefield matters particular prominence in its columns, but that it should obtain such a circulation as would bring it under the eyes of a large number of readers. To obtain the sine qua non of a useful newspaper—circulation—it must contain a great variety of interesting matter. It must not only keep abreast of the local events of the town or village in which it is published, but it must also keep its readers informed of what goes on in the neighboring municipalities, in its county, and generally throughout the Province and Dominion. To do all this is not a light task in any sense, and it costs much the same for the issue of one hundred copies as five thousand. Hence it will be obvious that in no case is concentration of effort and expenditure so advantageous as in the publication of the "live newspaper" of the present day. Not only do the people of Peterborough want to know what is going on in Lakefield, and the people of Lakefield what is going on in Peterborough, but the inhabitants of both places, and of the surrounding townships want to know what is going on not only in the town and village, but also in the County, Province, and Dominion. The great mass of the people, however, will not pay for one paper to tell them Peterborough town and county news, another to tell them Lakefield news, and a third to tell them Provincial news. That being the case, the true policy is to recognize the facts as they are, and act accordingly, and it is in recognition of these facts that the publishers of the REVIEW have not only taken up the subscription list of the News, but are also making such arrangements as will enable them to give from the pens of those residing in Lakefield, all the news which anyone would expect to find in a Lakefield paper were one in existance, and also from time to time articles devoted particularly to the local interest of the village. By pursuing this course they believe they can give Lakefield all the advantages of a paper published in the village combined with the advantages of a large circulation throughout every part of the county, while the individual subscriber will thus obtain what is really two papers for the price of one, and the advertiser secure an increased circulation.

These arrangements having been completed too late for announcement in this week's issue of the WEEKLY REVIEW we take this means of making the announcement at the earliest possible moment, and soliciting the co-operation and patronage of the good people of Lakefield to whose advantage it must prove quite as much as our own. We send a copy of the DAILY REVIEW to all the subscribers of the News, and next week and thereafter they will each receive a copy of the WEEKLY REVIEW. Should any not receive this, or future numbers who are either entitled to, or desire to receive it, they will oblige us by leaving their names with Mr. W. C. SAUNDERS, who has been appointed manager of our Lakefield agency, and who is fully authorised to take subscriptions, and orders for advertisements or for job work at our lowest rates, delivered in Lakefield.

LULU ELLIS IN THE DOCK.

She is Tried for the Murder of Duncan McIntyre—The Evidence Concluded.

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 4.—There was a crowded Court House to-day when Lulu Ellis was placed on trial for murder. At half-past six o'clock in the evening, when all the evidence had been heard, Mr. Justice Patterson directed the jury to be locked up for the night, and the addresses to go on in the morning; consequently the result will not be known till to-morrow.

The young woman occupied a seat in the box throughout the day. She is a Canadian, brought up in the neighborhood of Trenton. She was neatly dressed in black. Her features are rather finely cut, and neither face or appearance betraye the life she is reputed to have led, or indicates the kind of company in which she has spent the greater part of her days. Throughout the trial her eyes were never quiet a second, and she appeard to be under great mental strain. The appearance of her companions of "The Farm"—for such their house, like a good many others of similar reputation, is called—was against them. Their past career was in their faces, and still more evident in their tongues. They rattled off the most offensive oaths, all of which they swore they had heard the deceased deliver, and were never weary of bringing them into their evidence.

The shooting of McIntyre by the woman Ellis was not disputed, but her counsel tried to show that it was justible because it was done in self-defence, and he also tried to show that the death of McIntyre was in a measure hastened, if not caused, by the laceration of the brain. In the neighborhood of the bullet were wounds which might have been made by the probe of doctor who attended deceased. The medical evidence took up more time than all the rest, and showed that there is some feeling existing between certain members of the profession in the city. Generally they all admitted that the cause of death was the bullet, but they held different opinions as to the propriety of Dr. Willson using a probe in a cranial wound. Some said it was right; others said it was unjustifiable.

The first was Chas. W. Teale, a young man, a companion of McIntyre's, and with him at the shooting. He told how the two of them had left Frankford with a bottle of whisky in their pocket two weeks ago to come to Belleville; how that when they came here they went on a spree, visiting the places of ill-repute in and about the town; how that they went to "The Farm" on Thursday, October 23rd, about noon, and that in alterration which arose between the women Ellis and McIntyre the former shot twice at the later, the last shot taking effect; how that he brought the wounded man to Belleville, on reaching which place he asked that his mother might be sent for; and how that he died on Friday morning.

A young man named Greene was called to corroborate the evidence of the previous witness with regard to the events of McIntyre's few remaining hours after the shooting. Several times in a semi-conscious state McIntyre swore he would have revenge on the woman, but by nine o'clock he became insensible, and Greene closed his eyes four hours afterwards.

The other witnesses called by the Crown were with regard to the other events.

For the defence a woman named Dewsbury was called. She said that on the day before the shooting both McIntyre and Teale came to "The Farm" in a state of drunkenness, and were only got to go away with trouble. She was followed by Jessie Liddell, Lulu's partner in "The Farm." She stated that the men had been there on Wednesday and Thursday, and were troublesome on both occasions, and on the last one McIntyre swore and raged that he would have Lulu's life because she had ordered him not to drink the whiskey he had brought with him on her premises, but to leave the house, and that he thereupon struck, choked and kicked her, and when the row got even worse Lulu went and took the revolver and said, "Our lives are as sweet as yours, and I want you to leave the house." Upon this the witness says McIntyre only swore more, and rushed at Lulu with a bottle in his hand, and then she fired when he was six feet or less off, intentionally missing him; McIntyre again rushed at her, and she fired the shot which afterwards proved fatal; then the two men away. This witness was made to admit that Lulu had used the pistol a few days before this had occurred to scare off a man who had come to "The Farm" for his wife, then stopping there; she refused to say whether the prisoner's house was one of ill-fame or not.

Two other women were called, one of whom said she was a servant of the house, and who corroborated Liddell. The second was an inmate of another questionable house in town, who testified that the deceased and Teale came drunk to where she was stopping on the night before the shooting, and that the former swore he would have the life of the woman who had refused to let him drink on her premises and had turned him out.

Then half a dozen doctors were called to give evidence with regard to the probing by Dr. Willson, with the result already stated.

THE PRISONER ACQUITTED.

At the close of the evidence Mr. Dickson addressed the court on behalf of prisoner, and was followed by Mr. Britton for the Crown.

At the close of the Judge's charge, the jury retired, and two hours later came into court with a verdict of "Not Guilty."

The prisoner was then discharged.

EYE-GLASSES AND [illegible] WEARING THEM.

ECONOMY OF THE EYESIGHT.

This is a chapter for the middle-aged, for there is hardly anything of which youth is so prodigal and careless as the sense of sight. Even to the middle-aged the subject is apt to be unattractive until a conviction of loss and decay forces it upon our attention. Indeed, in the following directions the writer is only giving the result of efforts made to counteract the ill effects of a personal ignorant waste and thoughtless decay.

The First Thing to be Remembered is that after the eyes require the aid of glasses, every day's delay injures them. Yet a prominent optician says that many ladies firmly believe all the time they gain from the reign of glasses is just so much added to sight. Sometimes, he added, this struggle is carried on so long that their first glasses are the last number on the optician's list—a short respite only from years of semi-darkness.

The Time when glasses are required varies exceedingly; age is a most uncertain guide. There are old ladies of sixty with perfect sight; there are other ladies of thirty-five or forty whose eyes imperatively demand aid. Not only age, but the peculiar conformation of the eye, and the care that has been taken of it, influence the time greatly. Oculists also say that blue-gray eyes bear the wear of extravagant use much better than very dark or black ones. However, the majority of ladies between the ages of forty and forty-five require the aid of glasses; and yet, though the need is so universal, scarcely any one suspects the trouble at the beginning, and all are somewhat taken by surprise.

The Symptoms are, however, invariable and decided; no one can mistake them. There occurs at candle or lamp light a mist or a dusky hue over what is wished to be seen. Objects far off are seen better than those close at hand. There is an involuntary movement nearer the light, in order to read a letter or book, and the book or paper is held further from the eyes than usual. Small objects, if looked at any length of time, grow confused. The eyes, after a little close application, ache, and become so fatigued that rest is necessary; and there is often, on first awaking in the morning, a sense of weakness, from which the sight does not recover for a little while.

When these symptoms occur, it is a question between carelessness or vanity and sight. The eyes need glasses to save them from unnatural efforts, and to husband their strength. This point determined, remember that not only present comfort but possibly years of sight depend upon the choice of the glasses used. Happily no one is now so ignorant as to take out the glasses of a past generation, though in my own youth it was a fashion common enough—grandmamma's glasses were supposed to be all that mamma could require.

Choice of glasses.—Go to an oculist—the best oculist you can command—and ask him to select the number of glasses necessary. He will give the very lowest power that can be used; the power that will simply restore the sight to what it was, so that reading or sewing can be accomplished at the same distance as when the eyes were perfect. The [illegible] of such a consultation is great economy. With care it may not be needed again for some years; and it is well to remember that "a tools becomes a weapon in an ignorant hand."

But we do not expect these glasses, which enable the eye to work at the proper distance, to be of any use in seeing things any further away; that would be impossible. A glass cannot change its form, like the eye, which, by mechanism imperfectly understood, alters its conformation for every distance. Those using the lower number of glasses will hardly need help for distant objects, unless it be for pictures hung in a gallery, or books on the upper shelves of a library. For such occasional efforts a glass of greater focal length may be necessary. Get the glasses set in plain blue steel; the dazzle of gold frames is trying and injurious. See that they are of pure glass free from all specks, rays, or globules, of equal thickness, and of equal form. The best test of the purity of the glass is to hold it before a flame. To see if they are quite true, hold them obliquely over print; if the glasses are correct, all the letters will preserve their proper shape in spite of the oblique glass. Or raise the glasses slowly from the book to the eyes, and if any of the letters appear distorted, the substance is not uniform.

A very important matter in choosing glasses is to ascertain whether both eyes are equally worn, and need the same number of glass. Inequality of condition is far commoner than is generally supposed. Headaches in one temple more frequently than in the other, or peculiar occupations, may cause this unequal wear. Or the left eye, like the left hand, lags behind, and does not do its fair share of work. Then, like the left hand, it becomes through want of exercise, weaker than the right—one is worn out with labor, the other depraved with ease; and the latter condition is generally the worst of the two. This is one thing that can be best decided in that necessary interview with a skilful oculist. But if from any cause the eyes have worn irregularly, the two compartments must be fitted with glasses of different powers.

The right focus found, see that the centre of the glass is directly opposite the centre of the pupil. We are very particular to have a bonnet shape that fits the head, but it is far more important that the frame of our glasses should fit the face. The space between the eyes varies in almost every individual, and yet little notice is taken of this peculiarity. If the centre of the glass is not opposite the centre of the pupil, there will be an aching sensation after wearing them. An optician tried to persuade me that this was customary, and would wear away; and I was the victim of this delusion for nearly two months before I ascertained the cause of the trouble, and its cure. If a frame can not be found to fit accurately, have one made, but on no account wear one that maintains its position by pinching the nose. Such frames not only injure the nerves of the eye, but sometimes occasion obstinate frontal headache.

Pebbles are dearer than glass, and are generally supposed to be better. Certainly they are not so apt to get scratched or broken. Apart from this advantage, I have not discovered in them any extraordinary excellence. Some people assert that they are cooler, I have used indifferently both glasses and pebbles, and have not been able to detect any additional comfort in pebbles. But of whatever substance the glasses may be, when once a pair has been found that exactly suit, they are not a thing to be lightly treated. It is well from the very first to get into the habit of taking care of them, lest they get scratched or broken.

I do not think it at all necessary to enter into speculations about the value of eyesight; those for whom I am writing have discovered that, many of them, alas! a little later than they ought to have done. But science and experience have authenticated many things which may help to recruit and preserve the amount of vision the extravagance of youth leaves to middle age. These things it may not be amiss to have in such compact form that they can easily be considered and appropriated:

First.—In working at or near a sunny window sit so as to let the light fall obliquely over the left shoulder. If the light comes over the right one, the shadow and movements of the right hand will disturb the surface, and render unequal and trying the vision.

Second.—Neither in the daytime nor evening sit reading or working with the back to the window or light. "The rays of light are too directly reflected," and their management will be very fatiguing to weak sight.

Third.—Never hold a book or a piece of sewing behind the lamp or light so as to have the flame glittering right in the face, while the eyes are necessarily strained looking through the trying illumination.

Fourth.—It is good for the eyes to vary their occupation; and writing is easier for them at night than reading.

Fifth.—When occupied on close or fine work, frequently remove the glasses, and rest the eyes by looking away at long distances.

Sixth.—After reading, sewing, or writing several hours at a stretch, or after being in a theatre or brilliantly lighted room, bathe the eyes well in cold water. Indeed, this cool bath should never be neglected after the day's labor, and after the night's sleep.

Seventh.—Whether reading, sewing, or writing, always, if possible, secure an oblique light; at any rate, always avoid a horizontal one.

Eighth.—A bedroom having white walls, white curtains, and that faces the east, is very trying to aging eyes. Painful contractions of the eyes and inflammations of the lids result from this cause alone. Neither should the blinds be opened hastily, or the eyes for the first hour after awakening in the morning be saluted with any sudden or brilliant light.

Ninth.—At all times it must be remembered that very white walls, gilt frames and mouldings, abundance of mirrors, gay carpets, painted ceilings, and dazzling, shimmering colors, are among the beautiful things which make for the eye a merry but a short life.

Tenth.—Most people believe that coloured glasses are a great protection from such fatal brilliancy. If used, green are far better than blue. Green absorbs the extreme blue and violet rays, and transmits the red ones, thus producing a shorter spectrum and a more direct image on the retina. Blue absorbs the different parts of the spectrum unequally, and transmits the extreme blue and violet rays; therefore blue glasses, however fashionable, are more mischievous than useful. However, a dim glass of no particular color is the best.

Every kind of labor or pleasure that fatigues the eyes sets its stamp on the substance of the organ—an organ so delicate that it can not be strained beyond its power without irremediable injury. If, then, we would continue to old age our pleasures and independence—if, in short, we would keep "the curtain from falling until the drama of life closes"—let us guard with a patient and wise care that portion of vision left us from the reckless waste of youth.—Harper's Bazar.

HANLAN AND COURTNEY.

Yesterday Hanlan received the following telegram from Mr. Referee Blaikie:—

"Courtney accepts my proposition. Please conform articles, sign, and forward forthwith."

In the evening Hanlan replied to Mr. Blaikie as follows:—

"I accept your proposal. Instruct Courtney to forward articles to me at [illegible] Grace about the 1st December. Winner [illegible] all proceeds, if any, from commission on railways, etc."

Hanlan calculates that a month is little enough for him to get into condition, and, while regretting the necessity of placing the date so late, feels that in less time he would not be prepared to do himself justice. He knows neither the country nor climate at Washington, and not being [illegible] so far at this late season of the year, is disposed to take as few chances as possible in the attempt to recover what he has already [illegible]. At Mr. Blaikie's bidding, Hanlan forwarded Courtney a week or two ago the articles for a new race, and they were rejected. He now proposes that in order that the Union Springs man shall not have another opportunity of backing out, he shall formulate his own conditions, and if they are anywhere within the limits of reason they will be accepted. Hanlan said last evening that although he felt he was making great sacrifices in consenting to go to Washington to row this race over, yet he would go anywhere to have a chance of beating Courtney.

HALIFAX.

Heavy Damages for Libel.—In the Supreme Court on Wednesday, before Judge MacDonald, the jury returned a verdict for $7,000 damages for libel in the case of John Silver & Co. against the Dominion Telegraph Co. The libel, it appears, consisted of a despatch published in the St. John Telegraph of Jan. 6th last, stating that the plaintiff had failed with heavy liabilities. The statement was immediately contradicted in nearly every paper in Canada, although the statement was only published in the Telegraph. The Judge charged strongly against the defendants. The damages are considered exorbitant, and an appeal is to be taken to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Always Outside.

An elderly gentleman whose genial face is frequently seen at his club, but seldom at church, was gravely taken to task the other day for not attending more regularly to the pulpit ministrations of his clergyman. "You ought really to be one of the pillars of the church," was the gentle persuasion used upon this elderly gentleman, who is short and stout. "Thank you," was the quiet response. "You see I am not much in the pillar way; I am a buttress of the church—always outside."

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved [illegible] until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable.

Stop that Cough.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is composed of the most healing balsams and gums. The balsams, which enter into its composition, were used by natives when America was first discovered, and are combined with other vegetable tonics, so blended together, that it is a specific for all affections of the throat and lungs. Thousands of bottles are used annually, and it is considered one of the standard preparations of the day. For Coughs, Colds, etc. For sale by all dealers at 25cts. per bottle.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

Friday, Nov. 7.—There has been a considerable market again to-day, besides the usual wheat and barley sales. We have recently had added butter, and now we have to add pork, wood, hay, turnips and carrots. Spring wheat was taken at $1.14, fall wheat going at $1.17. We do not change quotations. Barley is more plentiful to-day than for several days; the quotation figures ruled without any animation. Buyers are more cautious owing to the uncertainty in the markets abroad. Butter was again abundant, and about 5,000 pounds were received, prices remained the same as on Wednesday; see quotations. Pork is now coming in for packing without any change in price to note. There were several loads of hay in for delivery on previous sales. Hay on the stand met with slow offers. A large number of loads of wood, hard and soft, appeared upon the stand and sold slowly at quotations. Field turnips and carrots came in for a share of interests with no changes to note.

County Court.

There will be a sitting of the County Court without a jury on Tuesday the 11th inst.

Masonic.

Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, A.F. & A. M., will hold a regular communication in the Masonic Hall, this Friday evening at half-past seven o'clock.

Large Supply of Poultry.

There was a large display of turkeys, geese, ducks, chickens, partridge, and other game, at Chamberlain's for thanksgiving day, and the rest of the week.

Receipts of Hay.

There were twenty-six loads of hay brought to market on Wednesday, and they were all sold at $6.00 and $7.00, except one or two loads which was sold at $7.50.

The Woolly Horse.

The woolly horse so long held by the Midland Railway Company for freight charges has been sold to Mr. Caises, and shipped to the States. Mr. Caises proposes to exhibit it in the south.

Recovering.

We are glad to be able to report that Mr. C. Ormond is sufficiently recovered from the effects of his recent fall to be about again, though he has not even yet quite regained his usual health.

No. 1. Company, 57th Battalion.

Ex-members of this Company and others not now drilling, having belts, rifles, or clothing of the Company are requested to return the same to the armoury before the inspection on Tuesday next.

Important Sale.

We beg to call attention to Mr. H. H. Smith's announcement, as the vendor's solicitor of a chancery sale of some valuable lots in this town, one on McDonell Street and the other on London Street. Both lots have good buildings upon them.

Thanksgiving Day.

A large number of persons enjoyed a sleigh ride yesterday, which being the day appointed for thanksgiving for the harvest, was kept as a holiday. Several parties of boys and young men went out in quest of game. The churches were fairly attended.

More Snow.

Snow began falling on Wednesday evening after eight o'clock, and continued throughout the night. About two inches of snow fell. The wind was easterly yesterday. The weather moderated and the snow disappeared rapidly, but not sufficiently to break up the sleighing.

Heavy Receipt of Butter.

On Wednesday over 50,000 pounds of butter was received in Peterborough from the farmers, valued at $9,000. On Tuesday two firms received 10,000 pounds, averaging $2,000. The other firms must have received about 5,000 pounds. It is estimated that over 80,000 pounds of butter have come in and have been taken for shipping abroad since the fall deliveries commenced.

Accident.

Mr. Finch Millar, while helping to put up a stove-pipe yesterday, fell from a step-ladder, a height of about ten feet, and injured himself so badly that he was unable to turn out with the band as was expected on Thanksgiving Day. His spine was seriously injured, and he was otherwise bruised to such an extent, that he is unable to attend to business.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: fresh to brisk south-westerly to south-easterly winds; partly cloudy to cloudy mild weather with local showers. In Peterborough, the morning opened with a very light north-easterly to easterly wind, changing to south-easterly and warmer; partly cloudy to cloudy weather. The snow is melting rapidly and sleighing is disappearing for the present at least.

Midland Central Poultry Association.

The annual meeting of the Midland Central Poultry Association was held on Thursday evening in the Constable's room of the Town Hall. The only business transacted was the election of the following officers for the ensuing year:—Messrs. Robert Hall, President; John Taylor, Vice President; and John Saulter, Secretary and Treasurer. The next meeting will be held at the same place on Tuesday evening, the 18th inst., when arrangements will be made for holding the annual show in January next.

Concert.

We beg to remind those of our readers who are lovers of good music, that Mr. [illegible]'s concert will take place at Bradburn's Hall tonight. From the programme it is evident that the entertainment will be one of unusual merit. Mr. Gilmore and his gifted daughters, have arrived from Port Hope, and their reputation alone should be sufficient to attract a large audience. We also hear the highest praise of Miss Roche's talents, and the other ladies and gentlemen who give their assistance are able musicians

Nearly Choked to Death.

Hugh McLaughlin, of Bobcaygeon, was nearly choked to death while at dinner in the Stewart House on Thursday. The waiter brought him a piece of mutton sufficient for a good meal. This he took up as soon as his plate was set before him, and tried to swallow it whole. The piece naturally stuck in his throat. He left the table hastily and proceeded to the bar-room, where Mr. Cavanaugh attempted to relieve him, but could not do so. McLaughlin was turning black in the face from strangulation, when Dr. Kincaid was sent for and speedily relieved him.

Peterborough as a Market Town.

Peterborough may be set down as one of the principal market towns of the Dominion. This season, the farmers of this and the adjoining counties, have brought in large quantities of produce and have realized handsomely therefor. Wheat, barley, cheese, butter, peas, wool, skins, &c., have brought in large returns, and it is estimated that over $350,000 has been realized this season, for the above enumerated articles. On Wednesday over 50,000 pounds of butter alone were taken for shipment by Messrs. Flavelle, Wrighton, McBain, and other buyers. Two parties bought 10,000 pounds on Tuesday. These products added to cattle, hogs, sheep, and lumber must yield over half a million of dollars, making this section of the Province of Ontario $400,000 better off than it was two months ago.

Legal News.

We find the following items in the Mail's report of the proceedings of the Court of Chancery on Wednesday:—

McKee v. Larkin.—M. D. and pro confesso—A mortgage suit. Marsh for the plaintiff. Bill pro confesso against the adult defendants. Hoskin, Q.C., for defendant William Larkin, a lunatic. Defendant asks a sale. Decree to go referring it to Master at Peterborough to enquire whether sale or foreclosure more beneficial.

Laklante v. Scamen.—M.D. and pro confesso—A bill for foreclosure and partition by the mortgagee. Boyd, Q.C., for the plaintiff. Hoskin, Q.C., for the infant defendant objects that a mortgagee cannot file such a bill. Robertson appears for the defendants Benjamin F. Scamen and Harvey F. Ross. Patterson for defendant Adams asks his costs for a suit for sale against the share of Arthur Scamen, the costs of this suit to be as usual in such cases. Boyd, Q.C., states that the defendant B. F. Scamen, a tenant in common, is willing to join as plaintiff, thus answering the demurrer. Usual decree for partition or sale and a foreclosure of the share mortgaged. Referred to Peterborough.

LINDSAY.

Successful Hunting Party.—The Warder says:—A hunting party consisting of Messrs. Chas. Foley, Thos. McGee, Dr. DeGrassi, and Col. Brotherson, have just returned from the northern country, where they were engaged in hunting for some time. They had excellent sport and returned with eighteen deer, a large amount of partridge, rabbits, mink and some fine trout. Adjoining their camp Mr. Foley and the Col. discovered a young man named Savage who had shot himself through the thigh. The gun contained nine large buckshot, four of which lodged in the wound after breaking the bone, the remainder passing out. Had the unfortunate man not been found he would certainly have died from exhaustion. Assistance having been procured Savage was taken home on a stretcher where his wounds were properly attended to.

Stealing Fowl.—On Monday night last some one visited Mr. Richard Wilson's hennery and stole two of his finest fowls. It is evident that the thief had his eye on them before committing the theft, for if they were intended for a meal he could not have suited himself better. As the best breed of fowls was selected it is likely they were taken for the purpose of breeding. Every effort will be made to ferret out the guilty one, and if discovered will be invited to an interview with the Police Magistrate.

Bonspiel.—The Orillia club this year play with the Peterborough club for the Caledonian medal. Pending this event the Peterborough's have invited Orillia to participate in a bonspiel at the former place, in which it is expected two rinks each of ten clubs will take part, Keene, Lindsay, Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville, Newcastle, and Whitby having already signed their intention of joining in. A $50 cup will be offered for competition.

COBOURG.

Opening of a New Y. M. C. A. Hall.—The new Y.M.C.A. hall which was lately erected in this town, was opened on Wednesday evening by a dedicatory service. Several gentlemen were present from a distance and a large number from the neighborhood. The chair was occupied by Mr. J. W. Bickle, President of the Association. After opening remarks from the chairman, short addresses were delivered by the Rev. H. Pedley, Rev. W. C. Beer, Rev. B. L. Hutton, Rev. J. L. Ballantyne, and Rev. T. W. Jeffrey and Rev. E. H. Dewart, of Toronto. The meeting was one of intense interest. The different addresses, though brief, were exceedingly comprehensive and interesting. On Thursday evening addresses were delivered by Mr. W. H. Howland, of Toronto, and others, after which the Hon. Vice-Chancellor Blake delivered his lecture on "Success."

A Household Necessity.

THE INFANTICIDE CASE.

THE JURY RENDER A VERDICT OF WILFUL MURDER AGAINST THE MOTHER.

A Warrant Issued for Her Arrest—What the Missing Witness had to Say about the Matter—"Too Tired and Sleepy" to send for a Doctor.

The inquest upon the body of the child found on the morning of October 24th, in the closet at the Choate House, was concluded on Wednesday evening, in the Constable's room at the Town Hall.

The Coroner, Dr. Kincaid, stated to the jury that the constable had succeeded in obtaining the witness, Maggie Leahy, who, it appeared, had not kept out of the way purposely, but she was not aware that she was wanted.

Maggie Leahy was then sworn, and testified that she had been a resident of Peterborough, and was employed in the Choate House on the 23rd and 24th of October last. She slept in the same room that was occupied by Bridget Sullivan on the night in question. Bridget Sullivan sometime through the night called witness to get up and send some one for a doctor. She could not say at what hour this was. It was sometime in the night after 12 o'clock. Witness being tired and sleepy did not heed her much and fell off to sleep again, and slept until near daylight, when she was again called by Bridget, who wanted to know where she should go. She was then up. Witness told her to go back to bed again; but she said she wanted to go to some other house. She then left the room. Witness did not follow but remained in the room. She did not see her again until she returned in company with Nellie Salter. Witness then left the room and went to her work. She knew nothing of what happened while Bridget was out of the room. Bridget Sullivan was in the house about a month; never saw her before she came there; knew nothing of her condition. She never mentioned the condition she was in to witness. The witness knew nothing further in relation to the matter.

To the Jury.—Did not know what she wanted; had some suspicion, but knew nothing. Bridget did not say what she wanted the doctor for; she did not know anything about the child until after all the girls in the house knew it. She had no conversation with the girl after she went to bed. She knew nothing about Bridget Sullivan going away, or how she got away.

The Coroner said that they had now all the information that could be obtained bearing upon the case, and he was satisfied that the jury were in a situation to give a fair and impartial verdict. He said that in most cases a woman would be in no condition of mind to judge properly what she ought to do. Bridget Sullivan was peculiarly situated. She was alone and in her condition could not be expected to know what course to pursue; she had evidently desired the services of a physician, but could not get them. He reviewed the evidence as given by the several witnesses and summed up the case in a clear and forcible manner. The jury had an important duty to perform, and he was satisfied that they would give a verdict without fear or favor as intelligent men solely upon the evidence that had been presented to them.

The room was cleared of all persons except the jurymen, who, after some deliberation, returned the following verdict:—

"That Bridget Sullivan, did on the twenty-fourth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine, at Peterborough, in the county of Peterborough, feloniously and unlawfully kill and slay her infant son, against the peace of Our Lady the Queen, her Crown and dignity."

Signed by all the jurors and the Coroner.

WARRANT ISSUED.

The Coroner issued a warrant for the arrest of the accused this Friday morning and placed it in the hands of Constable Johnston.

A Grateful Merchant.

The Hamilton correspondent of the Mail says, a customer of a wholesale firm in this city writes the following original letter:—

"Sirs,—Thanks to God first, and Sir John and the N.P. next, I am able to send your dimes. We are getting life into us all over. It is no blue-bottle buzzling of a fly on the wheel now. Oliver Cromwell used to say he would rather have an army of sheep with a lion at their head than an army of lions with a wether at their head. The Dominion has living statesmen now, and I am sure, as Campbell says 'We are no sheeps.' With God's blessing in three or four years we will have the foundation of a glorious British prosperity. Yours."

War with the Bagmen

It having come to our knowledge that certain travellers for Paper Bags have been offering to sell to Peterborough merchants at various percentages lower than our quotations, in the hope of damaging our business in this Department, we have determined to make the following

STANDING OFFER

NAMELY:—

We will sell our Paper Bags CHEAPER than the very best bona fide offer made to any Merchant in Peterborough, FREE of Freight or other Charges.

Our trade in Paper Bags and Wrapping Papers has gradually grown to an extent which has made it hardly worth the while for travellers to come to Peterborough. And the result has been to make them jealous of our success and annoyed at their loss of sales.

Retain your future orders for us. We are bound to "Hold the Fort!"

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

IN THE

TOWN of PETERBOROUGH.

PURSUANT to the decree and final order for sale made in this cause, bearing date respectively the 29th day of September, and the 8th day of October, A. D., 1879, and made in a cause of LUNDY vs. PURSER, there will be sold, with the approbation of C. A. Weller, Esquire, Master of the Court of Chancery at Peterborough, at his Chambers, over the Bank of Toronto,

IN THE TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

on

SATURDAY,

The 8th Day of NOVEMBER next,

at the hour of TWO o'clock in the afternoon, the following lands and premises, in two Parcels:—

Parcel No. 1.

Being composed of parts of Lots Numbers 23 and 24, north of McDonell street and west of George street, and parts of Lots Numbers 23 and 24 south of London street and west of George street, in the said Town of Peterborough, owned by the defendant, Samuel Purser, described as follows:—

Commencing at a point on the line between Lots 22 and 23, South from London street, 2 chains and 55 links, thence Southerly 87 links along the West side of Lot 22, thence Westerly 1 chain and 91 links (more or less) to Park street in a line running parallel to London street, thence Northerly along the East side of Park street to a point where a line running parallel to London street and through the place of beginning intersects Park street, thence Easterly in a line parallel with London street to the place of beginning.

On this Parcel there is a comfortable wooden plastered Dwelling House, with kitchen, sheds and stable. The house is 18x24, with verandah, and contains a stone basement cellar and eight rooms. The kitchen is 18x20, built of wood and plastered, and contains a pump and sink. There is a good cistern at north-east corner of house, the water from which is conveyed into kitchen by an iron pipe. The shed is 12x54, and the stable 18x18, both built of wood. There is a well at the rear end of this parcel for use of stable. All the buildings are in a good state of repair, the house is warm and well adapted for a family residence. There is also a good yard.

Consisting of parts of lots 22 and 24 South of London Street and West of George Street, Peterborough, owned by defendant Samuel Purser, described as follows:—

Commencing at a point on the line between lots 22 and 23, south from London street 2 chains and 55 links, thence Westerly 2 chains and 21½ links, more or less, to Park street, in a line running parallel to London street, thence Northerly along the East side of Park street to a point where a line running parallel to London street and through a point on the line between lots 22 and 23, and south from London street 1 chain and 60 links, intersects Park street, thence Easterly to a point on the line between lots 22 and 23, 1 chain and 60 links South from London street, thence Southerly along the Western limit of lot 22 to the place of beginning.

On this Parcel there is a Plastered Dwelling House 24 x 30 with stone foundation which contains eight rooms, there is also a woodshed and pump in rear of the house, all in fair condition.

These properties are situated within fifteen minutes walk of the Post Office, and are in a most desirable locality.

Each Parcel will be offered for sale subject to a reserved bid, which has been fixed by the said Master.

TERMS:—Ten per cent. down, and the balance in one month from the day of sale without interest. In all other respects the terms and conditions of sale will be the standing conditions of the Court of Chancery.

Further particulars and conditions of sale may be had gratis on application at the law offices of H. H. Smith, Scott & Edwards, George Dunsford, and at the Master's office, Peterborough.

Dated at Peterborough, this 15th day of October, 1879.

CRUSHED BY THE CARS.—Margaret Baker, aged 18, had both her legs so badly crushed this morning by a Northern Railway train that she had to have them amputated. She was seeing her parents off to Barrie and remained in the car until the train began to move. She then attempted to get off and her dress caught in the car step, dragging her under the wheels with the result stated. Her parents were whirled off to their home while their daughter lay bleeding in the waiting room. There is very little chance of the girl's recovery.

THE CONTRACT for the manufacture of 5,000 military overcoats has been awarded to Messrs. Dussault & Miller, of Sherbrooke, whose tender was the lowest, $5.48 each without and $5.68 with sleeve lining.

THE SUPREME COURT gave judgment in the Great Seal case yesterday afternoon. The appeal was dismissed with costs. The Court held that the acts of the Legislature of Nova Scotia were not retrospective, and must be so construed as not to disturb or take any precedence given by the patent issued to the respondent, and that the letters patent issued under the authority of those acts were void in so far as they attempt to interfere with the privileges of the respondent. That the acts of the Legislature of Nova Scotia in question are ultra vires and void in so far as they invest the Lieutenant-Governor with the authority of Queen's counsel, which Her Majesty by herself, or through her representative His Excellency the Governor-General, alone has the right to confer. The court did not feel called upon to consider the question of the validity the Great Seal. This morning the case of Reeves vs. Geriken was taken up. The facts of the case are briefly as follows: Sheriff Quesnel purchased a property on the Lachine Canal, paying a certain amount in cash and mortgaging the property for the balance. Subsequently Mr. Quesnel sold Lieutenant-Governor Robitaille, Geriken and Laframboise each one fourth at $12,000. Mrs. Reeves sued Quesnel for the amount of the mortgage, and the property was abandoned. She too sues Geriken for the price to be paid by him for his share in the property. The point raised is whether she can sue Geriken after having taken out a previous action to have the property abandoned. The court will not sit to-morrow.

Tender for Bonds.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Thirty-four proposals to sell Government bonds to the Government were opened to-day, amounting to over eleven millions, at from $105.59 to $110. They were sent to Secretary Sherman.

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL, with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable. d136-w45-1m

AFFAIRS IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, Nov. 7.—Threatening notices continue to increase throughout Ireland. Mr. Mitchell Henry has repudiated Mr. Parnell's leadership of the Home Rulers.

FIERCE POLITICS IN HUNGARY.

VIENNA, Nov. 7.—A Pesth despatch says it is reported Count Szapary, of the Ministry of the Interior, has sent a challenge to Deputy Pazmandy, who asked him in the Lower House whether the reports that the Court or his relatives had sold obligations which have since decreased in value, were true. Szapary declared the reports false. Pazmandy accepted the challenge on condition that Szapary proves the reports untrue.

PRINCE JEROME NAPOLEON.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The Estafette denies the report that Prince Jerome Napoleon has surrounded himself with a complete diplomatic household and is taking on the airs of a competitor for the Presidency of Empire, and says the Prince is more retired than ever.

TRADE IMPROVEMENT IN GERMANY

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—In the Lower House of the Prussian Diet to-day, the Minister of Finance said information from the various Provinces confirmed the reports of the improvement in trade. He said before assuming office, he had a most comprehensive understanding with Bismarck upon all questions relating to the custom duties and taxation.

TURKEY'S PECUNIARY TROUBLES.

VIENNA, Nov. 7.—Private letters from Constantinople confirm the reports of the extremity of distress in financial matters in Turkey. Even a pilgrimage to Mecca, hitherto provisioned at the expense of the Government, is unable to get any assistance, an event which never before occurred.

A FIENDISH MURDER.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov., 7.—S. D. Phillips was brutally murdered by his wife near Buffalo City, Baxter county, last Saturday night. She waited until the old man was asleep, and then with an axe mangled his head and body in a horrible manner. After the murder she dragged the body into the yard, and then after trying to wash out some of the bloody evidence went to the same bed, where her husband was killed, and went to sleep. There she was arrested. Pieces of the scull and bloody clothing were found on the bed. The woman states that Phillips treated her badly and she killed him for revenge.

MEXICAN POLITICS.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 30.—President Diaz has taken firm ground against official intrigues in the coming election. He caused a circular to be issued to all Government employees throughout the Republic, ordering them to abstain from all participation in election organizations under a penalty of immediate removal, and recommended to the members of the Cabinet the enforcement of this order in each department. Some newspapers violently censure the measure as a restriction of the rights of voters.

A DEFAULTER IN CANADA.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—An embezzlement in the Manufacturers and Merchants' Bank was disclosed to-day. John Hans, book-keeper, left the bank suddenly on Oct. 27th, and sent a letter to the bank confessing that he had embezzled $36,000. After leaving the bank he fled to Belgium, but returned to Canada, where he now is. Hans conspired with Louis Levison, an artificial flower manufacturer, who had an account with the bank. He fixed the books so Levison overdrew his accounts. Levison has been arrested. It is thought the loss to the bank will be reduced to $5,000 or $6,000 by contributions on the part of Hans' friends. It is said he lost money playing policy. Hans comes of a respectable family, being nephew to ex-Controller Hans. He had been in the bank many years and was implicitly trusted.

A FIGHT WITH THE APACHES.

TUCSON, Arizona, Nov. 7.—A Fort Grant special says:—"Despatches from Fort Bayard, New Mexico, announces the return there of the Arizona troops and scouts. They had a fight by moonlight with Victoria's Apaches in Mexico 60 miles below the line. A hundred and eighty warriors were engaged in the fight. They were defeated and driven from the field. Private Cochlers, of Company A, 6th cavalry, was killed. An Indian scout of Lieut. Catewood's company, of Fort Apache, was killed and another wounded. Major Morrow commanded the troops in the fight. The Arizona troops are en route to their posts, the hostile Indians having all been driven out of New Mexico. Gen. Car in charge of all the scouting parties and troops in the field in Southern Arizona, will return at once with his troops along the border to guard the territory against the hostiles now in Mexico. Gen. Wilcox has sent a despatch to the Mexican Consul at Tucson, stating that any efforts of the Mexican Government to arrest the hostiles will be regarded as a friendly act. The Consul replied that Wilcox's despatch would be immediately forwarded to the Mexican authorities, that they may proceed against the hostiles as required by the good friendship existing between the two Republics."

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A Washington special report to the Times says:—"The Greenback leaders are wrangling over the proposed National Conference to decide upon the Greenback ticket. Dissolution awaits the organization."

GIRL SHOT BY A NEGRO.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Early to-day, in a quarrel in her apartment on Leonard street, Harriet Saville, aged 27, was shot in the chest and dangerously injured by Geo. Smith, a negro. Smith escaped.

SEIZING A MINE.

BREWSTERS, N.Y., Nov. 8.—Much excitement was caused by the seizure of the Tilley Foster Iron Mines, two miles from here, by an armed police force from Scranton. These mines are controlled by the Lackawanna Iron and Coal Co., and its contractor refused to surrender possession of the mine. The sheriff of Putnam County arrested the Pennsylvanians, and they were held for the Grand Jury.

TERRIBLE CALAMITY.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 8.—A terrible disaster occurred at the corner of Second and Main Streets yesterday. The extensive cracker and candy manufactory of Carl & Sons, occupying four brick three storey buildings, tumbled down and was completely burned. 167 persons, mostly boys and girls, from 12 to 20 years old, were at work in the factory. All escaped except 7. The cause of the accident is not determined, but it is supposed to be a repetition of the mysterious Barclay street explosion in New York last year, namely, a starch explosion. As soon as the walls fell the buildings took fire. The firemen were on hand in five minutes and by their efficient services the flames were kept from extending to the buildings adjoining. As soon as the news spread the parents and friends of those employed flocked to the scene with anguish on their countenances. As soon as the firemen had subdued the flames, they commenced digging for the dead. Up to midnight, they had got out three, Emma Kemper, Ann Becker, and Chas. Schultz. Those still missing, and supposed to be in the ruins are Louis Hummel, Andy McConnell, Geo. Kemper, and John Kemper. The buildings and contents were valued at $70,000, and are a total loss. Another account says that on the second storey, about thirty girls were cut off from the stairs by timbers blocking the doorway. They ran to the windows, and before any one could stop them, several had jumped out, receiving terrible wounds. At last the door to the stairway was battered down, and the girls were released. In less than five minutes the whole was a mass of hissing flames. Within could be heard the calls and prayers of the imprisoned girls and boys. The flames were so fierce that nothing could be done for nearly half an hour. Only one person, a girl, was released alive. It is supposed that the great amount of stock caused the walls to crumble. The building was considered perfectly safe.

A CONVICT SHOT.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 8.—This morning Joseph Seals was arrested for shooting a county convict, named Joe Ramsey. Seals states that the killing was entirely accidental.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1879.

"BRAG."

If one were to judge by sound and fuss, one would conclude that "brag" was a very important element in the management of a newspaper now-a-days. Just now we have the proprietors of the Mail and Globe very properly straining every nerve to secure the latest and most reliable news from all parts of the world for the benefit of their readers and for the purpose of getting ahead of each other. But the Globe, having been outrun in the matter of European telegrams by the Mail, takes to "brag" for the purpose of covering its defeat, and pooh-poohs the direct receipt of the same telegrams which it published second-hand constantly up to only a few days ago. By doing so the Globe very foolishly has given the Mail the opportunity which it no doubt desired, of calling public attention to the number of these same telegrams which the Globe deemed worthy of having telegraphed to it from New York upon their publication there, and which the Mail will henceforth publish in Toronto simultaneously with their appearance in New York, and therefore a day in advance of the Globe.

Coming nearer home we find the same policy being pursued with regard to ourselves. During the past year the subscription lists of both the Weekly and Daily Review have been steadily and rapidly increasing, especially during this and last month, and it is, no doubt, in realization of this fact that a contemporary deems it necessary to "brag" that its "previous large circulation, together with a special addition of five hundred copies, places it "far ahead of any other paper in this section as an advertising medium." We were under the impression that, in its own estimation it had long ago reached the desirable position of being "far ahead of any other paper in this section as an advertising medium," but now we are told that it has to "give away" five hundred copies to place it in the position of being "far ahead" —the said "far ahead" meaning anything that the credulous advertiser may choose to put upon it.

That the paper in question requires to undertake to give away five hundred copies for the next three months in order to keep "far ahead" and secure its share of advertisements, is the best possible proof either that its previous claim to be the best advertising medium, was not in accordance with the fact, which is calculated to cast doubt upon its present statement—or, that of late its circulation has been going behind at such a rapid rate that it requires to issue five hundred weekly copies gratis to enable it to maintain its position—or else that our circulation has of late been increasing so rapidly that it is necessary for it to take this step to give its advertising patrons a show of return for their money. Of course we have our opinion as to which of these three alternatives is nearest the truth, but want of ability to "brag" renders us silent, and we shall content ourselves with the observation, that the present course of our contemporary is very much like that of the Globe, with reference to the Mail's telegraphic enterprise and serves to bring the Review's progress more prominently before the public.

The receipts of sugar at the ports of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore for the year 1879 up to October 30th, amounted to 636,811 tons. The distributions for the same period were 619,876 tons.

Last year the importation of potatoes into Great Britain, amounted to $11,900,000. It is estimated that this year there will be imported not less than $20,000,000 worth.

WHIRLWIND IN BEXLEY.

We have been informed by Mr. Josiah Perrin that on Thursday of last week while travelling through the Township of Bexley he was an eye-witness to considerable destruction by a whirlwind. He was on the east side of the mountain at the time and heard a noise which he thought was caused by a wagon coming over the mountain, but in about five minutes he saw a whirlwind approaching about a mile off. In its course it cut down everything before it. Trees were snapped off like pipe stems, and limbs and tops of trees carried into the clouds. The roof on the north side of Mr. Ferguson's house was carried sixty feet into the air, his barns were destroyed and his grain scattered on the ground. Mr. Perrin was only about 100 rods from the course taken by the whirlwind, which he says travelled very slowly, but cut a clean track through the woods of about five rods wide. Some men who were threshing in the neighbourhood saw it coming, and fearing to continue working, they unhitched their horses and ran. They had barely got out of the way when the whirlwind carried away part of the straw stack and several boards off the corner of the barn. The destruction of property was very great.—Lindsay Warder.

PORT HOPE.

Supposed Infanticide.—The Guide says:—The inquest upon the mutilated body of a new born child, which began last Saturday, was resumed on Thursday evening, at Moon's School House, Hope, before Coroner Maxwell. Several witnesses were examined as to the whereabouts of Mary Ann Weatherup, who had been charged in the case, among them the prisoner herself, who admitted, after being cautioned not to commit herself, that she had been staying a few day at the premises near which the child was found. Drs. Herriman and Corbett, of Port Hope, both testified to having examined the woman and to their belief that she had been recently confined. They had then carefully examined the hair on the child's head under a microscope, and found it to have been singed. The jury, after careful deliberation lasting till after midnight, brought in a verdict to the effect that the child came to its death by violence at the hands of some person or persons unknown.

HALIBURTON.

Serious Runaway Accident.—A correspondent of the Lindsay Post says:—Mr. and Mrs. Steele, of Minden, were visiting some friends here on Sunday and had stopped at Mr. Packet's house. Mr. Steele alighted from the wagon and as his wife was about to descend their team of colts became frightened and ran off at a terrific speed across the field. On account of the roughness of the ground Mrs. Steele was soon pitched out and her head coming in contact with a pile of stones it was found that she was very much injured, her skull fractured and one ear almost cut off. She is now under the care of Doctor Lowe but little hopes are entertained for her recovery.

Furs.—The Independent says:—Many of the trappers returned this week from their fall hunts, and with an average amount of success. The hunts do not produce quite so much as formerly, and hunters have to go much further away. Some of the furs brought into this village this week came from the Matawan River, more than a hundred miles distant. Several dealers have been here to buy the proceeds of the hunt, among them Mr. Lech and Mr. Walsh. Mr. Lech made some very extensive purchases, paying out large sums of money for otter, mink, fisher, beaver, and marten.

NORWOOD.

Our "Sogers" Boys.—The Register says:—The Norwood Volunteer Company commenced its annual drill on this morning, with a full complement of smart, soldierly looking young men, and perhaps is the best company in these respects ever turned out in our village. The members are attentive at drill, and will rapidly acquire a knowledge of military field manoeuvres, as well as of the manual and platoon exercises. No. 5 company, at any rate, will be a credit in appearance and efficiency to the 57th Battalion.

High School Inspection.—J. M. Buchan, H. S. Inspector, visited the High School in this village a few days ago, and exercised the several classes in most of their studies. At the close, he expressed himself highly pleased with the result of his examination, and with the general conduct and management of the school, and stated that he would make a favorable report of the work and progress of the several departments of the High School—a state of affairs we have much pleasure in congratulating the Principal and assistant, Mr. Houghton and Mr. Fraser, upon attaining.

COBOURG.

Disgraceful.—The Sentinel says before the game of football started last Friday night, a crowd of roughs attempted to fight their way into the ground. During the melee one of the students received a nasty blow on the cheek from a stone thrown by a town rough. Mr. Clark, the student, fell to the ground but soon recovered, he was taken in a carriage home, suffering severely from the blow. The miscreant who threw the stone deserves penitentiary.

More Contracts.—In addition to the contract for 30 cars for the C.P.R., noticed a couple of weeks ago, Mr. Crossen has secured further contracts which will keep the shops working until half the winter will have gone. Two second-class cars for Q. M. O. & O. R. One first-class, 1 second-class, 1 mail and express car, 50 box and 30 flat cars for the Canada Central Railway.

The Woollen Factory.—The factory is running now on full time, and a number of the hands are working until eight o'clock at night. They have enough orders ahead to keep them thus busy until February next.

LINDSAY.

Serious Accident.—The Warder says:—A man named Andrew Bowey, residing on Francis street, narrowly escaped losing his life on Wednesday evening. It appears he was repairing the roof of his house when he slipped and fell to the ground, breaking one of his arms in two places, and severely injuring his back.

Disabled.—On her regular trip on Wednesday last the Vanderbilt ran into a snag, breaking a hole in her bottom. She was unable to proceed after the accident and had to return to Lindsay. The boat came near sinking, there being about five feet of water in the hold.

The Masonic Concert.—The Post says:—The Masonic fraternity have energetically prosecuted the preparations for this musical event, which takes place next Tuesday evening in the Opera House. It promises to be of a very superior order, and will without doubt draw a very large audience. Miss Hillary, the gold medalist, is a "sweet singer" of Toronto—not Michigan—and lovers of good music should not fail to hear her. The other contributors includes "His Jolliness," Port Hope's town clerk, and Mr. Geddes, of Millbrook—gentlemen of fine musical ability. The local talent will consist of Misses Rose Adam, Macnully and Gafton. Mr. Heathfield, of Peterborough, the accomplished pianist, will act as accompanist. All members of the craft will be expected to appear in full regalia.

FARM AND GARDEN.

The Manure Question.—Never apply heating manures upon a dry soil, or cold ones on a wet one. All manures which attract moisture should go on a dry soil, such as plaster, salt, ashes, etc., etc.; to put such manures upon wet soils is to flood them and leach out their virtues. Much disappointment is experienced by novices —old or young—who don't know the nature of the fertilizer they employ. To have manure do all its work, it must have water either from irrigation, the subsoil or the atmosphere. Dry manure is worse than none.

Strawberry Soil.—The difficulty found by different persons living near together, in growing the same kinds of strawberries on apparently exactly the same kind of soil, is caused, I believe, by the difference in kinds of manure and amount of water applied; I don't say moisture, for more moisture won't grow strawberries —they must have a flood of water regularly and often. The best strawberry bed I ever had or ever saw, was manured heavily with hog-pen manure where leaves from the woods had been used for bedding. I also let water from a hydrant flow into the bed every morning during the flowering and fruiting season till the plants were nearly covered. To enable such a little plant to bear so large a crop as it has tendency to bear, and such delicious fruit, it must be fed abundantly, at the right time, and with the right sort of food. I know of no richer manure for any plant crop that hog manure and decayed forest leaves worked together as only hogs can do it. If, however, this compost is not kept soaking wet, it becomes hard, dry and lumpy, and the plant at once dries up. In my soil out here, over-luxuriance keeps us busy cutting off runners. If a strawberry is good in all points except firmness of fruit, grow it well as indicate above, and that difficulty will nearly or quite vanish. Half-starved flesh of all kinds is always flabby. Here is a sum in arithmetic which seems never to have been worked out by cultivators in general: how long can a plant keep up its character while starved and kept in a hide-bound soil? To those who have never yet got as far as the "single rule of three" I would say, study Peter Henderson's "Gardening for Profit" on that subject. He crams his soil with manure and his purse with dollars, but that is the "double rule of three," far beyond the general ken.

Level Culture.—At the beginning of farm-life, in order to learn the most improved methods I employed a first-class farmer and gardener, fresh from England. He persisted in a mode of cultivation precisely the reverse of what I had been used to see—allowing the mangels and sugar beets, the corn, potatoes, peas, beans, cucumbers, melons, tomatoes, cabbages, etc., to go without hilling up. The mangels and sugar beets stood high above the ground, the bulbous parts exposed to the sun, many of the mangels falling over and growing crooked. The part of the cucumbers above ground which I insisted was rather a root than a stem, and should be surrounded by earth, was left entirely exposed to the sun. I thought the sun would parch the roots, and they would break or be injured when they should fall from the upright to a horizontal position. The Englishman would have his way, but agreed I should treat some of each sort of plants my own way. So a few of all sorts were hilled up, and fully as well worked in other respects as his, during the season. For a few weeks mine grew as well as his, and the cucumbers, peas, etc., bloomed as early. After one gathering of cucumbers, peas, etc., and the dry season set in, mine perished, while his continued to bloom and bear; and so of the melons. My potatoes made about half a crop of small tubers, dug from dry hills. His yielded bounteously of large ones, dug from moist earth, at the same time, in the same field. So with the mangels, sugar beets, etc. The hilled peas, beans, etc., grew early in the season and succumbed to the drought. Without this experience, if one had said that hilling up growing plants would kill them, I should have joined the responses of a million farmers, denouncing it as false and contrary to experience, because they did not perish on the day they were hilled up. Ever since I have avoided hilling and ridging about growing plants and cultivated the soil as levelly as possible.

A Household Necessity.

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head.

OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhoea, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is Scott & Bowne's Emulsion of Palatable Castor Oil. Price 25 cents. d106-w45-1m

REGULATIONS

RESPECTING THE DISPOSAL OF CERTAIN

PUBLIC LANDS

FOR THE PURPOSES OF THE

Canadian Pacific Railway

Department of the Interior,
Ottawa, Oct. 14, 1879.

Public notice is hereby given that the following provisions, which shall be held to apply to the lands in the Province of Manitoba, and in the territories to the west and north-west thereof, are substituted for the Regulations, dated the 9th July last, governing the mode of disposing of the Public Lands situate within 110 (one hundred and ten) miles on each side of the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which said Regulations are hereby superseded:—

1. "Until further and final survey of the said railway has been made west of the Red River, and for the purposes of these provisions, the line of the said railway shall be assumed to be on the fourth base westerly to the intersection of the said base by the line between ranges 21 and 22 west of the first principle meridian, and thence in a direct line to the confluence of the Shell River with the River Assiniboine.

2. "The country lying on each side of the line of railway shall be respectively divided into belts, as follows:—

"(1) A belt of five miles on either side of the railway, and immediately adjoining the same, to be called Belt A;

"(2) A belt of fifteen miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt A, to be called Belt B;

"(3) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt B, to be called Belt C;

"(4) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt C, to be called Belt D; and

"(5) A belt of fifty miles on either side of the railway; adjoining Belt D, to be called belt E.

3. "The even-numbered sections in each township throughout the several belts above described shall be open for entry as homesteads and pre-emptions of 160 acres each respectively.

4. "The odd-numbered sections in each of such Townships shall not be open to homestead or pre-emption, but shall be specially reserved and designated as Railway Lands.

5. "The Railway Lands within the several belts shall be sold at the following rates, viz:—In Belt A, $5 (five dollars) per acre; in Belt B, $4 (four dollars) per acre; in Belt C, $3 (three dollars) per acre; in Belt D, $2 (two dollars) per acre; in Belt E, $1 (one dollar) per acre; and the terms of sale of such lands shall be as follows, viz:—One-tenth in cash at the time of purchase; the balance in nine equal instalments, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum on the balance of purchase money from time to time remaining unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

6. "The Pre-emption Lands within the several belts shall be sold for the prices and on the terms respectively as follows:—In the Belts A, B and C, at $2.50 (two dollars and fifty cents) per acre; in Belt D, at $2 (two dollars) per acre; and in Belt E, at $1 (one dollar) per acre. The terms of payment to be four-tenths of the purchase money, together with interest on the latter at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, to be paid at the end of three years from the date of entry; the remainder to be paid in six equal instalments annually from and after the said date, with interest at the rate above mentioned on such portions of the purchase money as may remain unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

7. "All payments for Railway Lands, and also for Pre-emption Lands, within the several Belts, shall be in cash, and not in scrip or military or police bounty warrants.

8. "All moneys received in payment of Pre-emption Lands shall inure to and form part of the fund for railway purposes, in a similar manner to the moneys received in payment of the Railway Lands.

9. "These provisions shall be retroactive so far as relates to any and all entries of Homestead and Pre-emption Lands, or sales of Railway Lands obtained or made under the Regulations of the 9th of July, hereby superseded; any payments made in excess of the rate hereby fixed shall be credited on account of sales of such lands.

10. The Order-in-Council of the 9th of November, 1877 relating to the settlement of the lands in Manitoba which had been previously withdrawn for Railway purposes, having been cancelled, all claims of persons who settled in good faith on lands under the said Order-in-Council shall be dealt with under these provisions, as to price of Pre-emptions, according to the belt in which such lands may be situate. Where a person may have taken up two quarter-sections, under the said Order-in-Council, he may retain the quarter-section upon which he has settled, has a Homestead, and the other quarter-section as a Pre-emption, under these provisions, irrespective of whether such Homestead and Pre-emption may be found to be upon an even-numbered section or otherwise. Any moneys paid by such person on account of the lands entered by him under the said Order-in-Council, will be credited to him on account of his Pre-emption purchase, under these provisions. A person who may have taken up one quarter-section under the Order-in-Council mentioned will be allowed to retain the same as a Homestead, and will be permitted to enter a second quarter-section as a Pre-emption, the money paid on account of the land previously entered to be credited to him on account of such Pre-emption.

11. "All entries of lands shall be subject to the following provisions respecting the right of way of the Canadian Pacific Railway, or of any Government colonization railway connected therewith, viz:

a "In the case of the railway crossing land entered as a Homestead, the right of way thereon, and also any land which may be required for station purposes, shall be free to the Government.

b "Where the railway crosses Pre-emptions or railway Lands, entered subsequent to the date hereof, the Government may take possession of such portion thereof as may be required for right of way or for station grounds or ballast pits, and the owner shall only be entitled to claim payment for the land so taken, at the same rate per acre as he may have paid the Government for the same.

c "In case, on the final location of the railway through lands unsurveyed, or surveyed but not entered for at the time, a person is found in occupation of land which it may be desirable in the public interest to retain, the Government reserves the right to take possession of such land, paying the squatter the value of any improvements he may have made thereon.

12. "Claims to Public Lands arising from settlement after the date hereof, in territory unsurveyed at the time of such settlement, and which may be embraced within the limits affected by the above policy, or by the extension thereof in the future over additional territory, will be ultimately dealt with in accordance with the terms prescribed above for the lands in the particular belt in which such settlement may be found to be situate, subject to the operations of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

13. "All entries after the date hereof of unoccupied lands in the Saskatchewan Agency, will be considered as provisional until the railway line through that part of the territories has been located, after which the same will be finally disposed of in accordance with these provisions, as the same may apply to the particular belt in which such lands may be found to be situated, subject, as above, to the operation of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

14. "With a view to encouraging settlement by cheapening the cost of building material, the Government reserves the right to grant licenses, renewable yearly, under Section 52 of the 'Dominion Lands Act, 1879,' to cut merchantable timber on any lands situated within the several belts above described, and any settlement upon, or sale of lands within, the territory covered by such licenses, shall for the time being be subject to the operation of such licenses.

15. "The above provisions, it will, of course, be understood will not affect sections 11 and 29, which are public school lands, or sections 8 and 26, Hudson's Bay Company's lands.

"Any further information necessary may be obtained on application at the Dominion Lands Office, Ottawa, or from the agent of Dominion Lands, Winnipeg, or from any of the local agents in Manitoba or the Territories.

By order of the Minister of the Interior,

J. S. DENNIS,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

Lindsay Russell,
Surveyor General.

FARMERS' THANKSGIVING HYMN.

BY A. MCKELLOP.

Our Father, thou almighty source
Of light, of life, and love,
Thy goodness is made known on earth,
Thyself in Heaven above.

Assembled now, before Thy throne,
Thy children, we adore
The power that annually fills
Our basket and our store.

The year is with Thy goodness crowned,
Well might the Psalmist say,
The holy men of old confessed
The God we bless this day.

For Thou art still the same unchanged;
Our daily bread is given
Direct from Thee, as surely as
When manna fell from heaven.

For each successive autumn doth
Receive by Thy decree;
Seed-time and harvest, Thou hast said,
Shall never cease to be.

And when, in spring, we humbly crave
Thy blessing on our toil,
Thine own refreshing showers descend
To fructify the soil.

And we, in summer, thus behold
Thy goodness and Thy power,
When wondrous heat and light combine
With each descending shower.

So when the sober autumn comes,
With rich and ripened fields,
With gladsome heart we treasure up
What'er Thy bounty yields.

Our barns are witnesses for Thee,—
They prove how good Thou art;
And now accept the song of praise
From every grateful heart.

And when the stormy winter comes,
And darker days are given,
May we implicitly confide
In Thee, the God of Heaven.

And may our poor be all relieved,
And no reluctance shown,—
For Thee desire cheerfulness
In giving Thee Thine own.

Thou art the God of Providence,
How good are all Thy ways!
Our verdant hills acknowledge Thee,
Our valleys sing Thy praise.

And while creation, all with joy,
Thine attributes declare,
Shall we alone unthankful be,
Who most Thy goodness share?

No! we will raise our annual song,
Confiding in Thy love;
Assured that when we fail on earth,
We have a home above.

But while Thou sparest us below,
Thy goodness we'll record,
And give Thee thanks in everything,
Through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Witness.

CHOOSING A TEXT.

Occasionally Robert Hall would fix on some passage without taking the precaution of ascertaining its place in the Bible. If, however, his brother-in-law, Mr. Isaac James, who was jocosely termed "a living Concordance," happened to be at hand, no difficulty arose, for he would say in a moment where such a passage was to be found. On one occasion Mr Hall had prepared a sermon on the uncertainty of life and the nearness of death, associating the subject with the words, "In the midst of live we are in death;" but while turning over the vestry, and unable to find them there, he said:—"Mr. James, I cannot find the text; where is it?" "If you will tell me, Mr. Hall, the words of it, I will try and help you." "Why, sir, that wonderful passage, 'In the midst of life are in death.'" "Do you think, sir, that passage, fine and striking as it unquestionable is, is in the Bible?" "Of course I do, Mr. James. It is my text, and must, therefore, be in the Bible, sir." "I don't see that, Mr. Hall. You may have been thinking of a topic to which those words are suited; but they are not in the Bible, sir; they are in the prayer-book." "Whatever am I to do, sir? That is my text, sir, and you know I cannot preach without a text." "There are plenty of passages in the Bible, Mr. Hall, which expresses the sentiment of those words with far greater distinctness and force. What think you of David's language to Jonathan—'There is but a step between me and death?'"

HOW THE PRINCESS CHRISTINA DIED.

The Princess Christina of Spain, a vision of beauty with a cloud of sunshiny golden hair about her, was never strong even as a child, and the death of her young sister, Queen Mercedes, had a terrible effect upon her nerves. She said many times, "I ought to have died instead of Mercedes," and from the hour of her sister's death until she herself was seized with the illness which was destined to destroy her, her whole mind seemed occupied in the consideration of things supernatural, mystical and not of this world. Gueneau de Mussy has no hesitation in saying that the life of Queen Mercedes ought to have been saved, but he condemned the Princess Christina the moment he auscultated her. One lung was gone and the other rapidly going. To the very last, Princess Christina kept souvenirs of her sister by her on the bed, a locket, a bracelet and a pocket-handkerchief which the late Queen of Spain had carried just before her fatal illness being with the elder sister up to the very last. One sister drifted out of life to meet another still clinging to a few trivial souvenirs of the love which bound them together.

The Princess Christina died at 3.30 p. m. In the morning she had sent for all the persons of her household, and had bidden them an affectionate farewell, thanking them for their kindness and devotion. At ten o'clock she said to her mother, "I feel I am going. I see Amelie and Mercedes coming to meet me, and calling for me. Give me all my jewellery and my rings." She then distributed her gifts among her parents and relatives. Among other things there was a splendid casket which had been bought by the Duc de Montpensier on the occasion of the fete of Queen Mercedes, and sent by him to that unfortunate Princess just a few days before her untimely end. The King had given it to the Infanta Christina as a souvenir. On Monday, referring to this casket, she said, "Give it back to Alfonso. It will remind him of Christina and Mercedes." Then, after a pause, "My sisters bid me come to them. I shall die at 3 o'clock." She fell asleep, but woke at 3, and said quietly, "Ah! there is Meroes!"—her pet name for her sister—"so at last I am going to see my little pet again!" Thus she died. The body was exposed in a chapelle ardente dressed in the robe she wore on the occasion of her first communion. The first day the Princess looked as if she were not dead but sleeping. The Duc de Montpensier is completely overwhelmed, but he refuses to be comforted and is rebellious in his grief. "What have I done to be punished so!" he constantly exclaims. The Duchess, on the other hand, is the very model of holy and saintly resignation.

MONSEIGNEUR MAIVU, Bishop of Burges, has suggested a compromise of the Belgian education question by the priests agreeing to give religious teaching in the communal school at hours fixed by themselves.

MR. THOMAS SPURGEON, son of the eloquent London preacher, has again been compelled by the state of his health to go to Australia, where he intends to labour as an Evangelist.

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

SATURDAY, Nov. 8.—The general market of to-day has been the largest of the season. There has been a better system observed in the arrangement of the teams. All the platforms were crowded with country waggons offering the various commodities of the farm, while hay, straw and wood teams were arranged on the south side of Charlotte street. This new arrangement afforded every facility for ingress and egress to the market scales and platforms. Prices for most of the commodities offered were maintained. Beef was abundant and went off slowly at $4.00 @ $5.00. Some lots at the close went at $3.50 @ $4.50. Pork came in more plentifully and was taken, mostly for packing, at $5.50 @ $5.75. We heard of some lots selling for $6.00 per cwt. Other meats were plenty and found ready sale at quotations, requiring no change. Poultry was abundant and sold well at quotations; but like beef, at the close the lower prices were accepted rather than to carry it home again. Wild ducks were selling on the market at 30, 35 and 40 cts per pair. Chamberlain had a fine lot in store, golden and red heads, at 35 cents per pair; and black at 50 @ 60 cents per pair. Fine partridges also at Chamberlain's 40 cents per pair. Apples were in abundant supply and went slowly. Some lots were taken home again, finding no sale. 50 @ 60 cents per bag was accepted, and some choice eating apples were sold at $1.50 @ $1.75 per barrel. One lot of ten barrels sold readily at $1.70 per barrel. Potatoes were not plenty, but seemed to be ample for the demand, and fell off 5 cents per bag. We do not change quotations. Butter, roll, was in fair supply and went freely at 20 cents. The receipts of keg butter was again heavy, but nothing like Wednesday's market. Prices ruled at 15 @ 20 cts., while some extra prime lots were taken at 21 and even as high as 21½ cts. Our quotations, however, give the market price. Eggs in fair supply at 15 @ 16 cts. Celery is selling at 50 cts. per dozen. Hay, not so plentiful to-day as on Wednesday, $8.00 was paid for one load, our quotations however cover the range of prices. Straw at $3 @ $3.50 per load. Pea vines, $3 asked. Wood, quiet at $2 @ $2.50 for hard, and $1.50 @ $1.75 for soft. Woollen yarn, 60 cts. per pound. Wool socks, 30 cts and mittens 30 @ 35 cts. per pair. In grains we find the market slack. Spring wheat in small quantities made its appearance at $1.12 @ $1.14, while $1.14 may be said to have been the price paid. Winter wheat at quotations, although we did hear of some going at $1.17. Barley, no change. A few lots in. Peas, 62 @ 65 cts. per bushel. Several lots in to-day. Oats, none coming, 31 cts. was paid for some small lots.

First Divison Court.

There will be a sitting of the first Division Court without a jury on Friday November 19th.

The Band.

The band having received their military uniforms will parade to-morow morning at 10 a. m., at the drill shed for church parade.

No. 1 Company.

The company will muster in uniform to-night (Saturday) at 7.15, when arrangements will be made, if possible, for church parade to-morrow morning.

Rubbish.

There is a heap of dirt and rubbish lying at the eastern entrance to the Town Hall, which has been severely commented on by passers by. It has been there some days.

Real Estate Sale.

At the Chancery sale of the Purser property to-day, parcel No. 1 was sold to George Hilliard, Esq., for $850, and parcel No. 2 to G. Dunsford, Esq., for $900. Upon both of these were fair dwelling houses.

Nuisance.

Around the stairway to the Town Hall and Opera House there is a flow of water which is not pleasant. This has been observed for some time, and indicates that there is a leak somewhere which should be attended to.

St. John's Church Bazaar.

The ladies of St. John's Church purpose having a bazaar on the 3rd February next. Persons wishing to contribute either material or money are requested to hand their contributions to Mrs. Weller or Mrs. Beck.

Church Parade.

No. 3 (Ashburnham) Company of the 57th will assemble at their Drill Shed at 10 a.m. to-morrow, for church parade. They will attend St. Luke's Church, where a special sermon will be preached by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw.

Midland Railway.

We learn from the Port Hope Times that Mr. H. G. Taylor has been removed from the position of Superintendent of the Midland Railway which he has held for many years. The Times seems to think that this change is a mistake.

Receipts of Butter.

The receipts of butter at this market to-day have been from 22,000 to 25,000 pounds, all for shipment to the European market. The farmers of this section of the Province are realizing large returns for their labor.

Robbed While Asleep.

Edward Doran, while asleep on the settee at the Stewart House on yesterday afternoon, was robbed of $50.00. A boy who was seated beside him was arrested by Constable McGhee, and searched. Nothing was found upon the boy, and he was released. The money has not yet been found.

Neglected Police Court.

The Police Court room door was not open this morning. The Magistrate was compelled to wait outside until Constable Johnston could find the janitor and procure the key. There was no fire. Fortunately there were only two petty cases before the Court. The Mayor has been notified.

Crowded Streets.

The streets have been crowded most of the day with country people, giving the town a lively appearance. The store-keepers have seemed to be doing a thriving business. In conversation with some of them, however, we find that the purchases have been light as compared to the number of visitors.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: fresh to brisk, south-easterly to south-westerly winds; partly cloudy to cloudy warm weather, with local showers. In our vicinity there have been light south-westerly winds, partly cloudy to clear warm weather.

Concert.

Mr. Heathfield's annual concert, which took place in Bradburn's Hall last night did not attract a very large audience. Those who were present, however, to judge from the warmth of their applause, were well pleased. The wonderful playing and singing of the very youthful Misses Gilmore especially, drew forth enthusiastic plaudits. The songs of Miss Roche, with her sweet and well cultivated voice, also met with cordial approval. The rest of the performers executed their share of the programme in a satisfactory manner.

POLICE COURT.

VAGRANCY.

SATURDAY, Nov. 8.—At the Police Court this morning Chief-Constable Johnston brought in Patrick Glen, aged 66, whom he charged with being a vagrant, and not having any home or visible means of support. The Magistrate sent him to the County Jail for six months.

Maria Shine, of Douro, aged [illegible], was charged with being a vagrant, and having no home and without any visible means of support. The Magistrate gave her six months in the County Jail.

THE AFGHAN REVOLT.

A GOVERNOR IN PRISON.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The Viceroy of India telegraphs that Ayoob Khan, Governor of Herat, is said to be practically imprisoned in the citadel by his troops.

A RUSSIAN FORCE.

A Cabul dispatch says it is reported here that a Russian force has left Charjooe, 65 miles south-west of Bokhara, and is marching against the the Tekke-Turcomans.

MUTINEERS SURRENDERING.

The Ameer's troops in Turkestan have mutinied and reached the Bamian pass, but is is believed they intend surrendering their arms.

How a Duchess Milked a Cow.

The Duchess of Montrose, wearing a brilliant peignoir and sitting on a three-leged stool milking a thoroughbred Alderney in one of the loose boxes appointed to racehorses at the back of Mr. Crawford's pretty residence at the foot of the Bury Hill at Newmarket, recalls the early diary life of the second wife of the first Marquis of Exeter. Nor am I inventing a romantic story. The occurrence happened during the recent second October meeting at Newmarket, whither the valuable cow in question, for whom Her Grace gave something like £100 was sent, with special instructions as to feeding and milking during the journey. On being informed of its safe arrival, the Duchess sent a request to Alec Taylor, her husband's trainer, to have the cow milked at once; but neither Taylor nor his head-lad was au fait at the business. Thereupon the Duchess, who was in the midst of her toilet, hastily slipped on a peignoir and performed the operation with the skill of the most experienced milkmaid.—London World.

A Chief's Daughter.

Miss La Flesche, a daughter of White Eagle, head chief of the Omaha Indians, in a talk recently with a newspaper man, said of the Indian question:—"You hear but one side. We have no newspapers to tell our story. I tell you the soldiers do things with the prisoners or the dead as horrible as any Indian could think of. Then you people are almost always the agressors. I'll tell you a case I know of. Two young white men met an Indian with a basket of potatoes. One of them said he would like to say when he went home to the East that he had shot an Indian. The other dared him to shoot this one. He drew a revolver and shot him. The Indian was an Omaha. Oh, I tell you if he had been a Sioux or a Cheyenne you would have heard from it. But we knew we should gain nothing, and nothing was done. I propose that you white people treat us on a platform of plain honesty, and let us be citizens. We now are farmers, and are doing well. We want to stay there, and want assurance that we can live like other farmers. We have deposed the chiefs, and want to be just like any other citizens of the State."

Waste.

There must be, of necessity, a percentage of loss in all the material transactions of every day life, whether they be carried on in the workshop, the counting room, the kitchen, or the laboratory; but this inevitable waste can be so far reduced by good management that it amounts to but little in the course of a year. Observation has convinced us that the loss in large workshops must be considerable, for in a great majority of cases we have seen materials lying about under foot—bolts, nuts, washers, kicking around in the mud out in the yard, new work exposed to injury from the elements, tools misplaced, essential articles, or tools necessary to the perfection of certain parts of the work, at great distances from each other and an infinite number of abuses which although small of themselves, when summed up, make a grand total loss at the end of the year. As the thirty-second part of an inch too little on one piece of a steam engine, a sixty-fourth on another, and as much on still an another will result in great derangement of the functions of the machine, so infinitesimal waste continually occurring is the representative of hundreds of dollars for which there has been no return. No matter what the nature of the trade or manufacture, it is very certain that a material reduction of the expenses of every department can be made by careful attention to the minor matters, and these remarks are made are made with the hope that all interested will give them attention.

ENGLAND.

RECENTLY, when fishing off Lowestoft, the nets of an English boat were trawled into by a French boat, the crew of which afterward fired into the English boat, wounding three of the crew.

MR. MORGAN BROWN, and Englishman, has invented a machine that will fire 300 shots a minute, and they will pierce an iron-plated vessel at a distance of 1,000 yards. The French government has ordered 500 of the machines.

IT is proposed to unite Liverpool and Birkenhead by a subway under the Mersey, twenty-nine feet wide and two miles long. The estimated cost is half a million. The Birkenhead Corporation promises to guarantee one-fourth of the capital.

MR. FAWCETT, the blind M.P., has been doing some fine salmon-fishing in Wales recently; among several noble fish which he landed one being one of twenty-two pounds. Mr. Fawcett fishes, gallops on horseback, skates and climbs mountains with unimpaired zest, recognizes any voice with which he has become in the slightest degree accustomed, and has such a good memory that he can make long speeches on so elaborate a subject as the Indian budget without a slip or trip among the figures.

CHAFF.

WHAT none of us ever drank from—the tap of a dram.

LADIES who light up well at night—Those who have lantern-jaws.

WHAT vegetable is anything but agreeable on board a ship?—A leek.

A YOUNG lady talking about wigs, said she would rather die than wear one.

WHAT gentleman can, with any sense of propriety, ask a fat woman to lean upon his arm.

A MARRIAGE license was returned to Doctors' Commons with the endorsement, "She wouldn't have me."

A YOUNG man's friends object to his being loose, but somehow they have an equal objection to his being tight.

THAT "little birds do in their nests agree" is no credit to the little birds, because it would never do for them to fall out.

A MILWAUKIE woman, on being convicted of forgery, applied to a newspaper for the appointment of Penitentiary correspondent.

COOING is well enough before marriage, but the billing doesn't generally come till after; and then it comes from silk dresses and other articles.

WHAT a contrast there sometimes is between the adjective and its adverb! For example, the one who is constant in love, and the one who is constantly in love.

A FACETIOUS young American lady wickedly remarks that the reason the peculiar equipages seen at watering-places are called dog-carts is that puppies always ride in them.

A YANKEE editor, who speaks with the air of a man who has discovered a new fact by experience, says that the way to prevent bleeding at the nose is to keep your nose out of other people's business.

A PHRENOLOGIST told a man that he had combativeness largely developed, and was of a quarrelsome disposition. "That isn't so," said the man angrily, "and if you repeat it, I'll knock you down."

AN affected young lady, on being asked, in a large company, if she had read Shakespeare, assumed a look of astonishment, and replied:—"Read Shakespeare? Of course I have; I read that when it first came out."

"ROSE, my dear," said a mother to her daughter, "if you are so stiff and reserved, you will never get a husband." "Ma," replied the young lady, "unless the poets tell fibs, a primrose is not without attraction."

IT may not be true, but it is said that an Irishman, after he had seen the numerous hills and mountain ranges of New Hampshire, exclaimed, "Bedad, I never was in a country before where they had so much land that they had to stack it."

"SAILORS indulge in the heaviest attire of any human beings on this globe," said Aunt Mary, as she looked up from her newspaper. "How so, Aunty?" asked her niece. "Because," answered the old lady, "they seem to be in the habit of wearing their ship."

IF you are courting a young lady, and wish, before you take her, to ascertain her temper, tear her ball-dress as if by accident. If she keeps her equinimity, lose not a moment in popping the "momentous question." She will do, and you may count yourself a happy man.

"May it please your honor," said a New York lawyer, addressing one of the judges, "I brought the prisoner from gaol on a habeas corpus." "Well," said a fellow in an undertone, who stood in the rear of the court, "these lawyers will say anything. I saw the man get out of a cab at the court door."

A GENTLEMAN in the cab line, on the arrival of a party of Quakers, at the terminus, spotted them, and thought to do a neat and tactful thing; so he said to the eldest broadbrim, "Will thee have a carriage?" Of course the delighted party hired the cab. "Has thou thee's baggage?" he next inquired. They all got out again.

THE captain of a coasting schooner, finding a Yankee boy, who was a green hand, eating some ham and eggs which he had stolen from the ship's stores, called out to him, "Here, you lubber, I'll have none of that!" "Waal, Cap'en," quietly responded the boy, "that suits me. I don't think I could spare you any of it, any how."

AN old gentleman who was in the habit of prefixing "I say" to every sentence to which he gave utterance, having heard that his manservant mimicked him, thus addressed the ill-behaved domestic when he met him:—"I say, John, they say that you say, that I say, 'I say,' and if I do say, 'I say,' I say that is no reason why you should say, I say 'I say John."

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a superb illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the free, which itself, is valued at $2.50! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—2 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Force says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, as far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavored, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $20 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, last season, at the rate of 96 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kaempferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomoea leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Health in Happiness.

NERVOUSNESS.—A very great number of those in the middle and higher classes of society, who, without being ever actually sick, never know what real health is; who live constantly in a lower plane of living than is natural to man, who are weak all over, though not specially and constantly weak in any one organ, who may not experience piercing and grinding pain, yet suffer at times, if not always, that profound exhaustion which in many respects is worse than pain. Those in that lamentable state have always been relieved, and many permanently so by using the Victoria Syrup of Hypophosphites, it being peculiarly adapted for these cases. MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

A DESPERATE CONFLICT.

MADRID, Nov. 8.—A telegram states that two tribes in Morocco have had a desperate conflict, in which 190 were killed on one side and 90 on the other.

A FRENCH CANAL.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—By a plan about to be carried out for deepening the Seine, vessels drawing 9 feet will be able to reach the eastern extremity of Paris. It will cost 36 million francs.

A MODUS VIVENDI SOUGHT.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Politische Correspondenz announces that Pourparlers are proceeding between the Governments in London and St. Petersburg, for the purpose of fixing a modus vivendi regarding the affairs of Central Asia.

SECOCOENI'S OBSTINACY.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A Cape Town despatch of October 28th says, hostilities will be resumed against Chief Secocoeni if he refuses to submit to the British. Sir Garnet Wolseley is on the road to Secocoeni's country.

MORE UNJUST THAN RUSSIA.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A Constantinople correspondent says the Turkish newspapers are very violent against England. They declare her demands are more unjust than the attempts of Russia to interfere with Turkish administration, in the resistance of which Turkey waged a great war.

YAKOOB KHAN'S DECEPTION.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A despatch from Simla says Yakoob Khan, who is now held as a prisoner, will probably be sent to India as a State prisoner, the Military Commission at Cabul having discovered fresh proofs of his deception.

IRISH EPISCOPAL APPEAL.

DUBLIN, Nov. 9.—The Roman Catholic Bishops of Ireland have adopted resolutions appealing to the Government and all public bodies and private individuals to help the poor, as the poor law act is insufficient to meet the necessities of the impending crisis. The Bishops exhort their flocks to bear their trials patiently, to respect the rights of others, pay their just debts as fully as they are able, and obey the laws, while using all peaceful and constitutional means to reform the land laws.

M. PHILIPPORT'S DEFALCATIONS.

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The Soir announces that the Banque Européenne will discharge Philipport's liabilities, after the payment of which the bank will have sufficient funds to carry on operations. The whereabouts of Philipport is still unknown.

AMERICAN.

A WRECKED STEAMER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—There were 12 cabin passengers aboard the wrecked steamer Champion, 10 from Charlestown and 2 from Boston. The vessel was laden with a general cargo, which was insured. It was valued at $300,000. No despatches had been received at the company's office regarding the disaster up to noon. Capt. Lockwood, of the Champion, has been in the employment of the company for about 12 years. He lived in Charlestown. A good many of the crew were colored.

A THROAT CUT.

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 8.—James Norris Bradley was found dead in a mill this morning, with his throat cut. A man has been arrested at Newport on suspicion.

DEATH OF AN AUTHOR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The Rev. Matthew Hale Smith, a well known author and correspondent, died at Philadelphia yesterday.

AFFAIRS IN SAMOA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—Advices from Samoa state that Malietoa's forces and those of the old Government had a fight on Sept. 18th. In a naval engagement Malietoa was victorious. Business is ruined by the quarrel between the factions. Malietoa has concluded a treaty for the establishment of a British coaling station and naval depot. Some place other than that selected by the United States is to be chosen. To secure order at Apia, it is placed under the government of the foreign consuls.

PLUNGED INTO THE RIVER.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 8.—The west span of the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern railroad bridge, crossing the Missouri river at St. Charles, fell last night with a stock train of seventeen cars, which, with seven men, was precipitated into the river. One car, with the conductor, engineer, and fireman was saved by the breaking of the connection between the cars. Three dead and three badly injured men were recovered from the river.

PANIC IN A BOAT.

LOWELL, Mass., Nov. 8.—This afternoon, near Lawrence Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Little, two children, and Mr. and Mrs. James Brown were out rowing, when the leaking of the boat frightened them. In the confusion they overturned it. Brown swam ashore. Mrs. Little and one child clung to the boat, and were rescued. Little and Mrs. Brown, and Little's son, aged 2, were drowned.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—An accident last evening on the Hudson River Rr., south of New Hamburg, to the 5.30 fast Albany train, proves to have been quite serious. Thomas Hughes, of Mattison, who was a passenger, is said to be dying from injuries received. James Welsh, brakeman, had his leg broken. Mrs. Holcomb, of Morris, Otsego County, was severely bruised. John Rich had his arm broken. The train consisted of two baggage cars, one Wagner car and four coaches. It was going very fast. As it swung around a curve the rear coach left the rail, dragging the next two coaches after it. The rear coach then broke from the train, and plunged into the river. It was not entirely submerged, and remained nearly upright, so that the passengers could escape. The lives of over a hundred were imperilled, and their escape was miraculous.

Press Despatches to the Review.

CABLE.

MUTINY AT SEA.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The crew of the British ship Chasuga, Capt. Gibson, which sailed from New York on September 28th, were arrested at Antwerp. The Captain and mates tried several times to repress their insubordination, and the Captain finally ordered the arrest of the ringleader, Kearney, of Liverpool. The crew resisted when the Captain seized a revolver and the mutineers also armed themselves. The mate struck a man fatally with a hatchet. This restored order. The mate and five sailors are under detention.

PRICE OF CHEESE.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 10.—The quotation for cheese is 60 shillings.

A PEDESTRIAN FEAT.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Robert Carlisle, the Cornish pedestrian, who has undertaken to walk from Lands End, England, to John O'Groats house, Scotland, and back, trundling a wheelbarrow, arrived at Edinburgh on his return journey on Friday. It is stated that he will attempt to cross the Atlantic in a small pinnace.

COUNT SCHOUVALOFF RETIRES.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Times says that Count Schouvaloff will start for St. Petersburg in a few days. His retirement, having long been anticipated, will create no surprise.

RUMOURED DIFFERENCES.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—It is rumoured that there are differences in the cabinet, especially regarding the affairs of Afghanistan.

MR. PARNELL'S TRIP.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The departure for America of Mr. Parnell, which was fixed for the 15th, has been postponed in consequence of the aspect of political affairs.

IMPERIAL CIVILITIES.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—A Berlin despatch announces that the Czar has ordered the formation of two new regiments of lancers, to be named respectively after the Emperors of Germany and Austria.

A BONAPARTIST SENATOR ELECTED.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Marshal Canrobert, the Bonapartist candidate, yesterday was elected Senator, obtaining 316 votes out of 480. Bellamey, the Republican, obtaining only 126. Canrobert was elected as the Champion of the Party of Order, and of a practical protest against the recent Communist elections.

DISTRESS IN IRELAND.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Irish Local Government Board reports that the potato crop is everywhere deficient. This, combined with the absence of peat fuel, owing to the rain is regarded as the leading causes of the distress, which is expected to culminate during the winter and spring. Pauperism is greatly increasing.

THE LORD MAYOR'S SHOW.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The inaugural procession of the incoming Lord Mayor, will leave the Guildhall at noon, on its way to Westminster. At the American Exchange, a large number of Americans will assemble to assist in the ceremony of permanently unfurling the American flag in London. Miss Emma Thursby will sing "The Star Spangled Banner." Others will sing "My Country," and "Yankee Doodle"; and "God Save the Queen," will be sung by the guests. Fourteen military and volunteer bands will form part of the show.

DESPERATE FIGHTING.

VALPARAISO, Oct. 7.—A combined attack of the Chilian land and sea forces was made on Pisigua, which was taken after a bombardment of five hours. The Peruvians made a determined resistance, and 300 Chilians were killed or wounded. It is rumored that a revolution has broken out in Lima, Peru.

TURKISH OFFICIALS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 10.—The British ambassador has protested against the appointment just announced of Kiamil Pasha as Counsellor, and under Secretary of the Grand Vizier. Kiamil was recently dismissed from the Governor-ship of Aleppo at the point request of the English and French Ambassadors because of his oppression of the Armenians at Zeitchun. It is reported that Hosfeeh Pasha, Minister of Police, is the same, whose punishment jointly with that of Chevket Pasha was demanded in Lord Derby's celebrated despatch after the Bulgarian atrocities.

AMERICAN.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—A Washington special report to the Herald says:—The Chinese Government has sent a very satisfactory letter to Japan in reference to the Loo Choo question. The news from Japan indicates that the arbitration of Gen. Grant has averted war.

A CITY UNDERMINED.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 10.—The Belleville coal mine under this city has been caving in for a year. Three seams have opened in the past few days. The situation of Meridian street is such that a cave, in as indicated by the widening fissures, will be attended with great destruction of property.

HEAVEN-BORN vs. PRACTICAL STATESMEN

Nothing better illustrates the great difference between Sir Leonard Tilley and Sir Richard Cartwright as Finance Ministers than the manner in which the first devotes himself to the gathering and sifting of that information which is requisite to the proper discharge of the duties of his position, as compared with the manner in which the latter assumed that he knew everything better than anybody else—in fact, set himself up as a heaven-born statesman, who had nothing to learn. The proper framing of a tariff for Canada is a work of great magnitude and difficulty, and no man, no matter how great his abilities, can, even in a measure, satisfactorily perform the task without much attention to, and study of the various details and conflicting interests with which he has to deal. Unquestionably the great measure of success which attended Sir Leonard's effort of last session is largely due to the diligence with which he devoted himself to gathering information for the purpose of framing the tariff. Personal acquaintanceship with the details of industries to be affected by legislation is indispensible to an administrative officer entrusted with its framing, for however fine theories may appear, there are always circumstances which necessitate a departure from a policy founded upon them alone, and it is pleasing to note that to the obtaining of this personal acquaintanceship with the business of the country Sir Leonard Tilley is devoting himself with an assiduity which is proving as gratifying to business men as it is unprecedented. His opponents may laugh and sneer as they like at the visits which he has been making and still intends to make to various manufacturing establishments throughout the country, but those who have the country's weal at heart will only see in it the earnest desire of a Minister to discharge the important duties entrusted to him, in such a way as will best promote the prosperity of the people, and to so improve the tariff as will render it still more beneficial to Canadians.

Twenty-two years ago there were but three steamers on the route between Montreal and Great Britain. Now the Allans alone have twenty, to say nothing of those of the Dominion and Temperly lines. In 1857, or twenty-two years ago, the exports by steamer were 1,600,000 bushels of grain and 3,500 packages of butter and cheese, this year there have already been shipped by the Allan line alone, 20,000,00 bushels of grain and 70,000 packages of butter and cheese. It is well that such facts should occasionally be brought under our notice in order that we may properly appreciate the rapid progress which this Canada of ours is making.

Messrs. S. R. Warren & Son, organ manufacturers of Toronto, are shipping their instruments to Manitoba and British Columbia. Had it not been for the N. P. the markets could have been supplied more cheaply from San Francisco.

The transhipments of grain at Kingston from lake-going vessels to barges shows the following steady increase, viz:—

1875	7,050,790 bushels.
1876	7,128,227 "
1877	8,347,283 "
1879	9,227,995 "

and this year will exceed that of any of its predecessors. Query:—If it pays to tranship from a lake vessel to a barge at Kingston, better than to send the vessel through to Montreal, why should it not pay still better to tranship to the barge at the Georgian Bay?

STRIKING AN ICEBERG!

THE STEAMER "ARIZONA" RUNS INTO A MOUNTAIN OF ICE—APPALLING SCENE.

The Bows Stove in, but the Bulkhead Saves the Ship—The Passengers Return Thanks—A Touching Scene—The Look-out Men Absent From Their Posts.

By Telegram to the Review.

St. Johns, Nfld., Nov. 10.—When the steamship Arizona struck an iceberg on Friday night, many gentlemen were in the smoking room, selling pools on the number of miles the vessel would run next day. Suddenly a crash came and sprawled half the occupants of the room on the floor. In the saloon at the same time a lady was playing the accompaniment to the glee "See our Oars with Feathered Spray," which was being sung by some ladies and gentlemen. In the midst of the song the shock threw the occupants of the saloon violently from their seats. Miss Kiddie, of Kincardin, Scotland, was thrown violently across the cabin, sustaining severe internal injuries.

On the deck the scene was full of terror. Groups of passengers were gathered, expecting every moment to be engulfed. Towering above the vessels prow was the huge shadowy mass of a five hundred feet across. Over the bows three tall pinnacles rose 60 or 70 feet. Should one of these ice steeples topple over, the fate of the ship and its passengers would be sealed. Captain Jones immediately rushed to the bridge. His first words were "My God, men where were your eyes." He was perfectly cool and at once gave orders to back the engines. As the ship backed she listed to starboard and dipped visibly at the bows, while the iceberg floated off like a great

PHANTOM SHIP.

Feeling that the ship was sinking caused several gentlemen to request Mr. Pierrepont Edwards, British Vice Counsel, to urge the Captain to have the boats prepared. This he promised to do and one boat was lowered after a considerable delay during which the first officer descended to make an examination. When he returned it was announced that the steamship would lie to during night. The examination showed the Arizona to be watertight.

The passengers assembled in the saloon and the Rev. J. M. Ross suggested that prayers should be offered. Hardly had the suggestion been uttered, when the passengers knelt and joined in an appropriate prayer. Then "praise God from whom all blessings flow," was SUNG WITH IMPRESSIVE EARNESTNESS.

Heartfelt sobs mingled with the chant, and tears stood in strong men's eyes.

The night though over-cast was clear. A passenger stated that the sailors on the lookout had admitted that they were at the prow of the ship when the collision occurred. The excuse offered for this dereliction was that the fore part of the ship had been painted during the day. There is every reason to believe that had a proper outlook been maintained the catastrophe would have been averted.

NOT AT THEIR POSTS

A difficulty was experienced in launching the single boat which was lowered. Though the sea was calm, it was the universal conviction that had the Arizona sunk within an hour after the collision not a soul would have escaped. The bow of the steamer was and the water-tight bulk head proved the salvation of the ship.

OTTAWA.

Special Telegram to the Review, Nov. 10.

Montmorency Election.—In the Supreme Court to-day the Montmorency election appeal of Valois vs. Langlois was dismissed, Justice Henry dissenting.

OTTAWA.

Slaughtered by Indians.—A petition from a number of squatters in the Bow River district, North-West Territory, has been forwarded to the Minister of the Interior, asking the Government to indemnify them for losses sustained on account of cattle alleged to have been slaughtered by Indians. The Department of the Interior will thoroughly investigate the complaints.

TORONTO.

Owing to the decision in the Great Seal Case at Ottawa, Mr. Bethune and others have doffed their Queen's Counsel robe. It is said that advocates in Toronto and other cities have done the same.

Iron Ore.—Mr. Phillip Thomson, of this city, has sold a large quantity of iron ore to Mr. Jas. Robbins, of Cleveland. Mr. Thompson is proprietor of the Baldwin Iron Mine in the County of Ottawa, the opening of the mine will give employment to a large number of men.

Phosphate.—The phosphate business is reviving. Mr. Robert Blackburn has made a sale of 2,000 tons, to be shipped to the United States by rail. The prices have not transpired. The ore is from the Templeton mines. Mr. A. Humphrey, with a gang of men, has commenced operations in a phosphate mine recently purchased from Mr. Allan, of this city, by a Montreal firm.

Bro. Robert Ramsay, of Orillia, has been appointed, by the Imperial Grand Council of the Ancient Arabic Order of Mystic Shrine for the United States of America, "Deputy-at-large for the Dominion," with power to open and establish Temples in Canada, and confer the degree upon those possessing the necessary prerequisite qualifications which are the possession of either the Templar Grade or the thirty-second Degree of the Ancient and Accepted Rite.

Accidents.—Sarah Maybwood, aged 18, daughter of a farmer living in York Township, was crossing a fence on Thursday when an infuriated cow ran at her, and before she could escape gored her, inflicting a terrible wound. She was brought to the General Hospital, placed under chloroform, and the injured part sewn up. She now lies in a very critical condition from loss of blood and the shock to her system.... On Wednesday while a farmer named Alexander Marson, was driving along the York and Vaughan plank road, the horse shied at some obstacle on the road side, and the conveyance and its occupant were thrown down an embankment. The animal was killed instantly, and the farmer was so badly injured that he died shortly afterwards.

THE BUTTER EXCITEMENT.

The Bobcaygeon Independent gives the following comical version of the excitement caused by the sudden rise in the price of butter last week:

"Only a short time since, say a couple of weeks, butter was just as quiet as butter could be. It rested quietly in tubs, and not the most conceited tub valued itself at more than 10 cents a pound. A good and respectable butter of honest pedigree could be bought for 9c., and in one case which came within the mighty scope of our own intelligence, a tub was bought at 8½c., and not a stain on the character of the tub has yet been discovered. But suddenly, without giving the slightest notice, butter became greatly excited and refused to remain quiet another hour; got up and bounded in frantic leaps to an immense height; and in Peterborough went as high as 23c. All this without any apparent reason. Sensible and phlegmatic people, surprised out of their usual coolness, expressed themselves to the effect that butter must have gone mad, or got tight, or was laboring under emotional hysteria. But still butter kept up, and went on just anyhow, without showing the slightest respect for public opinion, and absolutely outraging all mercantile propriety. So great was the butter excitement, especially in Peterborough, that the Review declares that as soon as fresh tubs were brought to market dealers jumped by the half dozen into the wagons, and thrusting their steel triers into the firkin up to the hilt, endeavoured to relieve the butter and quiet it down. It was no use. The excitement continued, and it was only after several days had elapsed that anything approaching quiet was restored. The price is now up to 18c and no prospect of a fall."

JOURNALISM IN CANADA.

Some particularly silly person, according to public report, is about to afflict Port Hope with another newspaper. There are at present in that town two newspapers. One of course is a Howling Grit, the other a Pighead Tory. But they are both favourable samples of their class, and are considerably above the average. It may indeed be said that the Port Hope Times is as good a country paper as is published in any town in Ontario. Both the Times and the Grit organ, the Guide, publish daily and weekly. What on earth, then, can be the public advantage or the prospect of private emolument, in starting another paper? The individual who finds the money for the new venture will regret his venture before twelve months is over, or else this journal will be mistaken, and that, of course, is impossible. The fact is obvious to all who know anything about this matter, that there are by far too many newspapers in Ontario. Where so many are in existence, it is absolutely impossible for any of them to earn more than a bare subsistence, and consequently as a rule only persons of very moderate attainments and means are engaged in the business. This reacts on the population, for where the leaders of thought are inferior in talent and poor in purse, they cannot elevate the public on the one hand, nor can they remain superior to the pecuniary temptations of party politics on the other. A few good journals conducted with skill, talent and enterprise, would be much more to the advantage of the public than a much larger number of sheets issued in the interests of no one in particular but the local advertisers. Whenever we hear of a new paper being started in Ontario, we receive the announcement with regret, for we know it is detrimental to the public interests. In the instance of Port Hope this is peculiarly the case. The Port Hope papers, as we have said, are exceptionally good offers, but if you reduce their means of subsistence, you reduce at the same time their means of sustaining their exceptional excellence. The question is this:—is it best to have two good papers, or three good ones, or for one of them to be run out of the field and its proprietor ruined? One of the above three positions will certainly be attained in Port Hope, and we think it will be the latter. If so, and the new comer is the ruined man, he well not be entitled to the slightest sympathy.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

A RACE DYING OUT.

The Brisbane Courier calls attention to the fact that the whole of the Polynesian race is dying out. The Maori people are declining rapidly, and so are the Hawains. They have shown themselves to be capable of the acceptance of civilization; they have made great improvement in a short time, and yet they are dwindling. It is not that they perish in the process of civilization. The fact seems to be that certain branches of the human race are under the sentence of extinction. They lack productive power. There are not sufficient children born to supply the gaps caused by death. The Caribs of the West Indies once numbered many millions, but they have vanished until there is only a faint trace of them in petty communities formed by escaped negro slaves who married Carib women. And the allied races in Central and South America have dwindled at a rate which cannot be accounted for by war and massacre. These facts are evidently due to the action of some strange physical law. There is a school of social philosophers which is greatly troubled by the probable future overcrowding of human beings on the face of the earth. They may get some relief from the fact that while population is increasing in one quarter of the globe, it is decreasing in another. We may be thankful that we belong to such a vital section of the human family. And as the paper from which we take these facts suggests, "we may be allowed an occasional pause in the hymn of self-laudation which we are eternally chanting in order to consider for a moment the fate of the millions of our fellow creatures who are withering away before our boastful advance."

Startling Demonstrations.

Some startling things are said to have taken place recently at Eddy's Match Factory, Hull. It was in the room where the finished matches are packed into paper boxes. Upon the middle of a round table lay a large pile of matches, and around sat the girls at work. For a moment or two a cessation took place, and a number of workers incautiously placed their hands on the table. This produced sundry currents of electricity which caused the table to waltz around in a lively manner. One of the girls fainted, and the majority of the others have been so severly frightened that they decline to work around that particular table.

The coal shipments from Pictou, N. S., up to October 30 were 185,672 tons, as against 120,485 tons during the same period in 1878, an increase of over 50 per cent.

The manufacturers of agricultural implements in Ontario have organized an association for mutual consultation and benefit.

Since the resumption of specie payments in the United States the importations of specie at the port of New York have amounted to $61,479,907.

A Farmer Accuses Himself of Murder.

Mr. James Nagle, of Usborne, near Woodham was in Exeter on Wednesday, and in conversation with the proprietor of the Wingham Times stated that he is the person accused of shooting the man at Woodham about two weeks ago. He says he is determined to lie under that suspicion no longer. And after what has appeared in the papers he feels it an absolute necessity to lay a charge against himself, which he has done before Mr. Walker, J. P., of Usborne. Mr. Nagle has taken a proper step. If he can clear this ugly affair up the investigation which he seeks will be the best thing he could do. We hope he will be able to show his inocence to the satisfaction of the people. It would be a great pity if he were to be regarded as guilty of a murder which may never have been committed, and it would be a shame and disgrace to the community if he or any other man could be suspected of the awful crime of murder without every effort being made to ascertain the truth. Mr. Nagle has taken the only step which any man in the uncomfortable position he asserts to be in, could take if he desired to vindicate his good name, dispose of the charge, and save his family from lasting insult.—London Advertiser.

An Important Discovery.

The Toronto Telegram says:—The latest discovery of the Grit press is that Sir Leonard Tilley was at one time a druggist. The proof of this damaging fact is so positive that there is really no denying it. All that can be said in palliation of the offence is that the offender is not a druggist now, and has left the region of pills and powders and toothpaste for the larger and more congenial field of politics and finance. The same paper that charges Mr. Tilley with having been a druggist once, puts Mr. Mills in the pillory because in the course of his melancholy and unfortunate career, he had actually been a schoolmaster—a mere schoolmaster. If this sort of thing goes on, there is no telling where it will end. But, after all, while it is an awful thing to contemplate that one of the foremost men in Canada was once a druggist, and another a schoolmaster, and another a stonemason, the case would have been a great deal worse if they had all been gorillas or dodos or chimpanzees.

IRELAND.

The Independent Club of Queen's County have invited the Rev. Isaac Nelson, a Protestant clergyman in Belfast, to be their candidate at next election. Mr. Nelson has accepted the invitation.

The Duchess of Marlborough has received two deputations representing the Dublin poplin trade, who urged that her Grace should do all in her power to encourage the decaying manufacture of that material. Her Grace expressed her desire to do so.

Tea-drinking is superseding whiskey in Ireland. The Board of Trade returns show a large increase in the consumption of tea, coffee, and cocoa. On the other hand, the consumption of spirits and beer has considerably decreased, although it did not decrease, but rather increased largely during the famine years, 1845, 1846, and 1847.

Mr. R. J. Ussher, the explorer of the Pleistocene Caves, near Cappagh, county Waterford, has discovered a "submarine crannog." This is a new feature in reference to the Irish lake dwellings. The discovery has greatly exercised the Royal Archæological Society, which intends to organize a thorough search, with a view to follow up the important traces hit upon by Mr. Ussher. It is expected the learned societies of France, Germany and Belgium, will combine in the enterprise, and send delegates to assist in directing the investigations.

On Oct. 4th, two inhabitants of Kells, Dr. J. Cahill and John Connell, tenants on the Meath estate of Lord Headfort, each received letters threatening them with serious results should they or their friends attend the meetings of tenants to be held at Virginia and Kells, for the purpose of expressing sympathy with Lord Headfort and his agent (O'Connor), who had received letters threatening them with death unless a reduction of rent be granted on the estate. The letters also cautioned them against taking such steps as might lead to the discovery of the writer of the threatening letters. The envelopes had the "Westport" post-office stamp on them.

free, which itself, is valued at $2.50! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the Rural New-Yorker, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

First. The Cuthbert Raspberry—2 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Force says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, so far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavoured, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

Second. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $20 per bushel at wholesale.

Third. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the Rural New-Yorker it yielded, last season, at the rate of 88 bushels per acre.

Fourth. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

Fifth. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

Sixth. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kæmpferi. Hardy.

Seventh. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

Eighth. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomœa leptophylla. Hardy.

Ninth. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

Tenth. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

TWO OF THEM.

In the farm-house porch the farmer sat
With his daughter, having a cosy chat;
She was his only child, and he Thought her as fair as child could be.
A wee bit jealous the old man grew
If he fancied any wight came to woo;
His one pet lamb and her loving care
He wished with nobody else to share.
"There should be two of you, child," said he
"There should be two of you to welcome me
When I come home from the field at night—
Two would make the old homestead bright.
There's neighbor Gray with his children four
To be glad together. Had I one more
A proud old father I'd be, my dear,
With two good children to greet me here."
Down by the gate 'neath the old elm tree
Donald waited alone; and she
From whom he waited his love-call heard
And on either cheek the blushes stirred.
"Father," she said, and knelt her down,
And kissed the hand which was old and brown—
"Father there may be two if you will,
And [illegible]
Two to welcome you home at night;
Two to make the old homestead bright;
I—and somebody else." "I see,"
Said the farmer, "and who may that somebody be?"
Oh the dimples in Bessie's cheek,
That played with the blushes at hide-and-seek—
Away from his gaze she turned her head,
"One of neighbor Gray's children," she said.
"H'm!" said the farmer, "make it plain;
Is it Susan, Alice or Mary Jane?"
Another kiss on the aged hand,
To help the farmer to understand,
"H'm" said the farmer; "yes, I see,
It is two for yourself and one for me."
But Bessie said, "There can be but one
For me and my heart till life is done."

A LADY'S TOILET.

The Mysteries and Miseries of Fashion—Preparing for a Matinee.

From time immemorial it has been the custom for ladies to endeavor by all available aids to nature to enhance their charms. The Greek and Roman belles spent hours in their luxurious baths, and annointed themselves with costly perfumes and cosmetic. In all past ages there have been women celebrated for their superior charms, the chief claims to which lay in their soft and pearly complexions and expressive eyes. It is a well known fact that most women of our day are in no wise behind their sisters of former times in spending time, trouble and money upon the mysteries of the toilet.

A lady reporter of the San Francisco Chronicle started out one day on a voyage of discovery. Her first call was at a chiropodist's, and, having introduced herself, she explained her business, saying that she had frequently noticed that the same ladies appeared to have differently shaped feet upon different occasions. She was informed by the Professor that when any special entertainment was to be attended, or even a matinee to be patronized, his services were called into requisition. His first operation was to bathe the feet for about fifteen minutes in a fluid composed partly of laudanum and alum, after which they were tightly bound in strips of adhesive plaster, which caused them to elongate and decrease their width to a very appreciable extent. Afterward the ankles were bound in like manner. Then a little ether was poured upon the feet, which produced a cooling sensation. Fine powder was then applied with a puff, and the metamorphed feet could now be put into which it is fondly believed, at once inspires the liveliest admiration in the minds of the men and deepest envy on the part of less narrow-footed women. The instrument of torture is worn for a length of time, varying from four to five days, at the termination of which the pain becomes so intense as to compel the lady to hurry home and discard the offending shoes, together with the bandages. At this time she usually takes a solemn vow that she will never—never be so silly again. This vow she religiously keeps until she again desires to be more than ordinarily captivating.

The reporter next called at a "ladies' underwear" establishment. Here the mysteries became more labyrinthian in character. The reporter was shown stocking wherein "calves" were so ingeniously woven as to defy detection. These hose are without feet, but are kept in proper position by a narrow elastic strap which passes under the hollow of the instep. The fancy outer-stocking can then be easily drawn over them. The reporter was about to withdraw, exulting in the thought that she had grown "wondrous wise," when she was informed that she had not yet seen half. "Come," said the lady shopkeeper, "and I will show you our hips." "Hips!" ejaculated the reporter. "O yes," continued the clerk, "we manufacture hips for a great many ladies, now that those closely fitting princess dresses are in fashion; and besides the hips we have the entire——" Just at this moment a gentleman clerk came sauntering along, and the reporter modestly remarked:— "That is sufficient; you need not proceed with any more description."

The next visit in rotation was to a

establishment. The explanation of the reporter as to why she had called was cut short by a patron of the modiste, who came in and excitedly exclaimed: "Oh, madame, you have spoiled my dress, you have made it so tight in every way that I am terribly uncomfortable in it." The polite modiste informed her that such was the fashion. The lady continued:—"But the sleeves are so tight that I can't hold my parasol up straight." She was again informed by the modeller of fashion that she "must hold the parasol directly in front of her and a little in advance."

"But supposing the sun is not in that direction?"

"Oh, that is of little consequence."

"But supposing that my veil should come undone and I can't get my hand to my head, what then?"

"Well, in that case you will have to step into some store and ask an attendant to adjust it for you."

Yesterday the reporter called upon a lady with whom she had been acquainted some time, and explained that she had heard she was going to a matinee, and that she desired to witness the modus operandi to which a lady was subjected before appearing among the fashionables. Consent was accorded, provided the name of the lady was withheld from publication. After a few moments of pleasant and friendly chat upon subjects always welcome to the female mind—dress and the newest fashions—the process was commenced.

THE FACE

was first bathed in some water, into which had been infused a few drops of atropia—commonly known as belladonna. This is used to dilate the pupils of the eyes. After this a pearly white liquid was applied to the face with a fine, soft sponge. This preparation contains flake-white, glycerine, bismuth, benzoine, gum Arabic, drop chalk, chrome, carmine, alcohol, and water. When this application was dry, some blanc de perle powder was put on with a fine piece of chamois leather, and a slight touch of rouge was applied over the eyelids and upon the temples and upper part of the cheeks. Then the vicinity of the temples was touched up with a yellowish pigment, the eyelashes and eyebrows were blackened with India ink, applied with the smallest imaginable brush; brows which are not originally of a classical shape are beautifully arched with the brush so as almost to defy detection, except upon the closest scrutiny, and a slight flesh tint was artistically applied to the nostrils and around the ears, producing a shell-like appearance. Next in order of attention came the lips, whose naturally red tint was heightened by an application of vermeil. A small camel's hair pencil, filled with a bluish colouring matter, then heightened the effect of the delicate blue veins showing through the semi-transparent skin. The finishing touch was then put to the face by placing a piece of court-plaster about an eighth of an inch square near one corner of the mouth. The arms were now looked after. They were covered with a French cream, then delicately powdered. Next in order were naturally so delicate and beautiful as to seem to preclude the possibility of anything being done to heighten their charms. Not so. They had been encased in cosmetic gloves over night. Creme de veloutine was then softly rubbed over them. The nails were pared with a peculiar cutter; they were filed and scraped, and a polishing powder applied to them. As in the face, the effect of the veins was increased by the application of the blue brush. Next came the poudre de veloutine, and the work upon the hands was completed. As the hat was to be worn, comparatively little attention was paid to the coiffure, a simple dressing of braids in front of the hat and crimps over the forehead being deemed sufficient. But as a few grey hairs had made their appearance, an application of brown cosmetic caused them to disappear for the time being. Elegant ear-pendants were inserted in the lobes of the ears, and the lady was now ready to be enrobed in the tight-fitting princess walking costume, which operation was finally, after no little difficulty, accomplished by the efforts of her indefatigable maid. The high-heeled French buttoned boots encased the tiny feet—whether naturally narrow or otherwise the reporter is not able to say, as the beautiful silken hose had already been donned prior to her arrival. The hat was adjusted, and the six-buttoned kid gloves, after much difficulty, were drawn on, leaving the two lower buttons unfastened, for though they were 6¼, 6½ would have been a better fit. The wrists were encircled by rich bracelets over the long gloves. The costly bit of lace yclept a mouchoir de poche was then perfumed with one of Lubin's most delicate extracts, a few cardomon seeds and pellets of cachou to sweeten the breath were dropped into the portemannaie; the silver vinaigrette with smelling salts was suspended to the chatelaine, and the feather-tipped ivory fan attached to the head chain and hung around the waist. The parasol was then taken in the hand, but more as an ornament than for use, as a means of occupying the hands gracefully, for it was a cloudy day. She was now all ready to sally forth to "see and be seen." Before departing a glass of creme de cognac was imbibed to make the eyes sparkle and exhilarate the spirits.

THE HANDS,

DOMESTIC AND USEFUL.

PRUNE WHIP.—Stew one pound of nice prunes with very little water and sweeten with white sugar. Beat the whites of five eggs until stiff and stir to the prunes. Put into a pudding dish and bake half an hour. Serve when cold with cream.

QUAIL ON TOAST.—Dry-pick them, singe, draw, cut off their heads and legs at the first joint, split down the back, wash and wipe dry with a cloth, rub a little melted butter over each bird and broil over a clear fire. Turn often and dip once or twice into melted butter. Season with pepper and salt. Take as many half slices of bread as there are birds, toast to a delicate brown, butter and place a bird breast upwards on each piece. Thin slices of broiled bacon may be served with the quail.

RICE GRIDDLE CAKES.—One cup of sifted flour; two cups of warm, new milk; three eggs; one cup of boiled rice; teaspoonful of salt; large teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix the flour with one cupful of milk, then add the rice—which must be newly boiled, or reheated by steaming and then beating light with a fork—and thin with the other cupful of milk. (All of this last cupful may not be required to reduce the mixture to the proper consistency.) Beat the yolks and whites separately, whipping in the yolks first and the whites last. Add the baking powder mixed with a little flour and bake at once.

CANARY BIRDS.—An objection, and a very great one, to hanging canaries in the sitting room or parlor, is the litter they make with their sand, seed and feathers. After suffering considerably in this way, and having had dining room newly painted and carpeted, we determined if possible, to prevent master "Birt" from giving us further annoyance. A cast-off veil—a drab gauze one—a yard and a quarter in length and a trifle over a yard in width, was sewn together and a drawing string run in at top and bottom. One string was tied snugly around the under part of the cage, the other just above the seeds and watercups. It is the work of but a minute to remove the gauze when the cage is to be cleaned, and those who keep canaries will, after a trial, appreciate the value of so simple a contrivance. We would recommend the use of white or drab thin goods, as the more highly colored might injure the bird were he to peck at it.

TO MAKE GOOD, SWEET BREAD.—For yeast: Four large spoonful of flour; six grated potatoes; three spoonful of sugar; two spoonful of salt, and one of ginger, mixed to a paste. Simmer one handful of hops in a quart of water for half an hour, strain and pour boiling hot over the above mixture, stirring the meanwhile. When cooled, stir in a large cupful of yeast. Put into a stone pot, let rise in a warm place, then keep in the cellar. The Sponge: One quart of warm water, three mashed potatoes, with enough sifted flour to make a stiff batter. Beat well, then stir in one coffeecupful of the above yeast and let rise in a warm place. Do this the evening before baking. Kneading, Baking. In the morning sift several quarts of flour into the mixing-bowl. We are careful to have more flour in the bowl than needed, so that the dough never adheres to the sides or bottom of the bowl. The surplus flour can be re-sifted and returned to the barrel. Make a well in the centre of the flour, stir in a piece of lard the size of an egg, two tablespoonsful of white sugar and a large handful of salt. Pour in the sponge, then very gradually add a quart of warm water with one hand, while with the other carefully mix in the flour. The process of kneading is very important. The flour should be worked in by degrees, and not "dumpt" in. The dough must not be too stiff, neither should it be sticky. No exact directions can be given, but experience and practice will prove the best guides. When thoroughly kneaded, form into a round mass, cover and let rise in a warm place. When light, mold into loaves. At this kneading no more flour should be used than necessary to keep the dough from sticking to the hands and board. The loaves should rise one-half hour before baking. Bake from three-quarters of an hour to an hour. After the first fifteen minutes the heat should be moderate. Good flour, good yeast and care are requisite in bread making, and without which no housekeeper can expect to make good, sweet bread.

Esther Cox sent to Gaol.

Esther Cox, who created so much interest a year ago relative to spiritual manifestations, has been committed to Cumberland gaol for trial, for theft from her employer's house, and also for setting fire to the outbuildings.

IT is felt that the resignation of Dr. Cumming of the pastorate of the Crown Court congregation, London, removes one of the main difficulties from the way of a union between the English Presbyterians and the congregations of the Established Church of Scotland south of the Tweed.

Stop that Cough.

HAGYARD'S PECTORAL BALSAM is composed of the most healing balsams and gums. The balsams, which enter into its composition, were used by natives when America was first discovered, and are combined with other vegetable tonics, so blended together, that it is a specific for all affections of the throat and lungs. Thousands of bottles are used annually, and it is considered one of the standard preparations of the day. For Coughs, Colds, etc. For sale by all dealers at 25cts. per bottle.

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head.
OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhoea, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is SCOTT & BOWNE'S EMULSION OF PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. Price 25 cents.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

County Court.

There will be a sitting of the County Court without a jury to-morrow.

Annual Inspection.

The annual inspection of the volunteers takes place to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Cricket ground at Ashburnham.

Personal.

Mr. Geo. B. Edwards, who, we learn, is doing a thriving business as an insurance agent at Hamilton, is now in town on a visit to his friends.

Not Sold.

The Leahy farms in Douro, offered at auction by Messrs Gilbert & Moore at the Choate House on Saturday, were not sold. They were put up, giving the bidder the choice of either, or the right to take both farms at his bid, but only one bid of $4,000 was made and they were withdrawn.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: light to moderate winds; partly cloudy mild weather. In Peterborough the wind has been very light from the south west, cloudy mild weather with indications of rain.

Horse Sale.

The horse sale which Mr. C. Stapleton conducted at Cavanagh's Hotel on Saturday went off very satisfactorily. Horses which were rated at $5 averaged $12. The best of them sold at amounts ranging from $36 to $106.50, which might be considered very fair prices, as the horses had seen considerable service.

Dramatic.

Mr. F. F. Cooper, the agent of E. A. McDowell's Vanderville Company was in town today making arrangements for two performances to be given at Bradburn's Opera House on Wednesday and Thursday, November 19th and 20th. The posters are being printed which indicate that "Pinafore" and "Arrahe na Pogue" will be presented by a strong and talented company.

Church Parade.

Companies One and Three of the 57th assembled at the Drill Shed on Sunday morning, and preceded by the band in their white uniforms, they marched to St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, where the Incumbent, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, preached an appropriate sermon. After the service the volunteers returned to the Drill Shed where they were dismissed.

All This Week.

For the whole of the present week great bargains will be offered in boots and shoes at the clearing sale of Samuel White's stock, sign of the golden boot. Mr. White assures us that these goods will be sold at a small advance on the low price which he paid for them. Purchasers in need of boot gear for fall and winter wear will do well to call at his establishment, as great bargains will be offered during the whole of the present week.

Break Down.

This afternoon as Mr. Beatty was driving down George Street, the hind axle of his buggy broke off close to the hub of the wheel, letting the buggy down to the ground. The horse, which is a spirited one started, but Mr. Beatty not only held his seat in the buggy but managed to quiet the horse, so that with the aid of a passer by he was able to alight without any further damage than the breaking of the axle. It was a fortunate circumstance that he was driving gently at the time or a more serious mishap might have resulted.

Sidewalk Repairing.

The dilapidated sidewalk in front of Messrs. John McClelland's jewelry store; Rutledge & Shaw's tobacco store; H. LeBrun's clothing house and McKee & Davidson's hardware house, is being over hauled and new plank is being put down in place what was worn out or broken. It is to be hoped this improvement will be extended to Messrs. Kempt's drug house, Long Brother's, confectionery store and others further south. This sidewalk needs repairing all the way down to near the corner of Simcoe street. Other streets are in a like bad condition and ought to be repaired before the winter sets in.

Accident.

On Saturday, Mrs. Perrin, of Otonabee, was coming to market, having two kegs of butter in her buggy, and while turning the corner east of the Locks bridge, the buggy was overturned, she and her butter being thrown out into the road. The kegs of butter being on one side of the buggy prevented Mrs. Perrin from counter balancing them, as she turned the sharp corner. The butter was considerably injured by the mud, the covers being knocked off. Mrs. Perrin herself, sustained some bruises and strained her back and side. Mr. Dawson, also of Otonabee, being near at hand, assisted Mrs. Perrin to her buggy again, which was considerably damaged by the accident. Twenty-two teams were stopped for a time by this accident. The injuries Mrs. Perrin received were not of such a nature as to prevent her from coming on to Peterborough.

Runaway Accident.

On Saturday Mr. Crowe, a peddler, bought a horse of Mr. Ledgate, which it is said was addicted to running away. On Sunday he put the horse in with his own and started out to Chemong Lake for a drive, being accompanied by Dr. Bryan, Veterinary Surgeon. The newly bought horse started to run, exciting the other into the same trick, and they became unmanageable. The lines broke when near Pope's tavern and the horses dashed into the verandah where they stopped. Crowe either jumped out or fell out and had his right leg broken. Dr. Kincaid was immediately sent for. On his arrival he had a spring waggon prepared with a bed on which Crowe was placed, and he was conveyed to the Stewart House where the broken limb was set. The leg is so badly broken and the main arteries so greatly injured that there is little hope of saving it. To-day Crowe is reported as being in as favourable a state as could be expected after such a serious injury.

POLICE COURT

DISORDERLY.

MONDAY, Nov. 10.—The Police Court was visited this morning by John Dwyer, of Otonabee, charged by Constable McGhee with having been disorderly on the street on Saturday. He spent a couple of hours in the lock-up. The Magistrate let him off lightly, it being his first appearance. Fined $2 or 21 days in jail.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

John Young, a respectable farmer, had to be taken to the lock-up on Saturday evening by Constable McGhee for being drunk and disorderly in the yard of the Dublin House. This prisoner seems to have had a row with one Leahy about a two dollar account.

Mr. ALLEN sworn on behalf of the prisoner, said there was a dispute between Young and Leahy about $2. Leahy took off his coat to fight Young, when he and another person tried to stop the fight and take Young home. The constable came and took Young away as he supposed to stop the trouble, but he soon learned that it was to the lock-up. The witness could not dispute the charge of disorderly conduct, and admitted that they had been drinking, but he was endeavoring to take Young home at the time.

The MAGISTRATE said to Young that this was the second time he had been brought before the court. It seemed to be his desire to have a yearly spree, and when he was under the influence of liquor he became disorderly. His respectability and easy circumstances made it worse than for the poor man who could not pay a fine but must go to jail. The fine he should impose would be no punishment. He would, however, let him off this time with a fine. If he was before him again he could not impose a fine, but would give him six months in the Central Prison. He was fined $10.

THE PETERBOROUGH LACROSSE CLUB.

Semi-Annual Meeting.

The regular semi-annual meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club took place at the Huffman House on Friday evening, Nov. 7th, the President, Mr. A. D. Braithwaite in the chair. The business before the meeting was the reception of the auditors' report and the resignation of the Secretary-Treasurer and the election of his successor.

Auditors' Report of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, Nov. 7th, 1879.—

Your Auditors appointed at the last regular meeting to audit the books of the Secretary-Treasurer of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club for the season just ending, beg leave to report that they have carefully examined the books, papers, vouchers, &c., and have found them to be correct, as per statement annexed. We find what is usually an arduous duty to be in this case an easy one. The careful and business-like manner in which the accounts of the club have been kept reflect the highest credit on the Secy.-Treas., and we mark the great services he has rendered the club from time to time. Taking everything into account since we first "faced the ball," the matches played and postponed, the great drawbacks of not having a suitably enclosed ground, and one we could control, and the many difficulties every young club experiences in the beginning, we say, taking everything into account, we have reason to feel proud of our success at this, the close of our first season.

Before closing the report, your auditor would strongly urge and recommend the club to secure a suitable ground for the next season, and the "Peterborough Club will yet be heard from."

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Signed,
S. H. HENDERSON,
M. M. HACKET.

The above report was accepted unanimously.

The Secretary-Treasurer, Wm. Baillie, stated that it was his intention to leave Peterborough on Tuesday the 11th Nov., and handed in his resignation of the offices he held. His resignation was accepted.

A vote of thanks was unanimously tendered to Mr. Baillie for the able manner in which he had performed the duties of his offices.

R. Fortye was then chosen Secretary-Treasurer to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Baillie.

The following resolution was then presented by Mr. T. Munro, and being seconded by Mr. S. H. Henderson was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That it having been made known to the members of the Club that Mr. Wm Baillie, our late Secretary-Treasurer, is about leaving Peterborough, the members wish to show him their high appreciation of the services rendered to the Club, by giving a farewell supper on the eve of his departure, from among them, at the Choate House, on Monday evening, November 10th.

The Club has been prosperous, as the following statement of its finances indicate: The receipts have been [illegible]; expenditure, [illegible]; leaving a balance in the treasury.

BOBCAYGEON.

CATTLE.—The Independent says:—Eighty head of cattle, from Peterborough, bought for the two lumber firms of Hilliard and Ullyott, passed through on Thursday, on their way to the shanties in the north. Forty-one head of fine beef cattle were despatched from here on Monday to Mr. Gilmore's shanty in Galway. They were bought for the purpose by Mr. Jackson Reid. Many of them came from "The Gore." One ox was lost on the road.

PORT HOPE.

CATTLE EXPORT.—The Times says:—The present week has been a busy one with Mr. James Eakins, our popular and extensive cattle buyer, he having shipped two car loads of cattle, and two car loads of live hogs to Montreal, besides two cars of sheep and lambs to the New York market.

CHORAL SOCIETY.—The following are the officers of the recently organized choral society: President, Dr. Might; Treasurer, Mr. W. K. Wadsworth; Secretary, Mr. G. H. Whiting; Committee (with the officers ex-officio), Messrs. [illegible] H. R. Ward and [illegible] S. Smith. At the meeting held last night, it was resolved that the admission to the society should be free to ladies, but that gentlemen should be charged $1, with a yearly subscription of $2, payable one-half at the end of 4, and one-half at the end of 8 months.

SCOTLAND.

AT Glasgow the public analysts report having found a dangerous quantity of strychnine on the face of confections made in imitation of watches.

SIX of the crew of the smack Vixen, caught smuggling on the west side of Shetland, have been heavily fined, four of them £100 each.

A PARLIAMENTARY return shows that Scotland contributed £3,153,760 of the forty millions derived during the year for spirit duties and excise licenses.

DR. G. F. FORBES has paid in the sum of £500 to the National Bank to defray the cost of the Forbes Memorial Fountain, and the preservation of the palladium of Inverness, old Clachnacuddin.

ON the 15th October, His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge, Commander-in-Chief, inspected the barracks at Edinburgh Castle, and in the afternoon reviewed over 1200 troops in the Queen's Park.

THREE little girls have been apprehended at Greenock on a charge of having within three or four days entered no fewer than ten houses by means of false keys, and stolen large quantities of clothing and other articles.

MUCH alarm over a wide district was caused on the 17th October, by one of the towers of Woodilee Lunatic Asylum getting accidently on fire. The tower, which was 150 feet high, and cost about £10,000, was reduced to a ruin.

THE new steamer that is to replace the Chancellor on the Lochlomond and Lochlong route will be a saloon steamer, and her length will be 206 feet by 21 feet by 8 feet. She will have engines of about 600 horse-power, and is expected to attain a speed of about twenty miles an hour.

RECENTLY the Culbin Sands, extending four miles by two miles broad, have been visited by various tourists, and the wind having drifted the sand several valuable discoveries have been made. The finds include a large number of ancient flint arrow heads, a silver brooch, and a copper or bronze coin, dated 1408.

A RECENT volume of the "Proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland" contains an account, written by Professor Daniel Wilson, of Toronto, of the recovery of the Crozier of St. Fillan. This old scottish relic was in the possession of Mr. Alexander Dewar, Plympton, Ont. The Antiquarian Society purchased it from him for $500.

AN interesting ceremony took place on the 16th Oct., at the house of Captain John Orr, late of the 42nd Regiment, and of the Edinburg Naval and Military Academy. This veteran officer is now in his ninetieth year. He is one of the few survivors of the Peninsula and Waterloo—the last of the officers of his famous regiment who fought in the great battle of 1815, in which he was wounded. A number of old pupils and other friends have now presented him with two silver vases bearing an appropriate inscription, and a purse containing 300 guineas.

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable. d168-w45-1m

Welland Canal Enlargement.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Welland Canal," will be received at this office until the arrival of the Eastern and Western mails on FRIDAY the 14th DAY OF NOVEMBER next, for the deepening and completion of that part of the Welland Canal, between Ramey's Bend and Port Colborne, known as Sections Nos. 33 and 34, embracing the greater part of what is called the "Rock Cut."

Plans showing the position of the work, and specifications for what remains to be done, can be seen at this office, and at the Resident Engineer's Office, Welland on and after TUESDAY the 4th DAY OF NOVEMBER next, where printed forms of tender can be obtained.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, except there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted Bank cheque for the sum of three thousand dollars for Section No. 33, and one for four thousand dollars for Section No. 34, must accompany the respective Tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheques or money thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose Tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfilment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required by the deposit of money to the amount of five per cent. on the bulk sum of the contract; of which the sum sent in with the Tender will be considered a part.

Ninety per cent. only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the work.

To each Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the Contract.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
F. BRAUN,
Secretary.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Health is Happiness.

NERVOUSNESS.—A very great number of those in the [illegible] classes of society, who, without being ever actually sick, never know what real health is; who live constantly in a lower plane of living than is normal to man, who are weak all over, though not specially and decidedly weak in any one organ, who may not experience throbbing and grinding pain, yet suffer at times, if not always, that profound exhaustion which in many respects is worse than pain. Those in that lamentable state have always been relieved, and many permanently so by using the Victoria Syrup of Hypophosphites, it being peculiarly adapted for these cases. MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

CABLE.

CHICAGO AND GRAND TRUNK RY.

London, Nov. 9.—Subscriptions are invited by the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway Company for £500,000 sterling six per cent. debenture bonds at a fixed price of £94. The debentures are to be exchanged for first mortgage bonds on the entire line from Port Huron and Chicago when consolidation of the several sections is completed. The bonds mature in January, 1900. The Board of the new Company consists of the Directors of the Grand Trunk Company. The prospectus issued by it gives full particulars of the line.

THE LORD MAYOR'S SHOW.

London, Nov. 10.—The Lord Mayor's procession was about as usual with no special feature except that the crowd along the entire route vigorously hissed ex-Mayor Whetham. The rooms of the American Exchange were filled with visitors, the exercises concluding with "Home, Sweet Home," by Miss Thursby, who sails to-morrow for New York.

BALANCE OF POWER.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 10.—The Golos says that if England as rumored, has obtained a maritime station in the Euxine, Russia must acquire a position on the southern shore of Asia Minor, opposite to the Suez Canal.

A DESIRABLE ALLIANCE.

London, Nov. 10.—A despatch from Teheran says England is endeavoring to establish an understanding with Persia. The relations between Russia and Persia are said to be cooling.

CZAR AND EMPEROR.

London, Nov. 10.—A Berlin correspondent hears that during the recent correspondence between the Czar and the Emperor William, the latter assured the Czar that neither he nor his son would ever war against Russia, and cordially invited the Czar to visit Berlin. The Czar replied that he could not come himself, but the Czarewitch would.

THE BOSNIAN GEND'ARMERIE.

Vienna, Nov. 10.—The new corps of gend'armerie in Bosnia consists of 4,000 men, chiefly Croats. The officers are for the most part taken from the Austrian army, though the Turkish officers of Zaptiehs are also employed. It is found that the Turkish gend'armes are very trustworthy, and possess a thorough acquaintance with the country and people.

BISMARCK'S HEALTH.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—Bismarck is not only suffering from the old neuralgic complaint, but symptoms of a constitutional malady have appeared, which his robust constitution will probably overcome, but which causes apprehension.

RUSSIAN ENGINEERING.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—The attempt to divert the Amu Daria into the Caspian Sea with native help having failed, the commission of European engineers, appointed to undertake the work, have just started for Khiva.

PRESS PROSECUTIONS.

Paris, Nov. 10.—The Univers and the Gazette du Midi will be prosecuted for publishing reports that the Government had taken military precautions in view of coming troubles.

DIFFICULTY ADJUSTED.

London, Nov. 10.—A correspondent at Pesth reports the duel between Count Szapary and Deputy Pazmandy has not taken place, and the matter has been adjusted.

CHECKING INTRIGUE.

London, Nov. 10.—Appearances are now more favorable to the maintenance of peace, but the danger of difficulties with Russia is not over. The unexpected movement of the British Mediterranean fleet undoubtedly warned Turkey of her peril, and checked the intrigues of Russia at Constantinople.

AMERICAN.

LONGSHOREMEN'S STRIKE.

Boston, Nov. 10.—The longshoremen have made a general strike this morning, 600 or 700 joining. They demand an increase of from 25 to 30 cents an hour, and 40 cents for night work. 200 men in the employ of the Australia, California and West Indian lines were paid the advance.

POST OFFICE STATISTICS.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The Superintendent of the Free Delivery service in his annual report states that the carriers handled 95 million pieces of mail matter last year more than during the previous year. The postage upon local letters paid for the entire carrier service with $364,000 to spare. The whole number of pieces handled was $889,854,690.

FINANCIAL OPERATION.

New York, Nov. 10.—As Sherman's offer for the purchase of 1881 bonds at 106 still stands, other bonds besides those sold on Saturday have been bought to-day. Negotiations are proceeding with the out of town banks for more, and it is likely that $10,000,000 will be obtained.

THE CENTAL SYSTEM.

The grain trade has decide to rescind the rules referring to the cental system.

A COTTON RING.

Oldham, Nov. 10.—The directors of the limited cotton mill companies of Oldham have decided to meet again to form an association for promoting their mutual interests. Speakers at the meeting strongly censured the conduct of the Liverpool cotton ring, and one of them spoke of the necessity of obtaining cotton direct from America.

KILLED BY A SCHOOLMATE.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 10.—James A. Cooley, aged 14, died on Saturday from injuries received from a schoolmate while playing duck and drake. An accidental blow on the head with a stone caused death.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review.

CABLE.

THE PRICE OF CHEESE.

Liverpool, Nov. 11.—The quotation for cheese is 62 shillings.

DIPLOMATIC CHANGE.

Vienna, Nov. 11.—The resignation of Gortschakoff is now assured. The Foreign Department will be conducted by DeGiers until a successor is appointed.

PURCHASING IRON CLADS.

Constantinople, Nov. 11.—A Russian naval officer has arrived to purchase four Turkish iron clads.

A QUEEN'S ILLNESS.

Paris, Nov. 11.—The Queen of Italy is reported to be seriously ill with fever.

TURKISH OBSTINACY.

London, Nov. 11.—A Constantinople correspondent says there is grave reason to fear that the reckless, dogged and passive resistance which has hitherto baffled all the efforts of the British Ambassador to Turkey will be prolonged, and the country will continue to sink gradually as it has seen doing for the past twelve months, until some catastrophe produces a radical change in the situation.

RE-ASSURING IMPRESSION.

London, Nov. 11.—The Times, commenting on Lord Beaconsfield's speech points out the absence of any reference to the eastern question or the Anglo-Turkish convention. It says that if the speech is not disturbing the explanations offered by Sir S. Northcote respecting the finances will combine with Beaconsfield's account of the revival of trade to produce a re-assuring impression.

THE GUIDHALL SPEECH.

London, Nov. 11.—A tone of disappointment pervades the morning paper comments on Lord Beaconsfield's speech. It was anticipated that he would throw some light on the relations of England with Turkey, on the future of Afghanistan, and on the chances of a dissolution of Parliament. The concluding sentence of his speech is accepted by some as negotiving the idea of a dissolution. The News warns Liberals not to take this indifferent assertion too seriously, and says it is capable of various interpretations, and was probably intended to be so.

A DIPLOMATIC VISIT.

London, Nov. 11.—A Berlin despatch says that the French Ambassador is visiting Bismarck at Varzin. No political importance is attached to the visit, as the invitation was given some time ago.

TURKISH SECURITIES.

London, Nov. 11.—Turkish securities are very flat in consequence of that disappointment at Lord Beaconsfield's speech.

GOLD STILL COMING.

New York, Nov. 11.—The Gollia from Liverpool brought $300,000 in gold.

ABD EL KHADER'S DEATH.

Paris, Nov. 11.—Abd El Khader, the famous Algerian chief, died recently at Damascus.

SERIOUS FIRES.

London, Nov. 11.—A fire is now burning in the large paint works at 314 Blecker street, and a five storey brick building. A fire is also burning on board the steamer Newport at pier 28, North River.

DIPLOMAT REWARDED.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 11.—The Czar, in accepting the resignation of Schouvaloff, confers upon him the Order of St. Vladimir in recognition of his public services.

RUSSIAN ADVANCES.

London, Nov. 11.—A Vienna despatch says the Czarewitch will come here before going to Berlin. These visits are interpreted as a first step on the part of Russia towards surmounting the estrangement between herself and the two central empires of Europe. An estrangement dating from the conclusion of the preliminary treaty of San Stefano, and culminating in the Austro-Germany understanding of Vienna. No obstacle will be found here to putting an end to this estrangement, but the result cannot affect the understanding between Germany and Austria.

GERMAN TRADE.

London, Nov. 11.—A conference of German and Austrian manufactures has taken place at Vienna with a view to concerting measures for facilitating trade between the two nations. It was agreed on both sides that the present protectionist tariff adopted by each of the two countries should be adhered to, but negotiations for a convention should take place in order to remove other trade restrictions between them. The Austro-Hungarian Customs and trade conference have also met at Vienna to draw up instructions for delegates, who are to be sent to Berlin, but it is quite uncertain when negotiations relative to the proposed Austro-German commercial convention will begin. An official report of the foreign trade of Austria-Hungary for the month of July, 1879, shows that the exports of corn have nearly doubled since the same month last year. For the first seven months of 1878 the imports were 3,625,208 cwt., and the exports 4,676,894 cwt. For the first seven months of 1879 the imports were 3,171,465 cwt., and the exports 8,692,873 cwt. The greatest increases in exports were in wheat, malt, and maize.

AMERICAN.

CYRUS W. FIELD.

The New Wabash Consolidated Company has elected Cyrus W. Field, President.

THE "ARIZONA'S" ICEBERG.

New York, Nov. 11.—The steamer Arcberia reports that on Wednesday she passed an iceberg which from its position, and appearance is without doubt the one with which the Arizona collided.

VETOING REPUDIATION.

New York, Nov. 10.—The World's Washington despatch says the Governor of Virginia will promptly interpose his veto to anything that may lead to repudiation.

INFLUX OF GOLD.

New York, Nov. 11.—The Westphalia from Hamburg brought 1,330,000 dollars in gold.

OFFICIAL PECULATIONS.

Cincinnati, Nov. 11.—Special Agent Newcomb's investigation into the accounts of Clerk Ambrose, of the United States Court, daily discovers increased peculations.

THE SEA SERPENT AGAIN.

New York, Nov. 11.—Fourth officer Rowell, of the Anchoria, which arrived on Sunday, reports seeing on Thursday night, while on the Newfoundland Banks, a sea serpent, 400 feet in length sporting in the water. It moved faster than the ship.

FIGHT WITH INDIANS.

Elpaso, Tex., Nov. 11.—There was a desperate fight yesterday at Caldelara Mountain, Mexico, fifty miles south of here, between two hundred Indians and fifty men from Carisa, New Mexico, 32 of whom were killed, and 18 escaped wounded. The Indians are the same that Major Morrow was after.

MINING STOCK.

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—There is a rise in Hale & Norcross mining stock based on reports of striking, are running from three to four hundred dollars per ton. The stock went up to 23 yesterday.

TRUSTING TO PROVIDENCE.

Middletown, N.Y., Nov. 11.—There is great alarm here over the threatened water famine. The water company will to-day shut off the supply. A proposition to expend $30,000 for a permanent source of supply was recently voted down by the tax payers on the ground, that such action would show a lack of faith in Providence.

DEATH OF AN ADMIRAL.

Baltimore, Nov. 11.—Rear Admiral Augustus H. Kelly, died yesterday, aged 73.

HEAVY DAMAGES.

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 11.—The suit of Joseph Parker, of Holyoke, a livery stable keeper, against Andre B. Dufresne, a French Catholic Priest for ten thousand dollars damages because the latter told the people of his parish not to hire the hacks of the former, as he had disobeyed the commands of the church, resulted in a verdict for Parker for $3,400.

PUBLIC OR PARISH SCHOOLS.

Boston, Nov. 11.—There is much excitement over the action of father Scully in coercing his parishioners to send their children to the parochial instead of the public schools. A committee of the congregation appointed to represent the case to Archbishop Williams, yesterday reported that the archbishop was in entire accord with father Scully. Father Scully insists that every parent who sends his children to a public school is practically excommunicated.

DISPUTED MARRIAGE CASE.

The suit of Mrs. Mary Hynes and her children, as the widow and heirs of the late Wm. R. Hynes, to recover certain property in Madison Avenue, was decided yesterday. The suit involved the validity of Mrs Hynes' marriage. No ceremony was ever performed but the parties agreed while in London and afterwards on a steamer in the English Channel, to live as man and wife, and so lived until Hynes' death. This agreement was afterwards renewed in France. The court decided that the agreement did not constitute marriage in England as it was not sufficiently proved that the steamer in the English Channel bore the American flag. The ratification of the agreement in France, however, was sufficient to constitute a valid marriage as it was not shown that the French law requires any further ceremony.

BURNING HIS VESSEL.

New York, Nov. 11.—The ship E. W. Weston, from London, has arrived, with the crew of the British barque Cassinga abandoned and burned by the captain on the 31st October, after becoming waterlogged. The captain says he burned the vessel, on abandoning her, to prevent collisions.

VENGEANCE FOR A VOTE.

Baltimore, Nov. 11.—A respectable negro in Talbot County recently voted the Democrat ticket. A couple of days afterwards a miscreant entered his barn and cut the ears, tail and nose off the negro's horse.

A NEW PARTY.

New York, Nov. 11.—The Herald's Richmond, Va., report says:—The Readjusters are fully successful. They propose to take liberal ground on political questions, and by affiliation with the negroes, to form a new party which will repeal all obnoxious statutes discriminating against the negroes.

A FATAL AFFRAY.

Santa Rosa, Cal., Nov. 11.—J. G. Hill was killed on Saturday night at Forrestville, and Hamilton Hiton was wounded, during a disturbance between Hill and a family named Travis, growing out of alleged slanderous remarks made by Hill about Miss Travis.

REVENUE RECEIPTS.

New York, Nov. 11.—The Tribune's Washington despatch says the report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue will show an increase of receipts from spirits last year of over two millions, a decrease of receipts from tobacco of $610,000, with an increase of eleven and a half millions of pounds in the quantity taxed. The total receipts from all sources is 114 millions, or an increase of $2,800,000, over the preceding year. Three-fifths of the entire crop of tobacco grown in the United States is exported and pays no tax in this country. The commissioners estimates that the reduction of the tax on tobacco will result in a loss of eleven millions to the revenue.

SUPPRESSING LOTTERIES.

New York, Nov. 11.—Twelve lottery dealers were arrested yesterday, charged with sending lottery circulars through the mails.

SINGULAR DEATH.

Alex. Leith, of Brooklyn, aged 16, recently, while wading in the water stepped upon the bones of a decayed blue-fish. He died on Saturday from lockjaw.

BUTCHERY BY A WOMAN.

Charleston, Nov. 11.—The particulars of the murder of five children in Lancaster County, N. C., show that Mrs. James Adams deliberately planned her own death, and to murder her children while insane from well-founded jealousy of her husband. After cutting the throats of her five children and firing her own clothing she appeared at a neighbour's house and begged to be killed with an axe. The children all lay dead upon the bed in perfectly natural positions.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.

New York, Nov. 11.—The billiard tournament under the new rules intended to prevent nursing begins this evening. Among the contestants are Schaefer, Slosson, Sexton, Heiser, and Eugene Carter.

KIDNAPPED ITALIAN BOYS.

The United States Commissioner yesterday held Giavain Ancarala in $2,000 bail, on the charge of kidnapping seven Italian boys, intended to be employed as beggars. The boys will be returned to Italy.

THE TRENT CANAL.

WHILE most of our contemporaries, who have noticed the revival of the Trent Valley Canal project have done so favourably, there are some who have ventured to throw cold water thereon, and the Barrie Gazette even goes the length of advising the municipalities "not to throw money away upon an unprofitable scheme."

It may be true, as the Gazette says, that the people hereabouts have allowed their "hopes and imaginations to run away with their reason and judgment," but we venture to think that it is the Gazette who has "without reason and judgment" undertaken to condemn a project in which even Barrie has a local interest, because, it happens not to come quite so near its own door as the Mammoth Toronto Ship Canal, about which it is so suspiciously silent in this same article. However, whatever the motives which induced the Gazette to pen the article in question, it adopts a line of argument which is not without significance. The first objection which it advances against our scheme is that it will carry the trade past the Welland Canal. True, Oh Gazette, but, in the first place, Does not that objection apply alike generally to the Toronto, Trent Valley, and Ottawa projects, and does it not apply particularly to the Toronto scheme inasmuch as it is a "Ship" Canal, while the latter are only for barges? But the insincerity of this objection on the part of the Gazette receives ample confirmation in the same article inasmuch as it declares that the one via French River and the Ottawa "must be the canal of the future, even if it cost more than other mooted projects." Will the Gazette, who has so suddenly become enamoured of the Ottawa route, tell us wherein it so much surpasses that of the Trent Valley as to justify its construction in preference to the latter "even if it cost more money." Then we are informed that the "present activity" in connection with this "exploded" scheme is only explainable on the ground that "work had to be provided for a certain engineer," or "that political capital might be made out of it," which is only worthy of a jaundiced imagination that can see no good in anything that does not emanate from itself or its friends. But even supposing the motives were such as the Gazette supposes, what then? Have not the Government, by sending an engineer, of their own choosing over the route, and that engineer having made a most favorable report, put a weapon into the hands of the people interested in its construction, which if properly used gives them a decided advantage in urging it upon the attention of Parliament as well as of the Government? They cannot now reply that the scheme is impracticable, nor that it is too expensive, nor that it would not be an important factor in attracting western trade to the St. Lawrence route. Why, even the Gazette's complaint about taking the trade past the Welland Canal is an admission of that fact.

This being the position of affairs, it surely behooves those along its route to press the matter now; to show the Government and Parliament that they too appreciate its importance, and to leave no stone unturned to impress the people of the Dominion, and especially of Montreal and the east, with the immense advantages to be derived by the St. Lawrence route from the immediate construction of this canal—the more particularly as it can be completed at a very moderate cost, compared with its importance.

THE Great Northern Railway Company are about to place Pullman dining cars on the line between London and Leeds.

TRAVELLING IN THE NORTH-WEST.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—Allow me in the columns of your valuable paper to give a brief description of the travels of Mr. A. J. Rogers, of Ashburnham; W. J. Carter, E. T. Goodfellow, and the writer (all of Peterborough) through a great portion of the "North-West Territories," hoping it will afford some slight information to any intending immigrant, and prepare him for a few of the difficulties which he must necessarily encounter in travelling through the "Great Lone Land."

Having supplied ourselves at Winnipeg with oxen, wagons, and forty-five hundred weight of freight, we left there on May 26th, at four p.m. (my birthday,) which they say accounts for the large amount of "rough times" we experienced) and travelled as far as "Silver Heights"—five miles from Winnipeg. We pitched our tent in close proximity to a brewery, which we abstained from entering at the kind invitation of the stout and worthy brewer himself, but resolved on a wiser plan, namely of wrapping ourselves in our blankets and submitting to the power of "Morpheus."

We arose at 7.30 a.m. and proceeded on our journey till noon, the roads being thus far in excellent condition, and "all went merry as a marriage bell." Having dined on bacon, hard-tack biscuit, and tea, we resumed our march (of course always on foot, the wagons being too heavily loaded to allow us to ride) and camped at White Horse Plains, 30 miles from Winnipeg, and on the somewhat romantic banks of the Assinaboine River.

We slept soundly and arose at 5 a.m., breakfasted on the same diet as previously, and again were on the tramp. But now commenced our difficulties, the road all at once seemed to get very bad, and we were stuck three times in succession, hardly 20 minutes intervening between each "stick;" the wheels invariably sank above the "hubs," and we were obliged to unload, haul out empty wagon and reload.

This routine continued for hours, until we arrived on to a large prairie, and there being a great lack of water on it, we were obliged to travel on until 10 p.m., when we luckily struck the residence of Mrs. Henry Stuart, of Peterborough, who, kind soul, would immediately have ordered the fatted calf to be killed, had we not unanimously protested against it; but having struck hospitable friends and water we wisely concluded to remain there over night in our tents.

That night it rained, or I should say it poured; it seemed to come down in bucketfulls, the tents being little or no protection to us.

The vivid flashes of lightning lighted up the prairie for miles and miles around. The thunder too was really "awful"; it seemed as if Heaven's whole artillery was engaged in one most terrific combat. Language could not describe, not imagination for one moment conceive it. We all fully agreed that we never perceived anything one tenth so fierce and deafening.

But as everything must have an end, (except articles that are round) and as the storm was no exception to the rule, why it ended also, and next day we beheld as fine a day as an eye ever gazed upon.

We wisely took half a day to dry our clothes and have some shooting, of which there is an abundance (if you shoot dead things.) But however we managed to bring in a mixed assortment of game, viz: Turkey-buzzard, ducks, cranes, prairie chickens and a snipe, out of which we prepared and devoured quite a sumptuous repast.

Early in the afternoon we started again, being kindly instructed by Mr. Henry Stewart, as to the proper trail.

About two days afterwards we arrived at "Popular Point," thirty miles or more from Winnipeg being just five days going that far.

Here our ill-luck increased, by being stuck worse than usual—above the "hubs"—and breaking the tongue of one of our wagons.

Well, to make a long story short, our journey seemed to be one of hardships; we were never dry except on Sundays, which day we took for rest and other necessary requirements. The trail all the way seemed to be in a frightful state, but worst of all was on the "Great Salt Plains"; here we would be stuck every ten minutes, regularly, the alkali mud being so immensely thick that one could not see between the spokes of the wheel.

And thus it continued during the whole journey; what between mud, water, rain, thirst, starvation and walking, we had a very pleasant trip, indeed. Imagine then our joy when we ascended a hill and gazed upon the truly romantic scene of "Prince Albert," 600 miles from Winnipeg, (our destination).

Prince Albert at present is occupied by 1,000 inhabitants, not including the great quantity of Sioux Indians, who are flocking here by the hundreds.

There is a slight disturbance expected here, but the Government have wisely taken time by the forelock, and organized three companies, two of Mounted Infantry, and the other of Infantry.

There was a magnificent harvest here, but very late, some of the crops being actually not yet cut, and the snow lying 4 in. on the ground. (October 17).

The large amount of wheat in the settlement accounts for the large number of starving savages coming.

It is considered a wise idea here to have one's hair clipped short in case of emergency.

Here endeth my first epistle to the PETERBOROUGH REVIEW. I am, yours, etc.,

RONALD HILTON, D. S.

THE POSTAGE OF THE WORLD.

Dr. Fischer, an Oberpostrath of the Imperial German Post-office (corresponding to the rank of assistant secretary with us), has just published an interesting pamphlet showing the comparative postal and telegraph statistics. But in some cases the information yet available does not enable him to bring down his work later than 1873. The letter post of the whole world for that year amounted in round numbers to 3,300,000,000 letters, or about 9¼ millions daily; and the numbers have been increasing daily at an astonishing rate. Thus in Japan the number of post-offices in 1873 was 1,159, and in 1876 it had risen to 3,649. The number of separate articles which passed through the Japanese post in 1876 was 47,000,000, of which 25,000,000 were letters, 10,000,000 post cards, 9½ millions newspapers. Post-cards were first brought into use only in 1865, and now they are employed in almost every country of the world. The parcels post has, however, not yet got beyond the first stage of development. The number telegraphic despatches sent in 1877 amounted for the whole globe to nearly 129,000,000, or an average of 353,000 daily. More than one-third of the total number of telegraphic despatches are private, dealing with purely personal concerns. It is unnecessary to say that the newspaper press absorbs a large proportion of the telegrams of the world, while the world of finance and commerce also appropriates a giant's share.—Canadian Spectator.

[illegible] Death of a Mother and Son.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Nov. 8.—This morning Mrs Mary Shearer found her son, aged 8, at the bottom of a disused cistern. The boy was suffocated by foul air. The mother not knowing this jumped in to rescue him, and was herself overcome. Both were soon taken out but could not be resuscitated.

REVIEWS.

THE RURAL NEW YORKER.—We know of no better way of giving an idea of the great variety and attractiveness of the reading matter of this useful and interesting publication than by running over the contents of the number now before us, namely, that for the 8th of November. Under the head of Biographical we have a sketch of Dr. Asa Gray, an eminent American Botanist; under that of Field Crops, experience with Blount corn; under Farm Topics, Autumn muck and Salt as a preventitive of rust and as a fertilizer; under Entomological, the vine-leaf hopper; under Floricultural, experience with Flowers; under Horticultural, the Hawthorn-leaved Raspberry (with an illustration), Gooseberries, and Blackberries; under Miscellaneous; handy things to know, to do, and to have (with six illustrations); Jottings at Kirby Homestead and causing Plants to Flower or Fruit; nearly a column of correspondence under the heading of "What Others Say." A review of Pamphlets and Catalogues; under the heading of Farm Economy, Spreading Manure in Winter, Beet Sugar making in California and experience with Sorghum; under the Herdsman, Large vs. Small cows; under Industrial Implements, the Beedford under—runner mill (illustrated) and a new feed cutter; under Everywhere, a large number of Rural Special Reports, including several from Canada, answers to correspondents, and Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station; under Sheep Husbandry, a profitable sheep account and sheltering sheep. Editorials on: Good Result in Farming; Pay as you go. The Abolition of Horse-racing at Agricultural fairs; The Price of Indifference; The organization of a National Agricultural Society, &c. Over a column of Brevities; Under the heading of For women. Poetry, description of Hair-pin work, Pin Tray, Flower Mat, Watch Stand, &c., with illustrations. The Woman's Club, Whiffs from Oildom, Newspaper Hygiene, a Combination Conservatory and Refrigerator and Autumn Leaves, House Plants and stockings. Under Literary Miscellany, the Farmer's Wooing, a continued story; Recent Literature, a view of the magazines, and varieties. Nearly three columns of Domestic Economy, another two of news of the week, their market reports, Reading for the young. A number of puzzles, Sabbath reading, and an amusing illustration entitled "Character sketches—jurymen." What a list for a single week, and yet fifty-two such numbers, a number of valuable seeds, and the weekly REVIEW for 1880, can all be had for the trifling sum of two dollars and eighty cents.

THE BOYS OWN PAPER.—We have received the first number of the reprint of this publication by William Warwick, Toronto. This is one of the publications of the London Religious Tract Society, which Mr. Warwick has arranged to have advance plates sent to him and from which they are to be worked off in Toronto. Most boys will read something, and the parent or guardian who properly appreciates his duty, will endeavor to direct this taste into proper channels rather than curb it, and to this end the Boys Own Paper, at the moderate price of one dollar and fifty cents per annum, will be found a useful auxiliary.

THE LATE FATHER O'REILLY.

The Madoc Review contains a lengthy notice of the death of the Rev. Father O'Reilly, R. C. Curate of Madoc, who died suddenly at that place on Sunday night, the 2nd inst. It concludes as follows:—"Father O'Reilly was born in the County Cavan, Ireland, and finished his studies and was ordained in Maynooth College, in 1867. Though but a few months in this parish he endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact, by his kind and gentle behavior. He was a perfect gentleman, and one whom to know was to love. Though he died far from the home of his youth, and no relative near as he was lowered into the tomb, yet the many tears shed over his coffin by the Catholics of Madoc, showed that he was among those who loved him dearly, and were stricken with grief at his loss. It is intended that the proposed new church will be built over his grave, and when the same is completed a suitable monument will be erected to his memory.

The North-West.

The Saskatchewan Herald says that Prof. Macoun's exploration has resulted in the discovery of a large tract of good agricultural and grazing land south-west of the Battleford region and out of the ordinary routes of travel. Fully eighty per cent. of it is suitable for grain-growing. Prof. Macoun states emphatically that the stories of disaffection among the Blackfeet, Sarcees, and Mountain Indians are without foundation, and he gives them great praise for their patience while undergoing the most shocking privation from hunger and want of every conceivable description. He also says that the great drawback to the country south of Battleford is that there is no timber, but this lack is compensated for by the undoubted existence of unlimited quantities of coal throughout that region. The coal has been tested at many camp-fires for cooking, and it burnt brightly, with a clear flame and no residue but the ashes.

A Household Necessity.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil is the best remedy in the world for the following complaints:—Cramps in the limbs and stomach, pain in the side, rheumatism in all its forms, Colic, Neuralgia, Flesh Wounds, Spinal Complaints, Sprains and Bruises. Don't fail to procure it. Its equal has never been known for removing pain in all cases. For internal and external use. Sold by all dealers.

The most perilous hour of a person's life is when he is tempted to despond. No one should despond—not even the young man who is enfeebled, both mentally and physically, by habits of early discretion, as Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi will cure the most distressing case of kidney disease, etc. For sale by all dealers, at $1 per bottle.

CREEPING UP THE STAIRS.

In the softly falling twilight
Of the weary, weary day,
With a quiet step I entered
Where the children were at play;
I was brooding over some trouble
That had met me unaware,
When a little voice came singing,
"Me is creepin' up a stairs."

Ah! it touched the tender heart-string
With a breath and force divine,
And such melodies awakened
As words can ne'er divine.
As I turned to see our darling,
All forgetful of my cares,
When I saw the little creature
Slowly creeping up the stairs.

Step by step she bravely clambered
On her little hands and knees,
Keeping up a constant chattering,
Like the magpies in the trees.
Till at last she reached the topmost,
When o'er all her world's affairs
She, delighted, stood a victor,
After creeping up the stairs.

Fainting heart, behold an image
Of man's brief and struggling life,
Whose best prize must be captured
With an earnest, noble strife!
Onward, upward, reaching ever,
Bending to the weight of cares,
Hoping, fearing, still expecting,
We go creeping up the stairs.

On the steps there may be no carpet,
By their side may be no rail,
Hands and knees may often pain us,
And the heart may almost fail;
Still above there is the glory
Which no sinfulness impairs,
With its rest and joy forever,
After creeping up the stairs.

MEDICAL AND SCIENTIFIC.

TREATMENT OF COLIC.—Phares' method consists in inversion—simply in turning the patient upside down. Colic of several days' duration has been relieved by this means in a few minutes.

CHLORAL IN WHOOPING COUGH.—Dr. C. H. Smith reports that in two hundred cases of this disease treated with chloral, he has in every case noticed a marked alleviation of the symptoms and shortening of the period of the disease. Only one case lasted seven weeks, and the majority of the cases were well in from two to six weeks. No other remedy is given.

THE USE OF SPECTACLES DELAYED.—Dr. Cheatham recommends, in the Louisville Medical News, the use of sulphate of eserine as a means of delaying the use of spectacles, so that they will not be required for several years, this alkaloid having the power of stimulating the ciliary muscle and thus assisting the accommodation. The strength of solution is one grain of the sulphate of eserine to an ounce of water. One drop of this solution is to be put in the eye at night, or when required.

RELIEF OF COLOR BLINDNESS.—M. Delboeuf has found that if a person afflicted with Daltonism looks through a layer of fuchsine in solution his infirmity disappears. A practical application of this discovery has been made by M. Javal, by interposing between two glasses a thin layer of gelatine, previously tinted with fuchsine. By regarding objects through such a medium, all the difficulties of color blindness are said to be corrected. Experiments in Philadelphia, says the Medical and Surgical Reporter, by Dr. P. D. Keyser, affirm the success of this method.

SEA WATER GARGLE IN CHRONIC CATARRH.—Professor Mosler, of Griefswald, says, in the Berlin Klinische Wochenschrift, that he has for some years most successfully treated patients with chronic catarrh of the throat by gargling with sea water. Special rooms for gargling have been erected on the sea shore in some watering places, according to his directions. It is, however, essential that the patients should be given special directions how to gargle. As the affection is generally located in the nasopharyngeal space, it is necessary that part of the water should come in contact with the nasal cavity. In order to attain this, the gargling movements must be combined with movements of deglutition. A marked improvement in the state of the patient follows as soon as the latter has acquired this particular art of gargling.

BENEFITS OF FARINACEOUS DIET.—Liebig's theory that liquor-drinking is not compatible with farinaceous diet seems to have been corroborated by an English scientific man, who has been trying the experiment on 27 liquor-drinking persons. A striking instance of reform was shown in the case of a man of 60, who had been intemperate for 35 years, and was in the habit of taking a spree about once a week. His constitution was so shattered that he had great difficulty in obtaining insurance on his life. After an attack of delirium tremens, which nearly proved fatal, he was induced to live upon farinaceous food, which in seven months entirely removed his desire for liquor, and he became perfectly sober. He lost flesh at the beginning of the experiment, but regained it after two or three months. Among the articles of food mentioned as especially antagonistic to alcohol are lentils, dried beans, haricot beans and macaroni, all of which should be well boiled and seasoned with plenty of butter or olive oil. Ordinary garden vegetables are said to be provocative of temperance, but much less than farinaceous diet. The carbonaceous starch contained in macaroni, beans and oil seems to render unnecessary, and therefore repulsive, the carbon resident in alcohol. This remedy is so very simple that it ought to be tested by men who have so often tried to break themselves of intemperate habits. Drinking to excess is unquestionably a curse in every American city, and farinaceous food has never hurt anybody. Whatever harm it does to alcohol is clear gain.

ENGLAND.

MAJOR MARTER has been promoted to a lieutenant coloneley, in recognition of his service in capturing Cetewayo.

THE new schools of St. Wilfrid, which, with other buildings, have been erected by the Duke of Norfolk at Sheffield at a cost of £16,000, have been opened.

THE Bank of England supports a rifle corps of its own, which, in time, it is intended, shall do away with the necessity of drafting a force every night from one of the household regiments to guard the national money chest.

THE new Severn bridge has cost £200,000, and the branch railway and approaches a similar sum. The bridge is 4162 feet long, and the iron used in its construction amounts to 7000 tons. The two longest spans are 327 feet each.

IT is regarded in British military circles as extremely probable that Capt. Carey, who was with the expedition in South Africa in which the late Prince Imperial lost his life, will retire from his regiment. It is expected that he will enter the church.

THE young sons of the Prince of Wales take an equal share of the duties on board the Bacchante with the other officers. A cricket team has been formed on board to play any English eleven encountered at the ports touched at by the vessel.

THE experiment of lighting the reading-room of the British Museum by electricity began on the 20th Oct., and is to continue until March. There are four lamps of 1200 candle power, and the brilliancy of the illumination is said to excel that of day-light.

THE other night, when a citizen of Chicago was reckoning up his accounts his wife spoke to him several times, and receiving no answer, said: "You treat me cruelly. I fear you no longer love me." And the husband and father replied "I love you passionately, devotedly, frantically, madly; but if you don't hold yer jaw till I get these figures added, I'll give you a clip in the eye."

AQUATICS.

COURTNEY FINALLY WITHDRAWS.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 9.—A week ago on Friday, Mr. Wm. Blaikie, of New York, referee, sent a proposition to both Courtney and Hanlan, that each should put up a forfeit of $500 to row at Washington on Dec. 1st, for a purse of $6,000, offered by Soule, Rochester, and that they should play or pay. Courtney at once telegraphed his acceptance, but up to this writing nothing has been heard from Hanlan. Courtney states to-day he had waited eight days for a reply from Hanlan, but none had been received. He said he should waste no more time in useless negotiation, and to use his own words, he should pay no attention to any other proposition from Mr. Blaikie or any one else. This settles the matter so far as the race this year is concerned, but next spring a meeting between Courtney and Hanlan will probably occur. If Hanlan does not show an inclination to row Courtney at the opening of the season of 1880, Courtney will, it is presumed, challenge the Canadian. Courtney, in an interview, said:—"I have made up my mind to let the public decide between Hanlan and myself. If Hanlan had a doubt about my money, it would have been removed. My money is in Rochester, and has been there since Wednesday. I want the people to understand that when I say I am done with the matter after to-day I mean it, and I don't want any more quibbling."

Referring to his determination not to entertain any more propositions this year he said:—"I have not come to this conclusion without consulting my friends. Hanlan would keep dilly-dallying along, and I should lose not only the $1,000 but the chance to win $6,000. My friends say a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush, and if I can get that $1,000 offered by Mr. Soule, I am going to. When the opportunity presents itself, I shall slide over to Owasco Lake and try and win it. I shall attend to my business right along just the same."

"Do yo think that you and Hanlan will ever come together again."

"I don't know," said Courtney, with a laugh, "ever is a good while."

"You don't think the prospects are very bright for a race next year, I imagine?"

"Next season is quite a way off, but I think the chances are that we shall get together in the spring. I'm sure we shall, as far as I'm concerned."

Courtney sent the following telegram to Mr. Blaikie this afternoon:—

UNION SPRINGS, N. Y., Nov. 8th.

"To Mr. Blaikie:—

"I have waited a week for Hanlan to accept, but he does not, and this settles the matter as far as I'm concerned. I will pay no attention to any more propositions from you or any one else. This is my final decision.

(Signed) "CHAS. E. COURTNEY."

Courtney announces himself as firm in his determination to entertain no proposition from any one for a race between himself and Hanlan this season.

LATER FROM COURTNEY.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Courtney has sent no articles of agreement to Hanlan, but wishes to meet him with Blaikie and the donors of the purse at some half way point, and arrange the necessary preliminaries for a race. He thinks this plan will save time. A meeting will probably be held the first of the week.

It will be seen by this despatch that Courtney must have been notified by Mr. Blaikie of Hanlan's acceptance after the interview reported above.—Mail.

THE LUMBER TRADE.

A Valuable Suggestion From an English Merchant.

QUEBEC, Nov. 10.—The following letter from an English merchant is of interest to those engaged in the trade:—

To the Editor of the Morning Chronicle

SIR,—I have for a number of years imported mining timber and pit props from Norway, Sweden and Finland to the east coast ports. As most of this class of timber is sent by rail to the collieries and mines on the west coast, to which places the railway carriage is very heavy, it's my firm belief that such wood goods can now be shipped in Canada and America to the west coast of England and delivered cheaper to the mines and collieries on the west coast than it can from Norway, &c., via the east coast ports. The prices of this class of timber are now on the rise, and I think it would be to the advantage of the exporters of wood in America and Canada to commence at once this new trade. I shall be glad to furnish further particulars to any one wishing to begin. Hoping you will kindly insert this letter in your paper.

I am,
Yours respectfully,
C. BERVEN.

CANADIAN COAL.

Shipments From the Maritime Provinces to the West Indies.

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 10.—The Herald says:—"Halifax merchants are shipping coal to the West Indies, and are making preparations to do so in considerable quantities. Within the past fortnight the following vessels have cleared with coal for ports in the West Indies:—Clifford, 70 tons coal, A. G. Jones & Co.; A. M. Wall, 120 tons coal, Bremner & Hart; Eureka, 180 tons of coal, the same firm; Sappho, about 200 tons coal, G. P. Mitchell & Sons. We learn, too, that Mr. Drummond, of the Westville colliery, is making arrangements to load a number of vessels at Halifax during the winter for the same market. As to the profitableness of the trade, we are assured it pays better than fish at the present time; that a full cargo of coal out, with a return cargo sugar, makes a fairly profitable trip."

Abolishing the Vendetta.

Corsica, the land of the vendetta, has resolved to put an end, if possible, to the sanguinary family feuds which have stained its history from time immemorial. The noble example has been set by five families. During a municipal contest in the Canton of Levie, two years ago, a violent controversy arose between the rival Bonapartists and Republicans. One of the members of the Republican Committee, a man named Pietri, was mysteriously shot at and killed. The brothers Nicoli, both Bonapartists, were arrested on suspicion, but, as there was no conclusive evidence forthcoming, they were discharged. However, the outrage had aroused the blood of both parties, and the canton at length became so insecure in consequence that nobody ventured out of doors at night. Terror reigned throughout the localities, and the inhabitants never set aside their arms. The Prefect, assisted by the deputies for the island, at length resolved to try and arrange matters, and happily succeeded—at least for the moment. Delegates were appointed by both sides to wait on the contending families, and, after some discussion, a treaty of peace was signed by them. This extraordinary document was ratified publicly in the presence of all the inhabitants.

The Reverend Father Mooney, of St. Bridget's Church in New York, late Chaplain of the 69th Regiment, N. Y., knows Dr. Giles intimately, he having served with him during the war and he advises all the afflicted to use Dr. Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhœa, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

I. O. G. T.

This is the regular meeting night of Friendship Lodge. No. 146, I. O. G. T. All Good Templars are invited to be present.

Cheese Shipments.

There has been a heavy shipment of cheese to-day from Mr. Elliott's factory. The cheese was sold at a recent sale on the regular cheese market day, for November delivery.

Law Society of Peterborough.

The adjourned meeting of this society will be held on Wednesday afternoon, at four o'clock, at the office of Messrs. Dennistoun Bros. & Hall, to complete the arrangements for the formation of the library, and receive the report of the committee appointed to secure a room.

Toronto and Ottawa Railway.

The Belleville Intelligencer says the promoters of this enterprise are prosecuting their financial campaign with vigor. The Elzevir Council will submit a By-law for $12,000 on the 29th inst.; the Village of Madoc one for $5,000 on the same date; and the united townships of Marmora and Lake one for $10,000 also on the 29th.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: Brisk to high south-easterly to south-westerly winds; cloudy to rainy weather. Storm signals are up along the lakes. Peterborough has experienced high easterly to south-easterly winds and cloudy, rainy weather, with a heavy shower at mid-day.

An Excitement in Grease.

Considerable excitement was created this morning over a load of butter. At one time, it was thought there would be a regular out-and-out fight. It is supposed that the greasy nature of the subject interfered, and no bones were broken. Keep cool, gentlemen, there is plenty of butter yet to come in at the prices paid for it in Peterborough.

The Alleged Robbery.

We are credibly informed that Edward Doran, who stated that he had been robbed of $80 while in the Stewart House, on Friday, November 7th, stated what was not true. It has since been proved that he never had $50 about him on that day. The only money that he could have had was $20.25, which he had received from Mr. Rielly, and this undoubtedly had been spent, or the most of it, about town. At all events he could not say where he lost any money.

Tuesday's Market.

TUESDAY, Nov. 11.—The weather has interfered with the market to-day, and only a few loads of butter was brought in, some thirty or forty in all. The prices quoted were well maintained. There was, however, some skirmishing early in the day, and 21½cts. was paid. This, however, was not repeated, and from 14 to 18c. was mostly paid. No barley in. Several loads of wheat were brought in to-day, with no change of prices to note. Two or three loads of hay made their appearance. One load was left standing on the Market Square throughout the drenching mid-day rain, and was well soaked. Some few sheep pelts were purchased at quotations.

YOUNG'S POINT.

LAND PURCHASE.—Mr. Robert Young, sr., has purchased sixteen acres of land adjoining Mr. George Chalmers' property. It extends from the river to Clear Lake. The part facing Clear Lake would be an excellent site for a first-class summer hotel. He intends to have it re-surveyed. It has been a common for a great number of years.

THE BACK COUNTRY.—A great many settlers have passed through here this fall on their way to the back townships to locate on land purchased from the Government.

CORDWOOD.—The steamers Cynics and Chippewa will finish this week towing cordwood for the Midland Railway. They will then lay up for the season.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW contains by far the largest amount of Reading matter of any paper published in the Midland District of Ontario. Price only $1.50 per annum.

FAREWELL SUPPER.

The Lacrosse Club Give a Parting Supper to Their Late Secretary.

On Monday evening the members of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club and their friends gave a parting supper to Mr. Wm. Baillie, the late Secretary-Treasurer of the club, at the Choate House. Messrs. A. D. Braithwaite, President of the club, took the chair, and Mr. T. Munro, Vice-President filled the Vice chair. The company numbered over a score.

The supper was prepared in a style that reflected credit upon the caterer, Mr. Choate, and the approval of the guests was manifested in a practical manner.

MR. BRAITHWAITE stated that as it had been understood that Mr. Baillie was about to depart from Peterborough to take up his abode in Toronto, the club and his many friends wished to show to him the regard in which he was held by them. They had, therefore, resolved upon a supper, when expressions of good feeling could be interchanged. He then gave the Queen and the other regular toasts.

The CHAIRMAN, in proposing the "Our Guest" said that Mr. Baillie had been almost the founder of the club, and the success that had attended the organisation had devolved upon him. His uniform courtesy and the faithful discharge of the labourious duties of the office of Secretary-Treasurer had merited the approbation of his fellows, and was worthy of imitation.

Mr. BAILLIE responded in language that seemed to come from the heart, and must have convinced all present of the gratification he felt in being the honoured guest of his friends and associates. His remarks were mostly of a humorous character, in which he introduced the names of Messrs. McEntee, Henderson, Robertson, in short, nearly every member of the club, returning thanks to each and all for the many acts of kindness shown and the unanimity of action in furthering the efforts put forth by him to advance the interests and success of the club. Before sitting down he proposed a toast, "The success of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club."

"For they are jolly good fellows," was sung, and Messrs. Sanderson, McEntee, and Phelan responded.

Mr. CORKERY responded to the toast "Our National Game," by referring to the various nations, and their national games as compared with Canada's national game "Lacrosse." A quick succession of toasts and songs followed.

Mr. J. R. STRATTON, while responding to "The Press" toast spoke of their guest, who belonged to the profession, in a very complimentary manner, wishing him success in his new sphere of action.

Mr. BRAITHWAITE in responding to the toast of "Our President," returned thanks for the honor, for the kindly feelings expressed, and for the uniform courtesy that had always been shown him as their presiding officer. He said, that he having some spare time on his hands, had engaged in the sports, and pastimes of the young men of Peterborough, with a view of doing what he could for their benefit. He hoped to continue an active member of the several organizations for mutual benefit and pleasure.

Mr. MUNRO, in responding as Vice-President, gave a very clear account of the doings of the club, their successes and their failures.

Mr. BAILLIE then proposed the Managing Committee, who, he said, had rendered his labours successful by faithfully furthering his suggestions and the prompt performance of the duties devolving upon them, as the Managing Committee. To this Messrs. Corkery and Dolan responded.

A great variety of toasts followed, interspersed with songs, Messrs. Henderson, Braithwaite, Stratton and Phelan chiefly distinguishing themselves as vocalists.

"Our Host and Hostess," proposed with a few remarks by the Chairman, complimentary to the set-out and the attention paid to the guests, was responded to by Mr. Choate in a few well-chosen words of thanks to the gentlemen who had chosen his house for the entertainment of their special guest.

"Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the Queen" were then sang by the Company, after which they separated, bidding their guest good bye, wishing him success in his new field of labour and a happy life. The whole affair from the beginning to the end was one that reflected credit upon all, who in any way participated. There was but one fault to find, and that fault has become chronic in Peterborough:—that is the gathering together long after the appointed hour, necessarily making the breaking up far too late.

IRELAND.

AN Irish Catholic landlord writes to the London papers urging the landed proprietors of Ireland of all shades of opinion, political and religious, to form themselves into a defence association to prevent the confiscation of their property.

THE Archbishop of Dublin has received a deputation of poplin weavers, who represented the depressed state of their trade, and requested His Grace to use his influence in extending the use of the fabric among the clergy of the Church of Ireland.

A LARGE numbers of old Enfield rifles have been despatched to different ports of Ireland from English firms, and the Government have asked the several railways for returns showing to whom the firearms have been sent, and the quantities.

THE conferring of degrees upon students of Queen's University, Dublin, took place last month. The Duke of Leinster, who presided, remarked that there had been a steady increase in the number of students during the past few years. Last year there were 236, while this year the number had risen to 290. Of these one-third were Presbyterians, one-fourth Catholics, and one-fourth Church of Ireland. The remainder belonged to other denominations.

The Austro-German Alliance.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The question has been much discussed whether the alliance between Austria, Hungary and Germany lays the greatest stress on political or commercial relations between those States. It is unquestionable, however, that the alliance is of the greatest political significance, and the joyful reception it has met with in England shows that its true character is rightly appreciated and regarded as affording that physical guarantee which has hitherto been wanting for the realization of the leading idea of the Berlin Treaty. People should not be misled by the statement that the chief object of the understanding is to create a politico-commercial phalanx in order to bring about a radical revolution in the commerce of the world. This is merely one of the fantastic plans of a Continental Zollverein, of which so much has been heard of late, and it is clear from the negotiations which have taken place between the two Governments on the subject that no serious alteration is contemplated in their fiscal policy. Every effort will be made on both sides to give the greatest possible facilities to Austro-German commerce. While each seeks to gain material strength from its fiscal policy, both are sincerely desirous of acting with full consideration for each other's interests, but the material prosperity is not to be obtained without security for peace. That security is to be found in an understanding which has been arrived at between the two powers, and herein is the true meaning of the Austro-German alliance.

PORT HOPE.

THE FOOT-BALL MATCH.—The News says:—A magnificent game of Football was played here on Saturday, between Victoria University Football Club, and Port Hope Club, for the Association Cup for this District. We are sorry to have to say that the game resulted in favor of the "Vics," owing to the gross carelessness of the goal keeper of the Port Hope goal, who left the goal to get a drink of water, thereby leaving it open to the enemy. With this one exception, our boys did credit to themselves and to the town. With a little more practice, they would be able to hold their own with any club in the Dominion. The playing of Brown, Cummings, Fraser, and Andrews, is worthy of special mention, and the superior running and dribbling of our boys, when compared with that of the "Vics," made it quite evident that a different verdict would have been obtained had it not been for the one mishap. The ground was in splendid condition, and was favourable to brilliant play, of which there was a good show on both sides. When time was called the Victoria University Club was declared to have won the Cup by one goal.

LOW WATER.—The Times says:—Owing to the lowness of the water in the harbour, it has been found necessary to remove the dredge from the old harbour, where she has been working for some time past, to the new harbor, to deepen the channel in order that loaded vessels may get out without experiencing the difficulty they have had lately.

The Russian Press.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—A Berlin despatch says the editors of all the principal newspapers of St. Petersburg have been summoned to the press bureau of the Ministry of the Interior, and were informed that frequent complaints were received from Levadia that articles in the St. Petersburg press interfered with the Imperial policy, therefore, should not be continued in the same strain. Neither Germany nor Austro-Hungary, nor the relations of Russia with either of these powers, nor the treaty between these two powers, nor France must be discussed. England may be discussed, but judiciously. These rules will be continued until the Emperor's return to St. Petersburg, a month hence.

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would have unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable.

REGULATIONS

RESPECTING THE DISPOSAL OF CERTAIN

PUBLIC LANDS

FOR THE PURPOSES OF THE

Canadian Pacific Railway

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
OTTAWA, Oct. 14, 1879.

Public notice is hereby given that the following provisions, which shall be held to apply to the lands in the Province of Manitoba, and in the territories to the west and north-west thereof, are substituted for the Regulations, dated the 9th July last, governing the mode of disposing of the Public Lands situate within 110 (one hundred and ten) miles on each side of the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which said Regulations are hereby superseded:—

1. "Until further and final survey of the said railway has been made west of the Red River, and for the purposes of these provisions, the line of the said railway shall be assumed to be on the fourth base westerly to the intersection of the said base by the line between ranges 21 and 22 west of the first principle meridian, and thence in a direct line to the confluence of the Shell River with the River Assiniboine.

2. "The country lying on each side of the line of railway shall be respectively divided into belts, as follows:—

"(1) A belt of five miles on either side of the railway, and immediately adjoining the same, to be called Belt A;

"(2) A belt of fifteen miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt A, to be called Belt B;

"(3) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt B, to be called Belt C;

"(4) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt C, to be called Belt D; and

"(5) A belt of fifty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt D, to be called belt E.

3. "The even-numbered sections in each township throughout the several belts above described shall be open for entry as homesteads and pre-emptions of 160 acres each respectively.

4. "The odd-numbered sections in each of such Townships shall not be open to homestead or pre-emption, but shall be specially reserved and designated as Railway Lands.

5. "The Railway Lands within the several belts shall be sold at the following rates, viz:—In Belt A, $5 (five dollars) per acre; in Belt B, $4 (four dollars) per acre; in Belt C, $3 (three dollars) per acre; in Belt D, $2 (two dollars) per acre; in Belt E, $1 (one dollar) per acre; and the terms of sale of such lands shall be as follows, viz:—One-tenth in cash at the time of purchase; the balance in nine equal instalments, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum on the balance of purchase money from time to time remaining unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

6. "The Pre-emption Lands within the several belts shall be sold for the prices and on the terms respectively as follows:—In the Belts A, B and C, at $2.50 (two dollars and fifty cents) per acre; in Belt D, at $2 (two dollars) per acre; and in Belt E, at $1 (one dollar) per acre. The terms of payment to be four-tenths of the purchase money, together with interest on the latter at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, to be paid at the end of three years from the date of entry; the remainder to be paid in six equal instalments annually from and after the said date, with interest at the rate above mentioned on such portions of the purchase money as may remain unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

7. "All payments for Railway Lands, and also for Pre-emption Lands, within the several Belts, shall be in cash, and not in scrip or military or police bounty warrants.

8. "All moneys received in payment of Pre-emption Lands shall inure to and form part of the fund for railway purposes, in a similar manner to the moneys received in payment of the Railway Lands.

9. "These provisions shall be retroactive so far as relates to any and all entries of Homestead and Pre-emption Lands, or sales of Railway Lands obtained or made under the Regulations of the 9th of July, hereby superseded; any payments made in excess of the rate hereby fixed shall be credited on account of sales of such lands.

10. The Order-in-Council of the 9th of November, 1877 relating to the settlement of the lands in Manitoba which had been previously withdrawn for Railway purposes, having been cancelled, all claims of persons who settled in good faith on lands under the said Order-in-Council shall be dealt with under these provisions, as to price of Pre-emptions, according to the belt in which such lands may be situate. Where a person may have taken up two quarter-sections under the said Order-in-Council, he may retain the quarter-section upon which he has settled, has a Homestead, and the other quarter-section as a Pre-emption, under these provisions, irrespective of whether such Homestead and Pre-emption may be found to be upon an even-numbered section or otherwise. Any moneys paid by such person on account of the lands entered by him under the said Order-in-Council, will be credited to him on account of his Pre-emption purchase, under these provisions. A person who may have taken up one quarter-section under the Order-in-Council mentioned will be allowed to retain the same as a Homestead, and will be premitted to enter a second quarter-section as a Pre-emption, the money paid on account of the land previously entered to be credited to him on account of such Pre-emption.

11. "All entries of lands shall be subject to the following provisions respecting the right of way of the Canadian Pacific Railway, or of any Government colonization railway connected therewith, viz:

a "In the case of the railway crossing land entered as a Homestead, the right of way thereon, and also any land which may be required for station purposes, shall be free to the Government.

b "Where the railway crosses Pre-emptions or railway Lands, entered subsequent to the date hereof, the Government may take possession of such portion thereof as may be required for right of way or for station grounds or ballast pits, and the owner shall only be entitled to claim payment for the land so taken, at the same rate per acre as he may have paid the Government for the same.

c "In case, on the final location of the railway through lands unsurveyed, or surveyed but not entered for at the time, a person is found in occupation of land which it may be desirable in the public interest to retain, the Government reserves the right to take possession of such land, paying the squatter the value of any improvements he may have made thereon.

12. "Claims to Public Lands arising from settlement after the date hereof, in territory unsurveyed at the time of such settlement, and which may be embraced within the limits affected by the above policy, or by the extension thereof in the future over additional territory, will be ultimately dealt with in accordance with the terms prescribed above for the lands in the particular belt in which such settlement may be found to be situate, subject to the operations of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

13. "All entries after the date hereof of unoccupied lands in the Saskatchewan Agency, will be considered as provisional until the railway line through that part of the territories has been located, after which the same will be finally disposed of in accordance with these provisions, as the same may apply to the particular belt in which such lands may be found to be situated, subject, as above, to the operation of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

14. "With a view to encouraging settlement by cheapening the cost of building material, the Government reserves the right to grant licenses, renewable yearly, under Section 52 of the 'Dominion Lands Act, 1879,' to cut merchantable timber on any lands situated within the several belts above described, and any settlement upon, or sale of lands within, the territory covered by such licenses, shall for the time being be subject to the operation of such licenses.

15. "The above provisions, it will, of course, be understood will not affect sections 11 and 29, which are public school lands, or sections 8 and 26, Hudson's Bay Company's lands.

"Any further information necessary may be obtained on application at the Dominion Lands Office, Ottawa, or from the agent of Dominion Lands, Winnipeg, or from any of the local agents in Manitoba or the Territories.

By order of the Minister of the Interior,

J. S. DENNIS,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

LINDSAY RUSSELL,
Surveyor General.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW

—AND—

RURAL NEW YORKER,

BOTH for $2.80!

To Farmers and Horticulturists

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.50! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—2 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Force says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, as far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavoured, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $20 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, last season, at the rate of 86 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardiest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kæmpferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine. Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomœa leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

War with the Bagmen

IT having come to our knowledge that certain travellers for Paper Bags have been offering to sell to Peterborough merchants at various percentages lower than our quotations, in the hope of damaging our business in this Department, we have determined to make the following

STANDING OFFER

NAMELY:—

We will sell our Paper Bags CHEAPER than the very best bona fide offer made to any Merchant in Peterborough, FREE of Freight or other Charges.

Our trade in Paper Bags and Wrapping Papers has gradually grown to an extent which has made it hardly worth the while for travellers to come to Peterborough. And the result has been to make them jealous of our success and annoyed at their loss of sales.

Retain your future orders for us. We are bound to "Hold the Fort!"

SERIOUS FIRE.—An incendiary fire in the town of Emerson, on the boundary, at two o'clock on Tuesday morning, destroyed Carney's block, including the paper box and stock of Garvey & Chamber's lumber and [illegible] merchants; the Western Journal office, and Armstrong's photographic establishment. The damage will probably reach $30,000, partly insured. An incendiary attempt to burn this block was frustrated two weeks ago.

PERTH.

A FRIGHTFUL DEATH.—On Tuesday morning about 8 o'clock a workman named Wm. Barber, employed in the Glen Tay woollen mills, was engaged in putting on the belt connected with the governor of the water wheel, when by some means or other, he got caught in the belt, and was at once carried with it around the pulley at the rate of 140 revolutions a minute. When the machinery was stopped, he was quite dead, with his hands and feet torn off, his head horribly cut, and his body terribly mangled. He leaves a wife and two children.

INDICTED FOR PERJURY.—The two whiskey detectives, Page and Langley, who were arrested in Hamilton on a charge of perjury, were brought here by the noon train on Monday. They were escorted to the station by a large party of Hamiltonians, who seemed to delight in the affair. They were brought before his Worship Mayor Carlisle this morning, and were committed to stand their trial at the Quarter Sessions, his Worship agreeing to accept bail—two sureties of $500 each and $500 for each prisoner. Mr. D. B. Chisholm, of Hamilton, and Mr. James R. Wiley were offered as bondsmen, but the latter party was declined, and the prisoners were remanded to gaol until to-morrow. Considerable excitement was manifested, and several hotel keepers from Hamilton were present.

SHACKLING THE PRESS.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—A Berlin despatch says the position of the Russian newspapers is very embarrassing, as they are debarred from discussing the leading political questions. The Russian Government proposes to establish a new official newspaper to influence public opinion. Telegrams reporting the recent interview between Lord Beaconsfield and Count Schouvaloff were suppressed. The Anglo-Russian relations are stated to be somewhat strained. Military preparations are making in the Caucasus.

RUSSIA AND ENGLAND.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—A St. Petersburg despatch says all the Russian papers have articles upon the latest steps taken in Constantinople by the British Government. In certain circles an uneasy feeling is generating. The Golos says in the event of England attempting to violate Turkish independence and at the same time to infringe upon the vital interests of Russia. A collision between two powers would be more convenient to the latter on the confines of Asia Minor, than in the depth of Central Asia. The Novo Vremia is of opinion that the Powers are opposed to the aggressive measures of England and that none will act as her cat's paw.

TEA AND SILK FROM CHINA.

HONG KONG, Nov. 11.—The total exports of tea from Shanghai and Hankow to November 8, since the opening of the season, were 122,000,000 pounds, against 144,000,000 in the same period last year. The shipments of Canton silk to Europe were 27,000 bales, against 21,000 the same time last year.

WITH A HOLE IN HER BOW.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The British steamer Milanese, from Boston, is at Gravesend, with a hole in her bow, having been in collision last night, off Dungeness with the Norwegian ship Bakhara, from Antwerp. The latter sank. All hands were saved.

THE GERMAN RAILWAYS.

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—The debate on the railway purchase has been commenced in the Prussian Diet, the majority of the members of which are in favour of the purchase, with guarantees against disturbing the budget and abuse of the traffic regulations.

EGYPT'S FINANCES.

VIENNA, Nov. 11.—Nothing has as yet transpired as to the result of the conference on Egyptian affairs, held with Baron von Haymerle, by Messrs. Baring and Bligniores, but the objects of the conferences was to cause the Vienna Cabinet to intervene actively in the Egyptian finance question. An international arrangement is to be made in connection with the statute for a Commission of Liquidation. It is the Western Powers who are chiefly interested in the matter, and if they attach importance to the co-operation of their Powers which have a much smaller interest, they will have to admit them to permanent participation in the control of Egyptian finances.

DISTRESS IN BOSNIA.

There is no truth in the reports of an agrarian rising of Christians against Turks in Bosnia. Both Christians and Turks suffer from the bad harvest, and have appealed to the Austrian authorities for relief.

TO DIVIDE AFGHANISTAN.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The London World says: "The presentations by Count Schouvaloff concerning Afghanistan were received with effusive friendliness by Lord Beaconsfield, who took the whole subject out of the hands of the Foreign Secretary. The result of Count Schouvaloff's visits is that when the time comes for the Afghan coup de grace, England and Russia are to settle the difficulty in the friendliest way possible."

THE FUTURE QUEEN OF SPAIN.

MADRID, Nov. 12.—Preparations have been commenced for the reception of the Archduchess Marie Christine at the stations along the route to be taken by the future Queen of Spain. There will be a great military display at Irun, on the frontier by the army occupying the Basque Provinces. The Cortes will suspend its sittings for ten days during the marriage festivities.

THE GREEK FRONTIER.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 12.—It is stated that the Porte has ordered the withdrawal of the greater part of the troops on the Turco-Greek frontier.

A NEW ALLIANCE.

VIENNA, Nov. 12.—The Fugblatt says an alliance has been concluded between the Balkan Principalities ostensibly against foreign intervention, but really against Austria. The treaty stipulates that in the event of Austria extending her operations beyond Novi Bazar, Servia will furnish 120,000 men, Montenegro, 30,000 and Bulgaria 90,000 to form an allied army, and that Servia will advance Montenegro 75,000 ducats for military expenses. The appointment of a commander-in-chief is left open. It is believed that the appointment of a Russian General was originally contemplated.

THE POPE'S NEWSPAPER.

ROME, Nov. 12.—The Aurora, a daily newspaper to be issued by the Vatican, will appear in January as the authoritative exponent of the Pope's views.

AN UNFOUNDED RUMOUR.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The story of the marching of Montenegrins on Gusinje and the slaughter of Albanian Mussulmans is probably unfounded.

THE WORST MAN IN AMERICA.

Detective Pinkerton who has been frequently engaged in hunting the leader of the Missouri outlaws, Jesse James, does not believe the report that he has been killed. He thinks that Shepard, the reformed outlaw, who claimed to have shot James, is fooling the officers. Pinkerton says that James is the worst man in America.

RAILWAYS IN CHICAGO.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 12.—The common council has considered the subject of the proposed elevation of the central railroad track in this city. Chief Engineer Fisher said that Vanderbilt would listen to no more modifications. He should recommend to Vanderbilt to go south of the city with the tracks and depot, but let the local traffic depot remain in its present situation.

SUPPRESSING LOTTERIES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—There was a dozen additional arrests of lottery dealers yesterday. Many had closed their offices and removed the evidences of their traffic. More arrests are expected to-day.

A Washington special report to the Herald says that agent Adams reports that the hostile Utes obtained their ammunition direct from Denver.

OUTSTANDING BONDS.

The Times says that of 700 millions of called bonds, 21 millions are yet outstanding.

CHILIAN SUCCESS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—At the Chilian Legation in this city yesterday, the news of the capture of Pisagua, was confirmed. It is claimed that the capture is attended with important stragetic results. The Chilians thus place themselves between the Peruvian forces at Arica, Tacna and Iquique and the sea, and cut off their supplies, forcing Iquique to surrender. Abelard Nunez, of the Chilian Legation says that Peru is greatly crippled. He expects that the recent Chilian success will compell Peru to sue for peace.

DEMOCRATS DEFEATED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The Sun says the Democrats have given up all hope of electing their candidates for Secretary of State, Comptroller, State Treasurer and Attorney-General. They still believe that Potter is elected.

EFFECTS OF A CYCLONE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—A barque brought Capt. Wilkie and the crew of the schooner Crescent into port yesterday. The Crescent was dismasted and abandoned in a cyclone off Nova Scotia on Oct. 20. The Austrian barque [illegible] arrived yesterday. She encountered a cyclone on Oct. 20 near Sable Island, and suffered much damage. A seaman was lost overboard.

MURDER OF A NEGRO.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12.—It is said that Trust, who without provocation shot Wm. Robinson, a respectable negro farmer, dead yesterday, demanded to know if Robinson was a republican. He replied in the affirmative, when Trust killed him. Trust had been crazy with drink for some time.

STOCK RAISING.

THE successful raising and keeping of stock lies at the very foundation of successful farming on any but virgin soils, and the time has been reached when this branch of husbandry has become of primary importance to the Ontario farmer. It is a well known fact that, had it not been for the introduction of the cheese factory system a few years ago, many farms in the older settled districts would have had to be practically abandoned, because everything had been taken out of them which could be without anything being returned to them, resulting very naturally in their producing less and less each succeeding year. With the introduction of the factory system came, however, the consumption upon these worn out farms not only of all they grew but much more than they grew, and the consequent production of that manure which was all that was necessary to restore them to their wonted fertility. Perhaps it is not too much to say that the indirect benefit conferred upon the country by the introduction of the cheese factory system has been almost as great as the direct. Be that as it may, however, it is clear that the Ontario farmer, if he is to continue to thrive, must keep stock to grow wheat. The one follows the other as surely as the night the day, and the only question is how this can most profitably be done. Butter and cheese have hitherto been, and we believe are likely to continue, the most profitable stock product as long as we have to depend upon an export demand for their conversion into dollars and cents, because in proportion to their value the cost of transport is trifling, while the risks and expense of an Atlantic voyage must always absorb a large percentage of the amount obtained for live stock. For this reason we feel disposed to recommend our farmers to hesitate about turning too much attention to the raising of beef and mutton—particularly beef—for the English market, to the neglect of the dairy. They should remember that this season they have been particularly favoured, owing to natural causes in Great Britain increasing the demand for meat, and owing to the embargo placed upon the importation of American cattle and sheep, while the market was free to those from Canada. But while we deem it our duty to utter this word of warning, we do not think too much attention can be directed to ascertaining the best breeds and the best means of feeding cattle both for the shambles and for the dairy, and sheep both for the production of mutton and wool. We have been led to make these observations by having placed in our hands an "advance report on some scientific and practical facts in the production of grain, beef and mutton at the Ontario Experimental Farm," by Wm. Brown the farm superintendent.

So far as the grain part of the experiments is concerned, as Mr. Brown himself states, they are only yet in their infancy and are surrounded with so many circumstances peculiar to the soil upon which they are made that it will be some years before the result of these experiments can be fully known and the value of the different manures employed fully ascertained. After a few years, however, if pursued with the same care which they have been during the last two, we have no doubt they will be the means of eliciting much valuable information.

A test of the relative merits of five grade Durhams and five grade Herefords for feeding purposes was made last winter which, in this instance, resulted in the Herefords coming out ahead, although neither paid for the food consumed. Taking turnips at 8cts. per 80 lbs., mangolds at 10 cts., pea meal at a cent, corn meal at 65 cents per 56 lbs., and straw at $4.00 per ton, with an allowance for attendance and bedding, the actual cost of 16 steers, when ready for market, was $1,464, while they only realized $974, leaving the manure to represent $360, to make the account balance. Of course, it is only fair to state that the steers, when purchased, cost four and a seventh cents per lb., and only sold for four and two-fifth cents per lb., live weight. Usually an important part of the profit in winter feeding is the increase of value as well as quantity.

The other experiments reported upon are the feeding of different kinds of sheep with different kinds of food. The three breeds of sheep put up were Oxford Down cross, Southdown and Cotswold, and as breed against breed, they came out in the order named. In the test of food against food, the result was:—Corn produced mutton at a cost of one and nine-tenth cents per lb.; palm-nut meal at fully two cents; linseed cake at two and three-fifth cents; peas at two and nine-tenth cents; and a mixture of all these at six and three-fifth cents per lb. Feeding sheep with any of these except the last should be profitable, if like results could always be relied upon. At any rate, as we have already said, these experiments, if carefully continued, must prove valuable to the Canadian farmer, and aid him in arriving at proper conclusions as to the best and most profitable animals with which to stock his farm.

FAIR OPPOSITION.

THE Orangeville Gazette in an article charging the Globe with practically supporting the "Rag Baby," has the following remarks:—

"It is hardly fair of the St. Catharines Journal to single out the Globe from the rest of the newspaper opponents of the National Currency. With perhaps the single exception of the Peterborough REVIEW, they have one and all dealt, when referring to this question, in either lame reproductions of the writings of foreign authors or else in thoroughly original, but scarcely creditable Billingsgate."

The position, thus attributed to us, is that which we would take in the discussion of all matters of public importance. We would combat whatever we think ought to be opposed, with fair argument, and not, as is too often the case, with "scarcely creditable Billingsgate." This, we are convinced, is the most prudent as well as the fairest course, for vehement abuse can only tend to injure even a rightful cause.

DEMPSTER THE BANK DEFAULTER.

Keeping up First-class Style on $1,600 a year—Deplorable Condition of Mrs. Dempster.

The London Free Press states that at the time of Dempster's appointment to the position of manager of the Ingersoll branch of the Molsons Bank he owed the bank $7,600. That is to say, he had by means which will not be divulged until the trial, and probably not then, managed to appropriate that much money deposited in the bank in this city. His salary during the last three years was $1,600, out of which he paid $300 for house rent and kept two servants and a groom, so that a comparatively small amount was left on which to keep the house in first-class style. His horses was less remunerative than the general public supposed, and, in the end, the amount paid grooms and cost of harness left a balance on the wrong side of the ledger. He lived extravagantly, as has been stated, from the beginning, and never denied himself any of the comforts which his taste suggested. He had many friends. He has been remanded by the magistrate for eight days to make arrangements for providing bail. In the meantime, his friends living in Scotland and England have been communicated with, and their reply is anxiously awaited. His only reason for wishing to obtain bail is that he may go home and gently break the news to his wife, who is lying in a critical condition. It will be remembered that she was thrown from a buggy in July last and sustained two fractures of her leg, and a dislocation of her ankle. Subsequently she had an attack of typhoid fever, and had scarcely recovered from that before she was confined. And to make matters doubly worse, a partial paralysis of one side has supervened, and the consequences may result very seriously.

In reply to a question, Mr. Dempster said that he was perfectly willing to suffer the penalty of his misdeeds, providing that his friends saw fit to withhold their assistance in his day of trouble.

THOSE TERRIBLE CHINESE.

Views of the Chairman of a Congressional Labour Committee.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Hendrick B. Wright, chairman of the Congressional Committee on the labour question and kindred subjects, says every one of the committee are agreed as to the advisability of prohibiting, or at least regulating, the continued influx of Chinese into the country. An American workman must live like a civilized, intelligent being, who has rational wants, which must be supplied, and comforts that require satisfaction. Chinamen can live on twenty cents a day, and grow fat on garbage, where a white man would starve. They bring even their clothes and food to the country. They come, not to be useful citizens, but to make money and send it to China in order to follow as speedily themselves as possible. They are all single men and do not bring their wives, nor have they any intent to stay here. They have crowded every habitable corner on the Pacific Coast, and now they are invading the Eastern cities. A room twenty feet square will suffice for thirty of them. They lie on rows of shelves, one over another, all around the room, and revel in opium and every sort of abomination. Something must be done to raise the necessary barrier between us and the Mongolian invasion which seriously threatens to overflow the land.

An Emphatic Contradiction.

Mr. B. Rosamond, the proprietor of the extensive woollen mills at Almonte, desires the statement made by Opposition papers, that the National Policy has been of no benefit to his industry, to be distinctly contradicted, as also the statement that several mills have lately closed from want of work. He says his mills are at present working overtime, and those mills which have lately shut down, have done so from want of water, and at a great loss. Mr. Rosamond states that the National Policy has been of direct benefit to his industry, and he is prepared to prove this under his own signature if necessary. Owing to misrepresentation, this is the third occasion during a short period Mr. Rosamond has been compelled to make explanations. It would be only policy on the part of the Opposition press to leave Mr. Rosamond alone, for his statements always count two to one against them.—Ottawa Herald.

SILK OR STUFF.

Within or Without the Bar—An Amusing Incident in Court.

OTTAWA, Nov. 10.—Mr. Haliburton rose to make a motion in the Supreme Court in regard to costs in the case of Lenoir v. Ritchie, and in so doing said that the motion he now made was for the purpose of calling attention to certain facts which had not been brought out at the trial. The Court refused to reopen the case, having already given a decision. Mr. Haliburton is one of the Provincial Queen's Counsel who have abandoned their silk gowns, and, forgetting himself, he advanced within the bar, when Mr. Justice Strong humorously remarked that the consequences had been very unfortunate to Mr. Haliburton. He had argued the case as a Q.C., but could not now address the Court within the Bar. Mr. Haliburton laughingly withdrew to a rear seat.

A HIGHLY COLORED ROMANCE.

Once P. Green said to fair Miss Brown,
"My heart is all your own;
Then why to me are you so cold,
And why so harsh your tone?"

She cast on him magenta look,
And then she shook her red.
And as the zephyrs softly blue,
She wept and, weeping, said:

"I wouldn't, but, oh! my watchful pa
Maroon all our fun—
The purple grab you by the leg.
And murder will be done!"

A PRAIRIE FIRE.

In an article entitled "Some Features of Kansas Farming," in the Scribner for Nov., Mr. Henry King gives the following vivid description of that beautiful scourge—a fire on the prairies:—

Next to calamities like that the home-steader's wife told of the grass-hoppers, the fear of the settlers on the border—in all the new and thinly peopled portions of Kansas, in fact—is the coming of the autumn prairie fire, which so frequently consumes their tracks and cribs, their helpless stock, their stables and cabins, and even their lives. Were it not for its own danger and power of havoc, this tempest and scourge of fire would be a spectacle of commanding force and beauty. First, you will catch glimpses of what you take to be gray wisps of haze away off on the horizon; particles deepen gradually, and gather into a definite column of smoke, black like a rain cloud, and bronze about the edges. Then the strange, sombre bulk starts forward across the prairie, and you hold your breath at sight of the rapid progress of it. A mile in two minutes is not an exceptional rate of speed for a fire once fairly under way. It halts for an instant, you note, over a broad swale where there is standing water; but it is for an instant only. The next moment it reaches the upland again and the dry grass; and directly grasps a belt of the tall blue-stem, and the flame leaps suddenly and madly out above the smoke, then subsides again, and the black mass grows blacker than ever, and rolls higher and higher, and you can scent the burning grass, and hear the distant roar of the fire—an awful noise, resembling the sound of artillery in a heavy combat. And it is so calm immediately about you that you do not so much as miss the ticking of your watch in your pocket; there is no breath of air stirring, and the sun is shining and the heavens above you are blue and placid. But the stillness will be broken soon. The oncoming cloud is only a few miles away now, and you easily trace the scarlet and terrific energy at its base; the smoke begins to hurt your eyes, too, and the heat becomes heavily oppressive. And then, all at once, the wind smites and staggers you, that appalling roar deafens you, and the sun is blotted out, and you are in darkness as of midnight without moon or star. It is an experience of but a dozen seconds or so this sudden plunge into darkness, though it seems an hour, and when you look out again you find that the fire has passed you a mile or more to your right, and is still rolling desperately onward; and there in its track are charred and smouldering stacks of hay, and an occasional house [illegible] with fall, and a group of men and boys beating back the outer line of the fire with brush and old clothes, and sending forward little counter-fires to meet it and if possible keep it at a safe distance. The creek may stop it and smother it when it gets there, though such a hope has more chance for a warrant; sometimes these mighty conflagrations vault across streams twenty or thirty yards in width, so swift and resistless is their momentum; and as a rule they are effectually stayed only when they reach a wide extent of ploughed land, and have to yield, sullenly, for lack of anything more to feed their inexorable fury.

HOW THE BRITISH LEFT MANDALAY.

The following is given as the true account of the withdrawal of the English Embassy from Mandalay:—Early on the morning of the 6th inst., the Resident sent round a peon with the following circular to the various British residents:—"The Government of India have decided to remove for the present their representative and establishment. I am proceeding at once on board the Panthay, leaving my baggage to follow. Should you consider it necessary to adopt similar measures you will arrive at the wharf almost as soon as ourselves. In any case the steamer will be detained a sufficient time to admit of your communicating your resolve." At the Residency no packing was allowed, lest an alarm should be given. The circulars sent out, the staff proceeded to the steamer, and the peon returning from delivering the circulars found the Residency closed and the Burmese in possession. They would not permit the baggage to be removed without orders from the King. Some hours afterwards a courteous letter was received, allowing the removal of the baggage. Upon the receipt of the circular, the European residents and British subjects hurried down to the wharf as soon as possible; even Major Halstead, the only man who remained behind during the troubles in Major Sladen's time, left on this occasion. Andreino, who is flotilla agent and Italian Consul, remained, as he considered there was no danger. The American missionaries have remained at Bhamo. Should hostilities occur, they purpose seeking safety in China. Before the Panthay arrived at Menhla a slight disturbance occurred. The Burmese officials boarded the steamer and insisted upon arresting some Burmese-British subjects who were coming down from Mandalay. The Resident interfered energetically, and the guard of Madrassees stood to their arms. Finally, the Burmese officials gave way, and the Panthay proceeded down the river. The Resident has reported to the Government that the King has summoned men from every village to proceed to Mandalay to protect it.

A Good Story.

Archdeacon Denison is not a Pharisee; he is anything but that—being a downright fighter, who simply takes advantage of every point in the game. If the following story about him illustrating this fact is not true, it is certainly "well invented." Denison was closely pressed in an argument, but was evidently resolved to die hard, and at length his antagonist, a virtuous engineer of the Smiles ideal, lost patience at the irregular warfare of the Archdeacon. "Look here, sir," he exclaimed, despairingly, "do you acknowledge that two and two make four?" "I am not prepared to make an admission of that importance," replied Denison, "till I have given the subject the maturest consideration. Sometimes it is supposed that they make twenty-two."

Landlords and Perpetual Liens.

An Iowa landlord bound his tenant with a cast-iron leasing contract, which provided that the rents, "whether due or to become due, shall be a perpetual lien on any crops and other personal property of the lessee, whether the same be exempt from execution or not." The legal force of this clause was made the chief issue in a lawsuit. It was argued that a contract making subject to seizure property which the statute declared to be exempt from execution is contrary to public policy. This is the first case of the kind which has been before Iowa courts, and the Supreme Court of that State recently decided to the effect that the contract was a valid one.

THE LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET.

Lord Beaconsfield's Views on Home and Foreign Affairs.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—At the Lord Mayor's banquet at the Guildhall to-night nearly 900 guests were present, among them Her Majesty's Ministers, the German Ambassador, the United States charge d'affaires, Lord Chelmsford, and the Lord Justices. The Ministers and Lord Chelmsford were greeted with cheers.

The German Ambassador, in replying to a toast, declared that none were more desirous than Germany and the German Emperor to see the peace of the world maintained.

Lord BEACONSFIELD on rising to reply to the toast of the evening, the health of Her Majesty's Ministers, was received with three times three cheers. He said the aspect of affairs was much more satisfactory than when he last spoke on a similar occasion. Business was now being done which three months ago would have been deemed impossible. The only question now was whether the revival was temporary or permanent. The opinion of Her Majesty's Government was that the revival was of a permanent and lasting character. He thought that the official returns demonstrated that fact, because they showed the revival was not local, but universal. For instance, the great iron industry had doubtless in a great measure revived owing to the demands from the United States, but the returns prove that purchases of iron were not limited to the United States or various European countries, but were occasioned by miscellaneous demands of our native industries. Every article of tropical produce had risen in value. The chemical trade, which was a great index of prosperity, has been unable to execute its orders. The rise in value of silver would in all probability, relieve Indian statesmen of one of their greatest perplexities. During a period of unprecedented depression there had not been a single meeting to express discontent with the national institutions. He wished our brilliant brethern in Ireland would be a little more emulous of this example. He was at a loss to comprehend how the Irish people had brought themselves to believe that the best remedy for economical distress was political agitation and social confusion. (Loud laughter and cheers.) Doubtless there were portions of Ireland where there would be considerable suffering if a remedy was not offered. The Irish people should remember that they never appealed to English sympathy in vain. It would be the duty of Her Majesty's Ministers to watch the condition of Ireland with the anxiety required by the situation. The Irish people should condescend to remember that their harvest, though bad, and though they were much more dependent upon it than are the English people on their's, still it was much better than the harvest of England. Addressing the Lord Mayor, Lord Beaconsfield said:—When I addressed your predecessor I informed him the Government was contemplating large military operations in Central Asia, the object being to strengthen and render secure the north-western boundary of the Indian Empire. These operations have been signally successful, and British influence is fully established in Central Asia. (Loud cheers.) Here Lord Beaconsfield warmly eulogized Lord Lytton and the avenging army in Afghanistan. Referring to South Africa, he said the recent war there taught the colonists something of the art of self-defence, on which they must in future chiefly rely. We are about to effect some changes there which will contribute to the increased happiness of the population amongst which the colonists dwell. If I view the external relations generally, I would say that notwithstanding Europe may be covered with millions of armed men, we have not merely hope but belief that peace will be maintained. In assuming that peace will be maintained I assume that no great Power would shrink from its responsibilities. If the most extensive and wealthiest empire in the world with a perverse interpretation of its insular character, turns an indifferent ear to the feeling and fortunes of continental Europe, I believe the country is endangered. It is to such indifference I attribute many fatal wars, but if the power and advice of England are felt and heard in the councils of Europe I have a conviction that peace will be maintained for a long period. (Loud cheers.) If England deserts her natural post in the councils of Europe, war is too probable. A celebrated Roman being asked what was his policy, replied imperium et libertas. That is a short programme, but it would not disgrace a British Minister. It is one on which the existing Ministry will always act. In proposing your Lordship's health, I shall this time next year in all probability have pleasure to congratulate you on your skilful administration. (Loud and prolonged cheering.)

Sir Stafford Northcote also addressed the company, and in the course of his speech declared that the financial position of the country need create no alarm.

A FORTUNE FOR A TITLE.

I see that it is generally reported that Prince Philippe de Bourbon, the son of the Count d'Argyle, is about to marry Miss Ayer, the daughter of the late Dr. Ayer of the cherry pectoral fame. Another version of the same tale declares that the gentleman has long wooed the lady, but that she will not accept his hand and title (heart being out of the question in such alliances) in exchange for her fortune, which has been variously stated to range from ten to fifteen million dollars—not miserable petty francs if you please, but good sounding American dollars. However, if that young lady has any idea of purchasing that very marketable article, a titled husband, she could hardly do better. She would be able to call half the sovereigns of Europe cousin, including Humbert of Italy and Alphonso of Spain. She would be closely connected to the Orleans princes and to the new Bonaparte line as well through the Princess Clotilde. She would take precedence of half the aristocracy of Europe as Princess de Bourbon, and I have no doubt that by settling a handsome income on her husband all these advantages are to be had, not even for the asking, but for the accepting on her part.—Paris Letter.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PROBABLY Prince Bismarck and the Duke of Wellington have had more orders and decorations than any others in the world. The latter rarely wore any save the garter, and it was observed when he lent a famous decoration for some private theatricals at Lady Salisbury's years after it was conferred, that the case had never even been opened. Bismarck is quite as indifferent.

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head.

OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The [illegible] housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhœa, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or which is more likely [illegible] the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is Scott & Bowne's Emulsion of Palatable Castor Oil. Price 25 cents. d106-w45-1m

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 12.—There was a small market to-day. The heavy rains of yesterday no doubt prevented many farmers making an attempt to come in this morning. This, however, is an advantage to them for there were few buyers in attendance, except for butter for shipment. Butter ruled at our quotations except for the poorer grades which went at as low as 12c., of the better grades, the higher quotations were maintained generally. There is a considerable quantity of butter coming forward. In conversation with some of the farmers, we learn that the bulk of the fall ploughings are already in. Roll butter receipts were very light and sales equally so. The receipts of poultry were also very light, and there were no eggs in worth naming. Pork fell a little off in price. There were several hogs brought in which sold at $4.50 @ $5.50. One spring porker brought $5.75; it was very fat. Mutton at quotations, no change. Beef, receipts light no change in price. Potatoes were a little up to-day; some lots brought 75c. per bag. Receipts light. Cabbage went at 40c. per dozen. Mr. Bell had a load of his fine, large cabbages on the market which he offered at 40c. per dozen by the load. Onions, yellow, one lot sold at $1.00 per bag. Turnips sold at 12c. per bushel to-day by the load. Several loads in. Apples were a drag, some lots selling at 50c. per bag. The balance of the market consisted of hay, peas and wood with a few small lots of spring wheat which were sold at $1.14.

HAGYARD'S PECTORAL BALSAM is composed of the most healing balsams and gums. The balsams, which enter into its composition, were used by natives when America was first discovered, and are combined with other vegetable tonics, so blended together, that it is a specific for all affections of the throat and lungs. Thousands of bottles are used annually, and it is considered one of the standard preparations of the day. For Coughs, Colds, etc. For sale by all dealers at 25cts. per bottle. w45-d106

Welland Canal Enlargement.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Welland Canal," will be received at this office until the arrival of the Eastern and Western mails on FRIDAY the 14th DAY OF NOVEMBER next, for the deepening and completion of that part of the Welland Canal, between Ramey's Bend and Port Colborne, known as Sections Nos. 33 and 34, embracing the greater part of what is called the "Rock Cut."

Plans showing the position of the work, and specifications for what remains to be done, can be seen at this office, and at the Resident Engineer's Office, Welland on and after TUESDAY the 4th DAY OF NOVEMBER next, where printed forms of tender can be obtained.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, except there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted Bank cheque for the sum of three thousand dollars for Section No. 33, and one for four thousand dollars for Section No. 34, must accompany the respective Tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque or money thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose Tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfilment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required by the deposit of money to the amount of five per cent. on the bulk sum of the contract; of which the sum sent in with the Tender will be considered a part.

Ninety per cent. only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the work.

To each Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the Contract.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

RURAL NEW YORKER,

BOTH for $2.80!

☞ To Farmers and Horticulturists

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.50! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above!—A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—2 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Force says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, as far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavored, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present sold in England at $30 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, last season, at the rate of 86 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Siberica. One of the hardiest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kæmpferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomœa leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

Division Court.

There will be a sitting of the First Division Court on Friday.

Peterborough Club.

The annual general meeting of the Peterborough Club will be held on Friday evening, for the election of officers and other business.

C. O. F.

There will be a meeting of Court Peterboro' of the Canadian Order of Foresters on Wednesday, Nov., 19th, at their Hall on Water street.

The Hall Trust.

Owing to a decision of the board of this trust, we are unable to give any information as to the meeting held on Tuesday evening.

County Court.

Judge Dennistoun held a sitting of the County Court without a jury on Tuesday. There was very little business, and none of public interest.

A Vegetable Curiosity.

Mr. McQuaig has shown us a curiosity grown on the farm of Mr. Macdonald, of Otonabee. It consists of two carrots so forked and intertwined together as to resemble a rope.

Sudden Death.

From a telegram we have received from Lindsay it appears probably that Frank Taggart, who, was lately working at Hilliard's mills has been killed by a fall from a waggon. The inquest to be held will reveal the facts.

Welcome Rain.

The melting of the snow, which was absorbed by the earth, and the gentle rains that have followed, are filling the wells and doing a vast amount of good to the land, consoling one for fact that the roads and streets are muddy and have become unpleasant for travel.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are; fresh to brisk winds; cloudy to rainy weather. At Peterborough there has been south westerly to easterly winds; partly cloudy to cloudy mild weather with rain.

Almost Perished.

Last evening Daniel Purcell was found lying in a shed near the river on King street. drunk, and he had nearly perished from exposure to the cold and chill atmosphere. Constable McGhee took him to the lock-up, where he slept off the drink.

H. M. S. Pinafore.

The people of Peterborough have, like every one else, heard a great deal about the Opera of Pinafore, but have as yet had no opportunity of witnessing it. This want will now be supplied, for on Thursday Mr. E. A. McDowell's well known company will perform at Bradburn's Opera House.

Personal.

The many friends in this neighborhood of Mr. W. Bruce Ferguson will be glad to learn that he has been appointed Superintendent of the Midland Railway, a company which he has long served in various capacities in a most efficient manner. He is now promoted from the position of Station Master at Port Hope.

St. Andrew's Society.

Scotchmen are reminded that the annual meeting of the St. Andrew's Society takes place this evening, in the room adjoining the Council Chamber, at 8 o'clock. All who feel an interest in this society—and every good Scotchman should—ought to make it a point to attend the meeting.

Muddy Market Square.

The market square was very muddy to-day, and pools of water were observable in all parts. Mr. Johnston, the Street Inspector, has had several loads of gravel carted in recently, but much more is needed to do away with the puddles in wet weather. By rounding the space there would be no chance for water to accumulate. It was very disagreeable this morning.

Hamilton Corbett Again.

We are glad to learn that we are to have another visit from the celebrated Scottish vocalist, Hamilton Corbett, who has placed Peterborough on his list of towns for his last tour. He will give one of his splendid entertainments in Bradburn's Hall on Monday evening, November 17th. See advertisement. Mr. Corbett in a private letter to a friend in town, says that he will appear in Highland costume in Peterborough.

A Slight Improvement.

Mr. Charles Crowe, who had his leg so badly broken on Sunday morning last, was thought to be sinking yesterday, and there seemed to be little hope of his recovery. This morning we are informed that he was somewhat easier and was able to articulate a few sentences. He is not, however, out of danger yet. To-day will in all probability seal his fate. He is receiving every attention at the Stewart house where he resides.

The Fire Brigade.

An adjourned meeting of the Fire Brigade was held at the Firemen's hall last evening. Captain S. H. Henderson occupied the chair. The first order of business being the election of members to fill vacancies, it was proceeded with, when ten were elected, making a total of twenty-seven members on the rolls. The following officers were elected to fill vacancies:—W. W. Smith, Lieutenant; A. Goodfellow, Secretary; F. Weir, third branchman; and T. Trennum, fourth branchman. The Captain appointed W. S. Cocks, Chairman of the Finance committee. Orders were drawn on the Treasurer for the amount voted to the band, and to W. Scollie, for taking care of the hall. The meeting then adjourned. Captain Henderson requests the members who have resigned from the brigade and have not yet sent in their uniforms, that they should do so at the earliest date possible. We learn there is a movement on foot looking to a purely volunteer force, which it is thought would be preferable to the present partly paid system.

The Cow Nuisance.

The cow nuisance has been one of long standing, and has been borne patiently by those who do not own cows, while many owners have had trouble, and a bad feeling has often been engendered through the destruction caused by the cows breaking into yards and injuring trees, shrubs, fences, &c. There is still another complaint against their roaming. There is scarcely a day but what some purchasers of hay on the market square complain that it has been filched by the cows, who stand and feed from the load. Yesterday several cows had a good feed from a load that had been standing for a long time. An estimate was made that about 200 pounds had been extracted from the waggon. We are informed that several loads of late have had from 100 to 200 pounds thus eaten away from them before they have been sold. Some recommend those who buy hay to have it weighed after the purchase has been made, and let the farmer, who seems to be indifferent to town by-laws lose. Well, we do not see that the farmer is to blame. He does not pass by-laws for the town, and thinks that it is the town people's fault.

The Revival.

Not a doubt exists in the minds of any observing person that more encouraging business conditions are at hand. At the same time some steady-going people depreciate the speculative disposition that has come with the first revival of industrial interests. Better, they say, a steady, progressive development of all the working forces in our economy than too much steam at once, an explosion, and a consequent stoppage of the train before it has fairly started. However, judging from our own observation, and the information furnished us by the head man of the firm, and by some of his employees, it appears quite certain that the irresistable speculative disposition of the old and well-known firm of Fairweather & Co is making things lively. They state that their conspicuous announcement in the newspapers of their large sale of French dress goods, purchased at 33⅓ cents on the dollar, has been money well spent, and that they have done as large a business for some days during this sale as they ever remember doing before. This is encouraging, both to printer and merchant, and we cherish the conviction that if Fairweather & Co. only offer cheap enough goods, and stick to their advertising and their facts, very little trouble will be experienced in giving their wares a rapid "send-off."

POLICE COURT

DRUNK.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 12.—One case of drunk before the Magistrate. Constable McGhee brought into Court Daniel Purcell, a man past middle age, charging him with being found drunk on the public streets and unable to care for himself. Daniel admitted the charge. The Magistrate let him off without a fine as he had no means, and it being the first charge against him. He promised to drink no more.

CLEOPATRA'S NEEDLE.

A Relic of the Old World Coming to the New—Opposition to the Removal Subsided.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The World's Alexandria special of the 9th says two thousand cubic yards around the obelisk have already been excavated for the removal of the monument, and the sheathing of the monolith has been begun. Masonry for the foundation of the iron towers to be used in the removal is well advanced, and the iron towers themselves having been transhipped at Liverpool for this port, are expected to arrive to-morrow. Opposition to the removal has quite subsided.

A Woman Soldier.

A soldier named Maglioli, of the Eleventh Battalion of the Italian Bersaglieri, though long confined to the room by illness, refused to be carried to the hospital. Ultimately, on being forcibly removed thither, the soldier was discovered to be a woman. She joined the army during the war of 1866 to enable her brother to remain with his wife and six children. She had previously, being very strong, worked in the mines. At Custozza she won a medal for bravery. The King has now conferred on her a decoration and a pension of 200 lire.

MILITIA INSPECTION

The Peterborough and Ashburnham Companies of the 57th Inspected by the District Staff Officers.

The Peterborough Companies, numbers One and Two, and the Ashburnham Company, No. Three, of the 57th Peterborough Rangers, were inspected in the Drill Shed on Tuesday afternoon by Col. Von Straubenzie, Deputy Adjutant-General.

The following officers of the 57th were present, viz:—Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers. Major and Adjutant Bell, Captains Grover, Rogers, Edwards, Langford, Lieutenants Beck, Miller, Lee, Rogers.

The drilling was conducted by the officers of the respective companies, who were to be examined by a Board consisting of Col. Von Straubenzie, Col. Worsley, Brigade Major, and Col. J. Z. Rogers, of the 57th.

After the drill, COL. VON STRAUBENZIE addressed them saying that there appeared to be excellent material in these companies as at present organized, and praising their steadiness after such a short period of drill. He spoke in a kindly manner of the retirement of Col. Poole and of Col. Rogers' promotion to the command. He said that if they would continue to drill for two evenings a week they would soon become proficient, and if there was a good muster he had no doubt the Government would willingly pay for lighting the Drill Shed.

After the inspection the three companies, headed by the band, marched down George Street and back to the Drill Shed by the market square and Hunter Street.

Col. Von Straubenzie, with Col. Worseley and Col. Rogers, went to Norwood, Keene and and Hastings to-day, to inspect the three other companies of the 57th in those villages. Afterwards they were to return to Peterborough and conduct the written examination of the officers seeking to pass.

PORT HOPE.

THE RAILWAY WORKSHOPS.—The Guide says:—There is no foundation whatever for the rumor that is in circulation that the Midland Railway Company's workshops are shortly to be removed from Port Hope. Not only is nothing of the kind in contemplation, but we have it on the best authority that the force of men employed in the shops is about to be more than doubled, the great increase of traffic over the road necessitating the construction of a large additional number of cars, which the President informs us can be built cheaper in Port Hope than elsewhere.

FEASTING THE FIREMEN.—The fire brigade worked energetically at the late fire, and Mr. Quinlan, in order to mark his appreciation of their services, invited them in a body to partake of an oyster supper on Monday evening at the St. Lawrence Hall. Some forty or more firemen sat down. The chair was taken by Chief Engineer Marshall at the request of Mr. Quinlan, after a pleasant couple of hours the company broke up, well satisfied with the entertainment and loud in praise of the excellent manner in which the supper was prepared and set before them by mine host Mackie, of "the Hall."

TUG DAMAGED.—The Times says that in towing the Lewis Ross on Tuesday morning, the tug Albert Wright struck ground between the piers, unshipped her rudder, and sustained some other damages, which at present are not ascertainable. The damages done was sufficient, however, to disable the tug. It is probable that she will have to go into dry dock for repairs.

IMMIGRANTS.—Three hundred English emigrants passed through Port Hope last night, per G. T. R. for Manitoba. They arrived in Montreal, per S.S. Polynesian.

Railroads in India.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 10.—Preparations continue to be pushed forward in India with undiminished vigour. The Sukkur and Dadur Railway is open for engines nearly to Jacobabad, and is being constructed at the rate of over a mile per day. A large number of carts and a quantity of war material are being shipped at Bombay for Kurrachee. Sir Richard Temple is personally superintending arrangements along the Bolan line. General Hughes has reached Candahar from Ghelat-i-Ghilzai, and everything was going on well there. The publication of General Roberts' proclamation and the announcement of the continuance for the present of the existing regime have confirmed any waverers there may have been, and people look on their emancipation from Cabul as complete.

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable.

REGULATIONS

RESPECTING THE DISPOSAL OF CERTAIN

PUBLIC LANDS

FOR THE PURPOSES OF THE

Canadian Pacific Railway

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
OTTAWA, Oct. 14, 1879.

Public notice is hereby given that the following provisions, which shall be held to apply to the lands in the Province of Manitoba, and in the territories to the west and north-west thereof, are substituted for the Regulations, dated the 9th July last, governing the mode of disposing of the Public Lands situate within 110 (one hundred and ten) miles on each side of the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which said Regulations are hereby superseded:—

1. "Until further and final survey of the said railway has been made west of the Red River, and for the purposes of these provisions, the line of the said railway shall be assumed to be on the fourth base westerly to the intersection of the said base by the line between ranges 21 and 22 west of the first principle meridian, and thence in a direct line to the confluence of the Shell River with the River Assiniboine.

2. "The country lying on each side of the line of railway shall be respectively divided into belts, as follows:—

"(1) A belt of five miles on either side of the railway, and immediately adjoining the same, to be called Belt A;

"(2) A belt of fifteen miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt A, to be called Belt B;

"(3) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt B, to be called Belt C;

"(4) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt C, to be called Belt D; and

"(5) A belt of fifty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt D, to be called belt E.

3. "The even-numbered sections in each township throughout the several belts above described shall be open for entry as homesteads and pre-emptions of 160 acres each respectively.

4. "The odd-numbered sections in each of such Townships shall not be open to homestead or pre-emption, but shall be specially reserved and designated as Railway Lands.

5. "The Railway Lands within the several belts shall be sold at the following rates, viz:—In Belt A, $5 (five dollars) per acre; in Belt B, $4 (four dollars) per acre; in Belt C, $3 (three dollars) per acre; in Belt D, $2 (two dollars) per acre; in Belt E, $1 (one dollar) per acre; and the terms of sale of such lands shall be as follows, viz:—One-tenth in cash at the time of purchase; the balance in nine equal instalments, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum on the balance of purchase money from time to time remaining unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

6. "The Pre-emption Lands within the several belts shall be sold for the prices and on the terms respectively as follows:—In the Belts A, B and C, at $2.50 (two dollars and fifty cents) per acre; in Belt D, at $2 (two dollars) per acre; and in Belt E, at $1 (one dollar) per acre. The terms of payment to be four-tenths of the purchase money, together with interest on the latter at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, to be paid at the end of three years from the date of entry; the remainder to be paid in six equal instalments annually from and after the said date, with interest at the rate above mentioned on such portions of the purchase money as may remain unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

7. "All payments for Railway Lands, and also for Pre-emption Lands, within the several Belts, shall be in cash, and not in scrip or military or police bounty warrants.

8. "All moneys received in payment of Pre-emption Lands shall inure to and form part of the fund for railway purposes, in a similar manner to the moneys received in payment of the Railway Lands.

9. "These provisions shall be retroactive so far as relates to any and all entries of Homestead and Pre-emption Lands, or sales of Railway Lands obtained or made under the Regulations of the 9th of July, hereby superseded; any payments made in excess of the rate hereby fixed shall be credited on account of sales of such lands.

10. The Order-in-Council of the 9th of November, 1877 relating to the settlement of the lands in Manitoba which had been previously withdrawn for Railway, purposes, having been cancelled, all claims of persons who settled in good faith on lands under the said Order-in-Council shall be dealt with under these provisions, as to price of Pre-emptions, according to the belt in which such lands may be situate. Where a person may have taken up two quarter-sections under the said Order-in-Council, he may retain the quarter-section upon which he has settled, as a Homestead, and the other quarter-section as a Pre-emption, under these provisions, irrespective of whether such Homestead and Pre-emption may be found to be upon an even-numbered section or otherwise. Any moneys paid by such person on account of the lands entered by him under the said Order-in-Council, will be credited to him on account of his Pre-emption purchase, under these provisions. A person who may have taken up one quarter-section under the Order-in-Council mentioned will be allowed to retain the same as a Homestead, and will be permitted to enter a second quarter-section as a Pre-emption, the money paid on account of the land previously entered to be credited to him on account of such Pre-emption.

11. "All entries of lands shall be subject to the following provisions respecting the right of way of the Canadian Pacific Railway, or of any Government colonization railway connected therewith, viz:

a "In the case of the railway crossing land entered as a Homestead, the right of way thereon, and also any land which may be required for station purposes, shall be free to the Government.

b "Where the railway crosses Pre-emptions or railway Lands, entered subsequent to the date hereof, the Government may take possession of such portion thereof as may be required for right of way or for station grounds or ballast pits, and the owner shall only be entitled to claim payment for the land so taken, at the same rate per acre as he may have paid the Government for the same.

c "In case, on the final location of the railway through lands unsurveyed, or surveyed but not entered for at the time, a person is found in occupation of land which it may be desirable in the public interest to retain, the Government reserves the right to take possession of such land, paying the squatter the value of any improvements he may have made thereon.

12. "Claims to Public Lands arising from settlement after the date hereof, in territory unsurveyed at the time of such settlement, and which may be embraced within the limits affected by the above policy, or by the extension thereof in the future over additional territory, will be ultimately dealt with in accordance with the terms prescribed above for the lands in the particular belt in which such settlement may be found to be situate, subject to the operations of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

13. "All entries after the date hereof of unoccupied lands in the Saskatchewan Agency, will be considered as provisional until the survey of the railway line through that part of the territories has been located, after which the same will be finally dealt with [illegible] may apply to the belt in which such lands may be found to be situate, subject, as above, to the operations of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

14. "With a view to encouraging settlement by cheapening the cost of building material, the Government reserves the right to grant Licenses, renewable yearly, under section 52 of the 'Dominion Lands Act, 1879,' to cut merchantable timber on any lands situated within the belts [illegible] and any settlement upon, or sale of lands within, the territory covered by such License, shall for the time being be subject to the operations of such License.

15. "The above provisions, it will, of course, be understood will not apply to sections 11 and 29, which are public school lands, or sections 8 and 26, Hudson's Bay Company's lands."

"Any further information necessary may be obtained on application at the Dominion Lands Office, Ottawa, or from the agent of Dominion Lands, Winnipeg, or from any of the local agents in Manitoba or the Territories.

By order of the Minister of the Interior.

J. S. DENNIS,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

Surveyor General.

NERVOUSNESS.—A very great number of those in the middle and higher classes of society, who, without being ever actually sick, never know what real health is; who live constantly in a lower plane of living than is normal in man, who are weak all over, though not specially and constantly weak in any one organ, who may not experience piercing and grinding pain, yet suffer at times, if not always, that profound exhaustion which in many respects is worse than pain. Those in that lamentable state have always been relieved, and many permanently so by using the Victoria Syrup of Hypophosphites, it being peculiarly adapted for those cases. MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

THE BOERS AGAIN TROUBLESOME.

CAPETOWN, Oct. 28.—The Boers at Patchesbrook have repeated the Middlesbury outrage. Commandant Raft has left Middlesbury in fear for his life. Moirosi has refused to submit. Hostilities were accordingly resumed.

PHILLIPORT'S OPERATIONS.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—The Bourse states that of 168,000 shares in the Banque Europeanne, which Phillipport announced to have been subscribed for, only 62,000 shares are in the hands of the public. 106,888 shares were taken by Phillipport. The bank is holding against these shares a number of tramway bonds and shares.

ROYAL VISITORS TO VIENNA.

VIENNA, Nov. 12.—A telegram from Gmunden, Austria, announces that the King and Queen of Denmark and also the Czarewitch and Czarevena leave there on the 13th inst. for Vienna on the Emperor's invitation. They remain in Vienna until after the departure of the Archduchess Christine for Spain. The Czarewitch and wife will then go to St. Petersburg, via Berlin.

AUSTRALIAN CATTLE FOR ENGLAND

LONDON, Nov. 12.—A cargo of live cattle is en route to Liverpool from Melbourne. This is the precursor of a profitable and extensive trade if the experiment succeeds.

AFFAIRS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

A despatch from Cape Town says that Sir Garnet Wolseley has postponed for a time the departure of the dragoons from South Africa, on account of the disturbed condition of affairs in the Transvaal. When the troops will be able to leave cannot now be predicted, and they are said to be greatly disappointed at not being able to set out for England, as they were assured they would be permitted to do so on, or after, the conclusion of the Zulu war.

TURKEY'S EVIL GENIUS.

VIENNA, Nov. 12.—The appointment of Mahmond Nedim to the Turkish Ministry, and the resignation of Midhat Pasha, are regarded at Vienna as showing that the evil genius of Turkey is again in the ascendant, and no faith whatever is placed in the promises of reform made by the semi-officials organs of the Porte. It is hoped, however, that the new Ministry will disappear from the scene as rapidly as its predecessors. As to the allegation that the appointment of Mahmond is a counter-stroke of Russia to the Austro-German alliance, Austria-Hungary, it is said in Vienna, need not grudge her this cheap revenge, for Russia has now been rendered incapable of doing any serious mischief in the East. Moreover, the ridiculous plan of a Balkan union, started by Servia under the evident inspiration of Russia, is hardly compatible with the continuance of friendly relations between her and Turkey.

BONAPARTIST PAMPHLETS.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—A Paris correspondent reports that a bundle of Bonapartist pamphlets, entitled "Napoleon is not dead," has been seized by the Customs authorities at Boulogne.

NAVAL PREPARATIONS.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—A telegram from Malta says Admiral Hornby has issued orders to the Channel Squadron to prepare to proceed eastward in four days.

A HEROINE OF MODERN ROME.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—A Rome correspondent says Antoinette Carozza, circus rider, appeared on the 10th instant in the arena here, before the most crowded audience ever assembled. Half the people assembled at the doors were unable to gain admission. Carozza was received with storms of applause. Many ex-Ministers, Senators, members of the Chamber of Deputies and magistrates were present. Carozza was implicated with Pietro Cardinalli in the murder of Captain Fadda, but was acquitted on the ground that she acted under fear of Cardinalli, whose mistress she was; while he was sentenced to death, and Fadda's wife, who inspired the deed, was sentenced to hard labor for life.

NEAR ITS END.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—It is reported that the Secretary of State for India said during a speech at Horncastle, that Parliament was probably very near its end. He advised his hearers to prepare for an early election.

BELGIUM ALARMED.

BERLIN, Nov. 12.—Considerable alarm is felt in Belgium at the fortifications begun at Dunkirk, Lille, Mobeanj and Valenciennes.

ITALIAN EMIGRANTS.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—Six hundred Venetians have reached Genoa, on their way to the United States.

RUSSIAN OPINIONS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 12.—The semi-official newspaper, the Journal de St. Petersbury and the Golos consider that Lord Beaconsfield's speech of the 10th inst., was more intended to produce an impression at home in view of the approach of the general election then abroad. The Russian press generally remark upon Lord Beaconsfield's abstention from attacking Russia, and the recent remarks of some friendly English papers.

AMERICAN.

LOST HER SCALP.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 12.—At Sterling Valley yesterday, a girl of ten years, daughter of one of the proprietors of a grist mill, was playing about the mill when her hair which hung in long luxuriant tresses down her back, was caught in an upright shaft revolving 60 times to the minute. The father heard a piercing scream, and looking around was horrified at beholding the girl lying on the floor with her entire scalp and one side of her face torn off. The surgeon replaced the scalp and dressed the wound, but the girl's recovery is doubtful.

BRIDGE CARRIED AWAY.

LAWRENCE, Kansas, Nov. 12.—The north span of a bridge across the Kansas river was carried away yesterday. The river rose four feet in two hours, carrying an immense amount of flood wood against the trestle, which forced it out. Numbers of persons were on the span when it started, but all escaped.

THE DOINGS OF A FIEND.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 12.—Wilson & Dougherty's blacksmith shop was burned to-day. The remains of a child of M. A. Jones were found in the ruins. It is supposed Wilson, who is an ex-prison convict, murdered the child and fired the place to conceal his crime. It is thought the remains of Hezekiah Gardner, who disappeared on Saturday, are also in the ruins. Lynching of Wilson is threatened. The Governor has been asked to call out the militia.

THE CANADIAN INDIANS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Mr. W. H. Mason, who has just returned from Cypress Hills, gives a very satisfactory statement as to the conditions of the Indians on Canadian territory. He says that from conversations he has had, and information he has been able to glean, the possibilities of an outbreak among the Canadian Indians are by no means so great as has been represented. Mr. Dewdney, the Indian Commissioner recently appointed by the Canadian Government, has done a great deal in the way of preventing any difficulties. He has, in fact, become extremely popular among the Indians, notwithstanding that hitherto they have been understood to object to the presence of an agent to look after them.

TROUBLE IN CUBA.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—A Havana despatch says on the 9th instant forty men entered Remedios, robbed railroad warehouses, secured arms, and fled to the woods. The volunteers and soldiers are in pursuit. Fifty-eight negroes, from a plantation in the neighborhood of Remedios, fled to the woods, but fifty returned the next day. The reports from official sources in the district of Holguin are entirely peaceful. Another Havana despatch says numerous surrenders are reported in different places, showing the insurrectionary movements has received considerable impulse by additional forces scattered over the insurrectionary provinces. It is rumored General Blanco has come to an arrangement with the insurgents, but it is believed no arrangement is contemplated, the insurgents being deprived of all resources, will have to surrender. A project of immigration for the cultivation of the district around the Bay of Nipe on the north coast has been approved by the Government. Only agriculturalists will be admitted in the colony, no person of any other profession being allowed to settle.

ELECTION FRAUDS.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 12.—Fifty-five ballots skilfully altered with a pen were cast here. They were counted as changed for Allen O. Beach instead of Allen C. Beach. An error of a hundred in favour of Potter was found in Genesee county.

ANOTHER BANK PRESIDENT.

PATERSON, Nov. 12.—Congressman Voorhis was arrested yesterday, charged with abstracting from the First National Bank of Hackensack, of which he was President, collaterals deposited to secure a private loan. Up to this morning bail had not been fixed. He is under surveillance at his own house.

TRAGEDY AT A DANCE.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Nov. 12.—On the morning of the 22nd Oct., a young man named J. Engleoff, of Jordan, [illegible] county, was stabbed by R. Graves. Engleoff's physician now says he will die. Graves is only 19 years old. Both parties were attending a dance and quarrelled. Graves caught Engleoff by the collar with his left hand and plunged a dirk which he had in his right hand into the man's neck. The weapon went about six inches in to the hilt, penetrating the lung and missing the carteroid artery by a hair breadth. Graves coolly pulled out the reeking weapon and showed it to several bystanders. Graves was married to a young lady of Providence about a year ago, but she deserted him in two weeks, on account of his conduct and to save her own life.

STEAMER ARRIVED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The State of Pennsylvania from Glasgow.

NEW YORK STATE ELECTIONS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The Herald says that the changes which have thus far occurred in the pluralities are for the most part favourable to the Republicans, and strengthens the conjecture that the result will be the election of all their state ticket with the exception of Soule. The Herald rumors that an effort will soon be made to consolidate the rival Democratic factions.

A FEVER OF SPECULATION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The Post says that speculation is raging in every department with a fierceness not seen in our recollection. More people to-day are gambling in stocks, cotton, provisions and other forms of merchandise than ever before. The fever appears to increase as prices advance. It seems as idle to talk of the the inevitable end of all as it does to attempt to reason with a drunken man.

NO LOOKOUTS.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—Before the Court of Inquiry into the Champion disaster yesterday, Capt. Johnson testified that the chief engineer and the second mate of the Champion both told him there was no lookout on the Champion. It was customary to take a man from the lookout for other work. There were only six seamen and two boys with the officers on the steamer.

INCREASED IMMIGRATION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Sixteen thousand emigrants arrived at New York during October, an increase of 8,000 over the previous October.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Yesterday's business on the Stock Exchange was the largest ever recorded. Some stocks reached the highest point ever known. Everything was buoyant.

UNITED STATES COMMERCE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The report of the Chief of the Bureau of Statistics show that the last fiscal year was the most remarkable in the history of American commerce. The balance trade was over $260,000,000 in favour of the United States. Only 23 per cent. of the goods exchanged by sea were carried in American vessels.

SAD LOSS BY FIRE.

FRAUBACH, Prussia, Nov. 13.—Sixty houses have been burned, including the Town Hall, dating from the 16th century.

OARSMAN AND PEDESTRIAN.

SARATOGA, Nov. 13.—James H. Riley, the celebrated oarsman, won the 51 hour walking match, making a fraction over 163 miles.

A GENERAL STRIKE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A Reading despatch reports that the Knights of Labor are becoming reckless. The miners are said to be preparing for a general strike.

MILL BURNED.—Shortly after six o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the oatmeal mill in London East, owned by Mr. George Pritchard, which almost totally destroyed the building and its contents. The mill and stock were valued at from $12,000 to $15,000.

THE AFGHAN REVOLT

AN ARMED MISSION.

CABUL, Nov. 13.—A brigade under Gen. Baker with two guns has gone on a mission of political importance. The destination is secret.

Not at the Post Stage.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

THE inducements held out by all newspapers for new subscribers should be based upon the fact that the larger the circulation the less the cost of each paper, as the cost of editorial labor and composition is the same, whether a large or small number is printed. And as it is only fair that those who have stood by us in the past, through good and evil report, should reap a share of the benefit of an increased circulation, we have determined to make them the following offers:—

With regard to the

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Any person now, and for the last twelve months a subscriber to the WEEKLY REVIEW, who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now or for the last twelve months a subscriber to it, will have the TWO sent to separate addresses for $2.50! Or if accompanied with the names of two other such such persons may have the THREE sent to separate addresses for $3.00!

With regard to the

DAILY REVIEW.

Any person now a subscriber to the DAILY EVENING REVIEW who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now on our subscription list, may have the TWO delivered or sent to separate addresses for six months for $3.50, or for twelve months for $6.00!

TORONTO AND OTTAWA RAILWAY.

THE President of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway Company has returned from a visit to the municipalities between the counties of Peterborough and Lanark, i.e. through the Counties of Hastings, Frontenac and Addington. He was accompanied and assisted by J. [illegible] Campbell, Esq., of Port Perry, who remains in the localities until the by-laws shall have been voted upon. The meetings were very largely attended notwithstanding the sparse settlement of many of the townships, and the readiness with which the people came forward with the largest amount of aid within their ability, must be very gratifying to the promoters of the road. On Friday, the 31st October, a meeting was held at Marmora Village. It was largely attended, and after discussion a resolution was passed requesting the council to submit a by-law for $10,000. On the following morning the council met and submitted the by-law, which is to be voted on upon the 29th instant. Considering that the road cannot pass but at a considerable distance from the village, the amount is a fair measure of assistance from the township. On the 1st instant a meeting of the Township of Madoc was held at the Township Hall, the Reeve in the chair. The township having given about $40,000 to the Belleville and North Hastings Road, the question of their ability to grant further aid was discussed at the meeting, but no conclusion was reached. It was, however, proposed and assented to by the Company, that a by-law should be submitted for $10,000, which will now be submitted in the course of the week. On the 2nd a meeting in the Village of Madoc was held, which unanimously requested the council to submit a by-law, for $5,000. On the following morning the council met and the by-law was submitted—to be voted on upon the 29th instant. On the 4th a large meeting was held at Bridgewater, in Elzevir, at which a resolution was carried re, questing the council to submit a by-law for $12,000. On the same evening the council submitted the by-law, which is to be voted on upon the 29th instant. Last year these townships carried a by-law for $6,000, but have now agreed to double the amount. On the 5th a meeting was held at Flinton, in Kaladar, at which a resolution was carried almost unanimously, requesting the council to submit a by-law for $20,000. On the same evening the council met and submitted the by-law, which is to be voted on upon the 8th December. On the 6th a large meeting was held at Arden, in Kennebec, which unanimously requested the council to submit a by-law for $12,000. On the same evening the council met and submitted the by-law. The voting takes place on the 8th December. On the 7th a meeting was held at Mountain Grove, in Olden; the meeting adopted a resolution asking the council to submit a by-law for $12,000. Owing to the absence of the Reeve at the County Council, no meeting of the council could be had, and the by-law has consequently not yet been submitted, but will probably be submitted in the course of the week. In the Township of Oso, the only remaining township, no meeting had been called, owing to the absence of the Reeve, but there is little doubt but that this township will be willing to act with its neighbors in the matter of assisting the road.

Apart from the Township and Village of Madoc, which have burdened themselves with the bonus to the Belleville and North Hastings Road, the remaining townships represent an aggregate assessment of but $386,498. It will be seen, therefore, that what these townships propose giving will impose a tax upon them of about one cent in the dollar. All these townships have also given their share towards the bonuses to the Belleville and North Hastings and the Kingston and Pembroke Railways respectively.

WEST DURHAM.

WE are pleased to observe that our political friends in this Riding have decided to allow the Hon. Mr. Blake to be elected by acclamation. As we have already pointed out, there was nothing to be gained by opposing him from a party stand-point, while from a national stand-point it was desirable that he should have a seat in the House. Of course, the press which supports him will hail this as evidence of a re-action against the N. P., but as a matter of fact, West Durham declared against it in the general election, when that policy was at stake, while in the present instance, it has simply exchanged a Burk for a Blake, to the manifest advantage of "the party," and therefore to the country, because we hold it as a matter of importance that both parties should be represented in the House by their very best men, and whatever tends to that, and should meet with sympathy and support—not unnecessary opposition.

NIGHT CLASSES.

Amalgamation of School Board and the Mechanics' Institute.

To-morrow evening two public school classes instead of one will be opened—one for ladies in the Wellington Street School and another for males in the Queen Street School. The former will be under Miss Marion Livingston, and is an experiment, fifteen or more years having elapsed since night classes for women and girls were conducted. It is hoped that the numbers that join will early prove the success of the undertaking.

The school for males will be opened five nights per week, under Messrs. J. S. Wood, (of Cataraqui school) and W. H. Godwin (of the Model school), the former in junior English, the latter in Mathematics. They are to teach on alternate nights, thus dividing the work. This will be less wearisome to them than to a single teacher as formerly when tied down to all of the work. The hours will be from 7 till 9 p.m.; the fees 25 cents per month.

On Saturday evening the amalgamation of classes was effected by the joint Committee of the Public School Board and the Mechanics' Institute. The Queen Street Classes will be opened to the students of the Institute, and the latter in return offer to the public school night students the freedom of their evening classes in the Collegiate Institute building. This will be a valuable aid to both bodies. The Mechanics' classes are:

Mensuration and book-keeping, under Mr. W. J. Summerby, Principal of Model School.

Mechanical drawing, under Mr. Servitus Biepham, Canadian Engine Works.

Free hand drawing, under Mr. A. W. Meeps, with Mr. J. H. Birkett, as assistant.

Architectural drawing, under Mr. Wm. Irving.

Chemistry, under Mr. A. P. Knight, Rector of Collegiate Institute.—Kingston British Whig.

A New Industry.

The Fredericton (N.B.) Star states that a factory for canning beans is to be started in that city. "Under the Mackenzie regime," it says, "this article was imported, chiefly from Boston, where it could be prepared for $2.00 a dozen. To this was added the freight, which brought the Fredericton selling price up to $2.25 or thereabouts. Nobody thought then of disputing the market with the American manufacturer. But the wheel has gone round and new times have come. The dreadful N. P.—National Plague—is in force, and there is added 25 per cent. duty to canned goods. The Grit papers tell their readers that the poor man is taxed that amount on his beans, and for no good. But the worst of the story they forget to tell. The monopoly of the American manufacturer is broken. Take the case of Mr. Burns. He intends, at once, going into the packing business himself. He will be able to prepare this article at as low a figure as American manufacturers can; and he will sell them to the people of this city at the Mackenzie regime figures, less the freight from Boston here."

The DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents per week.

HOW PARIS LADIES DRESS.

The London Daily News says: "The whirligig of fashion is bringing round and old-fashioned decoration, which has its merits. Ladies are wearying of monograms, and are adopting emblems and mottoes. The fourteenth and early sixteenth centuries were the time when mottoes and fanciful emblems flourished most abundantly. Besides his hereditary bearings every knight had some symbol of fantasy, and every lady her symbol which might be changed at pleasure. When these were embroidered on dresses the effect was quaint and variegated, and gave each costume a kind of originality. Parisians have discovered this, and birds and mottoes are embroidered all over her dresses. A well graced (and well puffed) actress, who is the reverse of stout in figure, appeared lately with the device of ravens on her array. Her rival, who is not slim, observed that 'where the skeleton is the ravens are gathered together. Swallows are more common than the sombre bird of the Danish banner—perhaps to indicate that the wearer intends 'flying, flying south.' Gold swallows are worn on a blue satin ground, though a naturalist might prefer to reverse the colors. Ladies of fashion, if the fashion prevails, will soon look as quaint as did Jacqueline de la Grange in her costume broidered with pink eagles and black ducks, or Anne of Bohemia with the crowned ostrich. The mottoes may slip from writing paper into wider use, and poets once more style themselves on their title pages, [illegible]. The old motto would serve many of the new poets very well, and the fashion may at least add some variety to existence, till the thing is overdone, and ceases to be an outward sign of inward medievalism."

A Household Necessity.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil is the best remedy in the world for the following complaints:—Cramps in the limbs and stomach, pain in the side, rheumatism in all its forms, Colic, Neuralgia, Flesh Wounds, Spinal Complaints, Sprains and Bruises. Don't fail to procure it. Its equal has never been known for removing pain in all cases. For internal and external use. Sold by all dealers.

The most perilous hour of a person's life is when he is tempted to despond. No one should despond—not even the young man who is enfeebled, both mentally and physically, by habits of early discretion, as Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi will cure the most distressing case of kidney disease, etc. For sale by all dealers, at $1 per bottle.

HINTS TO THE HOUSEWIFE.

Always have lobster sauce with salmon,
And put mint sauce your roasted lamb on.

Veal cutlet dip in egg and bread crumb,
Fry till you see a browning red come.

In dressing salad, mind this law:—
With two hard yolks use one's that raw.

Your mutton chops with pepper cover,
And make them amber brown all over.

Broil lightly your beefsteak,—to fry it
Argues contempt with Christian diet.

Buy stall-fed pigeons; when you've got them
The way to cook them is to pot them.

To roast spring chickens is to spoil 'em,
Just slit 'em down the back and broil 'em.

It gives true epicures the vapors
To see boiled mutton minus capers.

The cook deserves a hearty cuffing
Who serves roast fowl with tasteless stuffing.

[illegible]
Is good with bluefish or with bass.

Nice oyster-sauce gives zest to cod—
A fish, when fresh, to feast a god.

Shad, stuffed and baked, is most delicious
'Twould have electrified Apicius.

Roasted in paste, a haunch of mutton
Might make ascetics play the glutton.

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

Councillors present,—Messrs. Isaac Garbutt, James Horner, Thos. J. Nelson, and John H. McWilliams. John Dinwoodie, Esq., Reeve, in the Chair.

The minutes of the former meeting were read and confirmed.

The Reeve read a communication from Ross & Co., per Mr. S. P. Wigg.

Moved by Councillor HORNER, seconded by Councillor GARBUT,—That the communication of Ross & Co. be received, and that a by-law be prepared and advertised, to be passed at the next regular meeting of this council, to deed and close up the concession line from Church street to Water street, in lieu of 66 feet, immediately west of the railway track from Church street to Water street, provided Ross & Co. pay all expenses.—Carried.

Moved by Councillor MCWILLIAMS, seconded by Councillor NELSON,—That David Smith be allowed the use of that part of Concession street near the bridge, in lieu of a right of way to the river, so long as the same is not required by the corporation of Lakefield.—Carried.

Moved by JAMES HORNER, seconded by Jas. NELSON.—That $5.00, amount of fine, be refunded to Timothy Sullivan.—Carried.

A number of accounts having been passed and ordered to be paid, the Council adjourned to meet at the call of the Reeve.

A. SHEARER, Master.

Lakefield, Nov. 11th, 1879.

A MISSIONARY MEETING

will be held (D.V.) in the P. C. A. Hall, in the Village of Lakefield, on Wednesday evening next, the 19th inst., at 7 o'clock, when the Rev. Rural Dean Allen of Millbrook, the Rev. J. S. Baker of Port Hope, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw of Ashburnham and the Rev. C. R. Bell of Lakefield are expected to address the meeting. A collection will be made in aid of the Church of England Mission Fund.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

All the members were present. John Hull, Esq., in the chair. The minutes of former meeting were read and confirmed. Three applications for the position of teacher were read by the Chairman.

Moved by Mr. SANDERS, seconded by Mr. R. C. STRICKLAND,—That the applications read be received and taken into consideration two weeks from to-night.—Carried.

The master, A. Shearer, Esq., was present, and handed in the report for October, upon which quite a lengthy discussion took place. A suggestion was thrown out by Mr. Brown, Public School Inspector, that the pupils in the Junior Department of the School, should only attend school a half a day each day, but the matter was eventually left over for future consideration, and the Board adjourned to meet in two weeks.

LITHOGRAPHIC STONE.

Mr. Dillingham, the gentleman lately engaged in taking out lithographic stone from the quarry in Harvey, is making this place his head quarters. He has a number of men engaged in dressing the stone and preparing it for the market, and if the slabs are satisfactory with regard to size Mr. Dillingham intends to begin operations in the spring on a large scale.

WOOD.

There is between 5,000 and 6,000 cords of good hardwood in Lakefield, which has been brought from Clear and Stony Lakes by the steamers Cruiser and Chippewa for Messrs Ross & Co., Pousette & Roger, and Gordon & Sheppie. This industry has given employment to a large number of men in loading, unloading and piling, &c., in Lakefield, and in getting it out during the winter. There has been considerable discussion during the summer between the parties interested in the wood business, on account of the insufficiency of piling ground. This could be remedied by the Midland Railway continuing their line from the water mill along Water Street to the steamboat landing. There would then be excellent piling ground for 10,000 cords of wood, and at the same time facilities for shipping wood, ties, timber or lumber that would be unsurpassed. There can be no doubt but that the Village Council would give the right of way to the Railway in order to encourage this important industry.

LUMBERING.

Messrs. Geo. W. R. Strickland and John C. Sherin have entered into a contract with A. P. Pousette, Esq., of Peterborough, to take out three million feet of lumber from the vicinity of Jack's Lake, and [illegible] operations. They put in one shanty last week and are starting another this week. The [illegible] of this undertaking is assured as the parties lack neither energy or means. John C. Sherin, Esq., has taken this matter in hand to benefit Lakefield by giving employment to a large number of men in the village, more than from any hope of pecuniary gain and no doubt his efforts will be appreciated by the villagers.

CANDIDATES FOR MUNICIPAL HONORS.

People are beginning to enquire "who are to be the coming men and also to make suggestions, but there seems to be nothing definite yet. John Dinwoodie, Esq., the present Reeve, declines re-election, as also does Councillor Horner. Messrs. Hull, R. C. Strickland, J. C. Sherin and T. J. Nelson are spoken of in connection with the Reeveship, and Messrs. Garbutt, McWilliams, Wm. Cox, L. Steele, W. J. Wallace, W. H. Casement and John Richardson as Councillors, but no one has announced himself a candidate as yet. Appearences indicate that we shall shortly be able to announce a long list of candidates to serve the village for its weal or woe.

THE COTTON BRIGADE.

The Cotton Brigade paraded last Thursday for the first time this season. The captain, Mr. John Dinwoodie, led the brigade in person, but the turn out was not very successful no doubt on account of the absence of General Joseph Dunlop who is rusticating at Burleigh Bridge after his bound at Jack Lake.

LAKEFIELD MARKETS.

The wheat market in Lakefield has been rather quiet since the late decline. There seems to be a very active demand for pork, from $5.50 to $6.00 would readily be obtained. Hay meets with ready sales at quotations. Flour, Fall, $6.00 to $6.50 per bbl., Flour, Spring, $5.75 to $6.00 per bbl., Fall Wheat $1.15 to $1.16 per bush., Spring Wheat $1.10 to $1.12 per bushel, Oats, new, 28c. to 30c. per bush., Peas 55c. to 58c. per bush., Beans $1.00 per bush., Potatoes 50c. to 60c. per bag, Apples 50c. 60c. per bag. Butter, fresh, 18c. to 20, Butter, keg, 14c. to 20c, Eggs 13c. per doz., Lamb, quarter, 6c., Mutton, 6c., Chickens pair 20c. to 25c., Ducks 40c. to 50c., Turkeys 50c. to 75c. each, Geese 25c. to 40c., Hay, per ton $6.50 to $7.00, Straw per load $3.00, Hungarian Grass, per ton $6.00 Hardwood, per load sawed, $2.50. Hardwood, per load unsawed $2.25, Pork, dressed $5.50 to $6.00.

AN EDITOR'S REVENGE.

He Prosecutes a Rival Journalist for Selling Liquor Without a License.

RED BANK, N. J., Nov. 11.—In the case of Dr. Kinmouth, a wealthy physician, of Asbury Park, charged with selling liquor without a license, the jury brought in a verdict of acquittal. The complainant in the case was James Bradley, Temperance Mayor of Asbury Park, and editor of the Asbury Park Journal. Dr. Kinmouth is editor of the Sea Shore Press, published in the same town, and the parties have attacked each other in their respective papers. The doctor testified that he only gave liquor on prescriptions signed by reputable physicians, or to persons by his medical advice. Both men being well known the trial has excited great interest.

COURTNEY IS READY.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Courtney sent a despatch to Blaikie this evening agreeing to meet him and Hanlan any time. Courtney stands ready to sign articles for a race as soon as prepared.

TO PRESERVE CIDER

A pure, sweet cider is only obtainable from clean, sound fruit, and the fruit should therefore, be carefully examined and wiped before grinding. In the press use hair-cloth or gunny in place of straw. As the cider runs from the press let it pass through a hair-sieve into a large open vessel, that will hold as much juice as can be expressed in one day. In one day, or sometimes less, the pomace will raise to the top and in a short time grow very thick. When little white bubbles break through it draw off the liquid through a very small spigot placed about three inches from the bottom, so that the lees may be left behind. The cider must be drawn off into very clean sweet casks, perferably fresh liquor casks, and closely watched. The moment the white bubbles before mentioned are perceived rising at the bung-hole, rack it again. It is usually necessary to repeat this three times. Then fill up the cask with cider in every respect like that originally contained in it, add a tumbler of warm sweet oil and bung up tight. For very fine cider it is customary to add at this stage of the process about half a pound of glucose, starch, sugar, or a smaller portion of white sugar. The cask should then be allowed to remain in a cool place until the cider has acquired the desired flavor. In the meantime clean barrels for its reception should be prepared as follows:—Some clean strips of rags are dipped in melted sulphur, lighted and burned in the bunghole and the bung laid loosely on the end of the rag, so as to retain the sulphur vapor within the barrel. Then tie up a half a pound of mustard seed in a coarse muslin bag and put it in the barrel, fill the barrel with cider, and about a quarter of a pound of isinglass or fine gelatine disolved in hot water. This is the old fashioned way, and will keep cider in the same condition as when it went into the barrel, if kept in a cool place for a year. Professional cider-makers are now using calcium sulphite, sulphite of lime, instead of mustard and sulphur vapor. It is much more convenient and effectual. To use it it is simply requisite to add one-eighth to one-quarter of an ounce of the sulphite to each gallon of cider in the cask, first mixing the powder in about a quart of the cider and giving the latter a thorough shaking or rolling. After standing bunged several days to allow the sulphite to exert its full action, it may be bottled off. The sulphite of lime (which should not be mistaken for the sulphate of lime) is a commercial article, costing about forty cents a pound by the barrel. It will preserve the sweetness of the cider perfectly, but, unless care is taken not to add too much of it, it will impart a slight sulphurious taste to the cider. The bottles and corks used should be perfectly clean, and the corks wired down. A little cinnamon, wintergreen or sassafras, etc., is often added to sweet cider in the bottle, together with a dram or so of bicarbonate of soda at the moment of driving the stopper. This helps to neutralize free acids, and renders the liquor effervescent when unstopped; but if used to excess it may prejudicially effect the taste.—Scientific American.

The Fertility of Manitoba.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press denies the truth of the statement that the soil in the very neighborhood of Winnipeg is worthless, as made by a correspondent of the New York Times. The Press says:—"The soil on which Winnipeg is planted, and in its vicinity, is like that of the whole Red River valley. It is not simply fertile; it is wonderfully so. If that particular spot is not under cultivation, it is very likely for the reason which makes a desert of the neighborhood of so many new western towns; because the lands are owned by speculators—perhaps non-resident speculators. But the soil is of equal fertility on both sides of the boundary and the wheat lands in the Canadian Northwest Territory extend northwest to the Rocky Mountains, though west of the Red River valley they lose the remarkable fertility which characterizes the soil of that district."

GEN. GRANT AT CHICAGO

THE LONGEST SPEECH OF HIS LIFE MADE TO THE ARMY OF TENNESSEE.

A Country to be Proud of—Union Above All A Sheaf of Congratulatory Telegrams—Some Quaint Messages.

By Telegraph to the Review.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—When General Sherman announced the conclusion of the session of the Army of Tennessee, the audience set up shouts for Grant. This was persisted in until he arose. He suggested that it was better to follow the programme, but as he was not set down for a speech the audience laughed and renewed the demand for a speech. Thereupon Grant deliberately drew from his pocket, and as deliberately read the following—

THE LONGEST SPEECH OF HIS LIFE:

"After an absence of several years from the gatherings of the Army of Tennessee, it affords me heartfelt pleasure to be again with you, my earliest comrades in arms, and in the great conflict for nationality and the union of all the States under one free and always to be maintained Government. In my long absence from the country I had a most favorable opportunity for seeing and comparing in my own mind our institutions with those of all European countries and most of those of Asia. Every where from England to Japan, from Russia to Spain and Portugal, we are understood, our resources are highly appreciated and the skill, energy and intelligence of our citizens are recognized. My receptions have been your receptions. They have been every where kind and acknowledge us as a nation, a strong, independent, free nation, composed of strong, brave and intelligent people, capable of judging their rights and ready to maintain them at all hazards.

THIS IS A NON-PARTISAN ASSOCIATION

but it is composed of men who are united in the determination that no foe, domestic or foreign shall interfere between us and the maintainence of our grand free and enlightened institutions, and the unity of all the States. The area of our country, its fertility and energy and resources of our population, compared to its area, postpones the day for generations to come, when our descendants will have to consider the question of how the soil is to support them—of how most can be produced to support human life, without reference to the tastes or desires of the people, and when but few can exercise the privilege of the plain luxury of selecting the articles of food they will eat or the quantity and quality of clothing they will wear. But it will remain the abundant home of all who possess energy and strength and make good use of them. If we remain true to ourselves, such a country is one to be proud of.

I AM PROUD OF IT,

proud that I am an American citizen. Every citizen north, south, east and west employs a common heritage and should feel an equal pride. I am glad these society meetings are kept up so long after the events which they commemorate have passed away. They do not serve to keep up sectional feelings or bitterness toward our late foe, but they do keep up the feeling that we are a nation, and that it must be preserved one and indivisible. We feel and maintain that those who fought—and fought bravely—from us have an equal claim with ourselves in all the blessings of our great and common country. We claim for them the right to travel all over this broad land and to select where they please, the right to settle, become citizens, and enjoy their political and religious connections, free from molestation or ostracism, either on account of them or the connection with the past, we ask nothing more for ourselves, and would rejoice to see them become powerful rivals in the development of our great resources, in the acquisition of all that should be desirable in this life, and in patriotism and in the love of our country."

ON THE OPPOSITE SIDE

A SHEAF OF CONGRATULATIONS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—The Daily News having invited the Governors of the various States and prominent Southern men to send to its care congratulations on Grant's return, has received Telegraphing from Washington he says he a number, including one from A. H. Stephens. would certainly pay his respects to Grant if he could be in Chicago. "His generous, magnanimous, patriotic sentiments expressed to ex-confederates at San Francisco met a warm response in the breasts of millions in this country without regard to sections or to those political differences of opinion, which led to a lamentable conflict in arms. That no such differences may ever arise again, should be the earnest desire of every patriot."

Gen. Longstreet sent congratulations and said:—"We have many excellent men who most naturally and properly aspire to the highest office in the gift of the people, but it seems deeply set in their hearts to enable the nation by again honoring Grant."

Robert Toombs sends the following:—"I decline to answer except to say:—Present my personal congratulations to Gen. Grant on his safe arrival to his country. He fought for his country honourably, and won—I fought for mine and lost. I am ready to try it over again. Death to the Union."

Wade Hampton declined to respond.

Congratulations came from the Governors of Maine, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, Kansas, and Nevada.

Governor Hoyt, of Pennsylvania, says:—"The people of Pennsylvania note with pleasure the completion of the circuit around the globe by Gen. Grant. On his second round by their acclaims they will arrest him here on a lap, until in 1881, he shall inaugurate the Chief Magistrate of the nation, the full purpose of a free people, and in 1880 the 60,000,000 of the United States will bid him God-speed to the fulfilment of a perfect career."

Caught in a Horse's Tail.

INGERSOLL, Ont, Nov. 10.—This morning a man named Matthew Day, who lived between this place and Thamesford, met with a rather peculiar and probably serious accident. It appears that he had been working with a young horse, which did not obey him. He kicked at it and his foot became entangled in its tail. The horse started off, dragging him nearly half a mile and bruising him very badly. At present, it is impossible to say whether he will recover or not.

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head.

OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the soothing and quieting to sudden night colic, diarrhoea, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is found in DOWNS' ELIXIR OF FAMILIAR CAMPS, &c. Price 25 cents. 4102-w46-1m

The Markets.

REVIEW OFFICE,
THURSDAY, November 13th, 1879.

During the past week the grain market has been dull and inactive. The amount of wheat and flour in transit for the English market on the 6th instant was 2,557,000 quarters, as compared with 2,205,000 on the 23rd of October, and 1,440,000 quarters at the same date last years. The quantity in store on this continent is also unusually large and increasing, namely, 26,822,659 bushels of wheat on the 1st instant, as compared with 25,691,223 bushels on the 25th of October, and 17,692,785 bushels on the 2nd of November, 1878. With this state of affairs it is not surprising that speculators are holding off, and that the present demand is limited to a purely consumptive one, notwithstanding that on the continent as well as in Britain a large supply must be obtained from some source or another before next harvest. The western markets have been declining in sympathy with the foreign in a much greater ratio than Canadian, which under all the circumstances is being wonderfully well maintained, especially for spring wheat, which we observe was quoted in the Toronto market yesterday at the same price as fall, while in Montreal "strong bakers" flour leads the market. In butter the market continues strong. There is evidently a "pull" going on between buyers and holders, the first holding off for a decline, the latter holding on for a rise. Thirty cents for even "creamy" butter is a long price for even "rich folks" to pay, while 19 to to 20cts. is more than ordinary consumers will be content to pay without curtailing consumption in every way they can. The English market however continues firm with an upward tendency, and so long as it does home markets cannot decline. The manner in which farmers have been bringing forward their stocks, and the risk of holding it at prevailing prices, leave little hope of "local" consumers, who have not already laid in their supply of winter butter, obtaining it at less than present quotations, even if outside markets do recede. With regard to hogs, all reports agree that the supply of the coming winter cannot fall short of that of last year, while many estimate that there will be a considerable excess in number as well as weight. Should these predictions be verified, the season will be an anxious one for the operator as the market opens at an advance upon last year of from 75 cents to $1.00 per 100 lbs. Below will be found to-day's cable report of the Liverpool market, and those of Chicago, Montreal and Toronto, by wire, as well as full reports of our own local markets for the week.

Lovers of fresh lake herring will be pleased to learn that Chamberlain is in receipt of some very fine ones.

I. O. G. T.

Carswell Lodge No. 411, I.O.G.T., meet this evening at the Friendship Hall, George street. All members of the order are invited and a full attendance is expected.

T. Dolan & Co.

Messrs. T. Dolan & Co. are creating a fresh excitement in the dry goods line. A heavy addition to their already fine stock has been made to-day, and at prices surprisingly low.

Curler's Meeting.

A meeting of skips has been called for Friday evening, 14th instant, at 8 o'clock, in the Huffman House, when the formation of rinks will be arranged, and other minor business transacted. All curlers are welcome.

P. B. C.

A special meeting will be held in the Boat House on Monday night at 7.30 sharp, for the purpose of receiving the Treasurer's report and electing a new Secretary-Treasurer. All members are requested to attend.

Auction Sale by Gilbert & Moore.

Gilbert & Moore, Auctioneers, have been instructed to sell by public auction as follows :—

On Tuesday, Nov. 18.—Important Credit Sale of Valuable Farm, Farm Stock and Implements of Mr. Eugene Sullivan, lot 5, con. 4, Township of Ennismore. Sale at 12 o'clock noon. See posters.

A Spanish Hen's Egg.

Mr. Wm. Soulis has shown us an egg recently laid by one of his Spanish hens, and it is certainly a curiosity, being a little larger than a schoolboy's marble, and weighing rather less than a drachm.

Peterborough Sheep for Europe.

Mr. George Webber is making preparations for shipping to the Old Country via Montreal a car load of sheep. The shipment will be made from Peterborough on Monday next. Other shipments will follow, including cattle, sheep and hogs.

Auction Sale by J. B. Wright.

J. B. Wright, Auctioneer, has been instructed to sell by public action as follows :—

On Tuesday, Nov. 25.—Credit Sale of Farm Stock, Implements and Household Furniture of Mr. Alexander C. Brown, lot 18, con. 8, Township of Cavan. Sale at 11 o'clock a.m. No reserve, as Mr. Brown is going away.

Appointment.

Mr. Alex. Stewart has been appointed caretaker of the Skating and Curling Rink. We congratulate the Directors on their selection, and feel satisfied that Mr. Stewart will discharge his duty in a judicious and satisfactory manner to all concerned.

Trent Valley Canal.

Mr. Stark, C.E., is again in Peterborough on business in connection with the projected Trent Valley Canal. From the information we receive from various well-informed quarters, we believe that there will be no very long delay in carrying out this very necessary work.

"Very Creditable."

The Cobourg Star has the following paragraph :—

"We observe by the Lindsay Post that owing to the financial success of the Peterborough Central Exhibition only $10 will be required from the South Victoria agricultural society as their subscription. The new basis has proved a complete success. Peterborough's management has been very creditable."

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: moderate to fresh winds; cloudy to partly cloudy weather, with local showers in some localities. Peterborough seems to have been chosen as one of these localities. The wind has shifted from west to east during to-day, bringing rain again during the afternoon. There was a steady heavy rain yesterday evening, lasting well into the night.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

Annual Meeting—Financial Statement—A Good Balance in the Treasury—Election of Officers—The Annual Celebration.

The annual meeting of the St. Andrew's Society of this town was held on Wednesday evening, the 12th inst., in the room adjoining the Council Chamber.

In the absence of the President, Mr. CHARLES CAMERON, First Vice-President, occupied the chair.

The attendance was not large, owing to the inclemency of the weather, although nearly all the most active members were present.

The minutes of the last meeting of the Executive Committee were read, and on motion confirmed.

The Secretary read letters from JAMES MILLER, Esq., President of the Society, regretting his inability to be present at the annual meeting owing to ill-health.

TREASURER'S STATEMENT.

Mr. WILLIAM CUMMINGS, Treasurer, submitted the annual Financial Statement of the Society, which showed the funds to be still in a prosperous condition. He announced that a balance of $163.40 remained to the credit of the Society in the Bank of Commerce to be carried forward to next year.

On motion the Treasurer's statement was received and accepted.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The following officers were then unanimously elected for the ensuing year :—

President—James Miller, Esq., (re-elected).

First Vice-President—Thomas Telford, Ennismore.

Second Vice-President—James Hope, (re-elected.)

Third Vice-President—John Patterson.

Treasurer—William Cumming, (re-elected).

Secretary—W. Menzies, (re-elected).

Physician—Dr. Fraser.

Executive and Charitable Committee—For the Town of Peterborough—Messrs. Adam Turner, John Stewart, Andrew Hewie, John Armour, Chas. Cameron, and William Fairweather. For Smith—George Harvey and William Telford. For Dummer—David Ross. For Otonabee—Robert Hope and James Drummond.

ANNUAL CELEBRATION.

On motion it was decided to celebrate St. Andrew's day by a dinner.

A committee consisting of the President, and Messrs. W. Cummings, and John Armour were appointed to make the necessary preparations for the annual celebration.

Mr. Chas. Cameron was appointed to wait upon the Rev. Alex. Bell, for the purpose of inviting him to preach the annual sermon.

A unanimous vote of thanks was then tendered to the President for his pains taking efforts on behalf of the Society during the past year.

The meeting then adjourned.

Plaster.

We learn from the Port Hope Times that the Ariel arrived in their harbour on Tuesday with 280 barrels of plaster for Peterborough.

H. M. S. Pinafore.

On Wednesday evening, November 19th., "McDowell's Vaudeville Company" will perform before the residents of Peterborough and vicinity, the interesting and attractive Irish drama, entitled "Arrah-na-Pogue." On Thursday, the 20th, they will give the comic opera of "H. M. S. Pinafore," which has held the stage so long and so successfully throughout the United States and Europe. It is one of the best of its kind ever presented.

FOILED BY A TIME-LOCK.

Unsuccessful but Daring Attempt at a Bank Robbery.

DAYTON, O., Nov. 11.—A very bold attempt was made last night to rob the First National Bank at Germantown, this county, but through the extricacies of the time-lock attachment to to the combination lock the robbers failed to open the safe, and were forced to leave without their expected booty. About 8 o'clock in the evening, Cashier John Cross, with his wife and daughter, who had been absent from home, returned to the residence. Just as they reached the gate a gentleman came up to them, and stated to Mr. Cross that he desired to talk with him, and was invited into the house. As they entered they were confronted by four masked men, one of whom met them at the gate, made them prisoners, and locked the doors. They compelled Mr. Cross to hold up his hands, and relieved him of his gold watch, pocket-book, containing about $7, and another gold watch belonging to his daughter. They also took the outside door key to the bank, and while two remained as a guard over the family at the house the others at a later hour went to the bank and attempted an entrance to the vault, but were unsuccessful. It appears that they were fully informed as to the mode of conducting business at the bank, and knew that the private desk, and other keys used, are deposited at night in Sechring's dry goods store, and they burglarized that establishment by cutting through a side window and opening the desk drawer, in which the keys were kept. Finding they could not effect an entrance to the vault they returned to Mr. Cross' residence about one o'clock this morning, and compelled him to go to the bank to open the safe, but he assured them he could not do it, because of the time-lock. He was required to go, however, and did so, but could not open the safe though with revolvers at his head. His life was threatened if he failed to do so. Finding themselves completely foiled, they took Mr. Cross back to his house about three o'clock, and locked him and his family in an upper room, where they were forced to remain until relieved some time afterward. There was $4,000 in silver coin on the top of the safe in four boxes. This, it seems, they did not notice, although within their reach, and almost under their very eyes. No clue has been obtained to the burglars.

PORT HOPE.

JOURNALISTIC.—Owing to the increased business of the Daily and Weekly Times, Mr Trayes has procured from Messrs. Helm & Nicholls a new engine and boiler, which give him complete satisfaction.

NAVIGATION.—Business in the harbour is still very lively, there being a constant succession of vessels arriving, loading and clearing out with their cargoes.

HARBOR TOLLS.—On the 1st of November the Port Hope harbor tolls for the year had reached the handsome sum of $3,000 more than they were on the same date last year.

Stop that Cough.

HAGYARD'S PECTORAL BALSAM is compounded of the most healing balsams and gums. The balsams, which enter into its composition, were used by natives when America was first discovered, and are combined with other vegetable tonics, so blended together, that it is a specific for all affections of the throat and lungs. Thousands of bottles are used annually, and it is considered one of the standard preparations of the day. For Coughs, Colds, etc. For sale by all dealers at 25cts. per bottle.

VILLAGE OF LAKEFIELD.

A GLANCE AT ITS PAST AND PRESENT CONDITION.

Its Population—Natural Advantages—Railway—Navigation—Business Places—Saw Mills, &c.—The Trent Valley Canal.

The present position of the Village of Lakefield, combined with its past history contains a lesson which may be studied with advantage at the present time by those who feel disposed to take a desponding view of the future progress of the Town and County of Peterborough, and especially of the long talked of Trent Valley Canal. Like our canal scheme, the site of the present Village of Lakefield was an object of interest and speculation to the more sanguine of the early pioneers of this district. Situated at the head as Peterborough is at the foot, of nine miles of a river, in the course of which there is no less than 147 feet fall, it was well nigh selected as the site of a village, and a grist and saw mill and bridge were erected. But these all soon disappeared and the embryo village became a thing of the past, except in the sanguine imaginations of a few, until the late Col. Strickland and Mr. John Reid, P.L.S., re-inaugurated it by rebuilding the saw mill and dam. In time the mill brought about the rebuilding of the bridge, but it was so late as 1855 that opened its first store, and it was two or three years afterwards before the late Mr. Robert Casement, who had been appointed post-master, ventured with some hesitation to open a second.

HALF A CENTURY AGO

Since the period spoken of the village, notwithstanding several set-backs has made steady progress.

RAILWAY AND NAVIGATION

in 1869 the Midland Railway was induced to extend its line to this point by the villagers and those interested making up a handsome subscription list as a bonus to the Company. About a year afterwards by the construction of a lock at Young's Point, which the desponders of those days said would never be used except by hunter's canoes—navigation was opened from Lakefield northwards for a distance of about twenty-five miles, and now two steamboats find ample employment in hauling wood, of which about 5,000 cords now await shipment by rail—and carrying excursionists and freight.

POPULATION.

The present population of the village is about 1,100, with a considerable number just outside of its municipal bounds, which should be reckoned with the rest for the purposes of comparison.

IT CONTAINS

a water and steam saw mill, a flouring mill, which does a considerable shipping business, a planing mill, eight dry goods, grocery and hardware stores, two druggist shops, three tailoring establishments, five blacksmith and waggon shops, three boot and shoe shops, four hotels, cabinet, tin and stove shops, &c., &c. Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, and Bible Christian Churches and a fine Public School, employing four teachers. There are three doctors, but strange to say, nobody in the shape of a lawyer, except the worthy Clerk of the Division Court, who seems to be equally au fait at issuing a summons or marriage licenses, or drawing a mortgage.

GOOD TASTE AND INDUSTRY OF THE VILLAGERS.

Being a comparatively new place, and many of its inhabitants possessing considerable taste, the buildings are all not only good but the dwellings of a "tasty" character, so that the village presents a pleasing and prosperous appearance to the visitor. A substantial proof of the prosperity of its merchants, and the district of which it is the centre, is the fact, that outside of the lumber business there has not been a failure in Lakefield for several years, notwithstanding the hard times which its business men have had to encounter, in common with those of other places.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Should the present effort to bring about the construction of the Trent Valley Canal prove successful, Lakefield's progress will be materially aided, inasmuch as the proposed route passes from Lakefield direct to Mud Lake, thus giving it, not only the advantage of being on the route, but making it an important arm of water communication. Perhaps on its whole route from Trenton to the Georgian Bay, there are no places that have so deep an interest in this undertaking as the Town of Peterborough and the Villages of Lakefield and Ashburnham and the townships of Douro and Smith. From Lakefield to Peterborough, the entire distance of nine miles is but a succession of water powers along which a railway is already constructed and along the side of which we hope soon to see a canal completed and freighted to its utmost capacity with the trade of the great West. Should that happily soon come, we are sanguine enough to believe that ere long Peterborough and Lakefield will be united by a series of manufacturing villages which will contribute to the continued growth and prosperity of both.

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.50! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered :—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—2 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it :—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says :—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Force says :—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, as far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says :—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavoured, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $20 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Moid's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Moid, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, last season, at the rate of 86 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kaempferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomoea leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

Welland Canal Enlargement.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Welland Canal," will be received at this office until the arrival of the Eastern and Western mails on FRIDAY the 14th DAY OF NOVEMBER next, for the deepening and completion of that part of the Welland Canal, between Ramey's Bend and Port Colborne, known as Sections Nos. 33 and 34, embracing the greater part of what is called the "Rock Cut."

Plans showing the position of the work, and specifications for what remains to be done, can be seen at this office, and at the Resident Engineer's Office, Welland on and after TUESDAY the 4th DAY OF NOVEMBER next, where printed forms of tender can be obtained.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, except there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted Bank cheque for the sum of three thousand dollars for Section No. 33, and one for four thousand dollars for Section No. 34, must accompany the respective Tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque or money thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose Tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfillment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required by the deposit of money to the amount of five per cent. on the bulk sum of the contract; of which the sum sent in with the Tender will be considered a part.

Ninety per cent. only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the work.

To each Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the Contract.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
F. BRAUN,
Secretary

Relief in Nervousness.

Nervousness.—A very great number of those in the middle and higher classes of society, who, without being ever actually sick, never know what real health is; who live constantly in a lower plane of living than is normal in man, who are weak all over, though not specially and sensitively weak in any one organ, who may not experience piercing and grinding pain, yet suffer at times, if not always, that profound exhaustion which in many respects is worse than pain. Those in that lamentable state have always been relieved, and many permanently so by using the Victoria Syrup of Hypophosphites, it being peculiarly adapted for these cases. A FAMILY SUFFOCATED!

SAD RESULT OF A FIRE IN A NEW YORK TENEMENT HOUSE.

Twelve Families in Jeopardy—A Family of Four Suffocated and the Father Killed—Jumping from the Flames.

By Telegram to the Review.

New York, Nov. 14.—Early this morning a fire occurred on the second floor of the four storey brick tenement on No. 80, Cannon street, occupied by a family named Cohen. The tenement was occupied by twelve families.

THE EXCITEMENT WAS TERRIBLE.

Mary Babisky, on the third floor, jumped from the window, and was severely injured internally. Four members of a family named Botzkie, on the top floor, were suffocated, as there was no escape for them. Their father endeavored in every way to save his family, but finding his efforts fruitless, threw himself out of the window. He was picked up dead. Mrs. Botzkie, aged 34, two sons, Charles, aged 7, and Frank, 3 years, and her mother, Mary Saunder, aged 77, were

ALL SUFFOCATED.

Patrick Lynch, a fireman, in his efforts to save the inmates, was severely burned. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Coal Mining.—A North Sydney despatch to the Morning Mail says the Sydney coal mines are in full blast. Yesterday, at the new mining pit, were raised 928 tons of coal, being the largest days' work ever done at the Sydney mines. Our demand is equal to this output.

BELLEVILLE.

Railway Bonus.—The County Council on Thursday afternoon resolved to accept the proposition of Mr. E. O. Bickford on behalf of the Grand Junction Railway Company. The county owes $20,000 on stock, on which about $5,000 interest had accrued. The terms of settlement are that the county pay $22,000 in full of the claim.

OTTAWA.

Geological Museum.—The establishment of Geological Museum at Ottawa is likely soon to become an accomplished fact. Last session Sir John Macdonald stated in the House of Commons that it was the intention of the Government to take this action, and the idea was generally approved by members on both sides of the House. It is in accordance with this policy, we presume, says the Free Press, that Professor Selwyn, Chief of the Geological Survey, is now at the Capital with the view of securing a permanent residence.

The Coteau Bridge.—The Free Press understands that the engineers sent to examine the site of the proposed bridge at Coteau in connection with the Canada and Atlantic Railway, have reported to Colonel Gzowski that a low level bridge is practicable. The Colonel's report, on which the Government is likely to act, will be given in shortly.

FITTING OUT RUSSIAN CRUISERS.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 14.—At a meeting of the Russian Technological Society, a lecture was delivered on the subject of fitting out 4 famous Russian Cruisers in the United States. The lecturer especially referred to the sympathy and co-operation which all had received from the Americans. Six men had deserted from the expedition who preferred to remain on the free soil of America, but they were Germans.

SENDING MONEY AND ARMS TO IRELAND.

Liverpool, Nov. 14.—A London correspondent says the Government have received information from New York, through the British Consul, that American Fenians are offering money and arms to Irish tenant farmers, to enable them to resist evictions. The correspondent adds the Irish Executive fully credits the statement, but does not believe anything will result therefrom.

THE "HUASCAR'S" CAPTURE.

Panama, Nov. 6.—The Chilian admirals report of the Huascar's capture, credits her officers and crew with the utmost heroism. He reports the Huascar so battered that she is probably useless. Particulars of the fight show that the Huascar made a terrible fight against a forlorn hope. Admiral Grau was shot while in the observation turret and carried below. A 300 pound shot subsequently crushed the Huascar's steering gear and passed through the vessel, leaving a great breach, and killed Grau his aide and several others. The Huascar was now unmanned.

Detroit, Nov. 14.—F. C. Beaman, who has been appointed to succeed Chandler is a native of Chester, Vt. He removed to New York in 1838, and served five years in Congress.

THE HOSTILE UTES.

Denver, Nov. 14.—Later despatches from Los Pinos represent that the hostile chiefs, with the exception of Jack, who, it is reported, has gone to the Uintah reservation are at Los Pinos willing to surrender. It has been determined almost beyond a doubt, that he led the hostiles in the Thornburgh fight. Ouray had a long conference with the hostiles on Tuesday and told them that they need expect no mercy. Johnson, among others, say that if he has done anything wrong, he is willing to be hung. Johnson's brother is represented as the man who shot two freighters between Milk Creek and the Agency. They were laughing and talking with the Utes when they were shot. He was afterwards killed by Frank Dresser.

NO CONSTITUTION.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 14.—During the Buford trial it was discovered that the law in the general statutes, providing for the appointment of special judges, differed from that adopted by the constitutional convention. On a search being made for the engrossed copy of the constitution no trace of it could be found in the office of the State Secretary. There is some doubt now whether Kentucky has any authentic constitution at all.

THE NICARAGUAN CANAL.

New York, Nov. 14.—The Herald's Chicago despatch says that Grant received a telegram yesterday from Washington which may call him east within a week. The telegram informed him that a gentleman connected with a European banking house is now crossing the Atlantic with full assurances of subscriptions, amounting to a third of the capital necessary to conduct the Nicaragua canal, provided that Grant asks the necessary concession from Nicaragua. Grant becoming the President of the company. He is the bearer of a letter from Rothschilds to August Belmont, and is expected in New York about the 20th November. Grant in an interview said he favoured the Nicaraguan route. He would not like to say whether he would accept the Presidency of the company. He would first like to know that an ample subscriptions had been made, and certain concessions obtained from Nicaragua. He thought the canal should be in neutral waters, and that Congress should pass an act assuming some sort of supervision over it, simply to have an eye to its protection, because it is on our continent.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Indications, lower lakes threatening. Light rain and slightly cooler.

STRUCK FOR WAGES.

New Brunswick, N.J., Nov. 14.—The employees of the New Jersey Rubber Co., numbering four or five hundred, have struck for increased wages, as have also three hundred employees of the Meyer Rubber Co., Milltown Village.

HANGING OF BUELL.

Cooperstown, N.Y., Nov. 14.—Buell was hanged to-day. The sheriff adjusted the rope and placed the black cap over his face. Rev. Mr. Wall prayed. The sheriff asked Buell if he had anything to say. He replied "No." The spring was immediately touched, he shot up into the air, settled down and died. Death was caused by strangulation. The body will be taken by his friends for burial.

CLOCK WORKS BURNED.

Winstead, Conn., Nov. 14.—Owen & Co's clock works, employing 60 hands, were burned. Loss $12,000. Cause, lamp explosion.

A FREE MASON'S GRAVE.

New York, Nov. 14.—Judge Westbrook yesterday rendered a decision against the trustees of Calvary Cemetery, who recently refused to allow the interment of Dennis Copper's body because he had been a Free Mason. The trustees are directed to open the grave for the reception of his remains.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Theodore C. Vermilye, a prominent lawyer of this city, was thrown from a carriage at Staten Island last night, and was instantly killed.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT.

Jas. R. Austin, formerly the Boston agent of the New York Life Insurance Company, was arrested last night at the Park theatre, charged with embezzling $10,000 from that Company two years ago.

A BROTHER'S REVENGE.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 14.—James P. Ferguson killed J. H. Coombs on the street last evening. Ferguson came to town to compel Coombs to marry his sister, whom he had ruined. The latter refused, Ferguson brought a double barrelled shot gun, loaded it with buckshot and deliberately shot Coombs as he was standing in the door of his store. The second charge entered the back of Coombs' head and killed him instantly. Ferguson gave himself up and says that he does not regret the deed.

THE GRANT BANQUET.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—At the Grant banquet last night 601 covers were laid. To the first toast, "First our Country, her place among Nations," Grant responded. He said:—"We are beginning to be regarded a little by other powers as we, in our vanity, have regarded ourselves. As to the place we have among nations, I think we have all the elements that go to make up a great nationality. We have the strength, we have individual self-controlling independence, and we have to a greater degree than almost any other nation the power to colonize and settle up new countries and develop them. We have also a very great advantage in being without neighbors to molest or make us afraid. It is true we have northern frontiers and southern frontiers. We get along with a very small army, keeping no standing army, and what little we have is not a standing army, because it has no time to stand. I do not know anything that I can specially add to what I have said, except in way of advice, and that is let us be true to ourselves, avoid all bitterness and illfeeling either on the part of sections or parties to each other, and we need have no fear in future of maintaining the standing we have taken among nations so far as opposition from foreign nations goes." (Applause.) Other toasts were responded to by Governors Logan, Hurlburt, Schofield, Woodford and Pope, "Mark Twain" and others. At 1.30 o'clock toasts were proceeding slowly, speeches not on the programme being made, with prospects of the banquet lasting until nearly reveille.

THE SCAFFOLD.

Lebanon, Pa., Nov. 14.—Charles Drews and Franklin Stichler were hanged this morning. They are two of the six convicted for the murder old Old Raber, on whose life they had taken out heavy insurance. Seechman, one of the six, was acquitted yesterday on the second trial. Wise, who confessed first, has never been sentenced. The cases of Hummel and Brandt are still before the Supreme Court. Drews and Stichler were the only ones brought to the scaffold. Four clergymen held religious exercises with the condemned during the morning. Just before the drop fell they both trembled perceptibly, Drew remarking in German, "Frank, now we go to Heaven." Immediately after, the sheriff touched the spring, a large cross piece fell to the ground, but both men remained standing on the gallows, but after a delay of only a minute the drop fell.

THE AFGHAN REVOLT.

A SUCCESSFUL EXPEDITION.

London, Nov. 13.—A Simla despatch says the troops of the expedition under Gen. Baker, consisting of the Punjab Cavalry and Third Sikhs, surrounded a town in the Chardeh Valley, captured prisoners and a large quantity of arms.

PRINCESS LOUISE IN ENGLAND.

From the Liverpool Post, Oct. 31.

The London correspondent of the Birmingham Post yesterday furnished his readers with a wonderful story about the Princess Louise being homesick; that she had returned home under medical advice, and that she had, in fact, become a victim almost of settled melancholia. It was said that Her Royal Highness, soon after her arrival in Canada, began to lose the habitual cheerfulness, "not to say gaiety of mind, with which she had brightened the somewhat sombre atmosphere of the royal domestic circle, and fell gradually into a state of depression." "Two young ladies, with whom the younger members of the royal family, and especially the Princess Louise, had become effectionately familiarized during their earlier art studies, were sent out as companions to Her Royal Highness," but all in vain. The gloom that had fallen upon her mind could not be dispelled, and Lord Lorne was compelled to send his royal wife home, while he worked the oracle to secure his own recall, in order that he might as soon as possible join Her Royal Highness in England. All this must have been to the Marquis very distressing, and he will be still more distressed to learn when he reads this correspondent's letter that the Marchioness felt the voyage long and wearisome. Moreover, the good folks in the Dominion would be grieved to learn that their climate agreed so badly with the Royal Princess, whom they had hardly a year ago welcomed among them with so much enthusiasm and affectionate loyalty. We are able, however, on the best information, to contradict all the statements we have just been quoting. So far from suffering from melancholia, Her Royal Highness, as everybody knows, has taken an active part in Canadian society since she arrived in the Dominion, and, so far from being homesick and having made up her mind to come to England for good and all, she has arranged to return in less than three months, leaving Liverpool for Quebec on the 22nd of January next by the Allan royal mail steamer Sarmatian—the same steamer in which she arrived in Liverpool the other day, and in which she had expressed a special desire to return to her home in Canada, with which, from all accounts, we learn Her Royal Highness is highly pleased. So far from the voyage—protracted though it was somewhat beyond the usual time on account of fog—being considered long and wearisome, Her Royal Highness enjoyed herself thoroughly, and freely conversed with many of the saloon passengers from day to day. It will thus be seen that there will be no occasion for the recall of Lord Lorne, and Canada, if it ever was afraid His Lordship was going to leave them so soon with his royal consort, will once more breathe freely.

THE CHINESE PROBLEM.

It is to be inferred from the tone of many prominent American journals, and notably those of the Pacific coast, that a disturbing element of no inconsiderable moment in American affairs of the immediate future, is the growing sentiment in opposition to unrestricted Chinese immigration.

While the evil—and it has grown to be one of a determined character—of an increasing Chinese population, is not in any appreciable degree apparent to dwellers in the more Eastern States or to Canadians, the people and press of California, in particular, entertain pronounced opinions on this point, and express such views without reservation. During the years of the gold excitement, when the process of gold winning was crude and undeveloped, and the labour necessarily severe, the influx of Chinese cheap labour was hailed with unmixed satisfaction, as a means of supplying a pressing demand. Had the Chinese consented to act as hewers of wood and drawers of water in limited numbers for time indefinite, all might have been well. But as the country progressed, and other opportunities presented, the Chinaman has been as prompt as his Caucasian brother to fill those positions, and that too, with an acceptability which gained him favour in his employer's eyes, while the mere pittance for which he labored, was something before which white competition, in those particular lines, was forced to succumb. A vegetarian from his birth, a born saver and hoarder, the Mongolian is able to live and thrive on what an American would cast aside as useless.

And now the cry has arisen, that this influx of Chinese has to be stopped, and that too, effectually. But just here the conflicting interests of a people as widely dispersed as those of our cousins across the border intervenes. By the treaty which the Americans have made with China, in return for the full commercial access to that country secured thereby, the Chinamen were left free to land in unlimited numbers on American soil, to spend their days—and nights too, for that matter—in labor and hoarding, and to return with their gains, to bury their bones with their fathers. On the other hand, it is contended by the Chinese that the Americans have shown a stern determination to avoid granting, while using to the fullest extent the privileges of the treaty, and have ill-treated the people who have come to their shores by express invitation of such international agreement. It is the people of the Eastern States who are to the largest extent commercially interested and just as long as the Chinaman does not intrude on their convenience, they are content to let the matter stand. But the bread-winners of the Pacific shores and holders of the majority of votes, ergo the rulers of the country—thanks to universal sufferage conferred on them—will not hear of anything that shall stop short of almost total extermination, or something very nearly approaching to it.

As bearing vitally on the case and pointing to a not improbable means, at least of modifying to some extent the evil complained of, the statements made on his arrival at San Francisco, a short time since by General Grant, are worthy of consideration. During his stay in China he had been the guest of one Li Hung Chang, a dignitary high up in the government of the Empire, a man of great and almost unlimited authority, more especially in regard to matters relating to the emigration of his countrymen to foreign lands. In effect, General Grant explained to him the views of the American people and the relations and complications likely to result from the dwelling together of people so dissimilar in their character, habits, and occupation. He gave him to understand how indispensible it was that its population should be all citizens, and the determined oppositions of Americans to admit the Chinese to such rights as they themselves enjoyed. So far as General Grant could express his wishes, he impressed upon the Viceroy the opinion that except for purposes of pleasure or commerce this emigration must be permanently stopped. The result of the interview was that Li Hung expressed himself as willing to arrest the tide of emigration without necessitating any revision of the Treaty. Upon a further consideration he announced that he would interdict any emigration for a period of five years, during which time further steps could be taken to finally close the matter. The port of Hong Kong is virtually a British port, under British authority, and from which point the greater number departed, General Grant did not doubt that as Victoria, in Australia, and other British Colonies had, by virtue of English law, suppressed Chinese immigration to themselves, no difficulty would be experienced in bringing influence to bear to have this point of departure closed against them.

THE QUEBEC CABINET.

Messrs. Chapleau and Loranger has been elected by acclamation, and there seems to be little fear as to the success of the four other members of the new Quebec Cabinet who are seeking re-election. It is very evident that the present Ministry is sustained by the people of the province.

THE ADVANCE IN SUGAR.

The Globe's Montreal correspondent of the 13th says:—

"It is said that Messrs. Redpath, sugar refiners, had some cargoes of raw sugar coming to Montreal, but that, hearing of the high prices offered in New York for raw sugar, the cargoes were diverted thither, and were sold at a very high rate—some say at an earning of nearly one hundred per cent upon cost."

And yet the Globe insists that the recent rise in the price of sugar is largely attributable to the N.P.

The report of the Harbor Commissioners for the past month shows a large increase in tonnage for the current year as compared with previous ones. The largest year for ocean tonnage was in 1874, when the number of vessels was 684, with a tonnage of 399,647, an average of 584 tons to each vessel. The tonnage this year has been 467,859, an increase of 68,208, or about 17 per cent., while the average size of the vessels has increased to 826 tons.

DEATH OF LADY GOOCH.

A Heart-broken Woman Who Loved Not Wisely But Too Well.

Lady Gooch, wife of Sir Francis Gooch, well known in connection with her attempt to palm off a spurious child on her husband, is dead. Thus ends the strange history which startled London a year ago. Lady Gooch has not died unpitied. Ever since the December morning when the Recorder of London said that the law did not care to deal with her offence and the Grand Jury refused to find a true bill against her, public opinion has been veering in her favor, and, while it could not justify, has yet declined to condemn. English society has come to believe that she was more sinned against than sinning. To the foreigner, the case was mainly interesting for the light it threw on the decadence of a very old English family. The Gooches were not ennobled, but for centuries they had been lords of Suffolk domain. They had given judges to to the bench, generals to the army and bishops to the church. Their founder had in 1727 been created Lieutenant-Governor of Virginia, and it is said of him that neither inhabitants nor merchants ever complained of his administration. Sir Francis, the eighth Baronet, succeeded to the title and estates when he was barely of age. His brother had suddenly died, leaving a young widow, and from the position of a penniless younger son he became at a bound, owner of Benacre Hall and a magnificent rent-roll. His first step was to marry Miss Annie Sutherland, to whom he had for a year been engaged. She was a country squire's daughter, pretty and lovable. For a while all was happiness. Sir Francis bought his younger brother a commission, took his sisters and mother to live at the Hall, and in the summer of 1873 Lady Gooch gave birth to a son. On the same day Lady Eleanor, the dowager, married again. Then the heir died, and the new-found happiness gradually melted away. The young baronet, believing that no other heir could be born to him, estranged himself from his wife. "Somehow or other," said her advocate at the trial, "her husband's love was gone—gone with the little child that was then laid in its grave." She became possessed of one idea. Night and day she cherished one dream. If she had another child to take to him—another child whom she could persuade him was his own—then she might win back the love that was lost. Sir Francis went off for months on yachting expeditions; his sisters are married; Lady Eleanor, who was now once more regarded as his heiress, treated her with undisguised bitterness, and she was left alone in the Hall with a certain Miss Garrod, an elderly companion, not unlike Miss Briggs, in "Vanity Fair." In the morbid mood thus engendered she formed the idea of getting a child from the Foundling Hospital. She made little secret of her intention. She asked the aid of the meek Miss Garrod, of the hospital matrons, of various doctors at various seaside resorts, and when they all refused, hired the services of a compassionate nurse, who conveyed the baby at night into the Grosvenor Hotel. Next morning the deception was discovered, and her husband, burning to avenge his wounded family honor and vindicate the claims of Lady Eleanor, summoned his half crazy wife into a police court. Everybody will remember the rest. The magistrate, feeling that his court was not a tribunal for the adjustment of private rights, sent the case for trial, and the Grand Jury as expeditiously threw it out. But Lady Gooch's life was ruined beyond redemption, and in dying she has made the only expiation in her power.

The Hum of Industry.

The Guelph Herald says:—"If any of our Grit friends are anxious to see the hum, we would suggest that they should pay a visit to Acton, and drop into the glove factory of W. H. Storey. Last year the factory was idle about half the time, and was not driven to death during the rest of the time. Now it is working till ten o'clock, and can't nearly supply the market. One hundred and two hands are constantly employed, and more are on their way from the States. The new tariff, combined with the superiority of the Acton gloves, have completely driven the English and Yankee gloves out of the market. Nor have the prices of the goods been increased. All who have seen the gloves manufactured at this factory acknowledge that the home manufactured article is in all respects superior to the imported.

NEW TELEGRAPHIC UNION.

Another Company Seeking to Procure Incorporation.

Montreal, Nov. 13.—This is the notice which surprised many business men upon taking up this morning's newspapers:—

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the Parliament of Canada at its next session for an Act to incorporate the new Telegraph Union and to confer upon said Company, as created and constituted, corporate rights, with power to build lines and to carry on the business of telegraphing in Canada and elsewhere at the specific rate of one cent per word; and further, to confer upon said Company power to amalgamate with any other Company or Companies if thought necessary or desirable, provided the tariff or rate be not increased. Carter, Church, Chapleau, Carter, & [illegible], Solicitors for Applicants.

Montreal, 11th Nov., 1879.

Previously not a rumor had been heard about the concern, if concern it is, and the whole affair was looked upon as a stock-jobbing attempt to bulldoze holders of telegraph stock. Mr. Dakers, of the Montreal Telegraph Company, said:—

"[illegible] stock-jobbing operation. They have revealed that in their application to send messages at not more than one cent a word. A message of four words, deducting two cents for delivery, would allow them only two cents."

Mr. Dakers was evidently firm in the conviction that the advertisement was some broker's dodge. Mr. Graham, the local manager, was of the same opinion; but on the street many believed the the application was a bona fide one, chiefly it would appear from the fact that Messrs. Carter, Church, & Co. would not lend their name to any stock-jobbing scheme. It was stated, however, in one usually well-informed quarter that the company was being organized by Americans, and the line here would be eventually controlled by the American Rapid Telegraph Company, which is composed of a number of Boston capitalists, and possessors of the "Machine Telegraph Patent," which it is said can send four messages each way over a wire at the same time—the greatest capacity obtained by the companies here being under the Duplex patent one message each way.

The Rapid Telegraph Company holds out the inducement to merchants, reporters, and others that their system of preparing messages for the machine telegraphy can be learned in 24 hours by an intelligent clerk, and that a liberal discount will be allowed any firm willing to allow their clerks to learn this method. They are to have news bureaus at the service of newspaper editors and special correspondents, at which special correspondents can compile just such news as their newspapers require, including the Congressional speeches verbatim; also facilities for sending the special reporters' compilation for 10 cents a hundred words, transmitted at the rate of one thousand words a minute.

If this American Union Company is a 'feller' of the Rapid Company thrown out to catch this part of the continent, then there is to be a revolution in telegraphy and newspaper reporting. Perhaps they are promising a trifle to much. At any rate there seems to be something in this Rapid Telegraph Company. They are gobbling up all the best talent they can get in telegraphic circles, and friends of the movement point to one significant story, which I give for what it is worth. It runs that the Western Union had been invited to take part in the new system, and the Company, for the purpose of finding what there was in the concern, sent one of their best electricians, Mr. Gerritt Smith, to see what there was in the thing. What report he made is unknown, but the Western Union dropped the scheme. Not so did Mr. Gerritt Smith. He resigned his post on the Western Union and accepted a position on the new line, which already has a wire between New York and Boston. Should the new company wish to do business in Canada they will have to erect an independent line, which they claim they can do at the rate of 100 miles a day.

As to the stock-jobbing phase of the case, I learn from Messrs. Carter & Church that their clients are in earnest. Mr. Carter indignantly repelled the insinuation that his firm would lend itself to any stock-jobbing business, remarking, "Our clients in this matter are gentlemen of wealth and influence, and those who speak of stock-jobbing will soon learn the contrary." He would not, however, give further information at present without the authority of his clients.

There is much speculation on the street in regard to this matter, and many look to see a decline in telegraphic stock before the end of the week.—Cor. Globe.

To Bit a Colt.

The true way to bit a colt is not to bit him at all; that is, let him bit himself. When my colts are one year old, I begin to teach them to hold a bit in their mouth. The bit is of pine, some half inch in diamiter and five in length. This piece of soft wood is held in the mouth by a cord tied to either end and passed over the head back of the ears. The colt loves to have this in his mouth, because it enables him to bring forward the teeth process. He will bite it, and work it over in his mouth and enjoy it hugely. He will welcome it, and will actually reach out and open his mouth for it, as a trained horse will for a bit. After a few days you can tie strings, making miniture reins, to this bit, and teach the colt the proper use of it. When this is done, he is ready for the regular steel bit. Put your bridle on with a leather bit, large and pliant; throw your checkline, if your bridle has one attached into the pigsty; get into your waggon and drive off. This is all the "bitting" a colt needs. Treated in this way he will have a lively, yielding, sensitive mouth. He will take the bit bravely when working up to his speed, but yielding readily to his drivers will. A horse bitted in this sensitive way can be driven a forty clip with the lines held in one hand, or be lifted over a five-barred gate with the strength of a single wrist. If you do not believe it try it and see.—From W. H. H. Murray's "Perfect Horse."

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head.

OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhœa, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit, before retiring. The weapon is Scott & Bowne's Emulsion of Palatable Castor Oil. Price 25 cents. d166-w46-1m

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

REGULATIONS

RESPECTING THE DISPOSAL OF CERTAIN

PUBLIC LANDS

FOR THE PURPOSES OF THE

Canadian Pacific Railway

Department of the Interior,
Ottawa, Oct. 14, 1879.

Public notice is hereby given that the following provisions, which shall be held to apply to the lands in the Province of Manitoba, and in the territories to the west and north-west thereof, are substituted for the Regulations, dated the 9th July last, governing the mode of disposing of the Public Lands situate within 110 (one hundred and ten) miles on each side of the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which said Regulations are hereby superseded:—

1. "Until further and final survey of the said railway has been made west of the Red River, and for the purposes of these provisions, the line of the said railway shall be assumed to be on the fourth base westerly to the intersection of the said base by the line between ranges 21 and 22 west of the first principle meridian, and thence in a direct line to the confluence of the Shell River with the River Assiniboine.

2. "The country lying on each side of the line of railway shall be respectively divided into belts, as follows:—

"(1) A belt of five miles on either side of the railway, and immediately adjoining the same, to be called Belt A;

"(2) A belt of fifteen miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt A, to be called Belt B;

"(3) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt B, to be called Belt C;

"(4) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt C, to be called Belt D; and

"(5) A belt of fifty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt D, to be called belt E.

3. "The even-numbered sections in each township throughout the several belts above described shall be open for entry as homesteads and pre-emptions of 160 acres each respectively.

4. "The odd-numbered sections in each of such Townships shall not be open to homestead or pre-emption, but shall be specially reserved and designated as Railway Lands.

5. "The Railway Lands within the several belts shall be sold at the following rates, viz:—In Belt A, $5 (five dollars) per acre; in Belt B, $4 (four dollars) per acre; in Belt C, $3 (three dollars) per acre; in Belt D, $2 (two dollars) per acre; in Belt E, $1 (one dollar) per acre; and the terms of sale of such lands shall be as follows, viz:—One-tenth in cash at the time of purchase; the balance in nine equal instalments, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum on the balance of purchase money from time to time remaining unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

6. "The Pre-emption Lands within the several belts shall be sold for the prices and on the terms respectively as follows:—In the Belts A, B and C, at $2.50 (two dollars and fifty cents) per acre; in Belt D, at $2 (two dollars) per acre; and in Belt E, at $1 (one dollar) per acre. The terms of payment to be four-tenths of the purchase money, together with interest on the latter at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, to be paid at the end of three years from the date of entry; the remainder to be paid in six equal instalments annually from and after the said date, with interest at the rate above mentioned on such portions of the purchase money as may remain unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

7. "All payments for Railway Lands, and also for Pre-emption Lands, within the several Belts, shall be in cash, and not in scrip or military or police bounty warrants.

8. "All moneys received in payment of Pre-emption Lands shall inure to and form part of the fund for railway purposes, in a similar manner to the moneys received in payment of the Railway Lands.

9. "These provisions shall be retroactive so far as relates to any and all entries of Homestead and Pre-emption Lands, or sales of Railway Lands obtained or made under the Regulations of the 9th of July, hereby superseded; any payments made in excess of the rate hereby fixed shall be credited on account of sales of such lands.

10. The Order-in-Council of the 9th of November, 1877 relating to the settlement of the lands in Manitoba which had been previously withdrawn for Railway purposes, having been cancelled, all claims of persons who settled in good faith on lands under the said Order-in-Council shall be dealt with under these provisions, as to price of Pre-emptions, according to the belt in which such lands may be situate. Where a person may have taken up two quarter-sections under the said Order-in-Council, he may retain the quarter-section upon which he has settled, has a Homestead, and the other quarter-section as a Pre-emption, under these provisions, irrespective of whether such Homestead and Pre-emption may be found to be upon an even-numbered section or otherwise. Any moneys paid by such person on account of the lands entered by him under the said Order-in-Council, will be credited to him on account of his Pre-emption purchase, under these provisions. A person who may have taken up one quarter-section under the Order-in-Council mentioned will be allowed to retain the same as a Homestead, and will be permitted to enter a second quarter-section as a Pre-emption, the money paid on account of the land previously entered to be credited to him on account of such Pre-emption.

11. "All entries of lands shall be subject to the following provisions respecting the right of way of the Canadian Pacific Railway, or of any Government colonization railway connected therewith, viz:

a "In the case of the railway crossing land entered as a Homestead, the right of way thereon, and also any land which may be required for station purposes, shall be free to the Government.

b "Where the railway crosses Pre-emptions or railway Lands, entered subsequent to the date hereof, the Government may take possession of such portion thereof as may be required for right of way or for station grounds or ballast pits, and the owner shall only be entitled to claim payment for the land so taken, at the same rate per acre as he may have paid the Government for the same.

c "In case, on the final location of the railway through lands unsurveyed, or surveyed but not entered for at the time, a person is found in occupation of land which it may be desirable in the public interest to retain, the Government reserves the right to take possession of such land, paying the squatter the value of any improvements he may have made thereon.

12. "Claims to Public Lands arising from settlement after the date hereof, in territory unsurveyed at the time of such settlement, and which may be embraced within the limits affected by the above policy, or by the extension thereof in the future over additional territory, will be ultimately dealt with in accordance with the terms prescribed above for the lands in the particular belt in which such settlement may be found to be situate, subject to the operations of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

13. "All entries after the date hereof of unoccupied lands in the Saskatchewan Agency, will be considered as provisional until the railway line through that part of the territories has been located, after which the same will be finally disposed of in accordance with these provisions, as the same may apply to the particular belt in which such lands may be found to be situated, subject, as above, to the operation of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

14. "With a view to encouraging settlement by cheapening the cost of building material, the Government reserves the right to grant licenses, renewable yearly, under Section 52 of the 'Dominion Lands Act, 1879,' to cut merchantable timber on any lands situated within the several belts above described, and any settlement upon, or sale of lands within, the territory covered by such licenses, shall for the time being be subject to the operation of such licenses.

15. "The above provisions, it will, of course, be understood will not affect sections 11 and 29, which are public school lands, or sections 8 and 26, Hudson's Bay Company's lands.

"Any further information necessary may be obtained on application at the Dominion Lands Office, Ottawa, or from the agent of Dominion Lands, Winnipeg, or from any of the local agents in Manitoba or the Territories.

By order of the Minister of the Interior,

J. S. DENNIS,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

Surveyor General. 1d169-3mw

OLD SONGS.

You wonder that my tears should flow
  In listening to that simple strain;
That those unskilled sounds should fill
  My soul with joy and pain—
How can you tell what thoughts it stirs
  Within my heart again!

You wonder why that common phrase,
  So all unmeaning to your ear,
Should stay me in my merriest mood,
  And thrill my soul to hear—
How can you tell what ancient charm
  Has made me hold it dear?

You smile to see me turn and speak
  With one whose converse you despise.
You need not see the dreams of old
  That with his voice arise—
How can you tell what links have made
  [illegible]

Oh, these are voices of the past,
  Links of broken chain
Wings that can bear me back to times
  Which cannot come again;
Yet God forbid that I should lose
  The echoes that remain!

CAMPBELLFORD.

DEER HUNTING.—The Herald says:—Messrs. Adam Dinwoodie, of this village, Jasper Locke, jr., of Seymour, and White, of Belmont, went out "still" hunting, for deer, north of Marmora, last week, and were fortunate enough in the capture of five deer. Mr. Dinwoodie shot three of the creatures, while his two companions brought down one each. The party were away three days. They report hunters plentiful in the section they traversed.

PORT HOPE.

THE MUSIC HALL.—The Guide says:—The dilapidated state of the roof of this building is disgraceful. The hall is bad enough in all conscience, at its best, but with the water pouring down upon the stage and floor in streams that would turn good sized mills, it is simply unbearable.

THE HARBOUR.—On Wednesday evening the schooner Cavalier came in while it was blowing hard, and striking the end of the pier did some damage. A large number of vessels arrived the same day.

NORWOOD.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—The following officers have been elected for the ensuing year, viz:—Dr. Ford, President; T. M. Grover, 1st Vice-President; Dr. Patterson, 2nd Vice-President; W. E. Roxburgh, Secretary; W. H. Stephenson, Treasurer; R. Stewart, Librarian; Jas. Calder, Auditor. Directors—C. Clark, J. B. Pearce, Thos. Burke, P. M. Grover, H. B. Houghton, S. H. Dewart, Colin Fraser, W. H. Mullins, J. Finlay.

FOOT BALL.—On Thursday afternoon last a very spirited game of foot-ball was played here between an eleven of the High School and eleven villagers. The former had the first kick, to use plain language, which was followed by some vigorous kicking for some time by both sides. Each kick of course was accompanied by a volume of snow from a well developed foot, and generally found its way into the faces of the contestants, which, together with the frequent immersions of some of the party in the snow by a well-tendered trip or push from a wily opponent, caused considerable merriment to the spectators, but much discomfort to the players. The almost constant practice of the school eleven gave them a decided advantage over their opponents, but, the villagers proved a formidable team, causing the ball more frequently to hug the goal of their opponents, and so well did the villagers maintain the hard fought contests, that it required the utmost vigilance and a stout defence on the part of the school team to keep the ball out of their gaol. Two games were played, and were both won by the school team, each game occupying about fifty minutes.—Register.

DUMMER.

CHURCH IMPROVEMENT.—We learn from the Norwood Register that the congregation of the Methodist Church, South Dummer, have just completed extensive repairs to their church in the way of painting, &c., carpeting the ministers platform, matting the aisles, remodelling the pulpit and otherwise improving the church. The work was done under the personal supervision of Mr. John Knox, assisted by Messrs. M. Knox, J. N. Paget, Jas. Stevenson, Wm. Spence, John Scott, Jos. Jury, J. Parker and H. Ferguson.

SCHOOL SECTION No. 1.—Honor roll of School No. 1, Dummer, for October. Fourth Class, senior.—1st, Mary Johnson; 2nd, G. W. Rose; 3rd, Thomas Hawthorne. Fourth Class, junior.—1st, Christina Roland; 2nd, Sarah McDonald; 3rd, W. J. White. Third Class.—1st, Annie White; 2nd, Rose Kidd; 3rd, Patrick Welsh. First Class, junior.—1st, Frank Parker; 2nd, Walter Kidd; 3rd, Ada Kidd; 4th, Evaline Johnson; 5th, Annie Kidd.

SOUTH DUMMER SCHOOL.—Honor Roll of South Dummer School for the month of October. Fourth Class.—1st, R. Spence; 2nd, H. McMillen; 3rd, M. Scott; 4th, W. Spence. Third Class.—1st, Nina Spence; 2nd, Jane McMaster; 3rd, Andrew Knox; 4th, Maggie McMillen. Second Class.—1st, H. McMaster; 2nd, Lizzie Paget; 3rd, Jas. Webster; 4th, Wm. Lennox. First Book, 2nd part.—Ellie Webster; 2nd, Edith Stevenson; 3rd, Harry Andrews; 4th, Ettie McMaster. Junior Class.—1st, Edna McMaster; 2nd, Jane Paget. First part.—1st, Maud Kelly; 2nd, Mary Kelly; 3rd, Robert Webster; 4th, Frederick Lennox.

DEER KILLING EXTRAORDINARY.—The Register says Mr. D. Wigmore, of Dummer, captured a deer under peculiar and exciting circumstances. While on the runway of these animals, a fine buck passed in close proximity to him, Mr. Wigmore dexteriously jumped on its back, and carried him into Mr. Buck's mill pond, Dummer township, when he drew a hunter's knife and put an end to his buckship's usefulness except as venison.

A LECTURER'S TEST.

They were complimenting Francois Arago once upon a time upon a scientific lecture which he had delivered, but the remark was made that he had elaborated his explanations almost to prolixity.

"Oh, yes, I know," replied Arago, "but that isn't surprising. You see when I am lecturing I always make a point of selecting the stupidest looking man in the audience and lecturing at him, explaining and reexplaining till I see that he understands me. Now, to-day the man I lectured at was the stup"——

Enter a gentleman, who rushes up to the astronomer and shakes his hand warmly.

"My dear M. Arago, what a splendid lecture yours was to-day—not a word of it that a child could not understand. You saw how interested I was, I hope, because I noticed you were looking over in my direction from first to last."

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

The Reverend Father Mooney, of St. Bridget's Church in New York, late Chaplain of the 69th Regiment, N. Y., knows Dr. Giles intimately, he having served with him during the war and he advises all the afflicted to use Dr. Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1879.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

Peterborough Club.

The annual general meeting of the Peterborough Club for the election of officers and other business, will take place this evening.

Military Dinner.

The officers of the 57th and of the Peterborough Troop entertained Col. Von Straubenzie, Deputy Adjutant-General, and Col. Worsley, Brigade-Major, at dinner yesterday evening.

A Suggestion.

It is suggested that iron gates be put up at the openings of the passage way to the Opera House hall and town offices. The nuisance that is created nightly, would then be abated, and the place kept clean.

Thunder Shower.

A heavy shower of rain passed over Peterborough at noon to-day, accompanied with thunder. The streets were in many places flooded. The sewer openings at the corner of George and Hunter Streets filled up and the water overflowed to the openings further south.

Town Finances.

We learn that some of the Town Councillors are investigating the Treasurer's books with the view of finding out the truth about some alleged irregularities as to the payment of taxes. It would not be right at present to publish further particulars.

The Market.

The makret has been a flat one to-day. Some few parcels of wheat, several loads of hay, and a few kegs of butter were offered with no change to note. The continued wet weather and muddy roads interfere with the product of the farm being brought in. The weather is too warm for the hog trade.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: Fresh to brisk winds, mostly southerly to easterly; partly cloudy to cloudy, continued mild weather with rain areas; partly cloudy to cloudy mild weather, and rain showers with thunder. Wind southerly.

New Street Crossings.

Street Inspector Johnson has had a new crossing put down on the north side of Hunter Street at George Street. This is an improvement. It is to be hoped he will next attack the Brock Street crossing. It is almost impossible for ladies to reach the post-office with any comfort on a rainy day, on account of the mud.

Not Shut Down.

The report that Dickson's mills had shut down is not correct. They are running full time, and from present appearances will continue until the weather freezes them up. Mr. Hazlitt has been making some important improvements to the mills and machinery, and they are cutting all kinds of lumber and square timber. He has a large lot of logs on hand yet to be cut.

The 57th Peterborough Foresters.

The officers of the Peterborough and Ashburnham companies who wished to take their first or second class certificates, underwent their written examination for eight hours yesterday. The examining board were Colonel Von Straubenzie, Deputy Adjutant General; Colonel Worsley, Brigade Major; and Col. J. Z. Rogers, of the 57th Battalion.

Bank Changes.

There are to be several changes in the banks at Peterborough, among them, we learn that Mr. A. D. Braithwaite, of the Bank of Montreal, goes to the head office at Montreal. Messrs. R. R. Rogers and G. S. Cotter, of the Bank of Toronto, go to Barrie. Mr. Rudden, of Quebec, comes to the Bank of Montreal, and Mr. A. W Gamble, of Port Hope, comes back to the Bank of Toronto here.

A Dangerous Place.

George Street, at Spaulding's Bay, is in a dangerous condition. The late fire which destroyed Brown's shingle mill, also damaged much of the cribwork and the sidewalk, which has since been in a deplorable condition. Many complaints have been made, but the Street Inspector has no power to act in the matter. He will make application to the Council at the next meeting for instructions, when it is hoped something will be done. The spot complained of is almost impassable, and on a dark night is absolutely dangerous.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

COURT INTRIGUES.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A St. Petersburg despatch says the announcement of Gortschakoff's retirement caused no surprise. But for German intrigue against him he would have retired sooner. Schouvaloff does not seem to have any chance to succeed Gortschokoff, as he is believed be in complete disfavor owing to reports of a personage whose influence over the Czar is [illegible] palace intrigues nearly as common in Russia as at Constantinople. Stories of female enemies at the Russian court overthrowing Schouvaloff are freely circulated.

SAVING A CREW.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The crew of the British barque Royal Arch, from Liverpool for Halifax, before reported abandoned at sea, were brought to Liverpool by a steamer from Boston, which sighted the Royal Arch on the 2nd instant off Nova Scotia. The crew reported the vessel leaky. They had been at the pumps for several days, but the pumps choked. One man was washed overboard. The steamer sent a boat to take off the crew. The weather was so rough that the men were compelled to jump into the sea and were hauled into the boat by a line.

THE OBSTINATE BOERS.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A despatch received by way of Madeira, dated Cape Town, Oct. 28, brings intelligence of increasing ill-feeling between the Dutch habitans of Transvaal and the English settlers and authorities. The Boers at Patchef Broom are defiant, and make no concealment of their intention to resist British authority at any cost. Commandant Raff has left Middleburg, fearing assassination. The Boers in that locality have congregated in an extensive and strongly prepared laager, and are preparing for an obstinate and determined resistance. Among them are the authors of the recent raids which have been made upon the Government gunpowder stores, which were plundered and robbed of their contents, and the Boers are determined to prevent these men being brought to trial. Chief Morisei refuses to submit to the British, and Sir Garnet Wolseley has ordered preparations for an attack to be made upon him and his tribe.

THE ZULU SETTLEMENT.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A despatch from Capetown says the Cape Ministry disapprove of Sir Garnet Wolseley's settlement of Zululand.

THE SOUTH AMERICAN WAR.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The war news from South America grows in interest. A despatch from Valparaiso states that the plan of the campaign adopted by the Government of Chili was first to attack and capture Pisaqua, and then to march in strong force Iquique, and to begin a vigorous bombardment of Callao. As already mentioned in these despatches later intelligence is to the effect that the news of the capture of Iquique is probably already en route, time enough having elapsed since the departure of the Chilian army to justify the expectation that the expected engagement has taken place.

THE TURCO-GREEK COMMISSION.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—At the next sitting of the Turco-Greek Commission, the Ottoman Commissioner will present a certificate from several eminent French engineers to the effect that the line of frontier proposed by the Greek Commissioners is 9,000 metres in advance of the northern frontier indicated by the Treaty of Berlin. The Porte will not propose any other line, but will offer to discuss point by point the frontier indicated by the Treaty of Berlin.

RUSSIAN TURCOMAN EXPEDITION.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 13.—In consequence of the disastrous result of the Turcoman expedition, it is considered in military circles that if a modus vivendi can be arranged with England, it would be better to leave the Tekkes in possession of their steppes, and instead of attempting to subjugate them, establish a line of fortified Cossack posts along the eastern shores of the Caspian.

THE TURKISH REVENUES.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The plan now being discussed in the Turkish Cabinet for farming out the revenue of the Government, is assuming a definite shape, and its details will soon be made public.

APATHY OF THE PORTE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13.—Apparent apathy on the part of the Porte in undertaking reforms in Asia Minor causes a feeling of embarrassment. The ten days' respite having failed to arouse the Sultan, the next move of the British Cabinet is anxiously awaited, and the general opinion prevails that it will be absolutely necessary for the British Government to insist upon an immediate change in the present official affairs at Constantinople.

DISMISSED OR RESIGNED.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The French Government has removed Marshal Canrobert from the Presidency of the Commission for the promotion of officers in the army. The reasons for this step have not been made public, although the current theory is that the Marshal has been suspected of favouritism in the exercise of his functions. A Paris despatch says that the France denies the report of Marshal Canrobert's dismissal. Le Soir says the Marshal sent in his resignation voluntarily. General Aymard, Governor of Paris, succeeds Marshal Canrobert as President of the Commission for the promotion of officers in the French Army.

A RESIDENT FOR ZULULAND.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Mr. William St. John Wheelhouse, Q.C., of Leeds, has been appointed British Resident in Zululand, at a salary of £2,000 a year. It is believed by the Ministry that in the present disorganized condition of affairs in South Africa, a special representative of England's interest in Zululand will be of great advantage in quieting the tendency to local conspiracy and outbreaks, by giving the Zulus accurate and official information as to the feeling and purposes of the Government towards them, and preventing the circulation of false and exaggerated reports. Mr. Wheelhouse is said to be in every way fitted for his difficult and responsible position. This is declared in Radical circles to be only the first step towards the ultimate annexation of the country, and the complete military subjugation of its inhabitants. Mr. Wheelhouse is a pronounced Conservative of the Lord Beaconsfield stripe.

AN EXPLANATION ASKED.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13.—The Porte asked Minister Layard to explain the approaching movement of the British Channel squadron to Turkish waters. At a recent interview the Sultan told Sir Austin Layard his Ministers had submitted to him a proposition for the immediate introduction of reforms in the administration of Turkish affairs, but his authority over his subjects would suffer if he appeared to act under pressure from the British Government. Sir Austin promised to communicate the objection of the Sultan to Lord Salisbury. Under these circumstances the order to Admiral Hornby to sail eastward is declared at the Porte to be inexplicable.

GERMANY RETALIATES ON RUSSIA.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The German authorities have prohibited Russian steamboat traffic on the Prussian section of the river Niemen, as retaliation for a similar prohibition by the Russians on their portion of the river.

THE ANTI-RENT AGITATION.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Irish farmers associated with the anti-rent agitation have in many cases resorted to violent measures against those who have declined to join them, and who still continue peaceful and pay their rent without dispute. In several instances the barns of the latter have been set on fire, and their lives threatened. The more prominent landlords are recognizing the difficult position occupied by their tenantry, and among the number the [illegible] this country [illegible] per cent. for the present, and it is believed a satisfactory adjustment of the Irish land question is now near at hand, and that the Government is more ready than before to co-operate with the landlords and Irish members of Parliament to secure this result.

AMERICAN.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Mattie Potts, who recently walked from Philadelphia to New Orleans and returned, attempted suicide last night by placing her head upon the Railway track. Letters were found upon her addressed to several papers stating that poverty and the failure to find employment led to the act.

A RIGHTEOUS VERDICT.

BALTIMORE, M. D., Nov. 13.—In January 1878 Wm. Aaker & Bro's. fruit store was burned The insurance companies charged them with arson and refused to pay the policies when a suit was brought against the companies. A verdict has just been rendered against the Allemania Company of Pittsburg for $1,100, the Germania Company of Newark for $559, the Citizens Co., Missouri, for $1,100, and the Standard of New York for $554. The policies sued on aggregate $15,000. Judge Bond thanked the jury for their righteous verdict.

LIGHT BY ELECTRICITY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A new electric lamp is now being exhibited in this city. The electricity is generated by a small dynamo-electric machine. A pencil of carbon, which is heated to incandescence, is hermetically sealed in a glass tube, containing a nitrogen pencil 8 inches long, and it is claimed the pencil will burn three hours a day for a year and a half. It costs two cents.

A PROPOSED WORLD'S FAIR.

A meeting of the World's Fair Committee was held this evening at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. The Committee on Sites reported in favour of the three following sites :—First, Manhattan Square, between 77th and 81st streets and 8th and 9th avenues; second, east side lands in Brooklyn, directly east of and adjoining Prospect Park; third, Long Meadow, in Prospect Park. The Committee on legislation were requested to embrace in the bill to be presented to Congress, authorizing the holding of the world's fair in the year 1883, the fact that this fair is proposed to be held in celebration of the Declaration of Peace between this country and Great Britain. After several members of the Committee had addressed the meeting it was agreed that a public meeting be held next month to further the interests of the fair.

FUTURE OF THE GREEKS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The Consul at Jerusalem reports that Government affairs in Palestine are disorganized. The Lord Chief Justice of Cyprus said, recently, that Constantinople must go to the Greeks, or it will fall into the hands of Russia. It has not been given to the Greeks, because of the jealousy of the European powers and the incapacity of the Greeks for so great a trust.

GEN. GRANT'S TOUR.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Grant this morning accepted from Col. Scott the hospitalities of the Pennsylvania Railway, leaving here about the 20th. He will return to Galena and rest three weeks, then come to Chicago and leave on Dec. 9th for Indianapolis, where he will be tendered a reception by the State Soldier's reunion. Thence he goes to Louisville for one day, to Cincinnati for 2 days, and to Columbus, Pittsburg, Philadelphia and New York, wintering in the south, possibly in Havana.

SWIMMING MATCH.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 13.—Boyton responds favourably to Webb's challenges, and proposes a swimming race here or at New York, about the 25th inst., for $1,000 a side.

MURDERED BY BURGLARS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—A horrible murder was committed by burglars about four o'clock this morning. The victim was Joseph Hensley, aged thirty years, clerk in a Boston store, who with his wife and several brothers lived on Dekalb street. The murderers had entered the house for the purpose of robbery. Hensley, on being awakened, went to the top of the stairs and was shot through the abdomen. He then sprang to the foot of the stairs and grappled with the nearest man. A struggle followed, during which he received two more shots, one near the heart. Previous to this the same gang, it is presumed, entered a residence on Leavitt street, but were frightened away, carrying with them but little booty.

COBOURG.

BROKEN LEG.—The World says:—On Wednesday morning, as a young son of Mr. John Keown was playing with a companion on the platform of the market building, he was pushed off by his playmate, and fell upon the ground. As the distance was only a little over a foot, no harm could be expected to result from such an accident. On lifting the prostrate boy, however, it was found that he had sustained a fracture of the leg bone.

HIAWATHA.

THE Indian Band have presented to Mrs. and Miss Andrews, the widow and daughter of the late Rev. Wm. Andrews, a bible and a purse of money, on the occasion of their departure. Chief Paudash made the presentation. The bible bore the following inscription :—"Presented by the Indian Band, Hiawatha, in memory of the late Rev. Wm. Andrews to his bereaved wife and daughter. Hiawatha, November 4th, 1879."

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would have unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable.

Stop that Cough.

HAGYARD'S PECTORAL BALSAM is composed of the most healing balsams and gums. The balsams, which enter into its composition, were used by natives when America was first discovered, and are combined with other vegetable tonics, so blended together, that it is a specific for all affections of the throat and lungs. Thousands of bottles are used annually, and it is considered one of the standard preparations of the day. For Coughs, Colds, etc. For sale by all dealers at 25cts. per bottle.

Welland Canal Enlargement.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Welland Canal," will be received at this office until the arrival of the Eastern and Western mails on FRIDAY the 14th DAY OF NOVEMBER next, for the deepening and completion of that part of the Welland Canal, between Ramey's Bend and Port Colborne, known as Sections Nos. 33 and 34, embracing the greater part of what is called the "Rock Cut."

Plans showing the position of the work, and specifications for what remains to be done, can be seen at this office, and at the Resident Engineer's Office, Welland on and after TUESDAY the 4th DAY OF NOVEMBER next, where printed forms of tender can be obtained.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and in the case of firms, except there are attached the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the same; and further, an accepted Bank cheque for the sum of three thousand dollars for Section No. 33, and one for four thousand dollars for Section No. 34, must accompany the respective Tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works, at the rates stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque or money thus sent in will be returned to the respective contractors whose Tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfillment of the contract, satisfactory security will be required by the deposit of money to the amount of five per cent. on the bulk sum of the contract; of which the sum sent in with the Tender will be considered a part.

Ninety per cent. only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the work.

To each Tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the Contract.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

F. BRAUN,
Secretary

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1879.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS

THE inducements held out by all newspapers for new subscribers should be based upon the fact that the larger the circulation the less the cost of each paper, as the cost of editorial labor and composition is the same, whether a large or small number is printed. And as it is only fair that those who have stood by us in the past, through good and evil report, should reap a share of the benefit of an increased circulation we have determined to make them the following offers:—

With regard to the

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Any person now, and for the last twelve months a subscriber to the WEEKLY REVIEW, who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now or for the last twelve months a subscriber to it, will have the TWO sent to separate addresses for $2.50! Or if accompanied with the names of two other such such persons may have the THREE sent to separate addresses for $3.00!

With regard to the

DAILY REVIEW.

Any person now a subscriber to the DAILY EVENING REVIEW who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now on our subscription list, may have the TWO delivered or sent to separate addresses for six months for $3.50, or for twelve months for $6.00!

COOKERY.—Miss Dodds, of South Kensington, London, England, on Monday commenced a series of 24 lectures on cookery. The outcome of the lectures will probably be the establishment of a permanent school of cookery.

MONTREAL.

Special to the Review, Nov. 15.

A RASH LOAN.—In the case of the City and District Savings Bank vs. the ex-Directors of the City Passenger Co., Mr. Barbeau, the Manager of the Bank, stated in reply to defendant's counsel that the Bank advanced $160,000 to the then President, Henry Judah, Vice-President, Sir Francis Hincks, and two Directors, Henry Starnes and Henry Mulholland, on Western Union Telegraph stock as security, at the current price of the day, without any margin.

THE AFGHAN REVOLT.

ANOTHER RUSSIAN DEFEAT.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A Cabul despatch says it is rumoured a combined Russian and Persian force has been defeated by Turcomans near Sirako. An expedition to Kohistan is contemplated. It is considered likely large quantities of arms belonging to the Ameer are accumulated there, and the revenue has not been called for a long time.

DEFEAT OF A TRIBE OF AFGHANS.

A Simla despatch says a body of Safis, numbering 1,000 who attacked a foraging party of 67th Regiment, were routed by Gen. McPherson at the junction of the Panchee and Cabul rivers. The enemy suffered great loss, and were pursued six miles. The British loss was four killed and five wounded.

YAKOOB KHAN'S TREACHERY.

A despatch from Simla says evidence of Yakoob Khan's complicity in the massacre at Cabul is accumulating.

By Telegraph to the Review.

THE AMEER'S COMPLICITY.

CABUL, Nov. 15.—It is believed that the Ameer and his adherents intended the attack on Cavagnari simply to lead him to report his position in Cabul to be untenable, but Massacres went beyond the control and they then acted on the principle that "dead men tell no tales."

OTTAWA.

TIMBER LIMITS.—Warren Brown, of New York, has succeeded in buying a couple of limits on the St. Maurice River, in the Province of Quebec, from a local firm. This is the second American firm which has, within the last month, purchased valuable limits.

Death of Prince Alamyan.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A despatch from Leeds states that Prince Alamyan, the young Abyssinian Prince and son of King Theodore, who was brought to England to be educated, after the death of his father, and surrender of his army at Magdala on the 13th April, 1868, is dead. Prince Alamyan was a ward of Lord Napier, who commanded the British forces at Magdala, and who on arriving in England with the boy, then about 13 years old, placed him at Woolwich, where he passed through a thorough, general and military course of instruction. He was subsequently sent to school at Rugby, where his brightness of mind and amiability of character won the good will and friendship of his mates, and all who were brought into contact with him. Prince Alamyan was frequently received at the levees of the Prince of Wales and the receptions of the Queen, and was everywhere treated with the consideration worthy of his rank at home and his personal merits. For some months past the Prince has shown signs of weak health, which finally developed into consumption, of which he died.

BEAUTIFUL illuminated windows are to be put in the Inverness Town Hall.

SENSATIONAL RUMOURS.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A despatch from Constantinople states that the British Channel squadron, under Admiral Hornby is moving towards that port, and may be expected in Turkish waters on Sunday. It is reported that this demonstration is intended to convince the Porte that England is not prepared to relax any of the demands she had made through the Turkish Ambassador, Musurus Pasha, and through Minister Layard upon Turkey in reference to the immediate carrying out of the reforms promised in connection with the Treaty of Berlin. Lord Salisbury has stated that these demands were in perfect accordance with the necessity of the situation in Europe, and would not be revoked as a result of any diplomatic stratagem which could be brought to bear. In response to the attitude of the British Ministry, the Sultan has informed Minister Layard that the Porte will concede the introduction of a large infusion of the British and European element generally into the administration of the civil and military affairs of Turkey. Both Germany and Austria acquiesce in the British policy in Turkey. A Cabinet crisis is said to be imminent in Constantinople, which will probably involve the entire reconstruction of the Sultan's advisory council.

AN IRISH HOUSE OF COMMONS.

DUBLIN, Nov. 14.—At a meeting of the Irish National Convention Committee yesterday, they resolved to reconstruct the Irish House of Commons on the O'Connel's plan, viz., to consist of 300 members elected by manhood suffrage, and to meet in 1882 at the latest.

WORK FOR THE UNEMPLOYED.

DUBLIN, Nov. 14.—The Irish Executive has resolved to start the Shannon improvement works, with the object of giving work to the unemployed. They will spend £50,000 during the coming winter.

CETEWAYO'S CAPTOR.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Lord Gifford, V. C., who brought home the despatches of peace concluded with Cetewayo, and was given the Government award, is desirous of handing the £500 over to Major Marter, the officer who caught the Zulu King.

BISMARCK'S DISEASE.

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The complaint from which Prince Bismarck is suffering is said to be an incipient stage of fatty degeneration of the heart. There is no immediate cause for apprehension.

PLUCKY PERUVIANS.

PANAMA, Nov. 6.—The Chilian admiral's report of the Huascar's capture, credits her officers and crew with the utmost heroism. He reports the Huascar so battered that she is probably useless. Particulars of the fight show that the Huascar made a terrible fight against a forlorn hope. Admiral Grau was shot while in the observation turret and carried below. A 300 pound shot subsequently crushed the Huascar's steering gear and passed through the vessel, leaving a great breach, and killed Grau his aide and several others. The Huascar was now unmanageable and completely at the mercy of the Chilians. One gun was disabled. Out of two hundred and sixteen men only eighty-six were alive and the majority of those were wounded. Five commanders had succeeded each other at their perilous post. Three were killed and one was greviously wounded. The fifth was barely able to maintain his trumpet, and yet the first Chilian boarding party was successfully driven off. This was the expiring effort; the next boarding party seized the vessel.

PANIC ON THE BOURSE.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A Paris despatch dated at 6 p.m., says during the closing moments of business this afternoon at the Bourse, and during the whole of the succeeding time at Le Petite Bourse, there were circulated the most sensational and alarming rumours concerning the imminence of war between the Great Powers. The rumours were ingeniously framed, and were related with so much detail and with the sanction, real or assumed, of reputable and high placed persons, that while it was believed they were founded in fact, the effect produced upon the stock market was severe, and for a while a veritable panic, especially among the small holders, prevailed. But, at this hour, these rumours are beginning to be regarded as outrageous canards of unscrupulous speculators. So far are these alarmists reports, it is said, from being true, that now it is believed that a rapprochement between Germany, Russia and England is highly probable. At the time of sending this despatch, this belief is gaining ground.

AGITATION IN IRELAND.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A Dublin despatch states that the Colonel commanding the sixty-seventh regiment, stationed at Birr, has been anonymously notified that the barracks were to be attacked by a large force of anti-renters, and that an attempt would be made to explode the magazine. Much excitement was produced among the garrison by this startling intelligence and immediate precautions were taken to guard against surprise, and reinforcements were telegraphed for. The danger, if there really is any, is supposed to proceed from some organized bands of malcontents, who have recently been engaged in burning the barns of such farmers as refused to take part in the demonstrations against the land agents. The leaders and orators of the Parnell movement deny all knowledge of the matter, and affirm that they have no sympathy with violent measures. Birr, or Parsonstown, is a market town in the parish of the same name in the county of Leinster, and is about 60 miles south-west of Dublin. It is a well built town with a castle belonging to the Earl of Rosse, under whose proprietorship the modern town has risen into its present prosperous condition. Birr has a population of about 6,000.

SYMPATHY FOR RUSSIA.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A St. Petersburg despatch says that at a meeting of the Russian Technological Society, a lecture was delivered on the subject of "fitting out four famous Russian cruisers in the United States." The lecturer especially referred to the sympathy and co-operation which the expedition had received from Americans. Six men had deserted from the expedition, who preferred to remain on the free soil of America, but they were Germans.

SENDING MONEY TO IRELAND.

The London correspondent of a Liverpool paper says the Government has received information from New York, through the British Consul, that American Fenians are offering money and arms to Irish tenant farmers to enable them to resist evictions. The correspondent adds that the Irish Executive fully credits the statement, but does not believe that anything will result therefrom.

IRISH NATIONAL CONVENTION.

DUBLIN, Nov. 15.—The Irish National Convention will meet here in April, 1882.

A TOO FRANK MINISTER.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 15.—The retirement of the Minister of War is expected, he having incautiously expressed his conviction in public that Prussia intends to occupy Denmark at the first opportunity.

CABINET DISSENSIONS.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—It is reported and believed here that the ostensible demands upon Turkey concerning Asia Minor, conceal an effort to restore Layard's supremacy among the Porte's foreign advisers. The Government's foreign policy is embarrassed by Cabinet dissensions. Common reports indicate Cross, the Home Secretary, as the chief opponent of Lord Beaconsfield's policy.

ADDITIONAL DEFENCES.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—It is rumored that the Ministry have ordered a survey of the Baltic coast to report what additional defences are necessary.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 15.—Pending the receipt of fresh instructions, the British Ambassador abstains from visiting the Porte. The present attitude of the British Government is attributed to a grave suspicion of an understanding between Turkey and Russia, originating in a visit of the Russian Ambassador, Lobanoff, to the Sultan before he went to Livadia to visit the Czar, and on his return to Constantinople it is reported Lobanoff will interview the the Sultan again before his departure on leave of absence.

AMERICAN.

AN OFFICE DECLINED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The position of postmistress at Yazoo, offered to the widow of H. M. Dixon, has been declined because the present incumbent and her husband were friends. She says that people were very kind to her in Yazoo.

A DESTRUCTIVE TORNADO.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15.—At Paoli and Princeton, Ind., the wind yesterday amounted to a tornado. At Paoli two houses were levelled. At South Bend, Ohio, a church and school house were blown down.

GRANT'S CANDIDATURE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A Washington special report to the Sun says that a letter from an intimate friend of Grant, states that in one time Grant will let it be authoritatively known that he is at the disposal of the American people. He will not be a sectional candidate, but expects support from the south, and will if elected, play the role of the great conciliator. His tour through the South next spring is to pave the way for his nomination.

A FATAL PRECAUTION.

MARIETTA, Ohio, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Emily Smalley, a soldier's widow, drew $1,500 pension arrears and bought a revolver for fear of robbers. Her 10 year old son, while handling the weapon yesterday, accidentally shot her dead.

THE NEW FRENCH CABLE.

NORTH EASTHAM, Mass., Nov. 15.—The representatives of the French cable and the American Union Telegraph Companies are here patiently awaiting the arrival of the steamer Faraday with the new French cable.

THE PRICE OF COAL.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 15.—An advance 25 cents a ton in coal has been announced for Monday. The retail price here is higher than in New York.

KENTUCKY REGULATORS.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15.—Lewis Scroggs, who has been convicted of murder in Elliott County, Ky., was sentenced to 8 years imprisonment. The Regulators of North Eastern Kentucky have issued a proclamation stating that they have banded together to protect the lives and property of honest people. They warn all barn-burners and murderers to leave on penalty of lynch law where the State law fails.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 15.—The main boiler in the plate mill of the Cleveland rolling mill exploded last evening doing damages estimated at $20,000.

IRISH AID ASSOCIATION.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15.—The Irish Aid Association has made arrangements for a series of entertainments.

LINCOLN'S PRIVATE SECRETARY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—It is stated that the resignation of Frederick W. Seward, Assistant Secretary of State, has been tendered and accepted. The cause assigned is the sickness of Mrs. Seward. It is understood that John Hay, of Cleveland, formerly one of Lincoln's private secretaries succeeds Seward.

A DOMESTIC TROUBLE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The World says, Ex-Governor Swann, of Maryland, who married the widow of Senator John R. Thompson, of New Jersey, a year ago last July, has separated from his wife. It is the sequel of the mysterious separation hinted at as occurring six weeks after the marriage.

THE NEW CABLE.

NORTH EASTHAM, Nov. 15.—The Faraday came to an anchor this morning. The sea was smooth and favorable for landing the cable.

GOLD AND BONDS FOR THE STATES.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The Standard says the quantity of the gold export to America yesterday would have been doubled but for the simultaneous shipment of a million dollars in various American bonds.

THE late Miss Bruce has bequeathed to the managers of the Episcopal Church, Haddington, £1000, the interest of which is to be applied towards the augmentation of the minister's stipend.

SUGAR AND THE N. P.

There is so much discussion now as to the price of sugar that the following paragraph will be read with interest :—

"The grocery market is active and strong. Sugar is very firm; Canadian Refined, however, is selling at lower figures than American or British can be imported at; some cargoes belonging to Montreal firms were sold in New York yesterday at more remunerative rates than they would have brought here."

This paragraph is from the commercial columns of the Globe, which contains facts for its commercial readers. Of course it differs totally from the editorial columns which contain fallacies intended to delude its political readers into the belief that the National Policy is a failure instead of a complete success.

THE BRITISH GRAIN TRADE.

The Mark Lane Express in its review of the British grain trade for the past week says :—"A decided improvement in the weather during the past week has facilitated wheat sowing, which is fairly forward in the Southern and some of the Midland counties. In the higher districts of Scotland the commencement of snow and night frosts has necessitated the reaping of much grain in an imperfectly ripened condition. The root crop is only expected to be half of the average yield. It is stated that the prospect is the most serious ever encountered by the present generation of Scotch farmers. Irish reports are less unfavorable, the weather having been very fine. At Mark Lane English wheat was rather more freely offered, but the supply was undoubtedly small for this time of the year. The condition is somewhat improved owing to more favorable weather for threshing. At the majority of the provincial markets business has been quite impracticable, as a large proportion of the grain offered has been useless to millers. The few fine dry lots to be met with changed hands on former terms, while inferior parcels were quite neglected. The imports of foreign wheat into London have been fair, but not excessive. There was a slight revival in business on Monday, but since then some reaction has taken place. Speculators have held aloof, and confidence is somewhat shaken by an increase in the visible supply in America. Holders, however, have been upheld by the rise in prices in New York, and there has been no disposition to force sales. On the whole there has been only a retail consumptive demand, which was satisfied at previous prices."

PORT HOPE.

SAD ACCIDENT.—The Times says that a very sad and what may yet prove to be a fatal accident occurred in Port Hope on Thursday evening. Mr. Jason Wilson is in the habit of splitting wood with the aid of his little daughter, aged 6 years, to place the sticks in position. She places them on the block and after her father splits them removes them again. As usual, she was doing this last evening, but one time she was too quick and went to remove a stick she thought split when the axe came down upon the back of her head and cutting through the scalp fractured her skull. It is said that her father is at times afflicted with shortness of sight, and that he did not notice her when she went to remove the stick. He is plunged in the deepest grief, and bewails the ill-fortune which has befallen him and his little daughter. If she survives for three or four days there will be reason to hope that she will eventually get well.

THE LATE SUPERINTENDENT.—A meeting of the employees of the Midland Railway, to take into consideration the question of presenting a a suitable token to Mr. H. G. Taylor, late superintendent of the road, on his retirement, was held last night. It was resolved that a testimonial be given him, and a committee was appointed to prepare all preliminaries.

PRINTERS PANIC-STRICKEN.

Fire in the Office of the New York "Churchman"—One Woman Killed by Jumping.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The printing establishment of the Churchman, Lafayette Place, was burned this evening. On the first floor the Celluloid Shoe Protector Company had an office and factory. Lamps had been lit, and a clerk in the employ of the company was changing the coal skirt when he hit a lamp standing near. The burning fluid poured over a piece of flannel on a chair and set fire to it. A quantity of manufactured celluloid, extremely inflammable was near in an open closet, and in an instant the whole floor was one sheet of flame. The clerk and president of the company barely escaped before the flames leaped to the floor above, and alarmed the compositors, sixteen in number, working there. Dropping their sticks they ran for life, shouting to the proof-readers above and those in the editorial rooms to follow. Mike Fogarty, compositor, found escape shut off, and grasped a rope used for lowering the forms, slid to the basement, reaching there with lacerated hands, but otherwise uninjured. Mrs. Clarke, proof reader, third storey, found descent impossible, and breaking a window in the north wall adjoining A. T. Stewart's workshops, jumped across the narrow alley separating the building, followed by a man. The two clung to the window in the Stewart building and were helped in by two tailors working there. Not so fortunate was the janitor's wife, Mrs. Augusta Schafter, who was in a room looking upon the yard in rear of Globe Theatre. The compositors in their flight heard her scream once before the roar of flames drowned all other sound. Nothing was heard or seen of her after that till roundsman Clarke found her half unconscious in an alley leading up from Broadway. She had jumped from a window, but in the fall had broken her back and was mortally injured. She was sent to the hospital and died an hour later. The fire speedily seized every floor of the building and threatened the houses adjoining it on every side. Tongues of flame reaching through the windows of the Stewart building alarming 325 girls, women, and men, working there, and a panic threatened. The confused throng crowded towards the doors and was met by a squad of police, by whose firmness what threatened to prove the worst feature of the disaster was averted. The firemen succeeded in saving the surrounding building, but the Churchman building became a total wreck. Happily its thick walls stood and the costly presses in the basement were saved from destruction, though much injured by water and falling floors. The office of the Sanitarian and office of John Austin Stephens, editor of the Historical Magazine, were badly scorched. In the Churchman composing rooms were the forms of the Spirit of Mission, Young Christian Soldier, Sanitarian, and a paper published by the Bible Society, ready for press, the Young Christian Soldier, belonging to the Domestic and Foreign Mission Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church. These were lost. The total loss by the fire is estimated at $65,000. Some of the surrounding buildings were slightly damaged. Fifty boarders, mostly ladies, in an adjoining house, were greatly alarmed, but the arrival of the police prevented a fatal confusion.

A "PURRING" MATCH.

The Peculiar Sport That Has Been Introduced From England.

A Cornish miner named David T. Davis, boasted in a Shenandoah bar-room that he could out-"purr" any man in America. "Purring" is an English sport, and means kicking an opponent on the legs. Davis' boasts were taken up by another English miner named Thomas Proudfit, and each man made a deposit of $10 as a forfeit in case either should not come to time. The match was made for $25 a side, and was to come off in the bar-room of a mutual friend. Davis has some reputation as a "purrer", wrestler, and boxer, but until this affair Proudfit was unknown among the "fancy." The original amount of the bet was raised to fifty dollars a side. At 9 o'clock at night the principals and about thirty friends went to a bar-room, and, for a trifling consideration paid to the proprietor, the doors were closed, and preparations for the match began. The room in which the affair took place is of ordinary size, but in order to economise space about half the spectators were told to take seats on the bar, and the others screwed themselves into corner, and out-of-the-way places. The men removed all their clothing except their trousers. The referee then gave to each man a pair of bran new brogans, into which their feet were thrust. Proudfit wore woollen, and Davis cotton stockings.

The men then shook hands, and Proudfit cheerfully enquired, "Be ye ready, lad?" "Aye, man," answered Davis, and the "purring" began. Although not described by Hoyle there are regular rules for "purring," but they are simple and easily understood. The rules in this match were that no "purr" or kick should be made at an opponent while he was down, that a kick above the knee was foul, and entitled its recipient to the stakes without further "purring"; that nothing was to cover the legs but trousers, and that the hands should not be used to grapple or punch an opponent. The man who first cried, "Hold, enough," was of course, defeated. Davis was much the larger man but he was not nearly so agile as his opponent. For a few moments both were extremely wary, and the time was passed in dancing about the room and feinting. At length Davis made a vicious kick at Proudfit, but it fell short, and before Davis got out of reach Proudfit administered two kicks or "purrs" just below one of his opponent's knee-caps, which, by the way, is considered a particularly vulnerable point, as a series of kicks there soon lames a man. Davis retaliated by kicking Proudfit on the shin. Then followed a rapid exchange of kicks, lasting about a minute, until Proudfit dodged out of reach. Both men were allowed a breathing spell of five minutes, and during it they examined their shins, which were bruised and bleeding. When time was called each man took a drink of whiskey, and then the "purring" began again. Thirteen rounds were "purred," but they did not differ much from the one described, and at the end of the twelfth round Davis refused to toe the mark, and Proudfit was declared the winner. Davis wanted to retire after the tenth round, but the spectators hooted at and called him a "duffer," and he came up twice more; but he received all the punishment without being able to give any in return. The last five rounds were brutal in the extreme, as both men were bleeding profusely, and the way they limped around to escape punishment was painful to witness. The legs of both men from the knees down were covered with cuts and bruises, and the heavy corduroy pants they were were kicked to ribbons.

When the match was decided Davis sank into a chair, thoroughly exhausted. Proudfit was so elated by his victory that he pleased the admiring spectators by dancing a jig with a tumbler of water on his head. The seconds then washed the legs of the "purrers," and covered the wounds with poultices of rotten apples, to prevent inflammation and allay pain. The prize money was handed over to Proudfit, who "set up" a keg of beer for the crowd. Davis was carried to his home, and Proudfit was not in much better condition. This is said to be the first "purring" match that has taken place in neighborhood of Shenandoah since Davis beat a noted "purrer" named Tom Bosley in 1864 or 1865. Davis' defeat on Thursday night was unexpected as he was known to be agile, game and experienced.—(Reading (Pa.,) Eagle.)

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head, OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhoea, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is SCOTT & BOWNE'S EMULSION OF PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. Price 25 cents. d103-w45-3m

It is said by many, first try one remedy, and then another, but we find in the great majority of cases that those who try Hagyard's Yellow Oil for all purposes of a liniment, have no use for any other preparation, it does its work so effectually that none others need to be applied. It is equally good for man or beast, and can be used internally for Croup, Whooping Cough, and Asthma, externally for Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises Chilblains, Burns, Scalds, and all Pains and Aches, from whatever cause they may come. KILLED ON THE ROAD.

THE MYSTERIOUS DEATH NEAR LINDSAY OF A PETERBOROUGH MAN.

Sad Fate of Francis Taggart—The Evidence at the Coroner's Inquest—The Verdict of the Jury.

From the Lindsay Post.

As Mr. George Howden, butcher, was driving into town on the Manvers road on Tuesday afternoon between three and four o'clock, after passing Shannon's hill a short distance, he saw a pair of small dark bay mules attached to an old-fashioned buggy standing across the road and a man in the act of picking himself out of the mud and getting into the buggy. There was a man lying dead on the roadside with a cushion across him within three feet of the waggon tracks, and two men whose names are said to be Wm. Davies and one Sproule were standing over it. Davies and Sproule had arrived at the scene only a minute or two before Howden. The driver of the mules commenced to drive off in the opposite direction from Lindsay when either Sproule or Davies called out to him 'hold on and take your partner along,' but the man made no answer and drove on, passing Mr. Howden on the road. Before the mules had gone very far Mr. Howden, who had given his rig in charge of the other men, ran after them and turned them round on the road. One of the spectators went to the man lying on the road to lift him up, and found that he was dead. Mr. Howden then informed the driver of the mules that his partner was dead, but the man, who was very much intoxicated, replied, "he is only asleep." This was the only answer that could be got from the driver. There was no appearance on the road of a buggy having capsized or any conflict having taken place. Mr. Howden drove into Lindsay, and at the request of the others brought the man with the mules with him as far as George McHugh's, where some accident occurred to the whiffletrees of the mule waggon, and Mr. Howden, who was in a hurry, had to drive off and leave him there. On reaching Lindsay about dark, Mr. Howden informed chief constable Smart of what had occurred, but strange to say, no action was taken that night. The body of the unfortunate man, who, it seems, was Francis Taggart, a vender of a patent medicine made by himself, and who resided in Peterborough, was allowed to lie in the road, within a couple of feet of the wheels of passing waggons from about four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon until nearly ten o'clock Wednesday, when it was removed to the market building by order of Mr. Coroner Poole. The people in the vicinity gathered round the body on Tuesday night in large numbers, but not one of them seems to have been humane enough to remove it to some place of shelter, where it would not be exposed to the rough weather. Their excuse was that they did not wish to be mixed up in the affair. Coroner Poole ordered a jury to be empannelled and the inquest on the body commenced Wednesday night at eight o'clock. The jury was composed of Jas. Hopwood, foreman; J. W. Diament, Jesse Parkin, Thomas Smart, J. J. Irwin, John Flurey, Jas. Shannon, Isaac Rea, S. McElwain, D. Smart, W. Weese, W. G. Nelson, F. Beamish, M. Sanderson, R. Hungerford and John King.

THE EVIDENCE.

The first witness called was JAS. O'MALLEY, who testified to having recognized the body of deceased as that of a man named Taggart, whose name he believed was Francis, but was not certain, a pedlar of a medicine he manufactured himself. Witness had not seen deceased alive since last June.

MRS. YOUNG, wife of Mr. J. Young, keeper of the Globe Hotel, testified to having seen the body, and recognized it as that of a man named Taggart, who came to her hotel on Monday night in company with a man named William Maguire, and remained until noon on Tuesday. Taggart was peddling medicine, and Maguire did not seem to have any business. They did not seem to be doing business together, though they were very friendly and good-natured. They left the hotel together at 12.40 on Tuesday in an old-fashioned buggy drawn by a pair of mules evidently belonging to Maguire, who was driving. As far as witness could judge they were sober and in good-nature towards each other when they left the hotel.

GEORGE HOWDEN was the next witness. His evidence was the same as already given above.

J. F. DIX testified to his having been driving on Tuesday evening near where the accident occurred, and met a man driving a pair of mules attached to a buggy in front of Mr. Hodsdon. This was near the back yard. A little further on he found deceased lying in the road, and two men and a boy whose names he did not know were standing over the body. After making enquiries as to how the accident occurred, he drove on as far as Armstrong's blacksmith shop Chipmunk Corners, Manvers, where he stayed all night. About 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning Maguire came along the road riding one mule and leading the other, but without the buggy. He was going south, and he said he was going to his home in Clarke. Witness asked Maguire how the accident occurred, but could not get any intelligent answer; he appeared drunk or not in his right mind. With some difficulty witness drew from Maguire this statement, "I got out of the buggy and Taggart drove on about five rods, and when I caught up to the buggy he was lying on the road dead." Maguire said he did not see deceased get out of the buggy. Witness met Maguire again in the evening about 3.30 o'clock near the same place, the blacksmith shop, and he said he had got lost and had made a round getting back to the same place again. The people at the blacksmith shop said that Maguire was just as stupid as in the morning.

JOHN HOGAN, a young lad who lives in Lindsay, testified to having seen a man with a span of mules attached to a buggy, driving along in the ditch in Lindsay-st., opposite Mr. Gladman's house, about ten minutes to six Tuesday evening. Witness asked the man where he was going, and told him he was off the road. The driver of the mules replied that he was going to Newton, and asked witness to take hold of the lines and lead the mules on the road. Hogan took hold of the mules and led them on the road and the man drove south in the direction of the swing bridge. He believed the man was drunk, because he could not see the road.

THOS. BRYDGES testified to having seen deceased and Maguire at the Globe hotel on Tuesday, and that they were both sober so far as he could tell.

PETER McDONALD testified to having seen deceased and Maguire leaving town Tuesday in a democrat wagon drawn by a pair of mules. The men were driving very peaceably.

Mr. M. SANDERSON stated that he was out to a sale near where the accident occurred, and he heard it stated that the deceased lived for some time after the people arrived. He also heard that Maguire had wandered about the fields of a farmer near by, Tuesday night till two o'clock.

Mr. WM. WEESE saw deceased and Maguire leave the Globe hotel on Tuesday, and they had some little squabbling over who should drive, which caused him and some other on-lookers to remark that both men were pretty full.

This was all the evidence that could be brought down at the time, and after authorising a post mortem examination and ordering the summoning of Wm. Davies, Sproule and a boy from Liverpool working at Owner Traynor's, the inquest was adjourned until Thursday evening at seven o'clock.

DR. WILLIAM POOLE held a post mortem examination on the body yesterday, and reported that death was caused by suffocation.

When the jury resumed last night William Davis gave evidence to the effect that he was driving home Tuesday afternoon about 3.30 o'clock, and when about four miles from Lindsay he saw Maguire sitting in the middle of the road in the mud, and the deceased was sitting on the end of a corduroy log with his hands on his knees and his head bent down. The man in the middle of the road swore he could knock h—l out of deceased. Witness left them in this position and passed on. When witness came up he remarked to the men that they were in a bad position. Taggart looked up and smiled but did not say anything. The cusion was in the buggy at this time. This evidence was corroborated by a lad named Patrick Canavan, who was was with Mr. Davis at the time.

WM. MAGUIRE was brought in from Millbrook about 9 o'clock by Constable Young. His evidence was to the effect that when a short distance from Linday he had occasion to get out of the buggy by a call of nature, and he told Taggart to drive slowly on. Taggart drove a little farther than witness expected, and when he caught up to the buggy Taggart was lying on the road and a couple of men standing beside him. The men told witness that Taggart was dead. Witness then got into his buggy and started to drive for home but got lost and came back nearly as far as Lindsay. He wandered about for two days, only reaching home Thursday noon. He denied having any quarrel with deceased.

The wife of the deceased and a son and daughter came to town yesterday and had the body removed to Peterborough for interment. They were respectable looking people, and exhibited much sorrow.

THE VERDICT.

Special to the Review, Nov. 15.

The jury found that "deceased came to his death from suffocation, but in what particular manner they were unable to state. They also found that the excessive use of liquor was one of the immediate causes of Taggart's death."

The jury were guided by the medical testimony as the result of the post mortem examination, on finding suffocation among the causes of death.

THE HANLAN-COURTNEY MATCH ON AGAIN.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Nov. 13.—After nine hours of discussion, almost every point of each article having been objected to over and over, articles of agreement were finally signed at midnight for a race between Hanlan and Courtney on Dec. 9th, at Washington. The race is to be two and a-half miles and return, for the purse of $6,000 offered by Soule. Each party deposits $500 with the referee, which is to be paid to the party who starts in the race, in case the other party does not start. Blaikie is to be the referee.

The referee, in case of any outside interference during the race, if it affects the result of the race, or for any good cause, may order the men to row over again on the first favorable day under the original conditions. Hanlan agrees from the moment the word "go" is given in the race that he will waive his present claim to the $6,000 provided both he and Courtney start at the word "go," and the $6,000 shall go to whomsoever the referee decides to be the winner. But in case either he or Courtney fails to start at the word "go," it is distinctly understood that Hanlan does not waive his claim to the $6,000. Within five days from the 13th of November there is to be placed in the hands of the referee a certificate for the $6,000 deposited in the City Bank Rochester, endorsed with instructions to the Bank to pay the same on presentation of a certificate bearing the endorsements of the referee and winner of the race. In no case shall the referee deliver the certificate to either Hanlan or Courtney unless they both start at the word "go," but will return the same to the donors. Any commissions and percentages, donations or income of any sort whatever, from any railways, hotels, or outside sources whatever, shall go to the winner of the race. Judge Wheeler, City Attorney, of Rochester, was a subscribing witness.

Courtney left at 3.30 to meet an engagement at Ithaca. Captain Sullivan, of the Rochester police signed the articles in Courtney's stead. The race was fixed for Dec. 9 to give the men three weeks' training. Hanlan leaves on Friday for Toronto. Both Hanlan and Courtney expect to start for Washington early next week. Hanlan will be the guest of the Analostan Club, and Courtney of the Potomacs.

CONTINENTAL.

THE Preussische states that on leaving Bulgaria the Russians took with them upwards of 300 boys for education in the superior schools of the Empire. Part of this youthful contingent will be educated in the so-called industrial institutions, where various trades are taught; and as the aim, says the above-named journal, of the Government is to spread the knowledge of the Russian language in Bulgaria, the propaganda thus employed is regarded as the best means of attaining this political end.

PROF. KLEBS, of Prague, and Prof. Tommasi, of Rome, have been examining during the past spring into the physical poison which produces marsh fever. They examined the lower strata of the atmosphere of the Roman Campagna and its soil. In both they discovered a microscopic fungus, consisting of movable shining spores of a long oval shape. With these spores animals were artificially infected with intermittent fever of the true marsh type, and they showed precisely the same enlargement of the spleen as human beings who have caught the fever in the ordinary way. Tommasi and Klebs have given this fungus the name of Bacillus malariæ, as it grows in the shape of small reeds.

MR. LITTRE has been unburdening himself of opinions very comfortable to the American mind. He thinks that the centre of culture will in time move from the Seine to the banks of the Hudson, that the ruling language of the future will be English, and the chief seat of learning will be in the United States. The people of Boston who chance to observe the Frenchman's predictions will doubtless set him down as a man of singular ignorance and stupidity when he talks thus encouragingly of New York. After the Anglo-Saxon, as governing races M. Littre places the Russian and the Spanish—to the latter conceding the possession of the South American continent.

KOSSUTH has been engaged on a history of his life for several years past, and it was to have been published simultaneously at Vienna, Berlin, and other European capitals some time last year, but from some reason or other—principally on account of the gifted author's unreadiness—the publication has hung fire up till now. Kossuth, however, has at length completed his memories, and last week arranged with a publishing firm at Pesth for their production. The volume will embrace all his writings of importance and fugitive essays in periodical literature since 1850. During the past twenty years few have seen more ups and downs than Kossuth.

DR. JAGER, a Professor of Stuttgart, has after most patient experiments with his own nose, proved it to be the seat of his own soul. It is, it appears, the projecting finger on the dial-face that registers the motion of the great machinery of the human heart, and records thereon by its silent vibrations and pulsations all the various workings of the intellect. Simply with the nose on his face the learned Professor is enabled, eyes shut and ears stopped, to discriminate the character of any stranger he may meet, or even that he has passed in the street. He can, then, by merely putting his nose through a chink, tell what the people on the other side of the wall are doing; and, more than this what they have just been doing, can assure himself whether they are married or unmarried, and whether they are happy or single.

FIRST FAMILY PRAYER.

The late Rowland Hill was once driven by a storm into a village inn, and compelled to spend the night. When it grew late the landlord sent a request by the waiter that the guest would go to bed. Mr. Hill replied, "I have been waiting a long time, expecting to be called to family prayer." "Family prayer! I don't know what you mean, sir; we never have such things here." "Indeed! then tell your master I cannot go to bed until we have had family prayer." The waiter informed his master, who, in consternation, bounced into the room occupied by the faithful minister, and said, "Sir, I wish you would go to bed. I cannot go till I have seen all the lights out; I am so afraid of fire." "So am I," was the reply; "but I have been expecting to be summoned to family prayer." "All very good, but it cannot be done in an inn." "Indeed! then pray get my horse. I cannot sleep in a house where there is no family prayer." The host preferred to dismiss his prejudice rather than his guest, and said, "I have no objection to have prayer, but I don't know how." "Well, then, summon your people and let me see what can be done." The landlord obeyed, and in a few minutes the astonished domestics were on their knees, and the landlord called upon to pray. "Sir, I never prayed in my life; I don't know how." "Ask God to teach you," was the gentle reply. The landlord said, folding his hands, "God teach us how to pray." "That is prayer, my friend," cried Mr. Hill joyfully; "go on." "I am sure I don't know what to say now, sir." "Yes you do; God has taught you how to pray; now thank him for it." "Thank you, God Almighty, for letting us pray to you." "Amen! amen!" exclaimed Mr. Hill, and then prayed himself. Two years afterwards, Mr. Hill found in that same village a chapel and a school, as the result of the first effort of family prayer at the "Black Lion."—N.Y. Observer.

MR. FRANK BUCKLAND, in Land and Water again urges his Scotch friends to catch and sell eels, which are abundant in the beautiful fresh-water lakes. Just now, they will be running to the sea in thousands, but the Scotch people refuse either to eat them, or to catch them, or to sell them, though in London "good-sized eels fetch 1s. a lb."

PRINCESS LOUISE arrived safely in England after a voyage which she greatly enjoyed. The Sarmatian was not specially chartered to take over the Princess, as was the case when the same vessel carried her and her husband to Canada a year ago, and on embarking this time she expressed a wish that the saloon should not be divided on her account. Accordingly it was not done, but the Princess and suite had a set of rooms appropriated to their use on the port side of the ship, and also a ladies' cabin. The Princess appeared on the deck about three times during the voyage, and on three occasions dined in the saloon, although at a separate table, with the cabin passengers.

Severe Storm in Ohio.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 14.—Details are coming in of the damage done by the gale which visited this portion of Ohio this morning. Thirty-eight wires of the Western Union Telegraph were blown down west, north and east. A portion of the roof of the Central Christian church, one of the largest in the city, was blown off. At Hamilton, Ohio, the large steeple and belfry of St. Joseph's church was blown over, part of it crashing through the main building; damage $7,000. The main walls of the whiskey room of the Miami distillery were blown in, and chimneys, roofs and trees were swept away by the storm. The direction of the gale was from the west, lasting about 20 minutes, followed by heavy rain. Telegraphic connections with Chicago and the west were interrupted during the afternoon. Greensburgh, Indiana, also suffered severely.

TROY, Ohio, Nov. 14.—Great damage from gale to-day. It lifted roofs, blew down houses and chimneys. A carriage factory was damaged to the extent of $1,500. Teams driving along the street were blown on the sidewalk. Several persons were injured by wind and falling bricks, none fatally. The gale at Mount Vernon lasted only ten minutes, but did a great deal of damage. A livery stable and several residents were blown down.

An Exasperated Wife's Revenge.

At Breitenbach, in Germany, a married couple having quarrelled the wife left the house, and for several days stayed away, sleeping at night in barns or wherever she found it convenient. Meanwhile the husband remained calmly at home. This indifference exasperated the wife to a pitch of diabolical hatred, and about 11 o'clock one night she returned to the house, and while her husband lay asleep in an adjoining room went into the kitchen, started a fire, filled the kettle with water and put it on the stove, waited patiently until it steamed, and then, taking it to he husband's bedside, poured the contents over him, scalding him so badly that he lived only a few hours.

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

SATURDAY, Nov. 15.—The rainy, disagreeable morning again interfered with the market. There was a goodly number of teams in; but the market may be said to have been a poor one. Some small lots of wheat were brought in and sold at quotations. The wheat market may be said to be flat. Barley, none in. Oats, a few lots at 30 cts., ready sale. Potatoes held at quotations, several lots in and found ready sale at 65 @ 70 cts. per bag. Some lots for future delivery were taken at 75 cts. per bag. Apples were plenty and prices ranged as before. Butter was perhaps the most lively commodity on the market, yet prices ruled steady at quotations. Keg butter for shipment was of the better grade, and most of it prime. Roll butter dropped, 19 cts. being paid for some very choice lots. Very few eggs offering. Mutton and beef in fair supply, at quotations. Pork was in greater supply than for several days, and ruled at $5.00 @ $5.50. Poultry, no change. Small quantity in and few buyers. Hay, only a few loads in on orders. There were fewer buyers on the market than there has been for a long time.

24 CHRISTOPHER ST., Toronto, May 12, 1879.

Messrs. Millburn, Bently & Pearson,

Gentlemen,—Last fall I contracted a severe cold, which, by my neglect, settled on my lungs. I found every indication of the first stage of consumption, and, like many others, when almost too late, commenced to doctor up. I tried many remedies, but got no better; was almost satisfied I was incurable. Accidentally I heard of your Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and as a forlorn hope bought a bottle. I immediately felt relieved. After taking five (5) bottles I am cured, and never felt better in my life. I would heartily recommend your Hypophosphites.

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Heavy sticks of square timber are being sawed at the Dickson's Mills, and tracked down to the locks, where they are to be used in the repairs now going on there.

P. R. C.

All those in arrears to the Boating Club are warned that unless the arrears are paid before Monday night, their names will be submitted to the meeting to be disposed of as may be thought proper.

Sidewalks and Bridges.

Street Inspector Johnston is very active with the repairs of the sidewalks and bridges about town. This morning he caused new plank to be put in place of the old broken ones in the bridges at the lower end of the town.

The Scottish Vocalist.

The Scottish vocalist, Hamilton Corbett, will appear in full Highland costume on Monday evening, at Bradburn's Hall, and give the people of Peterborough an entertainment of vocal music.

Continued Improvement.

Chas. Crowe, whose condition on Monday and Tuesday last was so critical, has since been gradually but steadily improving, and his recovery is now said to be rapid. He will not loose his leg, as it was at first thought would be the case.

New Auction Rooms.

Messrs. Gilbert & Moore, auctioneers, have rented the large store next to the arcade under Bradburn's Hall, where they will carry on the auction business on a larger scale than heretofore. The locality is a good one as well as convenient to the market.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: cloudy weather with rain probably followed tomorrow by strong westerly to north-westerly winds and colder weather. Peterborough experienced another wet morning. The wind shifted from the south-east and north to westerly with clearing weather at noon. Afternoon clear and the weather colder.

Peterborough Cattle Shipments.

Peterborough is becoming an important shipping point for cattle, sheep, hogs, &c., as well as for grains, butter, cheese, hides, wool and lumber. During the past season, large numbers of cattle, sheep, &c., have been shipped by the several butchers and dealers. On Monday Messrs. Redman & Howden will ship, per the Midland and Grand Trunk Railways, two double deck car loads of sheep, direct to England, via Montreal.

The Trent Valley Canal.

The Belleville Intelligencer in its report of the proceedings of the Hastings County Council on November 13th says:—

"A communication was read from John J. Lundy and others, of Peterborough, asking the Council to join in a petition to the Dominion Government for the construction of the Trent Valley Canal, and to appoint a deputation to proceed to Ottawa, also stating that the County of Hastings will be expected to raise $250 to assist in defraying the preliminary expenses.—Referred to Committee of Ways and Means."

The business of the Midland railway continues brisk. A large number of cars are unloading at the Peterborough station, and the employees are kept busy. Miscellaneous freight is coming in daily from Europe, Montreal, Toronto, and the States. Some large shipments of salt from Goderich via Midland City have been made to Mr. John Garvey and others. Outgoing freight consists of lumber, butter, cheese, and other farm commodities. Among the lumber shipments from Peterborough are several car loads of heavy square timber from the Nassau mills of Messrs. Irwin & Boyd.

No. 1 Company, 57th Battalion.

This company mustered in good numbers at the Drill Shed last night. A show of hands being taken, all those present were unanimously in favour of continuing the drill once a week during the winter, Thursday night being the night determined upon. In connection with this drill it is proposed to organize a class of those desiring to qualify for certificates at the next examination. Next week the company will meet for drill on Monday and Tuesday evenings for the purpose of enabling those who have not already done so, to complete the full number of drills necessary to entitle them to their pay.

FIRE PROTECTION.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I am glad to see that the subject of increased fire protection for this Town is now being taken up in earnest by the citizens, and is likely to result in something of a tangible nature being done in that direction. It has been said by persons well competent to judge, that we are worse off, for means of extinguishing fires, than any town or city, of the same population, on the continent. For instance look at the towns around us! None of them as large in extent or population as Peterborough. Lindsay and Port Hope both have a system of waterworks, besides engines, and Cobourg, two engines, a steamer and one worked by hand, also one of the finest, if not the finest Fire Brigade in the Dominion. There is no doubt the young men of the town would take an interest in this matter if they received any encouragement from the citizens and the Town Council. It is high time that something was done in the premises, and now is the time to do it, while engines and apparatus can be procured at prices lower than ever before. The members of the Fire Water and Gas Committee must have heard the reports which have been circulated around town respecting the present engine. If the least thing went wrong at a fire, such as the pumping apparatus becoming clogged up or otherwise deranged, a large amount of property might be consumed, as we have no place to look to for succor. I would like to see this matter well ventilated through the press, as it is one in which we are all greatly concerned. Thanking you for the use of your valuable space,

I remain yours &c.,
BROCK STREET.

THE SUGAR QUESTION.

The agents of the American sugar refiners have found an organ in the Globe, which is laboring with desperate zeal to create prejudice against the policy which has made it possible to do our sugar refining in Canada. The rise in the price of sugar, in the countries of production, and consequently, generally all over the world, is seized upon with avidity to help on the unpatriotic campaign. The question, however, in which the Canadian public is interested is simply this: Would the price of sugar to the Canadian consumer be any less than it is, if the Tilley tariff had not been brought in? There is a simple method of answering this question. The price of Canadian refined yesterday was eleven cents, less trade discount of two and a half per cent, making the net price 10·73 cents a pound. The price of American refined was 11·12 cents, less drawback, of which our readers have heard so much, 3·15 cents, making the net price for export to Canada 7·97 cents. Adding the duty, under the Cartwright tariff, 25 per cent., and one cent specific, and we have the price to the Canadian dealer laid down here, 10·96 cents, or nearly a quarter of a cent a pound more than is charged by the Montreal refinery! That is certainly conclusive as to the fact that refining our sugar in Canada, which have certainly resulted in great advantage to the country in other respects, has not increased the price of the article to the Canadian consumer. Then there is another view. Are the refiners taking advantage to the full extent of the tariff to put up the price of sugar? In other words, have the duties been added to the cost to the consumer? Here are the facts: The cost for export, as above, of American refined sugar is 8.97 cents. The duty, thirty-five per cent on the gross price, and one cent per pound specific, is 4.67 cents, making in all 12·94, or 2·11 cents more than the present price of sugar at the Canadian refineries. From which it follows, first, that so far from the tariff having increased the price of sugar to the Canadian consumer, it is actually lower than it would have been had the Cartwright tariff remained in force and the refineries remained closed. And that the refiners, so far from charging the full figure that the tariff would permit them to charge, are charging over two cents a pound less. With these simple facts, it is surely not necessary to say anything more in reply to the arguments of the organs of the American sugar refiners.—Montreal Gazette.

PRACTICAL SYMPATHY.

In one of our sleeping cars in America there was an old bachelor who was annoyed by the continued crying of a child, and the ineffectual attempts of the father to quiet it. Pulling aside the curtain, and putting out his head, he said, "Where is the mother of that child? Why doesn't she stop this nuisance?" The father said very quietly, "The mother is in the baggage-car in her coffin; I am travelling home with the baby. This is the second night I have been with the child, and the little creature is wearying for its mother. I am sorry if its plaintive cries disturb any one in this car." "Wait a minute," said the old bachelor. The old man got up and dressed himself, and compelled the father to lie down and sleep, while he took the babe himself. That old bachelor stilling the cry of the babe all night was a hero. And the man who, for the sake of others, gives up a lawful gratification in his own house or in the social circle, is as great a hero as though he stood upon the battle-field.—F. R. Gough.

IT is particularly requested that subscribers not receiving the REVIEW regularly will at once make the fact known at this Office, in order that all cause of complaint may be removed as speedily as possible.

DIFFUSION OF INDUSTRIES.

Every new invention, every step forward made in man's control over natural forces, facilitates the transfer of industries from one country to another. The effects of new discoveries is, not to specialize this or the other manufacture in a certain place, but to render it easy of being carried on in many places, within certain limits. Nothing is likely to turn up that would have the effect of establishing the manufacture of blankets in the Island of Cuba, but that this manufacture should be established in Canada is one of the most natural things in the world, and only through hindrances, artificially created, can it be prevented. Long ago the process of making cast-steel was a secret, known only to some people in Sheffield, and that town supplied the whole civilized world with the article, but observe what happens now. The Bessemer steel process is discovered in England, and almost immediately taken up and carried on in the United States, and on the continent of Europe. Centuries back the making of cotton cloth (called calico) was a specialty of India, a clear case of that sub-division of functions among nations, upon which Mr. Spencer insists. But the mariner's compass, the discovery of America, the establishment of cotton cultivation in the Southern States, the cotton gin, the spinning jenny, and the power loom, have changed all that. The first effect was to give England, during several decades of years, almost a monopoly of the cotton manufacture; the second and permanent effect is to diffuse this manufacture among civilized nations generally. The time was when for the bleaching of cotton goods a real "bleachfield" was necessary, and only where there existed a large extent of green grass, favourably situated, could the manufacture be carried on. But the discovery of the bleaching powers of chlorine revolutionized the trade, and now the process can be carried on almost anywhere. In the State of New Jersey there are extensive deposits of a certain kind of sand, adapted for the making of stoneware. That this manufacture should have long ago started in the neighbourhood where the raw material was at hand was natural enough, but let us see what the "progress" of which Mr. Spencer discourses has brought about. The building of the Erie Canal, and of several railways, rendered it possible to convey this sand at small cost to the town of Brantford, in Western Canada, and there it is made into stoneware. Here we see what the philosopher calls a specialization of function, created at first by natural circumstances but afterwards giving way to diffusion, the plain result of material progress. The thing that happens is, not what Mr. Spencer lays down but exactly the contrary. "Progress," instead of confining the manufacture to one nation causes it to be spread to another; the very reverse of what he lays down so confidently.

But there is one modern instance which so much eclipses all others that it demands our particular attention. Long ago the production of sugar was through natural circumstances specialized and made a "separate function" of certain tropical islands and countries where the cane flourished. But it happened that Napoleon was bent upon making the Continent of Europe independent of England as a medium of supply, at a time when England had command of the seas, and when chemists were experimenting on the saccharine juice of the beet. These scientific men obtained at first two per cent of sugar from the juice, then four, then six, and improvements were continued, until now nine or ten per cent is obtained on the large scale. In order that the beet-sugar manufacture should be established, Napoleon carried Protection to the extreme of prohibition. To injure English commerce, he closed the Continent against vessels coming from cane growing countries, and with this extreme protection in its favour, the new manufacture prospered and became established. Now it stands without protection, except in the form of virtual bounties on the export of refined sugar; but everyone must admit that without protection in the first place it never could have been established at all. The natural difficulties that had to be encountered, in bringing the beet-sugar manufacture to its present stage of perfection, were probably unparalleled in the case of any other manufacture whatever. Chemical and mechanical process overcame even these, much more easily can it overcome difficulties which are not or natural origin, but caused merely by circumstances of man's own creation, and which it lies within his power to control or remove. The successive improvements in this manufacture were part of the progress of the age and through "progress" it happened that the sugar industry, before specialized as a "function" of a few tropical countries only, was diffused and rendered common to France, Germany and Russia. Here Mr. Spencer is plainly confuted by facts; he teaches that a certain thing must happen, and what happens is the very reverse.

In the course of a recent address on beauty in arts and manufacture, Mr. Gladstone spoke as follows:—

"If I take, for example, the tissues of this country, thirty years ago all patterns for our cotton goods were obtained from France; but now we take patterns from France, and send patterns back to France. The people of Mulhouse—I believe it is in Germany, and not in France, but it does not matter for the purpose I have in view—exchange patterns with England instead of simply sending patterns to England. (Applause). If you take other important branches of production, such as glass and porcelain—well, English glass has now become extremely beautiful and also very convenient. The English glass manufacture (I am not now speaking of plate glass, window glass, &c., but of glass for services, wine glasses and a variety of all portable articles of that kind) there is no doubt at all, as far as regards both the convenience of the form and the character of the material, has advanced to a very satisfactory position. It is in entire contrast with what it was forty or fifty years ago. (Hear, hear!) It was then a great deal dearer and it was a great deal uglier. A sense of beauty, of valuable beauty, has found its way into that manufacture. If we take porcelain, a similar improvement has taken place. Anybody who is familiar with the tea, coffee and dinner services of forty or fifty years ago, supposing he had been asleep during those fifty years and that he awoke to-day and went to the best shops and repositories to observe the character of the manufactures that are offered for sale, he would think that he had passed into another world, so entirely different are they and they are so far superior to what was produced in the time of one generation, and especially two generations back."

A certain specialization of function, once peculiar to France, has through "progress" been established in England also, and is now common to both nations. Here we see "progress" interfering with the specialty of one nation, and diffusing it into another nation. And must not further "progress" multiply immensely the number of such instances in which diffusion triumphs over specialization, as the visible result or concomitant of inventions and improvements?—Argus in the Canadian Spectator.

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem commencing "Come, Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1879.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

THE inducements held out by all newspapers for new subscribers should be based upon the fact that the larger the circulation the less the cost of each paper, as the cost of editorial labor and composition is the same, whether a large or small number is printed. And as it is only fair that those who have stood by us in the past, through good and evil report, should reap a share of the benefit of an increased circulation, we have determined to make them the following offers:—

With regard to the

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Any person now, and for the last twelve months a subscriber to the WEEKLY REVIEW, who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now or for the last twelve months a subscriber to it, will have the TWO sent to separate addresses for $2.50! Or if accompanied with the names of two other such such persons may have the THREE sent to separate addresses for $3.00!

With regard to the

DAILY REVIEW.

Any person now a subscriber to the DAILY EVENING REVIEW who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now on our subscription list, may have the TWO delivered or sent to separate addresses for six months for $3.50, or for twelve months for $6.00!

Special to the Review, Nov. 17.

ARCHÆOLOGICAL.—A meeting is to be held this evening to consider the formation of an Archæological Society, and the establishment of a museum.

MORPETH.

Special to the Review, Nov. 17.

SAVED FROM A WRECK.—The Captain of the wrecked schooner C. C. Breed was saved. He was picked up on Saturday night at ten o'clock by a tug bound westward, and landed at Hill's dock here yesterday.

QUEBEC.

Special to the Review, Nov. 17.

FALL OF ROCK.—About two o'clock yesterday morning, several large blocks of rock from the cliff where Montgomery fell, loosened by recent rains, into the street below, smashing fences, etc. At 8 a.m., another mass of earth fell at the same place. The scene was visited by a large number of people yesterday.

BOWMANVILLE.

Special to the Review, Nov. 17.

MR. BLAKE ELECTED.—Nomination closed at two o'clock. The Hon. E. Blake was proposed and declared elected as the representative of West Durham. A mass meeting is now being held in the Town Hall, and is being addressed by Mr. Blake. Mr. Burk, ex-M. P., is presiding.

MONTREAL.

A MURDERESS.—Susan Kennedy, the Griffintown murderess, has been transferred to Kingston penitentiary to undergo a life sentence.

GUN ACCIDENT.—A young man named Armstrong, while out in pursuit of game yesterday, accidentally shot himself, disfiguring his face, and causing wounds of a serious nature.

OTTAWA.

Special to the Review, Nov. 17.

CIVIL ENGINEERS.—Mr. C. Moberly, C. E., is in the city on business with the Government, in connection with the Canada Pacific Railway. Mr. F. Shanly, C. E., is in the city. Col. Farijana, C. E., has returned from a second tour of inspection of Rondeau Harbour.

TO BE KNIGHTED.—The rumor is revived that Dr. Grant, physician to H. R. H. the Princess Louise will shortly be knighted.

From the Morning Papers.

OTTAWA.

CATTLE TRADE.—When it is known that the United States embargo on Canadian cattle does not take effect until the 1st of December, no immediate alarm need be felt, and the statements as to sales being lost meanwhile to United States buyers are no better than so many exaggerations.

LUMBER TRADE.—At the Chaudiere station of the St. Lawrence & Ottawa railway are to be seen daily cars belonging to four of the American railroads, which are being loaded with lumber for the other side. Owing to the high rates by water a good deal of lumber is being shipped by rail this fall.

INCREASED BUSINESS.—It is stated that Messrs. Frost & Woods, of Smith's Falls, that ten orders for ten-horse power threshing machines had to be declined this season, owing to pressure of business. These gentlemen are exportion largely to Australia, as well as to Manitoba and the North-West Territories, and are employing more men, and consuming more raw material than ever before.

The DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at 10 cents a week.

A CLERGYMAN SUSPENDED.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Lord Penzance in the Court of Arches on Saturday ordered the enforcement of the wirt of prohibition against the Rev. Alexander Mackonochie. Mr. Mackonochie will be suspended from his ecclesiastical functions for three years. Lord Penzance said he would be willing to hear any application for relaxation of the sentence on a promise to obey the law.

DROWNED IN A BODY.

GLASGOW, Nov. 17.—Thirteen persons returning from a fair last week were drowned while crossing from Lochendare Island.

AMERICAN.

CUSTOMS FRAUDS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Sun says that rumors are current of the discovery of extensive Custom House frauds, in which officials of a high degree are implicated.

STEAMER ARRIVED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Ethiopia from Glasgow.

OFFICIAL CORRUPTION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Times says that the Grand Jury are about to investigate the charges of corruption and bribery made against the Superintendant of the Building Department.

MECHANICAL INSTRUCTION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Peter Cooper will add a Polytechnic Department at the cost of $30,000 to the Cooper Union, to furnish free instruction in mechanicism and the use of tools.

THROWN FROM A CAR.

PIEDMONT, Md., Nov. 17.—On Saturday two mine cars, while ascending the plane at Franklin Mine, became detached and started down the declivity. David Stowell was thrown from a car and was killed.

PARTY DIFFERENCES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Herald says that a meeting of Democrats will shortly be held at Utica to endeavor to heal the differences in that party. Ex-Governor Seymour will be appointed arbitrator.

MURDER WILL OUT.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 17.—A sailor states that while in Peru recently a dying sailor confessed that he murdered Jonathan Weaver 16 years ago in this city. The murder was a mystery. John McCarthy, now a leading business man, was suspected, but was acquitted.

PROFITLESS LAND SALES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Tribune says the total receipts from the sale of public lands for the last fiscal year, less the total expenses disclose that only about nine and three-tenths of a cent profit per acre was realized.

DISTINGUISHED PATRONAGE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—At the anniversary of the Young Men's Christian Association last night, President and Mrs. Hayes were in the audience, while Evarts, Key and Devens occupied seats upon the platform.

A PIOUS LOTTERY DEALER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—It was reported yesterday that the lottery dealer arrested by Anthony Comstock recently, who gave the name of Wilson, was really Alderman Webb, a well known Methodist and temperance advocate of Brooklyn. The Herald to-day says the report proves true.

COURTNEY MAKING READY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A Washington special report to the World says:—Courtney is expected here on Wednesday. Mr. Willard, the editor of the Rochester Chronicle, a Democrat paper, will act as his manager here.

VISIT FROM THE PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The President, Mr. Evarts, and Webb Hayes, are expected this morning. The President, the Mayor, Evarts and George William Curtis will be taken in a carriage to the Seventh Regiment fair this afternoon, and the President will declare it open at 3 o'clock. He will not make a speech, but Curtis will deliver an address. The President expects to leave for Washington at 10 to-night.

PARTY DISSENSIONS.

UTICA, Nov. 17.—Governor Seymour said today, regarding the arbitration difficulties in the Democratic party, that he knew nothing of it. He should certainly take no part in it. In his judgment the only body to arbitrate was the State convention.

AN INCENDIARY'S WORK.

MIDDLETOWN, Nov. 17.—The large barn on the farm of Oscar Dunn, near Quarryville, Sussex County, N. J., was burned last night, with hay, grain, 31 cows and 3 horses and young stock. Incendiarism is suspected.

THE PRESIDEN'S VISIT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The President arrived this morning with Evarts and Webb Hayes and was escorted to his hotel, where John Jacob Astor, Cyrus W. Field, Collector Merritt, Gen. Graham, Albert Bierstadt and others called. He also received a delegation who extended an invitation to him to visit the American Institute Fair. The President promised to accept if time permitted.

THE VICTIMS OF A FIRE.

The bodies of the five members of the Bouzie family, who were suffocated at the Cannon st. fire, were borne in four hearses to the cemetery yesterday. A large crowd was present at the funeral. A collection was taken up to defray expenses.

THE MAINE ELECTIONS.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—Telegrams from Maine confirm fully the previous despatches of there being great excitement regarding the probable counting out of the Republican House and Senate, and the election in January of a Democratic Governor, and a fusion of councillor and state officers. The same despatches consider it probable that Governor Garcelon will have a second term. There will be a meeting of ex-Republican Governors at Augusta to-day.

SCHOONER FOUNDERED.

BUFFALO, Nov. 17.—The schooner C. G. Breed from Detroit with wheat capsized, and foundered on Friday 60 miles east of Point au Pelee. The crew consisting of the Captain and seven men are all supposed to be lost except Frank Davis and David McCallister of Port Colborne. The schooner was commanded by Capt. Ross of Detroit, with James Smith, of Buffalo, as mate.

DEATH OF A VETERAN.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 17.—Col. John Frederick Von Worder died last night in the Aged Men's Home, aged 99 years and 10 months. He was one of the Old Guard, was with the first Napoleon in retreat from Moscow, served under Blucher at Waterloo, and fought against Abdel Kader on the Plains of Algeria. He left a manuscript stating that he [illegible] of Jena, was made prisoner by the French afterwards joining that service. In 1807 and 1808 he fought in Spain, and in the latter year married the daughter of a Spanish Grandee and was made aide de camp to Gen. Murat. In the spring of 1812 he was appointed aide de camp to Marshal Mey, and marched to Russia, entering Moscow with Napoleon. At Beresina he was twice wounded. He afterwards joined the Prussian army. Between 1816 and 1827 he led an adventurous life in Greece and Turkey, and from 1827 to 1836 served in Africa. In 1849 he came to this country with his wife and children and invested money in a nursery, which was destroyed by a flood. His three sons fell during the late war. His wife and daughter died in 1864.

LONGSHOREMEN'S STRIKE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Longshoremen on the East River struck to-day for an advance of 30 to 40 cents per hour. A few lines paid the advance. A extra reserve of police are on duty but all is quiet.

FRENCH TRADE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Consulat Lyons reports that the exports of France for the first 9 months of 1879 have fallen off 41 millions of francs; the imports have increased 326 millions.

ESTABLISHING SCHOLARSHIPS.

AMHERST, Nov. 17.—President Zeely received last week for the College, a gift amounting to $105,000, being $55,000 in stock and bonds from the Hon. Chester W. Chapin, of Springfield, an assurance of $50,000 from the Stone estate, of Malden, and $1,000 from another source, to establish scholarships.

CUSTOM HOUSE FRAUDS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—An employee in the appraiser's department of the Custom House, named Snyder, has been removed, and an official, whose high position prevents his immediate dismissal, has been suspended. It is alleged that the charges embrace bribes received from merchants, and the perpetration of frauds in the importation of clergymen's vestments. The loss to the Government for the past five years amounts to nearly $75,000.

A ROUND ABOUT MESSAGE.

NORTH EASTHAM, Mass., Nov. 17.—On Saturday while the Farraday was in sight, telegraphic communication was had with her by way of New York, the old cable to France, and thence over the new cable to the vessel.

ANOTHER BACK OUT.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Nov. 17.—Courtney arrived this morning and objected to rowing with Blaikie as referee, claiming that he did not authorize another party to assent to the change of articles. He wants Eustis of the Atalantas.

HALIBURTON.

PHOSPHATE OF LIME.—The Bobcaygeon Independent says:—A valuable discovery has been made of phosphate of lime, the best mineral discovery yet made in this back country.

LONDON.

YOUTHFUL PIRATES.—Ten young boys in this city have been discovered in a plot to buy a schooner and turn pirates on the lakes. They had each purchased a revolver as weapons of warfare. The money for this outfit, $180, one of the boys stole from a relative. The oldest boy is twelve years of age.

MONTREAL.

BOILER SHOPS BURNED.—A destructive fire took place this afternoon in the boiler shops of the Grand Trunk railway works at Point St. Charles. Both the Point St. Charles and the city brigade were called to the fire, which lasted an hour and did considerable damage. The boiler shops were completely gutted, the machinery being rendered useless. A portion of the adjoining saw mill was also damaged. The loss it is impossible to estimate with certainty at the present moment.

PORT HOPE.

A VALUABLE HORSE.—The Times says that the Government has allowed John Roseveare, Esq., M.P.P., $100 for his horse which was killed on the market square. It will be remembered the horse was borrowed by Lt. Hagerman, for the cavalry at their annual drill, and before proceeding to Cobourg, while on the market square here, the horse became frightened at something, reared up, fell backward and was killed, his rider, private Hills, having a narrow escape. The animal was much prized by Mr. Roseveare's family.

HALIFAX.

THE ENGLISH MAIL.—The first of the Allan line weekly mail steamers, the Sarmatian, Capt. Aird, arrived at ten o'clock on Sunday morning from Liverpool, with 17 cabin and and 304 steerage passengers, and 978 tons of freight; 128 tons for Halifax, 87 for St. John and way stations, and 755 for the Upper Provinces. Her cabin passengers were Capt. the Hon. F. Elliott, Col. O. Hewett, Major C. W. Robinson, Mr. Muirhead, Mrs. Hollingshead, Mr. A. Fraser, Mr. A. Foulds, Mr. J. Gray, Dr. J. W. Wright, Mrs. D. C. Bell, Miss Bell, Rev. W. Murray, Mr. E. Alcott, Mr. S. A. Denison and Mr. L. C. Hill. After discharging Canadian freight she will proceed to Baltimore with 35 passengers and 1,125 tons of freight. Of the steerage passengers 229 are English, 40 Scotch and 36 foreigners. They are nearly all for Ontario, and only a few for Manitoba. They are all able-bodied looking men, much above the average immigrants of the past few years.

IRELAND.

DUBLIN'S munificent member of parliament, Sir Arthur Guinness, is laying out Steven's Green, a vast area from which the public have hitherto been excluded, as a people's playground. He would do this on condition only that it was to be free to all.

THE Dublin Gazette contains a proclamation from Lord-Lieutenant offering a reward of £500 to any person or persons who shall, within six months give information leading to the conviction of the assailants of Mr. Smith and his son, who were shot at when returning to Mulrauny on September 28th, and one of the attacking party was killed.

BEGIN the canvass early; make use of sample copies; let the people know what THE REVIEW is, and the value it is to them; invite them to subscribe without delay. Balance of year free to new subscribers for '80.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1879.

"THE GREATEST BLOT."

The Globe of Monday declares that "one of the greatest blots upon the record of the N. P. Government is the fact that it places onerous taxes upon knowledge," and has "erected the paper manufacturers into a monopoly." Has the Globe really gone out of its senses altogether? It apparently can do nothing but cry "Monopoly!" "Monopoly!" For instance, take the very example here given, namely, the paper manufacturers. What are the actual facts? neither more or less than that the price of paper has steadily declined for at least the last two years, and it has been purchased, and can now be bought cheaper than ever, and nobody knows this better than the Globe itself. This being the case, unless the Globe means that a "monopoly" is equivalent to a reduction of prices, it is endeavoring to deceive its readers on a point upon which it must be well-informed, and upon which it cannot by any possibility plead ignorance. Yet, after all, it is a no more bare-faced misstatement of facts than is to be found in its columns almost every day—especially in connection with the N. P.

THE TRENT CANAL.

The following petition to the Minister of Railways and Canals, and to the House of Commons, has been prepared by the Committee, and is now being circulated among the various Municipal Councils interested for signature and presentation:—

1.—That the North-west is universally recognized as the future Wheat field of the World.

2.—That, under the influence of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the North-west is attracting a a large immigration.

3.—That in order to develop the North-west and render it as intended by nature, the Granary of the World and the home of a vast population, all that is needed is a cheap means of transporting produce to Europe.

4.—That the experience of the Erie Canal, notwithstanding the disadvantages under which it has and continues to labor, proves that grain can be carried cheaper by barges than in any other way.

5.—That vessels sailing from Ports on either Lake Michigan or Superior for Buffalo or Oswego have now to encounter the dangerous navigation of the St. Clair and Lake Erie, which might be entirely avoided were an outlet for their cargoes provided from the Georgian Bay Eastward equal to and capable of competing with the Erie Canal.

6.—That the distance to be travelled by vessels from the Sault St. Marie or the Straits of Mackinaw to the South-east corner of the Georgian Bay is about 500 miles less than to Buffalo and over a course free from the dangers to be encountered in reaching the latter port.

7.—That the entire distance from the South-east corner of the Georgian Bay to Montreal, by the Trent Valley Route, would be about 440 miles, as compared with 515 miles from Buffalo to New York.

8.—That between the South-east corner of the Georgian Bay and the St. Lawrence exist a chain of Lakes and Rivers which are now navigable for barges of a larger capacity than those used on the Erie Canal, for about four-fifths of the entire distance between these points.

9.—That an ample supply of water exists for the efficient working of what is commonly known as the proposed Trent Valley Canal.

10.—That from its Eastern terminus on the Bay of Quinte the barges which would be used on the said Canal could pass direct to and from Montreal.

11.—That in addition to being a most important factor in developing the North-west the completion of the Trent Valley Canal would be the means of securing to the Canadian Route the Lion's share of a trade which appears to be only in its infancy, and of developing the interest of a very large and important section of the Province of Ontario.

12.—That the construction of this Canal would be the means of shortening the Water Route between Chicago or Duluth and Montreal by 400 miles, besides materially reducing the present per mile cost of transport between these two points.

13.—That the opening up of this internal navigation to the St. Lawrence would be of such vast importance to the Dominion at large as to justify the country in incurring the expenditure required for its construction, which has been estimated by Engineers at less than $3,000,000.

Your Memorialists therefore earnestly pray that you will be pleased to take such steps as may be necessary to ensure the opening of the Trent Valley Canal, between Trenton and Lake Huron, with the least possible delay.

THE COLLECTOR'S ROLLS.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—It having been reported that some mistakes had been discovered in the Collector's Rolls, I understand the Chairman of the Finance Committee called an informal meeting of the members to inquire into the matter. They accordingly met informally, the matter in question not having been referred to them by the Council.

I understand that at that meeting there were some members of the Council present who were not members of the Finance Committee, among others, Mr. Robertson, of the Times, and it was distinctly understood, as I am informed by two members of the Finance Committee, that whatever transpired was not to be published in any paper until the whole matter was reported to the Council. So well was this understood that the reporter of the Review, who applied for permission to be present, was excluded.

To the surprise and disgust of every right thinking person, last Saturday's Times contained a full report of all that transpired in committee.

The assertion that the Auditors have been remiss in their duties is absurd. The duties of the auditors, as defined by law, are these:—

"The Auditors shall examine and report upon all accounts affecting the Corporation, or relating to any matter under its control or within its jurisdiction, for the year ending the 31st day of December preceding their appointment." R.O.S. cap. 174, sec. 255.

"The auditors shall prepare an abstract of the receipts, expenditures, assets and liabilities of the Corporation, and also a detailed statement of the said particulars in such form as the Council directs, and report in duplicate on all accounts audited by them, and make a special report of any expenditure made contrary to law, and shall file the same in the office of the Clerk of the Council, within one month after their appointment, and thereafter any inhabitant or ratepayer of the municipality may inspect one of such duplicate reports at all seasonable hours, and may by himself or his agent at his own expense, take a copy thereof or extracts therefrom."—R. S. O., Cap. 174, Sec. 256.

Under this section, Harrison's Municipal Manual classes the duties of auditors as follows:—

"1. To prepare an abstract of the receipts, expenditures, assets and liabilities of the Corporation.

2. To prepare a detailed statement of the said particulars in such form as the Council directs.

3. To report in duplicate on all accounts audited by them.

4. To make a special report of any expenditure made contrary to law.

5. To file the reports in the office of the Clerk of the Council within one month after appointment."

Now, in addition to these duties, to expect the auditors to examine the proceedings of the Court of Revision, the Judge's Court on Appeal, check the assessor's work, see that the Clerk has left no one off in copying, examine the by-laws levying the rate, verify each calculation of the Clerk in the Collector's Roll, and a multitude of other duties, all for the magnificent sum of $40, is so ridiculous on the face of it, that my only wonder is that any sane person can for a moment entertain any such idea. Why, the mere making out of the Collector's Roll with the descriptions and the calculations will occupy a period of at least two months of the Clerk's time, in conjunction with his other duties, if done correctly, and I have very grave doubts if any competent person would undertake the duty of making out the Collector's Roll of the Town of Peterborough for a less sum than $200.

Now, this talk of employing an "expert" to examine the rolls at an expense of probably six to eight hundred dollars is simply nonsense. It is the duty of the Council, and the Council shall, "upon the report of the auditors, finally audit and allow the accounts of the Treasurer and collector, and all accounts chargeable against the Corporation, and in case of charges not regulated by law, the Council shall allow what is reasonable."—R. S. O., Cap. 174, Sec. [illegible]

The law is quite clear; we need no outside help. Let the Council do their duty, as required by law, and as they have sworn to perform it. If they are incompetent to do what the Statute says is their duty, they had better make way for better men, and resign the honor of being Councillors.

If the Council, on examination, finds that there have been mistakes made—and where is the man to be found who is perfect?—by the Clerk in copying from the assessment roll or otherwise, and that parties have escaped payment of taxes, let those who have thus escaped be notified, and I have no doubt but that every right-minded man will pay the amount due, as I believe no person would be so devoid of what is right as to prevent payment of a just debt, and make an official, who barely could earn enough to keep body and soul together, foot the bill.

If what I hear is correct, viz.:—that the late Clerk, finding himself overworked, applied to the Council for assistance, which assistance was refused, then the Council, and not the Clerk, is to blame for these errors, as no man can do impossibilities. I think if a man is honest enough to tell his employer that he cannot do his task without assistance, and his employer pays no attention to his application, the employer, and not the employed, should be held responsible for any shortcomings.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The agitation in favor with the Trent Valley Canal continues, and indeed increases, in the section of the country through which, if it were built, it would pass. This is as it should be. There is nothing like agitation to bring success to such an enterprise. The public mind must have a subject presented to it repeatedly before it will wake up to a serious consideration of its importance. The Trent Valley Canal is an important subject and deserves the most serious consideration, and no doubt the way the subject has been discussed lately has set the public to thinking and the time has about come for some tangible plan to be presented, if the talk is not to end in gas and the public to weary of it and drop it; in which case the whole agitation will have to be repeated at a future date.—Cobourg Sentinel.

DIPTHERIA IN RUSSIA.

Terrible Mortality Almost Sweeping Away the Infant Population.

Berlin, Nov. 15.—Diptheria in Russia is gaining ground. The Novoe Vremja says that in some regions the per centage of mortality far exceeds the births. In the small district of Mirgorod, where the epidemic has been raging since 1875, four hundred and fourteen persons succumbed in 1876, and 1,500 in 1877. In Odessa since May last, 75 per cent of the children have died. In Stavordpol in four months half the infant population fell victims. In Kishenoff and its vicinity, Kieff and Poltova the the epidemic has been raging for two years. In Kaploon Olaka 50 children died in two weeks. In the hamlet of Nakomobka two hundred infants have died since January, in addition to a large number of adults. In the village of Tamorofka not one child escaped. The Mariojol district showed an average daily death roll of ten. More than eleven vast districts are affected. The mortality is so enormous that the Government has appointed an investigation commission under the physician in ordinary to the Emperor, and has issued injunctions to the local authorities about precautionary measures.

Carpeting the Mississippi at New Orleans.

In a recent issue the New Orleans Times states that nearly all of the first appropriation for laying cane mats along the river front, in the second and third districts of Orleans Parish, has been expended in the work.

Another appropriation of $50,000 was made in April last, and the department had advertised for bids upon the work, returnable on the 20th of October. The laying of the mats is done in a more satisfactory manner than ever before, as the men have greatly improved in skill by experience. The regular rate of speed now is two mats per diem, each mat having a length of two hundred feet and a breadth of twenty-six feet.

The mats are laid so as to lap upon one another about six feet on each side, and are weighted down to the bottom of the river by long canvas bags filled with sand. In September the workmen were engaged below Elysian Fields street. The work in the upper district will be begun when the lower work is finished. The latter is by far the most important, and owing to the presence of projecting wharves and of shipping, most costly and most difficult.

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head.

OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the soothing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhoea, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is Scott & Bowne's Emulsion of Palatable Castor Oil. Price 25 cents. d106-w45-1m

Messrs. Milburn, Bentley & Pearson,

Gentlemen,—Last fall I contracted a severe cold, which, by my neglect, settled on my lungs. I found every indication of the first stage of consumption, and, like many others, when almost too late, commenced to doctor up. I tried many remedies, but got no better; was almost satisfied I was incurable. Accidentally I heard of your Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and as a forlorn hope bought a bottle. I immediately felt relieved. After taking five (5) bottles I am cured, and never felt better in my life. I would heartily recommend your Hypophosphites.

ADVICE TO PROFESSIONAL MEN.

To professional men, men of business, and, indeed, all who are engaged in pursuits requiring more or less severe mental work, coupled with more or less confinement, exercise is, of course, the conditio sine qua non of a reaction to be recommended. The fact is so obvious (says a writer in the Nineteenth Century) that I need not dwell upon it further than to make one remark. This is to warn all such persons that feelings are no safe guide as to the amount of muscular exercise that is requisite for maintaining full and sustained health. By habitual neglect of sufficient exercise, the system may, and does, accommodate itself to such neglect; so that not only may the desire for exercise cease to be a fair measure of its need, but positive exhaustion may attend a much less amount of exercise than is necessary to long continuance of sound health. However strong and well, therefore, a man may feel notwithstanding his neglect of exercise, he ought to remember [illegible] a most dangerous game, and that sooner or later his sin will find him out—either in the form of dyspepsia, liver, kidney, or other disease, which so surely creep upon the offender against nature's laws of health. According to Dr. Parkes the amount of exercise that a healthy man ought to take without fatigue is at the least that which is required for raising 150 foot-tons per diem. This, in mere walking, would, in the case of a man of ordinary weight, be represented by a walk of between eight and nine miles along level ground, or one mile up a tolerably steep hill; but it is desirable that the requisite amount of exercise should be obtained without throwing all the work upon one set of muscles. For this reason walking out to be varied with rowing, riding, active games, and, where practicable, hunting or shooting, which, to those who are fond of sport, constitute the most perfect form of recreative exercise.

LATE STRAWBERRY APPLE OF CANADA.

I made the following extract descriptive of this Apple, from the last report—1878—of the Abbotsford Fruit Growers' Association of the Province of Quebec. "Late Strawberry, Winter Strawberry, has not yet been described in the reports of our Provincial Society. One tree of this variety was brought here by the late Col. O'Dwyer, about 1812, from the Spaulding nurseries on Shefford Mountain, the grafts of which came from New England. It also found its way into Brome, where it has long been known as Wheeler's Lawrence. In nursery, the tree is of slow growth and ungainly form. In orchard it forms a round, but "bushy" head, and needs much pruning. It bears its fruit on the ends of the twigs, causing the tree to become drooping soon after it attains bearing age. The fruit is above medium to large, roundish, somewhat oblate and conic, often angular and furrowed. Flesh yellowish, yielding, juicy, with a peculiar aromatic and sub-acid flavor. It begins to ripen a few specimens in August, and continues thus to ripen till the last of September. Those then barreled keep till February. This habit of uneven ripening is not against the fruit for family use. The tree is not to say long-lived, yet it bears so young and so regularly and heavily, and the furit is so salable that we recommend it as a profitable market fruit."

I have, this season, not only seen this Late Strawberry in market and on the tables at fairs, but have visited orchards where the apple is extensively grown, and am led to think it is a sort well worth the notice of those attempting fruit culture in the "cold North." I give it very much the preference over the Haas of the West, which it somewhat resembles, but exceeds in size as well as in quality. Careful examination makes it certain that this "Late Strawberry of Canada" is distinct from any of the "Strawberry" apples of the books.—T. H. H., in Rural New Yorker.

DO IT WELL.

Whatever you do, do it well. A job slighted because it is slightly unimportant, leads to habitual neglect, so that men degenerate, insensibly, into bad workmen.

"That is a good rough job," said a foreman in our hearing, recently, and he meant that it was a piece of work not elegant in itself, but strongly made and well put together.

Training the hand and eye to do work well leads individuals to form correct habits in other respects, and a good workman is, in most cases, a good citizen. No one need hope to rise above his present situation who suffers small things to pass away unimproved, or who neglects, metaphorically speaking, to pick up a cent because it is not a dollar.

Some of the wisest law-makers, the best statesmen, the most gifted artists, the most merciful judges, the most ingenious mechanics, rose from the great mass.

A rival of a certain lawyer sought to humiliate him publicly by saying: "You blacked my father's boots once." "Yes," replied the lawyer, unabashed, "and I did it well." And because of his habit of doing even mean things well, he rose to greater.

Take heart, all who toil! all youths in humble situations, all in averse circumstances, and those who labor unappreciated. If it be but to drive the plow, strive to do it well; if it be but to wax thread, wax it well; if only to cut bolts, make good ones; or to blow the bellows, keep the iron hot. It is attention to business that lifts the feet higher up on the ladder.

Says the good Book:—"Seest thou a man diligent in his business, he shall stand before kings; he shall not stand before mean men."

TREATMENT OF THE HAIR.

How to preserve the hair is a subject which seems to interest almost everybody, if we may judge from the frequent inquiries from every direction which come to this office. One wishes to know what will prevent baldness, another how to preserve their hair from turning gray, another how to eradicate dandruff, etc. Now it is a delicate matter to recommend any special treatment, but Professor Wilson, of England, who is deemed high authority on the hair, condemns washing it, and advises, instead, thorough brushing. This promotes circulation, removes scurf, and is in all respects, he says, better than water.

Cutting the hair does not, as commonly thought, promote its growth. Most of the specifics recommended for baldness, not excepting petroleum, are mere stimulants, and are seldom or never permanently successful. Some of them give rise to congestion of the scalp. When a stimulant is desirable, ammonia is the best.

For falling out of the hair, Dr. Wilson prescribes a lotion compound of water of ammonia, almond oil, and chloroform, one part each, diluted with five parts alcohol, or spirits of rosemary, the whole made fragrant with a drachm of oil of lemon. Dab it on the skin, after thorough friction with the hair brush. It may be used sparingly or abundantly, daily or otherwise.

For a cooling lotion, one made of two drachms of borax and glycerine to eight ounces of distilled water is effective, allaying dryness, subduing irritability, and removing dandruff.

Both baldness and grayness depend on defective powers of the scalp skin, and are to be treated alike. What is needed is moderate stimulation, without any irritation. The following is good:—Rub into the bare places daily, or even twice a day, a liniment of camphor, ammonia, chloroform, and aconite, equal parts each. The friction should be very gentle.

From the age of 16 to 80.

Thousands of people, from the age of sixteen to eighty years, are suffering from kidney complaints and other diseases arising from derangement of the urinary organs, who would be relieved by a few doses of Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi, and a permanent cure made by the use of a few bottles. MEDICAL AND SCIENTIFIC.

It cannot be too generally known that the ordinary calcined magnesia, mixed with water, is considered a certain antidote to numerous poisons, especially those of metallic origin, such as arsenic, corrosive sublimate, sulphate of zinc, etc. In cases of this deplorable kind two or three spoonfuls of magnesia mixed with water should at once be administered, which in all probability will save the patient until "the doctor comes."

DR. EBRARD, of Nimes, states that he has for many years treated all his cases of sciatica and neuralgic pains with an improved apparatus, consisting merely of a flat-iron and vinegar, two things that will be found in every house. The iron is heated until sufficiently hot to vaporise the vinegar, and is then covered with some woollen fabric, which is moistened with vinegar, and the apparatus is applied at once to the painful spot. The application may be repeated two or three times a day. Dr. Ebrard states that as a rule the pain disappears in twenty-four hours, and recovery ensues at once.

CHEMICAL science has recently succeeded in extracting the coloring matter from human hair. Diluted sulphuric acid is found to be the best solvent, and there appear to be three colouring pigments—yellow, red and black—all the shades being also produced by the mixture. It seems that in pure golden yellow hair there is only the yellow pigment; in red hair the red pigment is mixed with more or less yellow, producing the various shades of red and orange; in dark hair the black is always mixed with yellow and red, but the latter are overpowered by the black—it appearing that even the blackest hair, such as that of the negro, contains as much red pigment as the very reddest hairs.

AN interesting surgical case was recently reported by M. Larrey to the French Academy of Medicine. A young carpenter received a blow from an axe on his right foot. The big toe was almost completely detached; it was held merely by a small thread of skin, and hung on the side of the foot. Dr. Gavey, who was at once called in, detached the toe completely, then after having washed it and the wound on the foot, he adapted the two surfaces as well as possible one to the other, and made them hold together by means of strips of lint soaked with collodion and placed along the toe. When the collodion had set another strip was wound round. Further, an apparatus was used to keep all the parts of the foot in perfect immobility. Twelve days after, the dressing gave no bad smell, the patient was very well, and desired to go out, and twenty-four days after the accident the cicatrization was perfect.

DR. BALFOUR, in The Edinburgh Medical Journal, records three cases in which much benefit was afforded patients by the eating of raw onions in large quantities. They acted as a diuretic in each instance. Case first was a woman who had suffered from a large white kidney and constriction of the mitral valve of the heart; her abdomen and legs had been tapped several times, but after using onions as above she had been free from dropsy for two years, although still suffering from albuminuria. In the second case the patient suffered from heart disease, cirrhotic liver and dropsy; and in the third case there was dropsy depending on tumor of the liver. Both had been previously tapped, purgatives and diuretics alike having failed to give relief. All other treatment having failed, recourse was had to the onions, and the amount passed steadily rose from ten or fifteen ounces to seventy-eight or one hundred.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE AND ICE-WATER.—A Baltimore druggist of experience and ample opportunity for observation has advanced the idea that Bright's disease is attributable to the immoderate use of ice water and cold drinks. He cites the fact that the people of this country use 90 per cent. more ice in their drinks than the people of any other country, Greenlanders not excepted. We have 75 per cent. more of Bright's disease. He cites the fact that the wine-drinking countries of Europe are comparatively free from the malady. Travelers have observed and commented upon the prejudice which seems to exist against ice-water and iced drinks in all countries outside the United States. The Englishman and the German fairly shun ice, though placed within easy reach of boundless quantities of it, and the Frenchman who sips the light wines would as soon think of taking an emetic as of chilling his stomach with an iced draught. Our drug friend points to the fact that Bright's disease has kept pace in this country with the increased consumption of ice, and claims that before ice became a common household necessity the malady was scarcely known among physicians. There may be something in this theory.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

To make old plaster-of-Paris busts that have become dirty look like new, give them a dead coat of china white.

THE glass jars that have been emptied of the earlier summer fruits may be immediately used again in preserving later fruits, etc.

MUTTON pies should be made of the best flour, and the meat well spiced. Use rings when making them in order to make the paste stand up.

To get rid of black beetles mix together one cupful of sugar, one of oatmeal, and one of plaster-of-Paris in powder, and sprinkle about their haunts.

STEPPING-STONES are a late invention. In the reign of Queen Elizabeth and James I., large stone were used, inscribed with texts of Scripture, for this purpose.

FEW housekeepers are aware of the danger arising from unwholesome air. People generally pay some attention to what they eat and drink, but seldom regard what goes into their lungs, though the latter proves often the more fatal of the two. The great safeguard is ventilation at all times.

A PHYSICIAN, speaking of the harm done to very young children from eating meat says:—"If the Lord had wished us to eat meat at the age of twenty months, he would have give us a full set of teeth ready for use at that time." Nature, under the judicious watchfulness of the parents, will indicate the proper use of this article of living to housekeepers.

CANARIES that are not properly cared for will be infested with lice, for which a little aniseed mixed with the gravel on the floor is a preventive. Epilepsy is caused by too rich food; the cure is in quiet and a simpler diet. In cases of diarrhœa put a rusty nail in the drinking water and chalk, broken fine, on the floor, omitting all green food. A bird well cared for—and the care is by no means great—is a cheerful and cheering companion.

HIGH HEELS.—Treating on the subject of health, a French doctor directs attention to the pernicious effects of high-heeled diminutive boots. As early as 1630 the poet Coquillard good-humouredly chaffs the ladies of his time for wearing "shoes with twenty-four soles"; and in 1665 Colletet complained that his female friends would insist on adding six inches to their height through the aid of the shoe-maker. It is no longer open to us to smile at the singular customs of the Chinese in this matter. When will ladies have shoes made for their feet, instead of attempting to make their feet fit unnaturally-shaped shoes?

MISCELLANEOUS.

A SINGLE Belleville house, Lingham & Co., cattle dealers, are said to have orders for 2,000 head of cattle for the English market to be delivered before Christmas. Shipment will be made from Boston.

THE P.O. Savings Bank Department shows a net increase of deposits during the month of September of $70,254.73. In addition to this increase $12,400 of depositors funds were invested for their account in Dominion 5 per cent stock.

POPULAION OF THE UNITED STATES.

The general rate of increase has been remarkably steady since the commencement of the century, shown by the following table:—

1790	3,929,827	1840	17,069,453
1800	5,305,925	1850	23,191,876
1810	7,239,914	1860	31,443,321
1820	9,638,131	1870	38,558,371
1830	12,866,020	1880(est)	50,858,000

Between 1790 and 1860 the rate of increase was from 32 to 36 per cent., but between 1860 and 1870—the years of the war—it fell to 22½ per cent. Two points are very remarkable throughout the States—first, the extraordinary rapid increase of the large cities; second, the persistent migration of population westward. New York, the population of which in 1860 was 813,669, reached the figure of 942,292 in 1870, and is now over a million. At the time of the revolution of 1776 the cities of Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia contained from 20,000 to 30,000 inhabitants, whereas at the last census they had respectively 250,000, 267,000, and 674,400. Chicago, at the beginning of this century a small village, is now a city of 300,000; and St. Louis, which in 1824 was only an Indian trapping station, now contains 310,000 inhabitants. The other cities possessing over 100,000 are Cincinnati, 216,000; New Orleans, 191,000; San Francisco, 149,000; Buffalo, 117,714; Washington, 109,000; Newark, 105,059; Louisville, 100,753. The gravitation westward of the population has been most marked. In 1800 the centre of population was in the longitude of Washington; in 1840, of Pittsburg; in 1870, of Cincinnati; and next year it will probably be found at Indianapolis. In connection with this migratory feature, the population statistics at the last census of the western Territories are of interest—viz:—Arizona, 9,658; Colorado, 39,864; Columbia, 31,700; Dakota, 14,181; Idaho, 14,999; Montana, 20,595; New Mexico, 91,874; Utah, 86,786; Washington, 23,955; Wyoming, 9,118.—Canadian Spectator.

An Ingenious Hint.

An amusing anecdote, of which Prince Bismarck and Lord Odo Russell are the heroes, is published in the Vienna Neue Freie Presse. One day when the English ambassador was calling on the Chancellor, the conversation happened to turn on the numerous and annoying visits the latter had to undergo owing to his high position. "How do you manage to get out of them?" asked Lord Odo. "Oh! I have several little dodges," replied the Chancellor with a smile. "For instance, I have arranged with my wife to enter the room and request my presence elsewhere on some pretext or another, whereupon of course my visitor has to leave." Hardly were the words out of his mouth when Princess Bismarck opened the door and told her husband not to forget that the hour for taking his medicine had arrived. The effect of this announcement on the Prince and his visitor may be imagined, but Lord Odo took the incident in good part, and, after exchanging a laugh and a cordial shake hands with the Chancellor, took the hint and his departure.

The Reverend Father Mooney, of St. Bridget's Church in New York, late Chaplain of the 69th Regiment, N. Y., knows Dr. Giles intimately, he having served with him during the war and he advises all the afflicted to use Dr. Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

It is said by many, first try one remedy, and then another, but we find in the great majority of cases that those who try Hagyard's Yellow Oil for all purposes of a liniment, have no use for any other preparation, it does its work so effectually that none others need to be applied. It is equally good for man or beast, and can be used internally for Croup, Whooping Cough, and Asthma, externally for Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises, Chilblains, Burns, Scalds, and all Pains and Aches, from whatever cause they may occur. Sold by all dealers at 25 cents per bottle. w47d115-2w

Not on the Poet Stage.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable. d106-w45-1m

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1879.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

Town Council.

Our Civic Fathers will meet in the Town Council Chamber this evening.

I. O. G. T.

Peterborough Lodge No. 340, I.O.G.T., has a very interesting programme for the good of the order to night. All good templars are invited to participate.

Peterborough Lacrosse Club.

A special meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club will be held at the Choate House on Tuesday evening, November 18th, at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

C. O. F.

Court Peterborough of the Canadian Order of Foresters will meet in their Hall on Wednesday evening. As a new endowment law transmitted from the High Court will be considered every member should be present.

P. B. C.

There will be a meeting of the Peterborough Boating Club this evening, for the purpose of auditing the account, electing a secretary-treasurer in place of Mr. Braithwaite, who is leaving, and the transaction of other important business.

Off for the Shanties.

Another squad of men numbering 22 left this morning for the bush. They go to Mr. R. C. Strickland's shanties. A large number of men are already on the ground and others go to follow.

New Street Crossings.

The new street crossings put down by the Street Inspector at the corner of Hunter and Water streets, last week, have made a great improvement to that locality. Simcoe street, opposite the Fireman's Hall, is receiving the Inspector's attention.

The Scotch Vocalist.

All who wish to hear the renowned Scotch Vocalist, Hamilton Corbet, will bear in mind that he appears this evening in Bradburn's Hall. The indications are that there will be a crowded house, so that those who have not already secured seats should be on hand early.

Sale of Farms.

Of the three farms offered at auction by Mr. Chas. Stapleton, on Saturday at the Stewart House, only one was sold. The valuable farm in North Douro known as the "John Sullivan farm," near the Indian river, comprising 122½ acres was purchased by Messrs. Pousette and Rogers for $2,335.00. The two other farms were withdrawn.

A Land Sale.

A five acre lot in the Township of Douro, near Curtis's brick yard for sale at auction. The five acre lot together with the house and lot in the town will be sold at auction by Mr. Chas. Stapleton on Saturday next, at 3 p. m., on the premises, south side of Smith street opposite the property of Judge Dennistoun near the Smith street bridge.

A Lively Saturday Evening.

The streets presented a lively scene on Saturday evening last. The fair sex, who had been confined within doors so long by the unfavorable condition of the weather, improved the fine evening and were out in full force, to see and be seen, as also to enjoy the enlivening music of the Fire Brigade Band, who gave an open air concert at the Post Office corner. Crowds gathered around to listen to the fine music.

Militia Gazette.

The Canada Gazette contains the following appointments:—

"57th "Peterborough" Battalion of Infantry.—No. 1 Company, Peterborough.—To be Lieutenant, provisionally: Nicholas Du Bois Beck, Gentleman, vice Dixon, promoted. No. 3 Company, Ashburnham.—To be Lieutenant, provisionally: Staff Sergeant Richard Birdsall Rogers, vice Dodman, retired. To be 2nd Lieutenant, provisionally: Frederick William Gordon Haultain, Gentleman, vice G. C. Rogers, promoted."

Damage to a Midland Car.

On Thursday evening last the east bound train on the Grand Trunk, having the Peterborough car attached, was switched off at Duffin's Creek to allow a west bound train to pass. It seems the train was a long one, and the Midland's passenger coach was not sufficiently on the siding to prevent being run into by the locomotive of the passing train. The result was a smash of the Midland car. There were several passengers for Peterborough in the coach at the time, but no one was hurt. The car was considerably damaged.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: fresh to brisk, westerly to northerly winds; cloudy to partly cloudy colder weather with snow flurries. The above condition are applicable to Peterborough, except the snow, which had not made its appearance up to 4 o'clock. The weather on Saturday evening was pleasant, [illegible] over us, making it dangerous to venture out without an umbrella. There was a white frost last night.

POLICE COURT.

[illegible]

MONDAY, Nov. 17.—There has been a busy morning at the Police Court to-day. The first case called was Constable John McGhee vs. —— Shea. The complainant charges Shea with having been drunk on Saturday night, and unable to take proper care of his team. The Constable sent him home with his friends, who became responsible for his appearance this morning, while he, McGhee, took care of his team. The defendant pleaded guilty to the charge. He was fined $2.00, and costs, $1.00.

SELLING LIQUOR WITHOUT LICENSE.

The License Inspector, Mr. Aaron Cox, charged John O'Neil with selling liquor without a license. Mr. O'Neil pleaded guilty to the charge, but urged that he was entitled to get a license. The magistrate informed the accused that the law did not recognize any other right but the license. He also informed Mr. O'Neil that a second offence would subject him to imprisonment for three months at hard labour, without a fine. He was fined $20,00, the lowest penalty allowed by law, and $2.50 costs, to be paid before the 24th inst.

The second case was that of Aaron Cox vs. James B. Dunn, charging him with selling liquor, and keeping the same exposed for sale without a license. He pleaded not guilty. Mr. Cox, the Inspector, was then sworn, and said,—Mr. Dunn keeps groceries and liquors at his place on George street. On Saturday, Nov. 1st, he went into the store and saw two decanters on the bar; one containing rye whiskey, and the other malt whiskey, with two tumblers. There were two young men about to take a drink. Dunn said to witness that he was caught, and if he would say nothing about it he would not sell any more. Upon hearing this evidence, Dunn refused to be sworn. The Magistrate, as in the preceding case, admonished him of the danger he would be in if he again attempted to sell, and fined him $30, with $2.50 costs, to be paid on or before the 24th inst.

REFUSING TO PAY WAGES.

JESSIE MACK vs. TURVER. Mr. Wood appeared for the defendant. The complainant charges the non-payment of $23.00, a balance of wages. The defence sets forth that the amount claimed was not correct, the balance being $5.80, which he had offered to pay. The Magistrate, after hearing the evidence of both sides, gave judgment for $5.80 and costs, $3.50.

BOBCAYGEON.

BURGLARY.—The Independent says: Some time during Saturday night or Sunday morning, the boot and shoe store of Mr. S. Murray was burgled. The burglars obtained entrance by drilling with an auger around the lock on the back door. Eighteen holes were bored. A number of pairs of boots and shoes, and a small sum of money, was carried away as plunder.

THE HORSE CASE.—The young fellow from Millbrook, who stole the horse from Mr. Beckett, of Galway, was brought before the magistrate, G. Bick, Esq., and was committed for trial to the Assizes.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

THE REFORMS CONSENTED TO.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 15.—The Sultan has ratified the scheme of reforms for the European Provinces of Turkey and Asia Minor, and consented to recognize the principle of ministerial responsibility.

PREPARING FOR RESISTANCE.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—After conferring with Prince Labanoff, the Sultan ordered the re-equipment of the forts at the Dardanelles. A considerable number of guns have been sent there.

THE SOURCE OF THE NIGER.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—A Paris correspondent reports that two French explorers discovered the source of the Niger in September.

AMNESTY QUESTION IN FRANCE.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—A Paris correspondent says a compromise on the amnesty question will be made when the motion for further amnesty is presented in the Chamber of Deputies. The Ministry will state that their opinions are unchanged and further amnesty is unnecessary, but will not make it a Cabinet question. The Chamber of Deputies may then enquire into the individual cases of those remaining unamnested.

SPAIN'S ROYAL MARRIAGE.

MADRID, Nov. 15.—Owing to the large amounts derived for the relief of the sufferers by the late floods, a change in the programme of the coming festivities on the occasion of the Royal marriage has been made, and the union between the King and the Archduchess Marie will be celebrated with all the usual pomp and splendour. The Pope and other potentates have already sent presents to King Alfonso. An Admiral has left Paris with a numerous staff of officers carrying the gifts of France to the young King.

LORD SALISBURY SATISFIED.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 15.—The Turkish Ambassador at London has telegraped the Porte that Lord Salisbury is satisfied with the explanations presented by the Ambassador. He believes that he convinced Lord Salisbury that the reports of an understanding between Turkey and Russia were unfounded.

THE PORTE'S DILEMMA.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 15.—The Turkish Ministry is divided in opinion. One portion, headed by Osman Pasha, favours an alliance with Russia. Disorders are increasing throughout the country. Even within sixty miles of Constantinople the Circassians are robbing and murdering the inhabitants.

RUMPA REBELLION REVIVING.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—A despatch from India says that the Rumpa rebellion appears to be reviving. The ring-leader has recovered from his illness, and is committing outrages. Fever prevails among the troops and the police.

ON THE GERMAN FRONTIER.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—A Berlin correspondent asserts that there is reason to regard the news of a considerable concentration of Russian troops on the eastern frontier of Germany as well-founded.

THE NEW CABLE.

NORTH EASTHAM, Nov. 15.—The shore end of the new French cable was landed last evening, and signals were exchanged with the steamer Faraday. To-day the final splice will be made, and the new cable will be worked throughout the entire circuit from Cape Cod to Brest.

TRADE DEPRESSION.

GENEVA, Nov. 15.—The great council of Berne has requested the Government to adopt a scheme for the execution of public works, with a view to provide employment for the destitute during the winter. Of a dozen glass and iron smelting works that a few years ago were in active operation in Bernesejua, all but two are entirely closed, and those are working at a loss, finding it impossible to complete with foreign manufactures.

THE FEVER STILL LINGERING.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 16.—A Frankfort, Ky., special reiterates the statement that yellow fever still lingers in Memphis, but information of its presence is suppressed by the authorities and the newspapers. The special claims to have knowledge from direct sources of about ten cases of refugees having died from the disease, although they returned to the city after frost was announced.

DROUGHT IN VIRGINIA.

PETERSBURG, Va., Nov. 16.—The drought which prevailed to an alarming extent in this section for the past three months is causing great anxiety. The wells and streams are drying up. In some counties, people are compelled to travel miles in search of water for family use. In several churches here to-day prayers were offered for rain.

AMERICAN.

FINANCIAL DOCTORS DIFFER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The Journal of Commerce, of Washington, says that Comptroller Knox is firmer than ever in the conviction that sound financeering demands the retirement of the Greenbacks. He thinks that if the present remarkable influx of gold continues, something will have to be done towards contracting the paper currency, else there will ensue unhealthful speculation followed by ruinous depression. It is well known that Sherman differs radically from Knox on this subject.

THE FALL OF A SCAFFOLD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Six painters were precipated thirty feet by a falling scaffold at Williamsburg Ferry this morning. Two were badly injured.

DELIBERATE SUICIDE.

ELIZABETH, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Henry Kalesh shot himself twice yesterday. It is believed that he resides in Colorado. He may recover.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

PATERSON, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Jacob Jaudford was buried in a mass of broken stone this morning, and was crushed to death.

THE CROP PROSPECTS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The department of agriculture reports that the cotton crop shows a decided increase during October. The estimated yield makes a deficit in the year's crop of 290,000 bales. The wheat returns show an increase of 26,000,000 bushels over last year. The tobacco product as indicated is 97 per cent of last year's. The corn crop promises an increase of over 20,000,000 bushels, or nearly 15 per cent.

SUPPOSED SUICIDE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The body of a young man was found to-day in Harlem Lake, at the upper end of the Central Park. It is supposed to be that of Charles Becker, aged 22, who has been missing from his home since Oct. 20th. It is probably a case of suicide.

A GANG OF ROUGHS.

DAVENPORT, Iowa, Nov. 15.—A well to do carpenter named Conrad Wuttick, for refusing to treat a gang of drunken roughs at Rock Island yesterday was attacked, and his skull was crushed. Patrick Gaany, one of the assailants, was arrested.

ALLEGED SEDUCTION.

SHERMAN, Texas, Nov. 15.—W. P. Greenlaw, one of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens here, suicided last night with morphine. The cause is said to be criminal intimacy between his wife and Rev. Conrad Haney, one of the most eloquent ministers in Texas. The community is greatly excited, and threats against the alleged seducer are freely made.

SWEPT AWAY BY THE CURRENT.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Nov. 15.—Albert Woodwards wife and two daughters, in attempting to cross a river ford, two miles from Columbus, in a waggon were swept away by the current. Mrs. Woodward and her daughters were drowned. Woodward after attempting to cut the mules loose from the waggon was washed away and stranded on the bank.

POISONED BY PHOSPHORUS.

CARP, Nov. 15.—Last evening a child aged two years, named McGillivray, of Carp village, ate the heads off twenty-five lucifer matches. The parents, not knowing the danger, did not summon medical aid until the morning, seventeen hours after the fatal dose, when Dr. G. H. Groves was called in; but the child was then dying, death occurring in less than an hour.

MISS SICKLES' ELOPEMENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Private telegrams state that the daughter of Gen. Dan. E. Sickles eloped with an Englishman named McCarthy to London. Miss Sickles is twenty-six years of age, and highly accomplished. Her acquaintance with McCarthy began several months ago while she was living in Paris with her stepmother and stepsisters. The affair culminated when Sickles arrived recently for the purpose of bringing the family to New York. McCarthy is said to have a wife living, and his social connections are very flimsy indeed. After the first shock of the surprise, Gen. Sickles resolved to pursue the pair. He left for London, but on reaching that city all trace of the fugitives was lost. Securing detectives the father succeeded in discovering them, and had them arrested. The affair created quite a sensation in American circles in Paris and London, where the lady is well known in society.

CHEATING THE CUSTOMS.

Julius B. Puigs, of the firm of Pinner & Puigs, importers of kid gloves, was arrested this afternoon, charged with defrauding the customs by fraudulent invoices. The amount of his frauds, it is said, will cover many thousand dollars. His store and goods in the warehouse have been seized in default of $40,000 bail in each case. Puigs was committed to Ludlow Street gaol. A civil suit has also been commenced.

OFFICIAL CORRUPTION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—R. McGinnis, Chief of the Bureau Inspection of the Department of Buildings, has been arrested. He is charged with accepting a bribe of $250 for the privilege of rebuilding and repairing houses.

A COLLEGE REBELLION.

MIDDLEBURY, Nov. 15.—The Sophomore class of Middlebury College went into voluntary suspension the day before yesterday, and the senior and junior to-day. The faculty have suspended the two lower classes, and will suspend the others. Every student engaged in the rebellion. The trouble grows out of an alleged unjust action of the faculty toward a member of the Sophomore class.

SUCCESS OF CUBAN INSURENTS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A Havana letter, dated 9th inst., states that 3,200 insurgents, under Angeel Guerra, made a foraging expedition on the 4th inst., in the vicinity of Holguin. The Spanish General Valera, with 2,300 men met the insurgents at Barrancas, and lost 200 killed and wounded. He retreated to Holguin, and was cooped up there and incessantly harassed by the insurgents. Gen. Blanco, with 4,200 men, marched to Valera's relief. The insurgents then raised an investment of the place, having sacked several stores in the outskirts of the city, besides capturing valuable booty from Valera's command. Part of the Cuban force branched off under Gen. Benitez, crossing a line between an eastern province and Camaguey, for the purpose of invading the latter. Jucaro was pillaged and destroyed. At Los Guasimas a muster camp was established in an inaccessible spot to rally the country people to their standard. The main column headed towards Puerto Principe, where plenty of cattle and recruits can be obtained, with the mountain region near in case of necessity. A vigorous, relentless campaign will be inaugurated, extending to San Miguel de Baga and Mieivitas, where the sugar estates, telegraph and railroad will be destroyed.

THE NOTORIOUS TRAIN ROBBER.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15.—The question whether the notorious train robber, Jesse James, was killed is in doubt. A special despatch from St. Louis reports the capture of Cummings, who was with James at the time of the alleged killing. That he pursued Sheppard and received a shot in the leg which led to his capture. He says that Sheppard's story of killing James is true.

BOTH for $2.80!

☛To Farmers and Horticulturists

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year. for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.50! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—2 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Force says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, as far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavoured, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $20 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, last season, at the rate of 86 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri. Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kaempferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH, Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root. Ipomoea leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

THE PERUVIANS RIOTOUS.

VALPARAISO, Oct. 22.—On the arrival at Lima of the news of the capture of the Huascar a riotous, popular and military demonstration against the President and the Government was made. The Peruvian Cabinet resigned next day.

FRANCE'S SURPLUS FUNDS.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—M. Leon Say, Minister of Finance, estimates the total surplus accruing from the budgets anterior to 1880 at 172,000,000 francs. Of this amount he will devote 60,000,000 for public works, 20,000,000 for the exhibition expenses of 1879, and 80,000,000 for the construction of country roads.

LACK OF PORTS.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—In consequence of the lack of suitable wintering ports in the Russian portion of the river Niemen, the German Government has agreed to permit Russian steamers to winter at Tilsit.

SOUTH AMERICAN WAR.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A despatch from Valparaiso says the Chilians are advancing and the Bolivians are retiring in consequence of dissensions. There is great public rejoicing in Valparaiso over the capture of the Huascar.

TROOPS FOR CUBA.

Intelligence has been received that the Government has telegraphed to the Captains-General throughout Spain to hold in readiness to start before the end of the year, portions of the troops now under their control, which are destined to reinforce Cuba.

THE FUTURE QUEEN OF SPAIN.

VIENNA, Nov. 17.—The Arch-duchess Marie Christine officially renounced her right to the Austrian succession on Saturday. Accompanied by her mother she started from Vienna to-day for Madrid via Paris.

THE BRITISH FLEET.

MALTA, Nov. 17.—Admiral Hornby yesterday countermanded the order to the Channel Fleet to be in readiness to proceed eastward in four days.

MUTINOUS SAILORS.

ANTWERP, Nov. 17.—The Consular Court to enquire into the killing of a sailor on board the British ship Caringa during a mutiny on Nov. 3rd, has been held. It has ordered that Cutting, the mate who struck the sailor a fatal blow with a hatchet, be sent to England for trial on a charge of manslaughter, and sentenced three of the mutinous sailors to a month's imprisonment each.

CABINET COUNCIL.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A Cabinet Council to-day was called by telegraph at very short notice. It sat over an hour. All the Ministers were present except Viscount Sandon and the Duke of Richmond.

DUKE OF ARGYLL'S SPEECH.

The Marquis of Salisbury has written a letter to the Times replying to the Duke of Argyll's charges of untruthfulness made in his speech at Leeds on Friday last.

INCENDIARISM IN IRELAND.

Despatches from Dublin announce that cases of incendiarism are increasing through Ireland.

WELL DESERVED HONOUR.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The jury empanelled at the International Exhibition of Science applied to Industry in France has just awarded the diploma of honour to the signal corps of the United States army for the most perfect system of collecting and utilizing meteorological data for the benefit of commerce and navigation. The diploma is the highest award accorded, and it was well deserved, as the American exhibit was very complete.

THE IRISH NATIONAL PROGRAMME.

DUBLIN, Nov. 17.—The Irish National Convention adopted an amended programme, contemplating absolute autonomy for Ireland, with a nominal franchise of qualifications and increasing the system of the county borough representation.

LAND MEETING AT ROSCOMMON.

A great land meeting was held at Roscommon yesterday, at which Mr. Parnell delivered a lengthy speech. The meeting refused to hear the O'Connor Don and others. Major O'Connor has reduced his rents from 40 to 70 per cent.

AMERICAN.

A BIG GAS CASE.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 17.—In settlement of a case the city will have to pay the Gas Co. $538,000 for gas consumed during several years prior to the commencement of litigation, and interest. The court costs and attorneys' fees will increase the aggregate nearly a million dollars. The receiver of the Gas Co. has almost a million dollars in his possession in the way of profits realized since his appointment about 3 years ago, and this with the amount due to the Co. by the city under this decision will pay on the company's stock a hundred and sixty per cent. This stock in $50 shares sold last week at 32. To-day, after the decision of the court was known, $200 was bid for it.

LE PERE DE AMBROISE, of the French Church on Twenty-third street, New York, devotes his life to visiting the poor and the afflicted, and he not only gives the consolation of religion, but prescribes the use of Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia, and instant relief is experienced.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

FAMINE AND WAR.

PESTH, Nov. 18.—The distress in Montenegro is very great. One-sixth of the population is almost starving. The present supplies of food will only last until January. There is severe fighting on the frontier near Beravetsha.

PURCHASING IRON-CLADS.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 18.—The Argentine Government has ordered two iron-clads to be purchased in Europe.

BONDS IN PLACE OF GOLD.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The smallness of the withdrawls of bullion from the Bank of England is due to the facts that bonds are going to America instead of gold.

AN OLD CRUISER WRECKED.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The former confederate cruiser, the Shenandoah, has sunk off the Island of Socotra in the Indian Ocean, the date being unknown. Most of the crew were drowned. The Shenandoah belonged to the Sultan of Zanzibar.

ENGLAND AND TURKEY.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Post, our official authority, denies that England's ultimatum was sent to the Porte, or that the Channel fleet was ordered to be in readiness to proceed from Malta to Turkish waters in four days, or that England demanded from Turkey the cession of a fort in the Black Sea, or that a league of the Balkan provinces has been formed.

THREATENED DESTRUCTION.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The village of Vitznau, at the foot of the Rigi mountain in Switzerland, is threatened with destruction. The wall of rock behind the village is showing signs of falling.

AMERICAN.

LOW WATER IN THE OHIO.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18.—There is a general stir among the steamers in the Ohio, preparing for a rise in the river. The low water lasted for nearly four months, a longer period than was known before in the last 20 years. By Saturday it is hoped that the largest steamers will be able to resume business. There is general rejoicing over the assurance that several million bushels of coal now afloat will reach here before the cold weather.

SAVAGE AFFRAY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Patrick Collins, aged 23, of Throg's Neck, while on a spree on Sunday, struck Geo. Douglas, a former school mate, because he refused to drink. Douglas struck his assistant with a water pitcher, inflicting probably fatally injuries. Douglas has fled.

ELECTION INSPECTORS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Kings County canvassers, who decided yesterday not to count for Schroeder, a candidate for the Senate, certain ballots upon which his name as returned by the Inspectors was misspelled, subsequently reconsidered their action and decided to have the inspectors correct their returns.

THE ELECTION EXCITEMENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Herald's Augusta, Me., despatch says the excitement among the Republicans over the election matter is ridiculous. The council are much incensed at the indignities heaped upon them by Blaine and his Republican allies. No effort will be made to gain the control of the Legislature by any unfair or arbitrary methods.

FAMILY SECRETS.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 18.—The will of the late M. W. Beltzhoover, a well known bachelor merchant, now reveals the existence of a son, who gets half a million. The boy's mother now lives at Cincinnati. She is married, and occupies a good social position.

REBELLIOUS STUDENTS.

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., Nov. 18.—The faculty of Middlebury College held a conference with the students yesterday concerning the recent difficulty. The faculty declare that discipline must be maintained, and have decided that the recalcitrant students must go home for consultation.

MINING DIVIDENDS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—The Eureka Consolidated Mine has declared a monthly dividend of $1, and the Bodie a monthly dividend of 50 cents.

ELECTION TACTICS.

AUGUSTA, M., Nov. 18.—Yesterday a committee of one from each county had a long consultation with the Governor. It resulted in an assurance from the latter that the returns would not be considered open in the sense of allowing any amendment or corrections under statute until the committee of the council on elections should report the results of their canvass to the Governor and Council, and that there would be 20 days from that time for any legal corrections. It is rumored that the town of Kittery is to be thrown out, because, as is alleged, two notices of the election, instead of three, were posted. This would change the result in York County by throwing out three Republican and electing three Democrat Senators. A similar case is reported in the city of Auburn, where it is alleged the notice of the election was posted 6 days only instead of 7. If this is thrown out it will change the vote in Androscoggin County. Similar corrections on alleged technical grounds will change the figures in the State Senate, and give the Democrats and Greenbackers 19 Senators and Republicans 12. The actual vote as cast gives the Republicans 19, and all others 12.

STOCK EXCHANGE WARNING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Sun says that the break in the stock market yesterday seems to be due mainly to a desire to realize profits, and it will be noticed that sound dividend and interest paying securities have not been effected. Nevertheless it should be a warning to purchasers of fancy stocks on narrow margins, as showing how a very slight cause may any day precipitate a fall, which would sweep away their whole venture.

THE MISSING AERONAUT.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18.—Considerable excitement was created among the friends of Prof. Wise, by the announcement that a bottle had been found near Paducah, containing a note signed Wise, and dated Path-finder, Oct. 22nd, stating, "The balloon is in a bad condition and is going 65 miles an hour. I am almost dead of exhaustion and hunger. It is eleven days since Burr's death, good bye. The handwriting is recognized by some as that of Wise, but the story is not generally credited.

WEST INDIAN MAILS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Post-master General Key says in his annual report that he will recommend Congress to appropriate the necessary funds to enable him to make contracts with American steamship lines for carrying mails to the West. India and the Spanish main, while not favoring subsidies, he wishes to place the South American and West India mail service on equal terms with the domestic steamboat or railroad service.

A LARGE LEGACY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Henry Reiss, of Hoboken, has fallen heir to half a million by the death of his uncle in Germany, who left 6 millions to his nephew and nieces.

RISE IN SUGAR.

The announcement of the uprising in Cuba has caused a further rise in sugar.

SKILFUL FORGERIES.

A forged check for $600 was paid at the Bank of the State of New York on Saturday. Yesterday a check for $1,875, with the same signature, was presented by a young man giving his name as Walker. He was arrested, and the check proved to be a skilful forgery.

A LINK WITH THE PAST.

John Church Crager died in this city on Sunday, aged 72. His great-grandfather was the first Mayor of New York.

A DOMESTIC TRAGEDY.

Oscar Hollstein, on account of whose intimacy with Mrs. Henry Honsman the husband of the latter a year ago killed his three children and himself, committed suicide on Sunday. After Honsman's death Hollstein lived with Mrs. Honsman until her death from dissipation.

UNITED STATES FINANCES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—A Washington special report to the Tribune says:—A gentleman connected with the Government finances abroad, believes that before the Government can refund the 5 per cents, the larger portion now abroad will return, as Europe will send our bonds, instead of gold, to settle balances. He reports an excellent feeling in all money centres abroad in regard to the credit of the United States, which has been greatly strengthened by the results of the late elections.

MILLS BURNED.

BALTIMORE Nov. 18.—Webb & Son's flouring mill at Calverton have been burned. The loss is $15,000.

HEAVY SWEDISH FAILURE.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 18.—Hafare Hammerly and Company have failed with liabilities amounting to 7,000,000 crowns.

THE MAYOR OF NEW YORK

ALBANY, Nov. 18.—The Governor has received no complaint against Mayor Cooper, nor any application for his suspension.

TOOMBS' DESPATCH.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—The despatch from Toombs concerning Grant's reception has been compared with the original and found correct in every word. Hence there was no garbling in the transmission.

WRECKED ON THE LAKE.

OSWEGO, N.Y., Nov. 18.—The tug Seymour, of Odensburg, left Cape Vincent at 1 p.m. yesterday with four tugs, three dredges and eight scows in tow for Buffalo. During last night all the dredges and three of the tugs were lost. The fourth tug was picked up off this harbor about 9 a.m. to-day with no one on board. The tug Seymour ran into Sackett's Harbor. Of the crews of the dredges, tugs and scows, twenty-eight persons, twenty-two were lost. The tow was owned by John Hickler, of Buffalo. The dredges were recently employed on the Lachine and Cornwall Canals.

INCREASE OF BULLION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Treasurer Gilfillan's annual report says aggregate coin and bullion increased from $61,482,000 in 1876 to $114,464,000 in 1877, to $163,969,000 in 1878, and to $222,807,000 in 1879.

THE MAYOR'S SUSPENSION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Tribune says the rumor that Mayor Cooper will be suspended probably arose from the talk of some anti-Tilden Democrats, that the Mayor would be suspended as soon as Cornwall was inaugurated.

IRON MINING.—Nearly one hundred men are now employed at the Forsyth Iron Mines, which have been recently opened.

TEST CASE.—A test case of national importance will be argued before the Supreme Court to-morrow. It is to test the power of the Local Legislature to enforce conditions upon insurance companies doing business in Canada, the contention being that insurance should be considered as a matter of commerce, and solely within the jurisdiction of the Federal Parliament.

THE COLLECTOR'S ROLLS

In view of the fact that a partial investigation has shown that errors (real or apparent) have occurred in making up the collector's rolls for the town on several occasions, the Council have wisely resolved to have the matter investigated, although we very much fear that the gentlemen chosen to make the investigation (Messrs. Jas. Hogan, jr., and Wm. Mills) have not had that experience as accountants necessary for the proper performance of the heavy and difficult duty thus placed upon them. Moreover, this selection has the advantage that Mr. Mills will now have an opportunity of proving the correctness of the statements which he has been making from time to time with regard to the present management of town affairs, and the honesty of those entrusted with their management.

While heartily approving of the investigation, we feel called upon to disclaim any sympathy with those who are condemning a town official in advance of such investigation and are holding up to public scorn certain of their fellow townsmen for evading payment of their taxes before it is proved that they have done so. The gross unfairness of such premature accusations is plainly manifested by the fact that in the list of names published in the Times on Saturday, there appear some men who really have paid the taxes in question. We should like to see a searching investigation—one which would place the blame (if any) upon the right shoulders, and clear the innocent, no matter who they may be, but for the reason already given we fear we are not likely to get such complicated figures thoroughly sifted by incompetent auditors. However we shall see what we shall see.

AN UNFAIR ATTACK.

We have seen the tax paper that was used by Councillor Denne at the meeting on Monday, to support his assertion that the town had lost money by the errors made by the town officials. It runs as follows:—

Municipality of the Town of Peterborough.

TAXES FOR 1879.

Office of the Collector, Peterborough, ——1879.

Mr. ————

Take notice that your Assessment this year for No. 2 Ward, as you may see by reference to the Assessors' Notice, is $[illegible] on which the undermentioned Rates have been levied, and are payable at my Office, at the Town Hall, on the first day of October 1879.

County Rate..........	3-10 Mills..	$ 14.90
Town Rate..........	[illegible]-10 Mills...	144.70
General School Rate..........	[illegible]-10 Mills...	[illegible]
Separate School Rate..........	47-10 Mills...
Collegiate Institute Rate	15-10 Mills...	24.66
Water Rate..........	6-10 Mills	9.46
Arrears of Taxes..........
Total Taxes payable October 1, 1879...		[illegible]

It will be seen that the total amount of taxes on the assessment is correctly stated, but in copying the items from the roll, $144.70 is charged for the town rate, instead of the correct amount, $114.70. There is thus an apparent discrepancy in the addition of $30, though the amount of taxes demanded is the sum really due. Is it fair to use such a document to create an impression that the town is being kept out of money to which it has a just claim?

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

MESSRS. JAS. HOGAN AND W. MILLS TO AUDIT THE TOWN ACCOUNTS.

A Good Deal of Buncombe and Irregular Discussion—The Press at the Committee Meetings—Police Court Accounts.

The Council met on Monday evening, Nov. 17th, pursuant to adjournment. Present the Mayor and all the Councillors, except Councillor Paterson.

The minutes of the last two meeting were read and confirmed.

PETITIONS.

From the Hon. Robt. Hamilton, calling attention to the large amount of taxes he had to pay on his small property on the Douro side. He asked for a reduction, or for leave to go back to the township, as he received no benefit from the Town taxes. Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

From Jas. Sheridan, complaining of a cow, which had done him damage, being allowed to leave the pound.

From Constable McGhee, asking for payment of horse hire which he had to disburse for serving a police court subpœna. Referred to the Finance Committee.

From Mrs. T. Elliott, asking for remission of taxes. Referred to the Finance Committee.

From Joseph Spencley, sr., asking for remission of taxes. Referred to the Finance Committee.

From W.H. Roberts and others, asking to have the crib work fixed on Stewart Street. Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee to report.

From Wm. Crosley, objecting to paying water rate as the street in front of him was not watered. Referred to the Fire, Water and Gas Committee.

From Wm. Deneen, asking to have his butcher's license transferred.—Granted.

From Mrs. Rahelly and Mrs. Cookey, asking for remission of taxes. Referred to the Finance Committee.

From Widow Boyd, asking to be relieved from taxes, as her tenant had left for the States. Referred to the Finance Committee.

From W. H. Wrighton and others, asking for a gas lamp at the corner of Dickson and Water Streets. Referred to the Gas Committee to report.

From Mrs. Johnson, and Mrs. T. Tagney, asking for remission of taxes.

From G. Dunsford and others, asking for the construction of a drain. Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee to report.

From J. E. Cooper, asking for remission of taxes.

From Jas. Neevin, asking for time to remove his fence on Rubidge street.—Granted.

From James Sheridan, complaining of over-assessment. Referred to Finance Committee.

ACCOUNTS.

Nellie Salter, attending Bridget Sullivan...	6 60
McKee & Davidson, Hardware..........	12 [illegible]
Wm. Helm, water for Market Square..........	[illegible]
" " repairing water cart..........	[illegible] 60

The Clerk read a letter from Councillor Paterson, that he was too ill to attend, and asking another dollar for Corby on account of the crib-work at the Little Lake; also to grant permission to purchase surplus gravel from the culvert on Murray street for use on Stewart street.

The accounts were referred to the Finance Committee.

FINANCE REPORT.

Councillor Cahill read the report of the Finance Committee as follows:—

The Finance Committee begs leave to present the following report:—

1. They recommend the payment of Toker & Co's account, $4.25.

2. They recommend that the request of the Town Trust to have debentures to the amount of $[illegible], issued to meet a like amount which has fallen due, be complied with, and that the Mayor and Treasurer be authorized to sign the same.

3. That the prayer of the petition of Mr. Wm. Davidson to have the money paid by him to the Corporation in purchase of the property on McDonel street be refunded by the Treasurer as soon as he shall comply with the conditions set forth in the Town Solicitor's advice in the matter, and also upon indemnifying the members of the Council against action in the case.

4. In reference to the application of Messrs. Montgomery and McMahon about arrears of taxes in 1876, your Committee find, upon examination, that the Collector has made a return that there was not sufficient goods to distrain to make the taxes, and, therefore, they recommend the Council not to interfere in the matter.

5. Your Committee have been investigating the Collector's Roll and Assessment Roll for some years back, and have discovered what appear to be manifest errors, to which they have called the Treasurer's attention, who reports to your Committee this evening that three of the cases referred to him are correct, and asks for further time to investigate the other cases, and inasmuch as some of our citizen's names are mixed up with the matter, your Committee recommend that one week longer be allowed to him to report fully.

THE COLLECTOR'S ROLL.

Councillor Denne said his name had been brought into connection with this matter. He was quite willing to give the Treasurer a week or fortnight more, as he thought no man should be condemned without being heard. To prove that there were mistakes in the present assessment, he handed in a tax paper with a wrong addition. He moved, seconded by Councillor Robertson—That the Clerk be, and is hereby authorized to advertise in the Toronto Globe for a competent person to audit the Collector's and Assessment rolls, and such other books or accounts connected with the town as may be necessary, and report to this Council, the application for such services to be placed before this Council two weeks from to-night.

He then referred to to some supposed discrepancy in the debenture account. He referred to Mr. McBain and Mr. Toole's taxes, supposed not to be paid. He would like Mr. Mills, who was present, to corroborate him about the debentures.

Councillor Rutherford objected to this, as a matter not then in question. He thought Mr. Denne was assuming to condemn the Treasurer without a hearing.

Councillor McBain said what was asked was an enquiry.

Councillor Smith thought an audit of the roll was advisable from what they had seen of it. At the same time he would like to give the Treasurer time to look into the matter. He objected to go outside of the town for an auditor on account of the expense, and as they could easily find a qualified local man. He would like to ask the Clerk the probable cost.

Mr. Macdonald replied $5 or $10 a day.

Councillor Robertson said he was not prepared to say whether or no Mr. Pearse had done his duty as required by law, but he felt that the audit hitherto had amounted to nothing.

Councillor Denne said he would be quite willing to pay his share of the extra expense. A school boy could see the mistakes, but it would require something more to go through the whole rolls.

Councillor Rutherford spoke of the strange action taken by those who usually advocated economy. It would probably turn out such a useless expense as had been incurred in regard to the Police Court accounts. The Treasurer had undertaken to give a full explanation of all the apparent mistakes discovered by the committee.

Councillor Buller moved that Mr. James Hogan and Mr. W. Mills, be appointed auditors to examine the books and report.

Mr. Hogan said he must decline, but afterwards he consented.

Councillor Denne seconded the motion, withdrawing his own. He said, in answer to a question, that he would have all the books examined from the time of incorporation.

Councillor Rutherford moved, seconded by Councillor Douglas, that the matter be laid over for a week.

Councillor Cahill thought they would lose nothing by waiting a week. He could not vote for Mr. Buller's motion, as these two gentlemen might have occupation for 5 or 6 years. He thought there should be an investigation, as there were no doubt errors. Mr. Denne deserved thanks, not censure, but he was too impetuous.

Councillor Denne urged that there should be no delay.

Councillor Douglas said that three of the supposed mistakes had been satisfactorily explained, and he would like to see if the others could not also be explained.

Councillor McBain pressed for immediate action.

At the suggestion of some of the Councillors a clause limiting the expenditure to $200 was added to the resolution of Mr. Buller.

Councillor Rutherford raised the point of order that a money expenditure was involved.

This was voted down by the Council.

The amendment was negatived, and the original motion appointing Messrs. Hogan and Mills, was carried.

FINANCE REPORT.

The Finance Report was now considered clause by clause.

Councillor Smith, on the second clause, said he did not understand the demand for renewal debentures, as there was a sinking fund. He would like further information, and would move that the clause be referred back to the Finance Committee.

Councillor Cahill said he thought they could not refuse the demand of the Commissioners, who were appointed by statute and were responsible for their own acts. He moved that the clause be adopted.

Councillor Denne thought Mr. Smith was talking buncomb in view of the coming elections. He seconded the adoption of the clause. The adoption was carried.

There was some discussion on the third clause, and an amendment was carried granting Mr. Davidson interest at 6 per cent.

On the fourth clause there was another discussion, and an amendment was carried, leaving the matter till next meeting.

The fifth clause in reference to the collector's roll was struck out.

The report as amended was adopted.

TOWN POUNDS.

Councillor Rutherford moved, seconded by Councillor Robertson,—That the town pounds be properly repaired at a cost not to exceed $10.

There was some discussion on the motion, and on the cow by-law. The motion was carried.

RAILWAY DAMAGES.

Moved by Councillor Douglas, seconded by Councillor Yelland,—That the Clerk be and is hereby instructed to place the amount due by the Midland Railway Company, to the property owners on Bethune Street, in the hands of the town solicitors for collection.

Councillor Cahill asked if it was the duty of the town or of the property holders to enforce payment.

Councillor Rutherford said the town had given the Company leave to use the street, and the corporation was responsible. The motion was carried.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

Councillor Robertson moved, seconded by Councillor Denne,—That rule 33 be so amended as to allow the public to be present at committee meetings.

He said he moved this because he had been accused of using his position as Councillor to take reports. He would like to see all the press there.

Councillor Denne said they did no business they were ashamed of.

Councillor Cahill referred to the opposition of Mr. Robertson to the press being present in the Printing Committee. Mr. Robertson had promised not to report the proceedings of the Committee and then he had done so. The consequence was that the names of ratepayers had been published as not having paid their taxes when it had since been found that they had done so.

Councillor Robertson said he had objected to the printers being present on that occasion because they were tenderers. As to the information he had published he could get it on the street.

It stood as a notice of motion.

STREET IMPROVEMENT.

Councillor Cahill moved, seconded by Councillor Taylor,—That the Street and Bridge Inspector be instructed to lay down a crossing on Aylmer street to the houses lately erected by Mr. Morrow, and a two plank walk from the gate in front of the north house to the gate in front of the house at the south end, the same to be paid for out of the general funds of the corporation, also to repair the sidewalks on the south end of George street, and that an appropriation of $150 be placed to the credit of the Street and Bridge Committee.

TENDERS.

Councillor Robertson moved, seconded by Councillor Denne,—That the Clerk be authorized to procure a tin box for holding tenders, the same to be placed in the Clerk's office and all tenders received by him to be immediately placed in the box, and kept locked up until the Committee who have control of the matter have met to award the contracts.

It stood as a notice of motion on a point of order.

POLICE COURT ACCOUNTS.

Councillor Robertson asked for information as to the Police Court accounts case.

The Mayor said he was informed that it had been set down for hearing next week, so they would probably soon hear more.

THE TREASURER'S BONDS.

Councillor McBain asked if anything had been done as to the Treasurer's bonds.

It appeared that nothing had been done.

The Council then adjourned for one week.

TORONTO AND OTTAWA RAILWAY.

We make the following extract from a letter addressed by the Hon Billa Flint to the North Hastings Review:—

"Mr. Pusey would endeavor to make the people of Madoc believe that 'subsidizing the building of a road (the Toronto and Ottawa) which would deprive them of the benefits now derived from the working of the North Hastings Railway by such an able Company as the Grand Trunk, who certainly would turn a cold shoulder to them if they aided the proposed scheme.' Does Mr. Pusey think the people of Madoc such fools as to believe such clap-trap. If he does he must think them soft, indeed. The reason given is the very reason why the people of Madoc should aid the 'proposed scheme,' in order to place themselves in a position of independence to the will and caprice of the Grand Trunk monopoly. It will give them two outlets, and it will be found that the Grand Trunk will not throw away their chance of obtaining all the freight they can from Madoc and the north. Mr. Pusey has evidently overshot the mark in reference to this matter."

OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhœa, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is Scott & Bowne's Emulsion of Palatable Castor Oil. Price 25 cents. d166-w46-1m

Science is a good piece of furniture for a man to have in an upper chamber, provided he has common sense on the ground floor, and a bottle of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam on the shelf, for use in case of a sudden cold, cough, or hoarseness. This Canadian remedy is unsurpassed as a curative agent in croup, bronchitis, influenza, and all pulmonary complaints. For sale by all dealers. w47d112-2w

FIVE DAYS IN A JURY ROOM.

Showing The Importance of Selecting A Jury With Care—Jurymen Who Would Have Voted Guilty Induced To Vote Not Guilty.

(From the Philadelphia Times.)

The jury to whom Judge Briggs, at half-past eight o'clock last Saturday evening, committed the fate of William Buck, who was tried on the charge of killing David McCool, returned to the court room at a quarter of twelve o'clock yesterday, with a verdict of "not guilty." They had been out for nearly five days. The prisoner was discharged.

The jury that acquitted Buck was composed of George Deasce, foreman, driver, 37 Washington avenue; Thomas Richardson, merchant, Chelten avenue and Chew streets, Germantown; William Thomas, tobacconist, 43 Poplar street; Robert Pentland, printer, 936 Suffolk street; Peter Leary, bricklayer, Robinson street, Manayunk; George Cottman, saw grinder, 172 Laurel street; Benjamin F. Fox, bricklayer, 318 East Venango street; George W. Lentz, butcher, 1,546 East Montgomery avenue; S. H. Brooks, collector, 2,039 Porcelain street; Lindsay Evans (colored), waiter, Toner Place, [illegible] from 416 South Fourth street; G. W. Rawlings, printer, 413 South Fifth street; and J. G. Ledyard, photographer, 1,020 Mount Vernon street.

Mr. Pentland says that Mr. Richardson, Mr. Ledyard, Mr. Evans and himself were at first in favor of a verdict of manslaughter, but the four gradually dwindled down until yesterday, when Mr. Pentland stood alone on the side for the conviction of the prisoner. His final consent to say "not guilty," despite his belief of Buck's guilt, Mr. Pentland explains by saying that yesterday morning found him suffering very much from headache and the effects of confinement, and seeing that further holding out against the eleven would be useless, he took the step that gave him fresh air and liberty.

"We have had a remarkable time," added Mr. Pentland, "and I would not go through it again for one hundred dollars cash in advance. The devices of the jurors to relieve the dreadful monotony were innumerable, and many of them as worthy of note as are the sayings of some of the men. Listen, and I'll read to you from my note book:

"On Thursday night, before all the evidence was in, Leary said, in presence of all hands, 'Damned if I can see that the man is guilty.' I told him that he ought not to express an opinion upon the matter until all the testimony should be in.

"A plumber's lamp, full of alcohol was found in the jury-room on Friday afternoon. Fox, known as 'the jolly man' of the party, couldn't resist the temptation to taste the alcohol. Cottman, whom he always called 'the fat man,' poured some into a glass, but as soon as it reached his lips he turned up his nose and handed it to Fox, who swallowed it with relish in sips. Cottman then tried it again, but with no better success. Bright and early Saturday morning Fox was at the lamp again for another nip. He jocularly expressed fears that the lamp wouldn't hold out, and he said that he wouldn't advise any of the other fellows to drink. He put the lamp away securely, as he thought, but when he came at noon for another 'pull' he found the lamp empty.

"The first vote was taken at 9 o'clock Saturday evening, on the question of whether the prisoner was guilty of either the first or the second degree of murder, or of manslaughter. Nine jurors voted 'not guilty,' and Richardson, Ledyard and myself were for manslaughter. Before midnight we agreed unanimously to vote upon the question of manslaughter. Eight said 'not guilty,' and four 'guilty,' Evans, the colored juror, having come over to us. He went back next day, however, when a vote resulted in nine for acquittal and three for conviction. A repetition of the balloting later in the day found no change.

"Fox, 'the jolly man,' started a burlesque prayer-meeting on Sunday afternoon, which evoked expressions of disapproval from Richardson and Evans, and I was disgusted also. With eight mirthful jurors seated around him, Fox performed all sorts of negro camp meeting antics, leaping, clapping his hands and knees and acting as if he might shake himself apart. Meanwhile, suiting words to action, he would sing with mock piety, such ditties as

Three great big crows sat on a tree,
And they were black as crows could be,
Sing, brothers, sing!

"The 'brothers' would join heartily in the chorus, with the jolly man's voice above all the rest. When they thought that they had given sufficient musical expression to their Sabbath devotions they spent the rest of the afternoon in spinning yarns, many of which were of a character by no means edifying.

"Two ballots were taken on Monday, with the previous result of nine to three, after being out over thirty hours. Deasce, the foreman, told me that he had not formed any opinion at all, and yet he had voted four times for acquittal. It seemed to some of us that Deasce had no opinions, but merely wished to go with the majority. He spent considerable of the time in learning to write from copies that I set for him. He could barely scribble his name.

"Among the events to relieve the monotony of Monday was the mysterious disappearance of the colored juror's pocket-book. It contained only three cents in cash, but had in it a number of recommendations from former employers, and to these papers Evans attached much value. A juror offered to inform the Judge of the matter, but Evans was unwilling. The property has not yet been found.

"The thoughtfulness of the association that supplies hotel apartments, jury rooms, and such places with copies of Holy Writ free of charge was appreciated by Cottman on Monday evening, when he used a page of the first chapter of St. Luke for a tally score in a game of casino with Fox and Thomas.

"Ledyard weakened on Tuesday morning, leaving Richardson and myself the only jurors in favor of conviction. Three other ballotings were held that day, but without making a change. On Wednesday Richardson seemed to think there was 'no use in holding out any longer.' He was tired and disgusted, and in the afternoon after the Judge had refused to permit cigars to be brought to Richardson from his store on North Eighth street, he spoke to me of the advisability of both of us going over to the majority. I declined. Some time afterward, on the same day, Thomas also tried to induce me to go over. I supposed he had observed my taking notes every day, and said to me: 'I'll do what I can to help you make up an article for any of the newspapers, or I'll do anything else in my power to help you.' Thomas also remarked in the course of our conversation at that time that he had expected that he would 'get on this case.' What he meant further than have me 'go over' and let the jury be free I cannot say.

"Richardson persisted in his efforts to convince me that we ought to go over and get out of this misery, and finally, near noon yesterday, I yielded, for the reasons which I have already given. I was not only sick from confinement but disgusted beyond measure at the rudeness, vulgarity, and disagreeable habits of some of the jurymen. There were men there who seemed willing to stay for an indefinite period, as long as they would receive $2.50 a day and board, but under the circumstances, I could not feel that way.

"By the way, there's something which ought to be brought to the attention of the courts—the shameful condition of the walls of the sleeping apartments. They are literally covered with scribblings, drawings, caricatures and other pictures, a few of which, it is true, are open to no other objection than that of marring the appearance of the rooms, but the majority of them being of the most indecent description. Notwithstanding the vile character of these things their jurymen authors, in many instances, do not appear to have been ashamed of them, for they have left their signatures along with them."

DOMESTIC AND USEFUL.

FOR HEMORRHAGE.—To stop hemmorhage, or bleeding from the nose wound, or from any cause, apply dried beef scraped very fine. If it is smoked it is so much the better. This remedy saved a pet horse of ours when everything else failed.

BRUNSWICK STEW.—Stew until tender enough to bone easily, two chickens; take out the bones, add ten ears of corn cut from the cob, a dozen tomatoes peeled and sliced, and a pint of lima beans; cook all together, add salt and pepper to the taste.

STEWED GREEN CORN.—Cut the corn from twelve ears; add one pint of milk, and cook in covered pail set in a kettle of water; cook one half hour. Then add three eggs well beaten, salt, pepper, and a little sugar to taste. Put a piece of butter in the dish in which you serve it and pour in the corn.

CHICKEN SALAD.—Two chickens; chicken and celery equal parts, cut in small bits—not chopped. Dressing.—Yolks of three raw eggs; one teaspoonful of made mustard; a little salt and red pepper; half a bottle of oil stirred in slowly; vinegar to make a cream. Add to salad just before using.

COCOANUT CAKE.—Whites of four eggs; two cups of sugar; one-half cup of butter; one cup of milk; one teaspoonful of cream-of-tartar and one-half teaspoonful of soda; four cups of flour. Bake in layers. For filling:—Take whites of 2 eggs; one-half tea-cupful of sugar (pulverised) and thicken with cocoanut.

MUFFINS.—Three cups of milk; one tablespoonful of melted butter; two eggs; one teaspoonful of salt; three tablespoonful of yeast; one tablespoonful of white sugar. Mix all in a sponge but the eggs. Half an hour before baking add the eggs and a quarter of a teaspoonful of soda. Let rise ten minutes. Bake in rings 20 minutes.

APPLE JONATHAN.—Fill a pudding dish with apples pared and sliced, and pour over the dish a batter made of buttermilk brought to a foam with soda, and thickened with flour, so it will just spread with a spoon. When the apples are tender and dinner is served, turn upside down on a platter; beat the soft apples smoothly on the crust; add a lump of butter, nutmeg or cinnamon, as one prefers and serve hot.

TO BRUSH VELVET.—The art of removing lint, dust and light matters adhering to velvet consists in the proper mode of managing the brush. Take a hat brush (not too soft, but having the bristles elastic, and returning at once to their original state after being pressed aside), hold it firmly under the palm of the hand, in the direction of the arm, and with the bristles downward, and pressing them first gently into the substance of the velvet, then twist around the arm, hand and brush all together, as on an axis, without moving them forward or backward. The foreign matters will thus be drawn up, and sifted out of the flock without injury to the substance of the velvet, and the brush must be lifted up and placed in a similar manner over every part required to be brushed. By this means velvet will be improved instead of deteriorated, and will last for years.

FACTS ABOUT FLOUR.—Flour is peculiarly sensitive to atmospheric influences, hence it should never be stored in a room with sour liquids, nor where onions or fish are kept, nor any article that taints the air of the rooms in which it is stored. Any smell perceptible to the senses will be absorbed by flour. Avoid damp cellars or lofts where a free circulation of air cannot be obtained. Keep in a cool, dry, airy room, and not exposed to a freezing temperature nor to intense summer, or to artificial heat for any length of time above 70° to 75° Fahr. It should not come in contact with grain or other substances which are liable to heat. Flour should be sifted and the particles thoroughly disintegrated, and then warmed before baking. This treatment improves the color and baking properties of the dough. The sponge should be prepared for the oven as soon as the yeast has performed its mission, otherwise fermentation sets in and acidity results.

Some Little Things Learned by Experience.

If your coal-fire is low, throw on a tablespoonful of salt, and it will help it very much. A little ginger put into sausage-meat improves the flavour. In icing cakes, dip the knife frequently into cold water. In boiling meat for soup, use cold water to extract the juice. If the meat is wanted for itself alone, plunge in boiling water at once. You can get a bottle or barrel of oil off any carpet of woollen stuff by applying dry buckwheat plentifully and faithfully. Never put water to such grease spots, or liquid of any kind. Broil steak without salting. Salt draws the juices in cooking; it is desirable to keep these in if possible. Cook over a hot fire, turning frequently, searing on both sides. Place on a platter; salt and pepper to taste. Beef having a tendency to be tough can be made very palatable by stewing gently for two hours, with pepper and salt, taking out about a pint of the liquor when half done, and letting the rest boil into the meat. Brown the meat in the pot. After taking up, make a gravy of the pint of liquor saved. A small piece of charcoal in the pot with boiling cabbage removes the smell. Clean oil-cloth with milk and water; a brush and soap will ruin them. Tumblers that have had milk in them should not be put in hot water. A spoonful of stewed tomatoes in the gravy of either roasted or fried meats is an improvement. The skin of a boiled egg is the most efficacious remedy that can be applied to a boil. Peel it carefully, wet and apply to the part affected. It will draw off the matter and relieve the soreness in a few hours.

The Bigotry of Religious Dissent.

The following illustration of the bigotry of religious dissent in the north-east of Scotland is almost incredible from its very extravagance, but its reality is vouched for on unimpeachable authority. The wife of a master tradesman, herself a lady of some education, fair accomplishments, and general intelligence, was recently lamenting to a friend the some what pronounced infidel views of her brother, which she attributed to the perpetual lecturing by her father to his family on the importance of the principles of their own denomination—the Independents. In her sorrow for her brother's scepticism she proceeded to express her fear that unless her father changed his tactics, a worse thing might come upon them. "And what," enquired her friend, who much sympathised with her in her grief, "could be worse than your brother being an infidel?" "Oh!" was the agonized reply, "he might be driven to join the Established Church!"

From the age of 16 to 80.

Thousands of people, from the age of sixteen to eighty years, are suffering from kidney complaints and other diseases arising from derangement of the urinary organs, who would be relieved by a few doses of Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi, and a permanent cure made by the use of a few bottles. 34 CRUICKSHANK ST., TORONTO, May 18, 1878.

Messrs. Milburn, Beattie & Pearson,

Gentlemen,—Last fall I contracted a severe cold, which, by my neglect, settled on my lungs. I found every indication of the first stage of consumption, and, like many others, when almost too late, commenced to doctor up. I tried many remedies, but got no better; was almost satisfied I was incurable. Accidentally I heard of your Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and as a forlorn hope bought a bottle. I immediately felt relieved. After taking five (5) bottles I am cured, and never felt better in my life. I would heartily recommend your Hypophosphites.

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

TUESDAY, Nov. 18.—There has been very little movement of produce to note, either yesterday or to-day. The roads were very muddy yesterday, and farmers were loth to venture, preferring to wait, it is supposed, until Wednesday, the regular market day. The roads are now frozen and are becoming quite passable, yet very little is coming in, mostly from farmers living near town. Butter holds firm at 20 cts., and 21 cts. is being paid for choice lots. Hay and wood are the only articles attracting attention. A few lots of oats and peas have been received these two days. Prices remain firm at quotations.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1879.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

Personal.

Mr. A. Drysdale, of Chicago, agent of the Chicago and Alton railroad, is stopping at the Huffman House to-day. He is in town on business connected with the interests of the road.

Rifle Shooting.

At the target practise of Company No. 2, of the 57th. Mr. G. H. Leslie, as shown by the official report, made a score of 67 points instead of 54 as was incorrectly given at the time by the scorer.

I. O. G. T.

Friendship Lodge No. 146, I. O. G. T., meets this evening in their Hall, George street. A full attendance of the members is requested as matters of great importance to them will be submitted. All good templars are invited.

Railway Bonus.

The by-law giving $75,000 as a bonus to the Toronto and Ottawa railway by a group of Townships in Lanark County, was carried by a majority of about two hundred on Monday. The group consists of the Townships of Bathurst, Drummond, South Sherbrooke, Burgess, eight concessions of Elmsley, and three of Montague.

Young Men's Presbyterian Association.

A meeting of the committee was held on Monday evening, 17th instant, at the residence of Sheriff Hall, at which it was decided that the Association should cease to exist, and that the balance in the hands of the treasurer, five dollars and fifteen cents, should be sent to the treasurer of the Home Mission Fund of the Church.

Drunk and Disorderly.

This afternoon, about half-past two, a young man named Donoghue created a disturbance in the Dublin House, using the vilest language known to the vocabulary of the vicious. In the absence of the constable, a young man endeavored to get him home. He finally succeeded in getting him away, not, however, before Donoghue's coat was badly torn.

"Arrah-na-Pogue."

"Arrah-na-Pogue" will be presented to-morrow evening in Bradburn's Opera House by one of the strongest dramatic companies that ever appeared in Peterborough. McDowell's famous Shaughraun Company draw crowded houses wherever they go. Hence it is necessary to to secure seats early, if you expect one at all. On Thursday evening "H. M. S. Pinafore," the celebrated comic opera, will be presented.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: Fresh to brisk northerly to northwesterly winds, cloudy to partly cloudy, colder weather. The above is correct for Peterborough to-day. There was a frost last night, and ice was formed. There is no thawing to-day, and the roads are becoming passable again. The snow flurries predicted by probabilities yesterday did not put in an appearance.

Hamilton Corbett in Peterborough.

Hamilton Corbett, the celebrated Scotch vocalist, entertained a fair audience at Bradburn's Hall last evening, with Scotch, Irish and English songs, interspersed with connecting stories. His tragic, dramatic, operatic and humorous representations showed wonderful versatility. He has great power and strength of voice and action. He is perfectly at ease upon the stage and fully understands stage effects. The audience were liberal in their applause during the entire evening. The entertainment merits the support of all.

Robbery.

Mr. John Doherty, County Constable of Westwood, to-day brought to the gaol Margaret McCutcheon and her son Albert, who had been committed for trial by Mr. Blezard, J.P., and Mr. Brackenridge, J.P., for stealing $19 and a revolver from Mr. Wm. Moore, a farmer residing near Westwood. It appears from the evidence that Mr. Moore was going to church on Sunday morning and that he met Mrs. McCutcheon and her son on the way. When he got home he missed the money and revolver, and laid a complaint before Mr. Blezard. A warrant was sent to Constable Cook, of Hastings, who arrested them while on their way back to Percy. The property was found on them, and they were handed over to the authorities of this county.

A MISSPENT LIFE.

The Tale of the Fall of a Wealthy Storekeeper—Victim of Intemperance.

John Bowes, arrested by the Water Police for drunkedness last evening, while on trial before the Police Magistrate this morning, related the following experience:—He was, he stated, forty years of age—but habits of dissipation made him appear twenty years older—and came of good family, who held large estates in Kildare County, Ireland. When [illegible] received his patrimony and commenced business as a country store keeper in his native town. His business prospered, and after 10 years of successful trading a sum of money approaching $3,000 stood to his credit in the banks. Having amassed what he supposed would supply future wants, he sold his effects and came to this country. Settling in Caledonia, Ontario, Bowes purchased a hundred acre farm and six months subsequent to the purchase married an estimable young lady, daughter of a Brantford storekeeper named Clare. For the pair matters looked promising until a party of capitalists visiting that part of the country persuaded Bowes to engage in the brewing business, which, if erected on his property, owing to the superior advantages of the location, would yield large receipts. The adventure was taken and realized handsomely for a period, but, unfortunately, the vice of intemperance was incurred by Bowes, who rapidly fell in the social scale, and finally, becoming obnoxious to his business associates, his partners paid him off and sent him adrift. An interval of continued intemperance followed, which ended only with the last remnant of his resources. His wife had, in the meantime, died from want and mental suffering, and the last tie that bound him to his manhood was severed and he wandered abroad, choosing the life of a tramp, as being most congenial to his depraved nature. In this manner he has lived for ten years, wandering hither and thither, maintaining himself on the charity of honest people, working occasionally when it was offered, and buying rum with the proceeds. When his story was ended he asked that he might be sent down for three months, and endeavor during that time to make an effort to reclaim his lost manhood.

THE GREAT LONE LAND.

READ, learn, and inwardly digest what the New York World says about "our" great "north west," and having done so, then ask themselves if it is not "our" duty to bring the trade of this great country past our own doors:—

"It will startle a good many in the first place to be suddenly reminded that the actual area of the Hudson Bay Territory, now annexed to the Dominion of Canada, is greater than that of the United States. In the second place it will surprise a great many more people to learn that in North-western Canada, the wheat yield is more than double that of Minnesota and triple that of Pennsylvania and Ohio. In the third place it will interest political economists deeply to be told that within a few years the Winnipeg watershed of North-western Canada alone may be reasonably expected to throw into the commerce of the New World with the old an annual wheat yield equal to the whole present exportation of all America to the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and that it is within the limits of possibility that this enormous competition with our western wheat fields may be pushed eastward, down a great navigable stream, to a port on salt water, which, though situated in the ninety-three degree of west longitude, is eighty miles nearer to Liverpool than New York is. These things are meant but food to thinking. The great centres of agriculture, population and trade, have been moved about too frequently, and too far on this continent within the current century, to make it safe for any man to predict where they may be found twenty or ten years hence. All that we can be quite sure of is that the price of prosperity is an eternal vigilance. Neither New York, Chicago or St. Louis, nor the United States themselves, need expect to hold any good things within their grasp by any other tenure, or upon any other condition."

FENELON FALLS.

PUZZLED.—The Post says:—"We have it on the authority of the Gazette that there is a woman in Fenelon Falls who has ten children attending school, and all under five years of age," and not a few searched the columns of the Gazette but failed to find the startling statement. It was made, nevertheless, says the Gazette, in our article on school affairs, in consequence of a mark known as an "apostrophe" being placed before instead of after a letter "s," and is another instance of the ludicrous consequences that may result from the apparently most trivial error in type setting.

WRONG, TOO.—The Independent having remarked that "Logs are looking up," the Post says, "Looking up at what? Our cotem. should have said there is a 'boom' in logs." The Post is wrong too, says the Gazette, and doesn't know as much about aquatic logarithms as it thinks it does. The logs are in the boom, Post, and not the boom in the logs.

OMEMEE.

PRESENTATION.—On Friday evening a handsome gold necklet and locket were presented to Miss Nellie English, daughter of Mr. S. English, by members of the choir and congregation of the Methodist Church, in recognition of her gratuitous services as organist for the last four years.

SUCCESSFUL HUNT.—The hunting party, consisting of Capt. Cottingham, and Messrs. Josiah Hayes and Geo. Seney, of Cavan, returned last Saturday. During their trip they shot eleven large deer, a bear, and a large number of partridge.

PORT HOPE.

RAILWAY OFFICIALS.—The Times says that it is rumored that Mr. Brennan, formerly Mr. Cox's private secretary, supersedes Mr. Whitehead as station agent at Orillia. The latter gentleman takes the G. T. R. Junction here, and Mr. Tate assumes the office lately vacated by Mr. Ferguson.

NAVIGATION.—The Norseman has made her last trip, and is being laid up for the winter.

OTTAWA.

LOW WATER.—The water is so low, especially at Carillon and St. Ann's, that barges have to leave Ottawa with little more than half cargoes for the United States ports. This interferes very materially with the shipping business. An American firm, who bought 2,000,000 feet of lumber at the Chaudiere about eight weeks ago, have not succeeded, so far, in having a plank of it shipped.

BELLEVILLE.

BURGLARY.—On Sunday night a thousand dollars worth of silk was stolen from the dry goods store of Mr. Richard Costello by burglars, who entered by breaking in the panel of a back doors. It is supposed that the thieves have gone to Toronto with their plunder.

The DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at 10 cents a week.

FARM AND GARDEN.

FENCES and gates should be in good order, especially at this season, when a stray animal may do serious damage.

ALL roses, after they have ceased to bloom, should be cut back, that the strength of the root may go to forming new roots for next year.

BEETS will not flourish upon wet lands, and what grow are not sweet. Muck bottoms produce large tops but small roots, with little sugar in them.

DRAINING should be done before the frost comes. Surface water should not be allowed to collect; a few furrows in the right place will be useful in carrying off the water.

A PIG that is being fed all it can eat, and is confined in a close pen, needs to have its skin rubbed, and if a good pole is fixed for the rubbing, so much the more comfort for the pig, and [illegible].

STRAWBERRY BEDS should have their covering put on as soon as frost appears upon the ground. Use straw, pine-hay, marsh-hay, or leaves, placing it thickly between the plants, but put it on lightly directly over them, as too much smothers.

THE manufacture of apple jelly is now an important industry in Vermont. The apples are first made into cider, and then, by the use of an ordinary sugar evaporator, the cider is converted into an article of clear, firm jelly, of excellent flavor, very acceptable as a table relish, and of use in various culinary operations.

A HORSE'S foot will get sore if he is forced to stand in a stable that is seldom properly cleaned and upon a heap of his own excrement. The sore which appears under the fetlock joint can be cured by bathing with a solution of sugar of lead and water; but it is best so to keep the horse neat and clean, that no occasion will arise for the use of such a remedy.

MR. J. ALLAN, of Galashiels, a devoted apiarian, had a young hive of bees, the condition of which he wished to improve. Owing to the bad season the skep does not contain enough of honey to keep the bees over winter. Mr. Allan filled a fumigator with burning fungi—blind man's snuff is the proper name—and having secured the bees inside, inserted the pipe of the box end blew in the fumes of the fungi. In a short time the bees were unconscious, and were shaken out on to a clean board. Full combs taken from another hive were then fixed in the skep, and the still unconscious bees were returned to their now well replenished house, and in a short time were as lively as ever.

THERE is no doubt but what salicylic acid is a useful remedy for rheumatism and some other complaints, but when we read of its use being so widely recommended, we are lead to inquire if its advocates are not claiming for it too much. Two winters ago we met in the south of France a good neighbour clergyman who had left home a couple of month before, afflicted with rheumatism in a mild form, but which on the voyage had become so severe as to render him almost helpless. Our suprise at meeting our friend down on the shores of the Mediterranean was scarcely greater than our astonishment at his account of his cure, which had been effected by the use of salicylic acid. It was a new remedy to us then, but we have since seen in our medical journals cases reported of its use and cures, which confirms beyond a doubt that in some form of rheumatic affections salicylic acid affords great relief to the sufferer, and often produces remarkable cures.

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would have unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable.
[illegible]

It is said by many, first try one remedy, and then another, but we find in the great majority of cases that those who try Hagyard's Yellow Oil for all purposes of a liniment, have no use for any other preparation, it does its work so effectually that none others need to be applied. It is equally good for man or beast, and can be used internally for Croup, Whooping Cough, and Asthma, externally for Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises Chilblains, Burns, Scalds, and all Pains and Aches. from whatever cause they may occur. Sold by all dealers at 25 cents per bottle.

REGULATIONS

RESPECTING THE DISPOSAL OF CERTAIN

PUBLIC LANDS

FOR THE PURPOSES OF THE

Canadian Pacific Railway

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
OTTAWA, Oct. 14, 1879.

Public notice is hereby given that the following provisions, which shall be held to apply to the lands in the Province of Manitoba, and in the territories to the west and north-west thereof, are substituted for the Regulations, dated the 9th July last, governing the mode of disposing of the Public Lands situate within 110 (one hundred and ten) miles on each side of the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which said Regulations are hereby superseded:—

1. "Until further and final survey of the said railway has been made west of the Red River, and for the purposes of these provisions, the line of the said railway shall be assumed to be on the fourth base westerly to the intersection of the said base by the line between ranges 21 and 22 west of the first principle meridian, and thence in a direct line to the confluence of the Shell River with the River Assiniboine.

2. "The country lying on each side of the line of railway shall be respectively divided into belts, as follows:

"(1) A belt of five miles on either side of the railway, and immediately adjoining the same, to be called Belt A;

"(2) A belt of fifteen miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt A, to be called Belt B;

"(3) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt B, to be called Belt C;

"(4) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt C, to be called Belt D; and

"(5) A belt of fifty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt D, to be called Belt E.

3. "The even-numbered sections in each township throughout the several belts above described shall be open for entry as homesteads and pre-emptions of 160 acres each respectively.

4. "The odd-numbered sections in each of such Townships shall not be open to homestead or pre-emption, but shall be specially reserved and designated as Railway Lands.

5. "The Railway Lands within the several belts shall be sold at the following rates, viz:—In Belt A, $5 (five dollars) per acre; in Belt B, $4 (four dollars) per acre; in Belt C, $3 (three dollars) per acre; in Belt D, $2 (two dollars) per acre; in Belt E, $1 (one dollar) per acre; and the terms of sale of such lands shall be as follows, viz:—One-tenth in cash at the time of purchase; the balance in nine equal instalments, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum on the balance of purchase money from time to time remaining unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

6. "The Pre-emption Lands within the several belts shall be sold for the prices and on the terms respectively as follows:—In the Belts A, B and C, at $2.50 (two dollars and fifty cents) per acre; in Belt D, at $2 (two dollars) per acre; and in Belt E, at $1 (one dollar) per acre. The terms of payment to be four-tenths of the purchase money, together with interest on the latter at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, to be paid at the end of three years from the date of entry; the remainder to be paid in six equal instalments annually from and after the said date, with interest at the rate above mentioned on such portions of the purchase money as may remain unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

7. "All payments for Railway Lands, and also for Pre-emption Lands, within the several Belts, shall be in cash, and not in scrip or military or police bounty warrants.

8. "All moneys received in payment of Pre-emption Lands shall inure to and form part of the fund for railway purposes, in a similar manner to the moneys received in payment of the Railway Lands.

9. "These provisions shall be retroactive so far as relates to any and all entries of Homestead and Pre-emption Lands, or sales of Railway Lands obtained or made under the Regulations of the 9th of July, hereby superseded; any payments made in excess of the rate hereby fixed shall be credited on account of sales of such lands.

10. The Order-in-Council of the 9th of November, 1877 relating to the settlement of the lands in Manitoba which had been previously withdrawn for Railway, purposes, having been cancelled, all claims of persons who settled in good faith on lands under the said Order-in-Council shall be dealt with under these provisions, as to price of Pre-emptions, according to the belt in which such lands may be situate. Where a person may have taken up two quarter-sections under the said Order-in-Council, he may retain the quarter-section upon which he has settled, as a Homestead, and the other quarter-section as a Pre-emption, under these provisions, irrespective of whether such Homestead and Pre-emption may be found to be upon an even numbered section or otherwise. Any moneys paid by such person on account of the lands entered by him under the said Order-in-Council, will be credited to him on account of his Pre-emption purchase, under these provisions. A person who may have taken up one quarter-section under the Order-in-Council mentioned will be allowed to retain the same as a Homestead, and will be permitted to enter a second quarter-section as a Pre-emption, the money paid on account of the land previously entered to be credited to him on account of such Pre-emption.

11. "All entries of lands shall be subject to the following provisions respecting the right of way of the Canadian Pacific Railway, or of any Government colonization railway connected therewith, viz.

a "In the case of the railway crossing land entered as a Homestead, the right of way thereon, and also any land which may be required for station purposes, shall be free to the Government.

b "Where the railway crosses Pre-emptions or railway Lands, entered subsequent to the date hereof, the Government may take possession of such portion thereof as may be required for right of way or for station grounds or ballast pits, and the owner shall only be entitled to claim payment for the land so taken, at the same rate per acre as he may have paid the Government for the same.

c "In case, on the final location of the railway through lands unsurveyed, or surveyed but not entered for at the time, a person is found in occupation of land which it may be desirable in the public interest to retain, the Government reserves the right to take possession of such land, paying the squatter the value of any improvements he may have made thereon.

12. "Claims to Public Lands arising from settlement after the date hereof, in territory unsurveyed at the time of such settlement, and which may be embraced within the limits affected by the above policy, or by the extension thereof in the future over additional territory, will be ultimately dealt with in accordance with the terms prescribed above for the lands in the particular belt in which such settlement may be found to be situate, subject to the operations of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

13. "All entries after the date hereof of unoccupied lands in the Saskatchewan Agency, will be considered as provisional until the railway line through that part of the territories has been located, after which the same will be finally disposed of in accordance with these provisions, as the same may apply to the particular belt in which such lands may be found to be situated, subject, as above, to the operation of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

14. "With a view to encouraging settlement by cheapening the cost of building material, the Government reserves the right to grant licenses, renewable yearly, under Section 52 of the Dominion Lands Act, 1879, to cut merchantable timber on any lands situated within the several belts above described, and any settlement upon, or sale of lands within, the territory covered by such licenses, shall for the time being be subject to the operation of such licenses.

15. "The above provisions, it will, of course, be understood will not affect sections 11 and 29, which are public school lands, or sections 8 and 26, Hudson's Bay Company's lands.

"Any further information necessary may be obtained on application at the Dominion Lands Office, Ottawa, or from the agent of Dominion Lands, Winnipeg, or from any of the local agents in Manitoba or the Territories.

By order of the Minister of the Interior,
J. S. DENNIS,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

Surveyor General.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW

AND

RURAL NEW YORKER,

BOTH for $2.80!

To Farmers and Horticulturists

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.50! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value— which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—2 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Pease says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, as far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry." It is at once the highest-flavoured, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $60 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, last season, at the rate of 85 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardiest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri. Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kaempferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine. Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomoea leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1879.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

THE inducements held out by all newspapers for new subscribers should be based upon the fact that the larger the circulation the less the cost of each paper, as the cost of editorial labor and composition is the same, whether a large or small number is printed. And as it is only fair that those who have stood by us in the past, through good and evil report, should reap a share of the benefit of an increased circulation, we have determined to make them the following offers:—

With regard to the

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Any person now, and for the last twelve months a subscriber to the WEEKLY REVIEW, who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now or for the last twelve months a subscriber to it, will have the TWO sent to separate addresses for $2.50! Or if accompanied with the names of two other such such persons may have the THREE sent to separate addresses for $3.00!

With regard to the

DAILY REVIEW.

Any person now a subscriber to the DAILY EVENING REVIEW who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now on our subscription list, may have the TWO delivered or sent to separate addresses for six months for $3.50, or for twelve months for $6.00!

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

MOSCOW'S CRUISERS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 18.—The Moscow Committee on volunteer cruisers have called a meeting to discuss means for raising a fresh subscription for the construction of cruisers, in view of Russia's relations with England.

SPANISH ROYAL WEDDING.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Her Majesty the Queen of England has commanded Lord Napier, Governor and Commander of Gibraltar, together with two aristocratic attendants, to attend and represent her at the wedding of King Alfonso and the Archduchess Christine. The Queen and Prince of Wales will each send costly presents to the royal bride. The Cortes will suspend its sittings during the wedding festivities.

EGYPT'S FINANCES.

ALEXANDRIA, Nov. 18.—The Moniteur Egyptien publishes decrees recognizing the function of the Anglo-French comptrollers, and declaring the domains pledged to secure the Rothschild loan to be free from seizure. The English and French comptroller-generals rank as Ministers, and they are irremovable without the consent of their respective Governments. Their functions respecting the service of Egyptian debt give them absolute control of the proceeds of the Rothschild loan to be applied, exclusively to the liquidation of the public debt.

RUSSIA'S ADVICE.

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—Russia has advised Turkey to ask all the signatories to the Treaty of 1856 to despatch squadrons to the Dardanelles if the English fleet enters the straits. The St. Petersburg press is violent on the question.

BAKER PASHA APPOINTED.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Sultan has appointed Baker Pasha to superintend the introduction of reforms throughout Asia Minor. Baker soon leaves for his post.

BELGIUM AND THE VATICAN.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 18.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day the Premier read several despatches from the Belgian representative at the Vatican, showing that the Pope and the Papal Secretary of State censured the attacks of the Belgian Bishops upon the Constitution.

THE CHURCH AND THE REPUBLIC.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A Paris telegram states that the Minister of the Interior has issued a circular to the prefects, calling their attention to the omission of priests to pray for the safety of the Republic. He wishes to be informed whether the omission is prompted by the Bishops. He also desires to be informed whenever a Bishop leaves his diocese without authorization, and more particularly if he visits Rome.

A GREAT STRUGGLE IMMINENT.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 18.—The Novoe Vremya, discussing the prospects of war, says neither the Russian people nor the Russian Government wish for war, because the bad financial state of the Empire enjoins peace, but every day and every hour the conviction deepens that a great struggle is soon to break out.

RUSSO-GERMAN RELATIONS.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A Berlin correspondent announces that Baron D'Oubril, the Russian ambassador to Germany, has been summoned to St. Petersburg to explain the relations between Russia and Germany.

EMIGRATION TO MANITOBA.

A company has been formed in London, under the title of the Lake Winnipeg land and colonization association, to give aid and information to emigrants.

AMERICAN.

COUNTING THE BALLOTS.

AUGUSTA, Nov. 17.—The situation here is virtually unchanged. The members of the council declare that none but themselves shall inspect the returns. The Republicans claim that the Democrats have had an opportunity to correct all errors on their side in advance of the official opening of the returns.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

ELECTION CANCELLED.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—The Council of the Prefecture of the Seine cancelled the election of Humbert to the Municipal Council.

PARNELL'S MOVEMENTS.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 19.—It is reported that Parnell will abandon his proposed visit to America. The garrisons at important points in Ireland will be reinforced.

AN OMINOUS SIGN.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—All the Russian officers on leave of absence have been ordered to join their regiments immediately.

CLEOPATRA'S NEEDLE.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The Times' Alexandria correspondent to-day makes reference to the obelisk. "The Americans," he says, "are busy with the removal of the precious possession. The obelisk has been cleared to the base, twenty feet below the present level of the soil, and it now stands on a block of granite weighing 40 tons, which again rests on three wide slabs. The whole goes to New York. The monument will be lowered at the beginning of December and launched in a case which will be towed round to to the arsenal wharf, where the whole will be thrust lengthwise into the hull of a steamer."

AMERICAN.

FORGED CHECKS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—A skilfully forged check on Fisk & Hatch for $1032 was presented at the Fourth National Bank yesterday, but it was detected. It is stated that many banks have been recently swindled for small amounts, the rush of business preventing the usual careful scrutiney of paper.

A MURDERER ESCAPES.

McLEANSBORO, Ill., Nov. 19.—Jesse Johnson, a respectable citizen living ten miles from here, was murdered yesterday by Columbus Mickall, who escaped.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Chief Irish, of the bureau engraving and printing, reports an increase of ten per cent. in the work in his department for the year ending June 30th, over the previous year. Increase expenses are 54 per cent. The extensive refunding operations of the government caused the large increase in work.

COLOURED PUPILS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The School Trustees of Pole's Grove, N.J., have been summoned before the United States Commissioner for violating the provisions of the Civil Rights Bill by excluding colored children from the school.

SUCCESSFUL FANCY FAIR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The receipts of the first day of the Seventh Regiment Fair amounted to more than $12,000.

SHAD IN LAKE ONTARIO.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Seth Green writes from Rochester that fine shad have been caught in Lake Ontario last summer. He believes that they have become land locked and will make the lake their home, thus adding a new fish to the waters of the Lake.

CURE FOR DIPHTHERIA.

The Russian minister at Washington writes to the Herald giving a prescription of Benzoate [illegible] which he asserts has proved a simple and very effective remedy for diphtheria in Germany and Russia.

STOCK PANIC ANTICIPATED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The Sun says that Monday's depreciation on the Stock Exchange continued to make itself felt yesterday. The market is evidently in a state in which any seriously unfavorable news, aided by bare efforts, would easily result in a heavy decline. So many holders of stocks have bought them, not from any judgment founded on knowledge of the facts, but merely in the hope of getting higher prices, that they are likely to be easily frightened into selling, and the predominance of sellers over buyers is a vital element of a panic.

GRANT'S RECEPTION.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Last evening Grant was present at McVicker's theatre, the entertainment being under the auspices of the second regiment. The theatre was artistically bedecked. Grant's appearance was the signal for hand-clapping, and lasting during his progress to his box.

MINISTRY OF WAR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The Bulletin's Washington despatch says it is asserted that the name of ex-Senator Ramsey, of Minnesota, will be presented as successor to McCrary as Secretary of War. McCrary will be appointed to the bench at his own request.

SILVER COINAGE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The Journal of Commerce, Washington despatch says that information has been received at the State Department that the mission of Commissioner Walker to persuade the European nations to enter into another monetary conference is likely to prove a failure. It turns out that Congressman Kelly after all did not convert Bismarck to Bimetallism. He thinks silver law infavor in the United States will appreciate the value of silver which Germany is holding. The German Chancellor is represented as looking on the situation in this country with great complacency.

COURTNEY STILL STRIKES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—To-day is the last day left for Courtney, according to the articles of agreement to put up his $500 forfeit. If he does not do so the race practically falls through. Courtney's wife is ill at Trumansburg. This may be the cause of delay. The present indications are that Hanlan will go to Washington, row over the course and then show Courtney up to the public in no very enviable light. It is also believed that the donors of the $6,000 will award it to Hanlan in case he rows over the course.

A VIOLENT GALE.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Nov. 19.—The worst gale of the season has been blowing from the south-west since midnight. Its velocity is now 60 miles an hour. The propellor Gen. Payne, from Chicago, struck on the bar and went to pieces inside half an hour. The schooners Holmes, Margaret Dayleight, and Maple Leaf, loaded with lumber, the scow Bee and the barge C.O.D. went on the beach, the Maple Leaf going to pieces. No lives were lost. The schooner Hamlet is anchored a mile outside with her foresail gone.

VIRTUAL RAILWAY FORECLOSURE.

A virtual decree of foreclosure was made today in the suit against the Toledo, Peoria, and Warsaw railway. Unless the heavy bonded indebtedness is paid within 20 days, the road will be sold at auction.

THE LOST DREDGING FLEET.

SACKETT'S HARBOR, Nov. 19.—When the gale struck the lost fleet all the tugs cut loose from the tow, except the Seymour, and sought to save themselves. The scows soon parted from the rest of the fleet. The tug Thayer sunk, and, it is supposed that all her crew were lost. The tug Becker was abandoned in a sinking condition, but in getting her alongside of the dredge Gordon, she stove a hole in the latter, which quickly filled her with water, and both crews were lost, except Thomas Smith and two Swedes. These clung to the cabin of the dredge, and picked up at daylight by the Seymour.

THE UTE PEACE COMMISSION.

LOS PINOS, Nov. 19.—The Peace Commission is making rather slow progress. A short session was held on Monday. Ouray was very sullen, and indicated decided ill-feeling towards Adams, who, he said, was an incompetent commissioner because of his knowledge of the Utes and their affairs. Ouray maintained that Jack had done nothing bad, but failed to come to Los Pinos on account of ill-feeling toward members of his tribe. Ouray propposed that Adams should be recalled and stated his desire to go with a number of Ute Chiefs to Washington, to lay the matter before Schurz. An escort of military arrived yesterday, many with frozen feet, having come through a severe snow storm. The commission will remain a few days longer, then go to Denver and take the testimony of the officers engaged in the Milk River fight. They will then proceed to Washington.

RETURNING FROM LIBERIA.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Eighteen coloured passengers arrived from Liberia on the barque Monrovia yesterday, destined for their old homes in South Carolina. They were among 270 emigrants who left on the Azore last year. They say that only 60 of the original party remain alive, and all would return but for lack of funds. They charge that the Exodus Association of the South shamefully swindled the emigrants and left them destitute in Africa.

DEFEAT, NOT ROBBERY.

The Herald's Augusta despatch reports an interview with Blain. He said the Republicans proposed to watch the Council closely. "We were prepared to submit gracefully to defeat, but not to robbery." A reporter asked Governor Garcelon if he expected any change in the declared result. He replied, "I cannot tell. the returns will be counted according to law, no matter who are to suffer."

THE SEYMOUR'S TOW.

OGDENSBURG, Nov. 19.—From the best information up to this morning it is believed that the only persons lost on board the tow of the tug Seymour were Capt. Logan, his brother, W. Arnold, past owner, and the cook and her husband of dredge No. 3. They would have been saved but for the tug Becker running into the dredge and stoving a hole in her. Nearly all of the Seymour's tow have been found, and it is thought that with the assistance that has been sent out they will all be picked up except dredge No. 3, and the tugs Becker and Thayer which foundered without any one on board. One of the dredges is in Sodus all right, and an other is off Sodus Point at anchor.

GOLD STILL COMING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The Gillert from Europe brought $800,000 in French gold coin today.

MURDERED THROUGH JEALOUSY.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 19.—The Board of Pardons unanimously refuse to commute the death penalty in the case of Andrew Tracy, of McKean county. He will be hanged on Dec. 4th for the murder of his cousin, May Reilly. The cause was jealousy.

WEIGHTED SILKS.

BREMEN, Nov. 19.—In consequence of the recent developments, the directors of the North German, Lloyd's Steamship Company have decided to refuse transportation to heavy silks so weighted with chemicals and oil as to cause danger of spontaneous combustion.

HUDSON BAY COMPANY.—Mr. G. McTavish, the Inspector of the Hudson Bay Company, is in town, and gives several facts relating to the province of Manitoba. He says the people are preparing for a heavy influx of settlers next year. They expect that not less than 40,000 people will emigrate thither within the year. The Hudson Bay Company are doing a large trade with the new settlers, and are making strong efforts to further the cause of settlement on the plains. The Company own about 7,000,000 acres in the great fertile belt, and offer for sale about half a million acres in townships already surveyed by the Government. The Company has undertaken to supply the Government engineering and surveying staffs for the Canada Pacific Railway.

24 [illegible] St., Toronto, May 18, 1878.

Messrs. [illegible]

Gentlemen,—Last fall I contracted a severe cold which, by my neglect, settled on my lungs. I found every indication of the first stage of consumption, and, like many others, when almost too late, commenced to doctor up. I tried many remedies, but got no better; was almost satisfied I was incurable. Accidentally I heard of your Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and as a forlorn hope bought a bottle. I immediately felt relieved. After taking five (5) bottles I am cured, and never felt better in my life. I would heartily recommend your Hypophosphites.

COUNTY COUNCILS.

It is not surprising that there should be a growing feeling that the time has come when the services of County Councils, as a part of our "Government," might be dispensed with seeing that in the older counties especially, these bodies are growing larger, and more costly year by year, while the duties devolving upon them are becoming more and more of a routine character. In the earlier history of the country, before the days of the Township, Village, and Town Councils, these bodies unquestionably performed important duties, but since the introduction of the minor Municipal Councils, and the completion of these local works, of more than Township or Village importance, the only work which is now left for them is the guardianship of the county buildings, the equalization of the assessment rolls, and the construction and repair of certain bridges. Duties for the performance of which it is almost the height of absurdity and extravagance to cause the assembling of in some instances as many as forty, fifty, and we believe in one or two instances even sixty representatives, and thereby entailing upon the people of this Province an expenditure, estimated at from one hundred and fifty to two hundred thousand dollars per annum. Upon the propriety of curtailing this expenditure there will, we fancy, be no two opinions, although there will naturally be considerable difference of opinion as to the best mode of accomplishing the common object. For instance, we observe a contemporary advocates the doing away with County Councils altogether, and placing the management of the county property in the hands of the Local Government; the raising of the county rates and the equalization of the assessment rolls by a committee of three or five, and that the bridges now maintained by counties should be thrown upon the local municipalities. In the first place we doubt very much the propriety of turning the county buildings over to the Local Government, at least until it become less of a political machine than it is at present, or of throwing the whole expense of large bridges upon the municipalities in which, or between which, they may be situated, but we are inclined to think that five men of the right stamp could perform all the duties ordinarily devolving upon County Councils now adays, much better, much more expediciously and much more economically than the larger bodies do. In the second place we venture to suggest that the best way of obtaining or selecting these five men would be to have them selected by a sort of electorial college in which each municipality would be represented as now by members of the Local Council, in proportion to their assessment, the manner of voting therein being so arranged that each fifth of the votes could elect one of the Council of five, and thereby prevent the possibility of a bare majority electing the whole Board. If, in addition to this, it were provided that the members of this Board should be elected alternately like School Boards, so much the better. While we are decidedly opposed to the constitution of Boards of any kind beyond the control of those whose interests are entrusted to them, we are of opinion that too frequent changes are not advantageous and that when it can be done the election of a part annually is perferable to that of the whole—particularly where the number of the Board is small.

THE GRAND JUNCTION.

The following discussion, as reported by the Intelligencer, took place in the Belleville City Council, on Monday, Nov. 17th:—

Mr. Thos. Kelso, President of the Grand Junction Railway Company, was heard with relation to the petition for the extention of time. He said in addition to the petition, that they had been unable to go on with the work to Peterborough. The contractors learned that the town of Peterborough would not aid the road to that place, but would assist its extention to Omemee, and this the contractors would probably do, if this extention were granted, and take steps to compel the County of Peterborough to place their debentures in the hands of the trustees. To allow the road to terminate permanently at Hastings was, he urged, to practically defeat the scheme so far as its value to Belleville was concerned.

Mr. Bickford, who was also heard, said he and his associates had failed to get the necessary bonus from the town of Peterborough to carry the road to that town, owing to the opposition of the Toronto and Ottawa people, whilst the County of Peterborough bonus was in dispute, and they were prepared, he is informed, to carry the matter to the Privy Council. They hoped to hit upon a scheme, and he very much wished to go on to Omemee, which they could not do in any case without the aid of Belleville by extending the time. It was the intention of his associates to establish smelting works in this city, but Mr. Cowan would speak to that matter. They wished to complete the road, and it would be a pity if, now that they had got so far, the Council should refuse to grant the favor which they asked.

Mr. Cowan stated that the road would be finished, if they were assisted in this matter. It was not their fault that the road was not completed to Peterborough. If the line was built no further than Hastings, it would be a stimulus to a through road from Toronto to Ottawa. He and his partner were largely interested in iron works, and he believed it would not be long before blast works were established in Belleville.

Mr. Kelso explained that if the road was not finished to Peterborough next summer, the Peterborough County bonus of $75,000 would lapse.

Ald. Dickson asked would the $25,000 payable when the road was completed to Hastings, and now in dispute, be allowed to remain unpaid until the line was finished to Peterborough. He considered the completion to Peterborough as of little value, if not a positive detriment. What he wished was to have the line built to Omemee, thus securing a through route.

Mr. Kelso said building to Peterborough would give connection with the Georgian Bay, but by building to Omemee they would make the line about twelve miles shorter, avoiding the detour via Millbrook.

Mr. Bickford said that they should like to have the first $25,000 now, and the second $25,000 when they had earned it. He considered that Belleville had done its share and the city would not be asked for another cent. The contractors would give a bond to that effect, if desired. They had no Government aid beyond Peterborough and would have to depend on the County of Peterborough and other municipalities interested.

The Mayor detailed the difficulties which the enterprise had been met with since its inception. The road was of great benefit to the city, and it would be, he felt as a citizen of Belleville, penny wise and pound foolish to refuse the extension of time asked for. In view of the fact that the Toronto and Ottawa Road would, if built, be of great injury to our trade with the northern townships, he urged the granting of the request

Ald. Dickson asked the contractors, who are practically owners of the road, to give to Belleville a permanent increase in her representation on the Board of Directors, provided the extension of time were granted?

Mr. Bickford said they could not give what they had not got. The County of Hasting holds the largest portion of the stock.

Ald. Robertson stated that he would introduce into the By-law which he proposed to bring in on the subject, a clause declaring that the extension of time would not in any way effect the contention of the City Council that they are not yet liable for the $25,000 payable at Hastings. This would make the matter a simple request for extension.

The subject here dropped, and the matter was subsequently referred to a special committee to report.

WATER VERSUS RAIL.

We find the following article on the above subject in the Lake Superior News, of Duluth and as it deals with a subject of very great importance to our readers, we transfer it to our columns entire:—

"The strong competition existing the past few years between the various trunk lines to the east, as well as between the water and rail routes, has led many to believe that the rail rates, even on heavy freights, could be made so low as to drive out of business a large portion of the sailing craft. The experience of the past three years proves that this cannot be done, but that water carriage from Lake Michigan, and still more from Lake Superior, will always be cheaper than rail transportation. A leading railroad man who was interviewed in Chicago a few days since, defended the present high rates as being not only necessary for the carriers, but at the same time not an injury to the western producers, the extra cost of carriage coming ultimately out of the pockets of the eastern and foreign consumer. The low rates heretofore existing had almost bankrupted many of the railroads, higher figures were necessary and just, and in his view twenty-four cents a bushel from Chicago to New York was only a fair rate. The Chicago Times in an article entitled "Paper Railroads," expresses similar views, and we quote as follows:

"The shippers and receivers of St. Paul and Minneapolis may have and probably have, a grievance; at least it is presumably the case, judging from the agony of mind displayed by their leading papers; but the public should know why the roads running to these points advance rates every wintir, to see how unjust the charge is that discriminations have been made against the northern cities. Upon the opening of navigation the merchants of St. Paul and other towns, now engaged in kicking against the pricks, invariably demand low rates, threatening to forward freight by water if their demands are not acceded to. The scheme is one in which all hands take part, the fact being that the railroads are at their mercy. During the season when the facilities for water shipments can be taken advantage of the rail road actually carry freight at rates which do not pay them, but are forced to do so because an advance of rates to a living profit is followed by a general stampede to the water route. It is natural that when navigation closes the roads should desire a profit during the winter months, but as soon as the winter rates are established a hue and cry is raised among St. Paul jobbers and Minnesota grain shippers of "monopoly!" and the papers open a fusilade of abuse directed against the companies centering in that country. They insist that the low summer rates shall hold during the winter, and immediately commence building imaginary roads through the boundless wilderness and over unfathomable swamps."

OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhoea, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is Scott & Bowne's Emulsion of Palatable Castor Oil. Price 25 cents. d106-w45-1m

Science is a good piece of furniture for a man to have in an upper chamber, provided he has common sense on the ground floor, and a bottle of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam on the shelf, for use in case of a sudden cold, cough, or hoarseness. This Canadian remedy is unsurpassed as a curative agent in croup, bronchitis, influenza, and all pulmonary complaints. For sale by all dealers. w47d115-2w

ATTRACTION.

In looking over the early volumes of the Scientific American, a few days ago, the memories of the past were vividly brought to mind by reading the following poetry, which appeared in the first column of the first issue of this paper, dated August 28th, 1845. We wondered as we read this how many of our present patrons remember reading the effusion when it first appeared:

Attraction is a curious power,
That none can understand:
Its influence is everywhere—
In water, air, and land;
It keeps the earth compact and tight,
As though strong bolts were through it:
And, what is more mysterious yet,
It binds us mortals to it.

You throw a stone up in the air,
And down it comes—ker-whack;
The centrifugal casts it up—
The centripetal—back.
My eyes! I can't discover how
One object 'tracts another;
Unless they love each other, like
A sister and a brother.

I know the compass always points
Directly to the pole:
Some say the North Star causes this,
And some say—Symmes's Hole!
Perhaps it does—perhaps it don't;
Perhaps some other cause;
Keep on perhapsing—who can solve
Attraction's hidden laws?

A fly lights on a 'lasses cup—
Attraction bids him woo it;
And when he's in, attraction keeps
The chap from paddling through it.
Attraction 'lures the sot to drink,
To all his troubles drown;
But when his legs give way, he falls,
And 'traction keeps him down.

Attraction is a curious power,
That none can understand:
Its influence is everywhere—
In water, air, and land.
It operates on everything—
The sun, the tides, the weather,
And sometimes draws the sexes up,
And binds them fast together.

THE PHYSIOGNOMY OF THE NOSE.

BY J. SIMMS, M. D.

The nose, which appears as the central figure in every human face, has two important functions. It is the channel by which the external air is carried to the lungs for the purification of the blood, so necessary for the support of animal life; and it is the organ of smell, by which the system is guarded against receiving injurious food or unwholesome exhalations.

Happily, the mouth furnishes a supplementary passage for the supply of air in case of any stoppage in the nasal orifices; but, when possible, all breathing, and also sneezing, ought to be done through the nose as the proper channel; and, as the amount of life-energy in the individual depends on the amount of air received into his system, so those talents and dispositions that make up what we call energy of character are revealed in the form and size of the nose.

The head and nose exhibit signs of thought, and those signs are more obvious and reliable in the nose than in the head—first, because the head, being covered with hair, is less easily scanned; and second, because the skull is so much less flexible, that it does not readily alter its size or form, as the consequence of changes which take place in the mental character.

As the rays of the sun can soften and change a snow bank more readily than a rock, so can the rays of thought from the mental sun within more speedily mold the soft nose and other facial features than the hard bones of the skull; and every change of mind will effect the fleshy sooner than the bony parts; causing them to keep pace more closely with variations of character, and thus to become a truer index to the inward workings of the mind.

The most casual observer need not be told that noses are to be seen in every variety of size and form, to say nothing of color. They are long and short, thick and thin, round and square, crooked and straight, bent up and bent down, red and white spotted and plain; presenting a greater number of obvious and namable characteristics than any other feature. And each of these means something to the physiognomist. As the mouth indicates chiefly the supplying powers, and the eye the social affections, so does the nose the mental energies, and all that has a tendency either to sustain or deteriorate them.

As a general principle, then, large, long noses are indicative of active, energetic characters, apt to be proud, pompous, impatient, desirous to be leaders and commanders, and often overbearing and tyrannical. Alexander the Great and Napoleon I. are notable examples.

On the other hand, persons with small, low noses are weak characters, deficient in government even of themselves, and prone to follow their appetites, desires, loves and hates, rather than their reason and judgment.

Large-nosed persons, in a critical position, or under circumstances of excitement, will be more self-possessed and competent to judge and act wisely than the small-nosed. Large noses are found chiefly among the inhabitants of mountainous regions or their descendants. Small ones originate in low, level lands.

When the nose is long in proportion to its general size, the individual is discreet, careful, timed and thoughtful. Noses that are relatively short from the forehead to the point, belong to rash, careless, self-willed people. Noses that reach far away from the face denote persons discontented with their present lot, aspiring and anxious. But if the point of the nose seems clinging to the upper lip, we infer a tendency to the miserly, and a love of earthly things.

When a nose is thin as well as generally small, the constitution is poor as well as the character weak; there is a tendency to consumption, and such may die early. On the other hand, if the nose is thick where it joins the face, there is a strong constitution, strong passions, too, and reason to hope for long life if proper care be taken.

Sharp-pointed noses accompany intense, keen penetrative persons, with quick tempers. Those that are thick and nearly square at the point, denote a taste for invention and progress. A prominent nose, nearly or quite straight, and that seems to have two points formed by a vertical depression down through the end, denotes a meditative and logical mind.

This may be observed in the busts of Lord Bacon, Sir Isaac Newton, St. Vincent and Auguste Comte.

A man with a nose reaching towards the mouth, will be cautious, and his bodily wants his first consideration. Noses that reach in a straight line forward at the base, indicate quiet persons and of regular habits, especially in middle life. Round noses belong to the musical, the speculative, and those possessed of retentive memories. The small, low, round nose, generally known as the pug, turning up a little at the point, belongs to a forward, conceited and saucy individual.

The nose that shows a large amount of bone in proportion to its size, denotes a staple character, slow of judgment, but firm and reliable; but the soft, fleshy or gristly nose leads us to fear we have a sly, deceptive, cunning, treacherous character. The former originates for the most part in temperate climates, the latter in the torrid zone. Examples of the gristly nose may be seen in the cat, and all the feline species.

The straight nose inclines to science, art, polite literature and political economy, if educated accordingly. But that which shows a convex form from forehead to point, inclines to commercial enterprise. A nose very broad at the base, evinces a dull, obtuse intellect, with much physical courage, animal power and destructive inclination.

When the lower portion of the nose forms an obtuse angle with the face, and the point is elevated about forty-five degrees, we have a person inclined to snobbery and fashion. When the septum or partition between the nostrils is longer than the sides, we infer an original, fertile, suggestive mind.

A nose standing out high and thin in its upper part, bespeaks moral courage, love of argument, a quick apprehension, capacity to make the best of what they know at the time being. Widespread nostrils are indicative of strong lungs; but the closing of them evinces pulmonary weakness. Wrinkles lying across the top of the nose are signs of thoroughness. A fiery red, warty and enlarged nose, betrays a diminution of energy through disease or strong drink.

Long, sharp and well-formed noses possess acute scent, provided they are not subject to catarrh, or that running of mucus which arises from great susceptibility of cold in this organ, and which is detrimental to the special sense of smell.

As a general rule, square noses indicate a masculine, and round ones a feminine character. Animals, as well as human beings, with long noses, are uneasy, watchful, and desire to travel. Those with short ones are slow of movement, as the sloth. If the bridge of the nose is high, it evinces a disposition to assail those who are considered to be doing wrong.

Another rule which holds good among the lower animals, as well as those of the human species, is that those with wide faces, and noses wide where they join the face, are fond of flesh meat, while those with long, narrow faces prefer vegetables, fruits and nuts. The tiger and other feline quadrupeds furnish good examples of the former; the horse, ox, camel, giraffe, deer, sheep and goat exemplify the latter.

Those human faces that are largest in the upper portion, are naturally herbivorous; but if the lower part is relatively large, there is a disposition to eat flesh. The same applies to the nose.

The Rev. Morley Punshon, President of the British Wesleyan Conference in 1874-5, has the wide, full face indicating the appetite for meat diet, and it is said he always declines eating fruit of any kind; and being once offered a sovereign to eat an apple, he still refused. Mrs. Hannah Stocks, a lady who lived in the West Riding of Yorkshire, England, but who has passed away, was another example. Her face was wide, and her nose broad at its junction with the face. Her daughter informed me that this lady lived principally on meat and beer; she rarely used either bread or vegetables, and as for fruit, she seemed utterly unable to eat it. She had been known to try it, but the taste of an orange seemed utterly repulsive and offensive.

If enough has been said here to cause the reader to observe noses, there is at least the first step taken in the course to which I earnestly desire to lead all who read or hear my remarks. The remainder must be left to himself; my great hope being that these observations may lead to showers of blessings on future generations, by helping to emancipate the human family from the thralldom of materialistic theories and humiliating imitations.

In conclusion, let me say to the reader of these lines:—If you have a badly formed nose, one that is thick at the end and hugs down towards the face in a manner too truly indicating a low and selfish nature, do not settle down in the character, assuming that you were so formed by nature and cannot help it. But rouse yourself to commence living for higher and nobler purposes; deny yourself all indulgence of envy and revenge; refuse yourself all gratifications that are merely selfish; and, however contrary to your inclinations, compel yourself to make sacrifices of time, ease, and money for the good of others.

The love of such actions will grow with the practice; through time you will find pleasure in what was at first against your nature; the more good you do, the more you will love to do it; the oftener you will deny yourself, the easier self-denial will become. Now, smile not with incredulous contempt when I add that your nose, with nature's wonted truthfulness, will publish to the world the fact that you have become nobler and better.

Continue thus to improve throughout life; and when you pass to another and better state of being, you will be happy to find that your time on earth was not spent in the indulgence of selfish and debasing passions; but your powers of mind and body were, like clay in the hands of a skillful potter, controlled, worked, improved, and rendered at once beautiful and useful; adapted for usefulness in that future state of existence prepared through the illimitable kindness and wisdom of the Creator.

HUNGARIAN SPORT.

Godolo, the Hungarian Schloss, which the Magyars a few years ago presented to their huntress queen, is just now alive with the bark of dogs and the clatter of horses' hoofs. The guests have the choice of two varieties of sport, severally headed by the King and Queen—viz., deer shooting and the drag. The preserves of Godolo alone contain 1,300 head of deer, 300 having to be shot every year to keep the number down to this formidable figure. One morning His Majesty took his gun and went out for an early stroll, and without dog or beaters, brought down seven deer before breakfast. Crown Prince Rudolph is even a better shot than his father, who is, however, not in the least jealous of his son's superior skill, although he is anything but pleased when any one else makes a bigger bag than he does himself. The future ruler of Austro-Hungary the other day killed forty-six chamois in two days' shooting at Eisenerz, in Styria. The drag, which is quite an innovation in Hungary, is just now her Majesty's absorbing passion, and has I believe, been introduced by Captain Lord Spencer. It consists of a piece of raw meat soaked in anisette. The country is very stiff, and it requires much skill and courage to ride straight after the scent—qualities with her Majesty has, by her performances in England and Ireland, shown us she possesses in a high degree. It is quite the exception when she does not come in with a good five minutes' lead. Recently the Emperor shot a golden eagle, a quarry which cannot, like most other game, be made easy by custom, and which, when bagged, affords irrefutable proof of the sportsman's skill. The other evening as His Majesty was returning to Godolo, after a day's shooting, one of these rare and handsome birds rose. It was a long shot, and by ill luck only one barrel was loaded, but the Emperor took steady aim and brought the bird whirling down to earth. The prize was exhibited that evening on a golden dish on the sideboard. His Majesty now wears in his shooting hat one of the eagle's feathers, and says he will always do so in future.

Value of Fodder Corn.

We visited a farmer who evidently knows how stock should be treated. He raised a quantity of fodder-corn every year, to bridge over the dry times. He is feeding it now, once a day, to all his cattle. He feeds it in the evening, mowing a swarth, gathered up by hand and thrown over the fence into the adjoining pasture. We witnessed one feeding, and the way those cattle went into the green succulent stocks would have convinced the most skeptical that there was something good in it. It had been rather dry for two weeks before, local storms passing around, and the pastures had become brown and bare. The owner informed us that cows and young stock would come up and range themselves along the fence on the feeding ground an hour or two before feeding time and impatiently wait for the meal. The flow of milk was maintained by this means, and the general condition of the stock kept up. He sows his corn broadcast, and a little too thickly, we think, to secure best results. If all farmers especially dairy farmer, would follow a similar system, the net result in the entire country would be immense. We are glad to know that many of them do it, and that the number is annually increasing.—Ohio Farmer.

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 19.—The market this morning was only a fair one. There were many farmers in, mostly with small quantities for the general market. Apples found ready sale at an advance on previous quotations and 70c. to $1.00 per bag was the range. The bulk of sales, however, were at 70 to 80cts. per bag. None on the market in barrels. Potatoes were in better supply than for several market days. There was no trouble in selling as they were speedily taken mostly at 70 to 75cts. per bag, while 80cts. was paid for one or two loads. Our quotations must necessarily be advanced. Onions were in light supply but found few buyers at 75cts. per bag for yellow, and 60cts. for red. Cabbages were plenty and went slowly at 40c. Poultry in fair supply and found ready sale; turkeys at 40 to 50cts. each; geese 35 to 40cts. each; chickens 30 cts. per pair; ducks, none in worth mentioning. Pork made its appearance in large quantities and was readily taken for shipping purposes at $5.00 to $5.25 per cwt. Beef in fine supply sold at $3.50 to $4.00 for the fore quarter, and $4.50 to $5.00 for the hind quarter. Other meats remain unchanged. Butter was more plentiful than any day since the rainy weather. Prices of keg butter for shipments improved somewhat and 21½ cts. was paid for choice lots. Prime may be quoted at 19 to 21cts.; medium grades at 15 to 19cts., and for inferior 12 to 14cts. Roll butter was steady at 19 to 20cts. Eggs scarce, but no change in price was noted. Peas were freely taken at 60cts. Several lots in. Oats in small lots at 30 to 32cts. One farmer wanted 35cts., we did not hear of his getting it. No barley in. The season seems to be over for barley. The wheat market is nominal, only a few small lots came in and sold at $1.15 for spring wheat. Fall wheat, no change to note. Wood was plenty, and was selling mostly by the load. There does not seem to be a disposition to give an honest cord. Very few loads measure over three-quarters of a cord, and to is sold by the load, an unfair way of dealing. It is, however, the buyers, fault, because they will not demand a full cord. Hardwood is worth $3.00 to $3.50 per load cut; uncut, $2.25 to $2.50. Soft wood, at $2.00 to $2.50 for cut, and $1.50 to $1.75 for uncut. Hay sold readily at quotations. There were several loads in.

A JOURNALISTIC MEDLEY.

In the early part of this the Nineteenth Century of the Christian Era, a Citizen of the World strolled at night along Pall Mall on his way from Belgravia to Whitehall, accompanied only by the Echo of his footsteps. An old Engineer and soldier of the Queen, he had traversed by Land and Water the greater part of the Globe, and had, since his Broad Arrow days, fought under more than one Standard. Taking out his Tablet he stood and wrote as follows:—"The study of Public Opinion offers a wide Field for the intelligent Spectator and Examiner of the Times——" At this moment a Watchman who had been a close Observer of his movements, approached, and said, "Come, my noble Sportsman, you must move on!" "And what if I refuse?" demanded the other, standing like a Rock with his back against a Post, immovable as Temple Bar; "to be Brief with you, my friend, I shall in Truth stay here a Week if I think proper." "Well," rejoined the Civilian, "I am the appointed Guardian of this thoroughfare All the Year Round, and I protest against your making any Sketch or Record here! Are you a Builder?" Instantly a grasp of Iron was laid on his arm. "Do you wish me to Punch your head?" asked the Traveller. "Oh, no," replied the other, all in a Quiver, "pray don't, I was only in Fun."

Copperas Water.

J. G. Story, in a communication to The Chautauqua Farmer gives the result of experiment with copperas-water applied to tomato plants and flowering shrubs as follows:—In Erie I bought six tomato plants for early use. I set them out near the house. When they began to grow nicely I watered four plants with a solution of sulphate of iron, commonly called copperas, three times. I took a forty gallon cask and filled it with water, and in this I dissolved five pounds of copperas. Now for the result. The plants watered with the solution were earlier than the others. My diary says: "Oct. 9, 1877. Picked tomatoes of second growth, and third crop growing, and vine still blooming." The two vines unwatered with the solution were at this time dead. I tried it again in the year 1878, with the same remarkable results, two crops early and late. The tomatoes of both crops were large, nice and delicious. As my casks sat in the garden the rose bushes and other flowering plants got occasional contributions of it, and the flowers were extraordinarily fine. Copperas is an inexpensive commodity—may be purchased at any drug store at a cost not exceeding four or five cents per pound.

REGULATIONS

RESPECTING THE DISPOSAL OF CERTAIN

PUBLIC LANDS

FOR THE PURPOSES OF THE

Canadian Pacific Railway

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
OTTAWA, Oct. 14, 1879.

Public notice is hereby given that the following provisions, which shall be held to apply to the lands in the Province of Manitoba, and in the territories to the west and north-west thereof, are substituted for the Regulations, dated the 9th July last, governing the mode of disposing of the Public Lands situate within 110 (one hundred and ten) miles on each side of the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which said Regulations are hereby superseded:—

1. "Until further and final survey of the said railway has been made west of the Red River, and for the purposes of these provisions, the line of the said railway shall be assumed to be on the fourth base westerly to the intersection of the said base by the line between ranges 21 and 22 west of the first principle meridian, and thence in a direct line to the confluence of the Shell River with the River Assiniboine.

2. "The country lying on each side of the line of railway shall be respectively divided into belts, as follows:—

"(1) A belt of five miles on either side of the railway, and immediately adjoining the same, to be called Belt A;

"(2) A belt of fifteen miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt A, to be called Belt B;

"(3) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt B, to be called Belt C;

"(4) A belt of twenty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining belt C, to be called Belt D; and

"(5) A belt of fifty miles on either side of the railway, adjoining Belt D, to be called belt E.

3. "The even-numbered sections in each township throughout the several belts above described shall be open for entry as homesteads and pre-emptions of 160 acres each respectively.

4. "The odd-numbered sections in each of such Townships shall not be open to homestead or pre-emption, but shall be specially reserved and designated as Railway Lands.

5. "The Railway Lands within the several belts shall be sold at the following rates, viz:—In Belt A, $5 (five dollars) per acre; in Belt B, $4 (four dollars) per acre; in Belt C, $3 (three dollars) per acre; in Belt D, $2 (two dollars) per acre; in Belt E, $1 (one dollar) per acre; and the terms of sale of such lands shall be as follows, viz:—One-tenth in cash at the time of purchase; the balance in nine equal instalments, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum on the balance of purchase money from time to time remaining unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

6. "The Pre-emption Lands within the several belts shall be sold for the prices and on the terms respectively as follows:—In the Belts A, B and C, at $2.50 (two dollars and fifty cents) per acre; in Belt D, at $2 (two dollars) per acre; and in Belt E, at $1 (one dollar) per acre. The terms of payment to be four-tenths of the purchase money, together with interest on the latter at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, to be paid at the end of three years from the date of entry; the remainder to be paid in six equal instalments annually from and after the said date, with interest at the rate above mentioned on such portions of the purchase money as may remain unpaid, to be paid with each instalment.

7. "All payments for Railway Lands, and also for Pre-emption Lands, within the several Belts, shall be in cash, and not in scrip or military or police bounty warrants.

8. "All moneys received in payment of Pre-emption Lands shall inure to and form part of the fund for railway purposes, in a similar manner to the moneys received in payment of the Railway Lands.

9. "These provisions shall be retroactive so far as relates to any and all entries of Homestead and Pre-emption Lands, or sales of Railway Lands obtained or made under the Regulations of the 9th of July, hereby superseded; any payments made in excess of the rate hereby fixed shall be credited on account of sales of such lands.

10. The Order-in-Council of the 9th of November, 1877 relating to the settlement of the lands in Manitoba which had been previously withdrawn for Railway purposes, having been cancelled, all claims of persons who settled in good faith on lands under the said Order-in-Council shall be dealt with under these provisions, as to price of Pre-emption, according to the belt in which such lands may be situate. Where a person may have taken up two quarter-sections under the said Order-in-Council, he may retain the quarter-section upon which he has settled, has a Homestead, and the other quarter-section as a Pre-emption, under these provisions, irrespective of whether such Homestead and Pre-emption may be found to be upon an even-numbered section or otherwise. Any moneys paid by such person on account of the lands entered by him under the said Order-in-Council, will be credited to him on account of his Pre-emption purchase, under these provisions. A person who may have taken up one quarter-section under the Order-in-Council mentioned will be allowed to retain the same as a Homestead, and will be permitted to enter a second quarter-section as a Pre-emption, the money paid on account of the land previously entered to be credited to him on account of such Pre-emption.

11. "All entries of lands shall be subject to the following provisions respecting the right of way of the Canadian Pacific Railway, or of any Government colonization railway connected therewith, viz:

a "In the case of the railway crossing land entered as a Homestead, the right of way thereon, and also any land which may be required for station purposes, shall be free to the Government.

b "Where the railway crosses Pre-emptions or railway Lands, entered subsequent to the date hereof, the Government may take possession of such portion thereof as may be required for right of way or for station grounds or ballast pits, and the owner shall only be entitled to claim payment for the land so taken, at the same rate per acre as he may have paid the Government for the same.

c "In case, on the final location of the railway through lands unsurveyed, or surveyed but not entered for at the time, a person is found in occupation of land which it may be desirable in the public interest to retain, the Government reserves the right to take possession of such land, paying the squatter the value of any improvements he may have made thereon.

12. "Claims to Public Lands arising from settlement after the date hereof, in territory unsurveyed at the time of such settlement, and which may be embraced within the limits affected by the above policy, or by the extension thereof in the future over additional territory, will be ultimately dealt with in accordance with the terms prescribed above for the lands in the particular belt in which such settlement may be found to be situate, subject to the operations of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

13. "All entries after the date hereof of unoccupied lands in the Saskatchewan Agency, will be considered as provisional until the railway line through that part of the territories has been located, after which the same will be finally disposed of in accordance with these provisions, as the same may apply to the particular belt in which such lands may be found to be situated, subject, as above, to the operation of sub-section c of section 11 of these provisions.

14. "With a view to encouraging settlement by cheapening the cost of building material, the Government reserves the right to grant licenses, renewable yearly, under Section 52 of the 'Dominion Lands Act, 1879,' to cut merchantable timber on any lands situated within the several belts above described, and any settlement upon, or sale of lands within, the territory covered by such licenses, shall for the time being be subject to the operation of such licenses.

15. "The above provisions, it will, of course, be understood will not affect sections 11 and 29, which are public school lands, or sections 8 and 26, Hudson's Bay Company's lands.

"Any further information necessary may be obtained on application at the Dominion Lands Office, Ottawa, or from the agent of Dominion Lands, Winnipeg, or from any of the local agents in Manitoba or the Territories.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1879.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

C. O. F.

Court Peterborough, of the Canadian Order of Foresters, will meet at their hall this evening. The new endowment law will be considered.

Hasting Away.

Many of the farmers sold out early and made haste to return home to avoid the snow storm that they anticipated. This afternoon the streets were very lively as those who remained were gathering up their purchases and making their settlements with a view to starting home.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. Scott-Siddons will visit Peterborough on Thursday, November 27th. Those who have not yet heard her will be eager to avail themselves of this opportunity, and the smaller number among us, who have already been delighted by her talents, will certainly not be absent.

A Disappointment.

The McDowell Vaudeville Company will be unable to perform the drama of "Arrah-na-Pogue!" here this evening, as was announced, as they had unfortunately failed to connect with the Midland train. They will, however, perform the comic opera "H. M. S. Pinafore" in Bradburn's Opera House to-morrow.

Pluck and Presence of Mind.

This morning while Harry Morgan was driving a team up George Street at a good round trot, one of the lines slipped from his hands. As quick as thought he sprang down upon the tongue, and walking out to the horses head, gathered up the lost rein, without any halt or showed great pluck and presence of mind.

Accident on the Road.

As Mrs. Dougherty, of Hastings, was coming into town with poultry for the market, her buggy broke down a few miles out from Peterborough and she was compelled to borrow a waggon to complete the journey. She brought geese and turkeys. The turkeys were as fine a lot as have been offered on the market this season.

Dangerous Hole Being Repaired.

Our attention has been called to a dangerous hole at the corner of Reid and London streets, created by the late heavy rains. It remained unattended to until this morning. Several complaints of neglect have been made, but upon investigation we learn that Street Inspector Johnston has examined the spot and has made arrangements for filling it up and repairing the street.

I. O. G. T.

Friendship Lodge, No. 166, I. O. G. T., met last evening at their Hall, on George Street. There were a goodly number present, and the meeting was an interesting one. No business of a public nature was transacted except the unanimous election and installation of Mrs. Owens, as Secretary. The Lodge is in a more prosperous condition, than for a long time, and a deeper interest is being manifested by its members. The Good of the Order entertainment was greatly enjoyed by the members and visitors.

Peterborough Boat Club.

The Peterborough Boat Club held a special meeting on Monday evening, when the report of Mr. A. D. Braithwaite the Secretary-Treasurer was received. Mr. Braithwaite being about to leave town he tendered his resignation, which was accepted with a unanimous vote of thanks for his zealous discharge of his duties and the great services he had rendered the club. Mr. R. E. Wood was then chosen Secretary-Treasurer. Mr. Braithwaite was elected an honorary member of the club.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: Lakes, brisk to high south-westerly to southerly winds; cloudy warmer weather with rain areas, followed by stormy westerly to north-westerly winds, and colder weather to-morrow. Storm signals are up throughout Canada. Peterborough last evening experienced snow flurries with a keen cutting north wind and heavy frost. To-day a south-westerly brisk wind with cloudy weather and an occasional flitting of snow. At two o'clock p.m. snow began to fill the air, with the wind southerly.

A MAD WOLF'S RAVAGES.

It Charges a District Fair and Bites Twenty-Two People.

On the 7th of October, about 7 a.m., the peasants from the adjoining villages had collected together at a fair which was held at the settlement of Barvenkoff, district of Izume, and the male portion of the assembly had dispersed to the drinking shops to make bargins and drink each other's healths, leaving the women and children in charge of the carts. Suddenly there resounded through the square a heartrending shriek for assistance, and then all was quiet. The peasants rushed out of the drinking booths into the street, and before they had time to collect their thoughts there appeared from behind a building situated on the edge of the square an enormous wolf. Everybody rushed in great confusion to their carts, shouting, "Mad wolf!" Meantime the gigantic wolf, frothing at the mouth and with his tongue hanging out, made for the carts. A dreadful tumult occurred. The horses and oxen dashed in all directions, but the majority, getting entangled, fell over, turning the carts, while the noise made by the pigs, sheep, geese, fowls, &c., added to the uproar and confusion. The wolf when within a short distance of the first group of carts turned around, sprang on a woman who was running past, and in a moment she was prostrate on the ground, having lost her nose, scalp and lower part of her face. The wolf then ran further and attacked a small lad of about seven years of age, but just at that time a pig rushed at the wolf and bit its tail. The wolf turned on his assailant, but not before it had bitten the boy's face and hand. Leaving the pig, the wolf ran down the main street, attacking a woman with a baby, then two boys about four years of age, and having bitten their heads through to the brain, rushed up the street and after biting several other persons, turned off on to the railway. By this time a large crowd headed by the village elder, and armed with whips, guns, scythes, &c., gave chase to the terrible animal. They came up with the wolf about one mile from the village, and a peasant allowing it to approach him within fifteen paces, shot the animal straight in its open maw. Notwithstanding the wound he had received, the wolf sprang up and attacked the peasant. The latter did not lose his presence of mind, and struck the animal with the but end of his gun, which shattered at the blow, and the wolf seized the peasant by the side, but owing to the man wearing three coats his skin was only scratched. The courageous man then firmly grappled the animal with both hands. During this struggle between a man and a mad wolf the crowd, which had come up, hesitated through fear to attempt the rescue of their comrade. Fortunately a local policeman galloped up at this juncture, and drawing his revolver shot the wolf through the head. The wolf had bitten no less than twenty-two persons, ten of whom are in a dangerous state. The sufferers were isolated from the rest of the inhabitants and medical aid was at once administered to them. It is reported that the wolf came from the settlement of Dovgenikoff (situate about eighteen miles from Barvenkoff), where a mad ox had died and had been burried, but so carelessly that on the following morning his body was found scattered about.—Golos.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

Council Meeting.—The council met at the call of the Reeve, on Monday Nov. 17th. Present the Reeve and Messrs. Leary, Dunlop and Forster. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. A report and certificate was received from Joseph Bennett, Joseph Green and William Eyres that they had performed the work on the roadway between concessions nine and ten from the quarter line east to the river according to agreement, and asking for payment for the performance of said work. Moved by Mr. Leary, seconded by Mr. Dunlop, —That the report of Joseph Bennett, J. Green and W. Eyres be received and adopted, and an order given them on the Treasurer for the sum of $51, that being the amount of their claim against the Council.—Carried. A by-law to appoint places for holding the Municipal Elections for the ensuing year received its several reading, and was passed. On motion of Mr. Leary, seconded by Mr. Dunlop, the sum of $7 was ordered to be paid to Messrs. Belcher & Clementi for taking levels on quarter line. Moved by Mr. Leary, seconded by Mr. Forster, —That $3 be given to Mrs. McIlmoil as charity. Carried. On motion of Mr. Dunlop the Council adjourned to Tuesday, the 23rd day of December, at one o'clock.

A NEW COUNTY.

The Kingston News says:—"We understand that an agitation has been begun in the back townships for the formation of a new county, to take in several townships from the County of Frontenac and several from Addington. The proposal is to establish the county town at Verona. Perhaps this movement will result in a settlement of the equalization trouble referred to in another place."

HAMILTON.

Fatal Accident.—A horrible accident was reported from Beverly township on Monday morning. A man named John Schamp, while engaged in pulling stumps on his farm last Wednesday took shelter from a rainstorm, under a partially raised stump, and while there by some unknown means the clevis parted and the bolt withdrew, allowing the stump to fall on the unfortunate man, whose back was broken in two places and his intestines forced through his abdomen. Strange to say, the man is still alive, but no hopes of his recovery are entertained. He has a wife and two children.

MONTREAL.

A Coin Taken from a Boy's Stomach.—Dr. Hingston succeeded yesterday in extracting from a young lad's stomach a copper coin which he had swallowed, and which had located at the neck of his stomach. No serious results are feared.

Repugnance to Twins.—The miscellany of crime, casualties, and Courts to-day is brief but not uninteresting. A man named James Carrigan was before the Recorder on a charge of drunk and disorderly. During the course of the evidence against the prisoner it was given under oath by two witnesses that he had made an attempt to smother twins, of which his wife a short time ago been delivered. The reason given by him was that only a short time previous to that event his wife had given him a pair of twins, and he did not want to be bothered with more. He was sent to jail for fifteen days, and warned to be exceedingly careful of what became of the twins when he came out, as a jury might agree to circumstantial evidence in case anything happened to them.

Expulsion of Jews From Russia.

The International Agency lately telegraphed that it is proposed to expel all Jews from the country of the Don Cossacks in the course of the next two years. It is said that the chiefs of that military people have requested the Supreme Government to take this step in consequence of the shameful way in which the Jews defraud [illegible]. The [illegible] of Odessa have just been accused by one of the local newspapers (the Pravda) of buying up the corn at the exorbitant prices of fifteen, sixteen and seventeen and even twenty roubles the chetwert, or Russian quarter, in order, in the expectation of a scarcity, to get as much of it as possible into their own hands, the grain crops of South Russia having proved a failure this year. Most of what has been got in seems to have found its way as yet to Nicolaieff, where there was lately as much as 2,000,000 chetwerts.—London Times.

A CHINESE OATH.

An Interesting Ceremony at the Toronto Police Court.

An incident took place on Monday in the Police Court which attracted considerable notice. In a case of alleged theft, in which Sam Sing, a Chinese laundryman, was the complainant, it was found necessary to administer an oath before taking evidence. "But," the Police Magistrate asked of Mr. Fenton, County Attorney, "how shall we swear him?" Mr. Fenton, who had been reading "Oke's Magisterial Formulist" a day or two previous, and remembered having stumbled across the Chinese form of administering an oath, at once replied that he could provide for the difficulty if the court would wait for a short time. The court agreed to do this willingly, and Mr. Fenton left the room. After an absence of about ten minutes he returned, bringing with him a copy of the book above mentioned, a new China saucer, and a large piece of stone. The book he handed to the Magistrate, at the same time pointing out to him the passage having reference to the formula necessary to be followed in a case like the present. The piece of stone was placed on the rail in front of the witness, to whom at the same time was handed the saucer. Then, in obedience to an order from Mr. Fenton, Sam knelt down and broke the saucer over the stone. This part of the ceremony was over, the Police Magistrate repeated the formula as laid down by Oke, viz:—"You are to tell the truth, and the whole truth; the saucer is cracked, and if you do not tell the truth your soul will be cracked like the saucer." This done the awe-struck Celestial was declared duly sworn, and his evidence was then taken.

The carrying out of the novel ceremony was eagerly watched by those in the court room. Whether Sam did or did not fully understand the situation was not made clear.—Globe.

THE CANADA BALDWIN.

I consider this an unfortunate name, because it would lead many to the inference that it it applied simply to Baldwin Apples grown in Canada. The Canada Baldwin is a very distinct sort of the peculiar type of Lower Canada Apples. Its origin is not certain, some reports making it a seedling of an old Canadian Apple the "Pomme de Fer"—Iron Apple—while others regard it as one of the innumerable seedlings of the Fameuse. The Abbottsford Fruit Growers' Association's report for 1875, says of this variety:—"The fruit is conic in shape and somewhat like the Fameuse, though lighter in color, and specked in white. It bares carriage well, keeps till June, and is very salable. The trees are heavy croppers, strong in growth and very thrifty. They were thought exceedingly hardy; but during the last five years the old ones, seventeen years planted, have shown a tendency to sun-scald." The same Society, in its last, 1876, report says:—"The seedling of St. Hilaire we wish to call renewed attention to. It was described in our fruit list for the Province of Quebec, in 1875, also in the second report of the Montreal Horticultural society, p. 28; but experience to date shows us that in both cases we criticised it too harshly. The tree is of undoubted hardiness, but its fault is that on warm, dry soils the sap rises too soon; hence, if the hot suns of early spring are quickly followed by severe freezing, the trunk is apt to become sun-scalded. Should this happen, the tree still holds on to life with great tenacity. In heavier soils, even though in localities less favorable to apple-growing, and in cold and even wettish soils, where Fameuse, planted alongside of it, have died, the Canada Baldwin is a success, both in tree and fruit. In quality it is good; in color mainly red and quite prepossessing in appearance. Its fruitage is heavy and keeps well until April or May. All things considered, we know of no long-keeping apple more worthy of planting in such soils as suit it."

In addition to this, I can say that in the heavy soils around Lake Memphremagog, the Canada Baldwin is regarded as a great success. In quality it is better than "good," deserving to rank with the "very good," if not with the "best" of pomological lists. For light soils, I am sure it may be easily adopted by top-grafting in the limbs upon varieties with a less sensitive bark, such as Duchess of Oldenburg or Wealthy. I find, by the examination of many old trees, that only upon the trunk is the bark-scald manifest. In size, the Canada Baldwin is above medium.—T. H. Hoskins, M. D., of Orleans, Vt., in Rural New Yorker.

Thirty Chinamen Killed.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 18.—An explosion occurred in tunnel No. 3 on the Narrow Gauge railroad from San Jose to Santa Cruz this morning. A blast was left off about 2,700 feet from the mouth of the tunnel, which caused the explosion of the gases, generated by the filtering of coal oil through the roof and sides. Twenty-one Chinamen and two white men were at work in the tunnel at the time. Immediately twenty more Chinamen rushed into the tunnel with torches to aid their comrades. When they had penetrated about 1,600 feet, their torches caused a second explosion more violent than the first, shaking the mountain to its centre. The white men, Lindell and Johnson were brought out terribly burned, and ten Chinamen, all seriously injured. As far as we can learn thirty Chinamen were killed. It seems the explosion wrecked the engines and works. Physicians were despatched to the scene from San Jose. Everything possible is being done for the sufferers.

Exterminating Rabbits.

The increase of rabbits in New Zealand has been so great that it has been seriously proposed to introduce the weasel and the pole-cat to keep down their excessive numbers. An "exterminator," however, has been invented which seems to be effective. It consists of a machine for generating and forcing into the burrows carbonic oxide gas. On reaching the burrows a flexible tube about five feet in length is inserted into the hole, and gas is forced into the aperture. The entrance to the burrow is then stopped, as well as all holes and fissures that can be found. In a few seconds a great hubbub is heard inside, but this quickly subsides. The burrow is dug open after a short time; when the dead bodies of the rabbits are found huddled together in every corner. The exterminators have been pronounced a perfect success.

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable.

d166-w45-1m

It is said by many, first try one remedy, and then another, but we find in the great majority of cases that those who try Hagyard's Yellow Oil for all purposes of a liniment, have no use for any other preparation, it does its work so effectually that none others need to be applied. It is equally good for man or beast, and can be used internally for Croup, Whooping Cough, and Asthma, externally for Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises, Chilblains, Burns, Scalds, and all Pains and Aches, from whatever cause they may occur. Sold by all dealers at 25 cents per bottle. w47d113-2w

Le Pere De [illegible], of the French Church on Twenty-third street, New York, devotes his life to visiting the poor and the afflicted, and he not only gives the consolation of religion, but prescribes the use of Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia, and instant relief is experienced.

BOTH for $2.80!

☞To Farmers and Horticulturists

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.00! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—2 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Force says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, as far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavoured, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $20 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, last season, at the rate of 95 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kaempferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomoea leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1879.

CANADIAN TELEGRAMS.

MONTREAL.

Special to the Review, Nov. 20.

THE ELECTIONS.—Robertson is said to have 5 to 1. In Sherbrooke both parties claim a majority. In Levis the contest is very close, and the majority on either side will be small.

QUEBEC.

Special to the Review, Nov. 20.

INTERESTING DOCUMENTS.—In clearing out the vaults in the Custom House, some valuable ancient records have been brought to light, consisting of the arrivals of vessels and other memoranda relating to this port. They date back to over a century ago, and a perusal of them shows that the great majority of vessels then trading here were of small tonnage, and that the bulk of our exports consisted of potash, staves and furs.

TORONTO.

Special to the Review, Nov. 20.

SNOWFALL.—Advices from forty different places in the Ottawa district state that snow has been falling heavily since yesterday afternoon, averaging from two to eight inches in depth. In the northern and western portions of Ontario and Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, snow has been falling steadily since yesterday, accompanied with a heavy gale of wind. The weather is very cold and disagreeable, much damage to shipping is anticipated.

OAKVILLE, ONT.

Special to the Review, Nov. 20.

ADRIFT IN A SCOW.—A gentleman who has just come into town reports having seen a schooner founder on the lake, about 4 miles east of here. He states that he saw some men in a scow drifting seaward. The lost boat is supposed to be the scow Pinta, of Oakville. The crew consisted of four men, all of this place. The boat was loaded very low, and would sink immediately, as she was loaded with stone. The boat the crew were in drifted off very rapidly. It is supposed they have no oars. Tugs have been ordered from Toronto, but it is probable that the men will perish before help can reach them, as it is very cold and there is a blinding snow-storm now all over the lake.

HALIBURTON.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PHOSPHATE.—While Mr. Wm. Murray was exploring in the township of Dudley, he came upon some specimens of phosphate, and when tested they proved to be the real article. At present there is a party of about six men working at the expected mine, to find out whether there are payable quantities in it or not. If there proves to be a large quantity, it is expected to have about 200 men and 200 horses engaged in mining it. The distance from Haliburton is only about seven miles. Numerous strangers have been in to see it, and have expressed their willingness to take part in it. The Canadian Land and Emigration Company intend pushing the thing forward, as it is in their lands that the mine has been found.

FURS.—Mr. Leck, of Peterborough, has been in the village the past week, purchasing furs. It is stated that he has paid out over $3,000 for furs in two days. The catch this year is very large. Most of the trappers have returned with great quantities of furs. Some parties have taken as much as $250, which is a very large catch, taking the price of fur at present.

CRICKET CLUB.—The last meeting of the Cricket Club was held on Thursday, Nov. 7th, when it was decided to have some dramatic entertainments this winter. The first one will take place about the 17th of next month. It was agreed to fix the ground this fall, and have it in good condition for next summer. The club has had a very successful season's play, having won four games out of six.

DANCING PARTY.—Another pleasant party was held in the hall on Friday evening, 14th inst., under the auspices of the Quadrille Association. About 50 were present, and a very sociable evening was spent. Quite a number of our Minden friends were present, among whom were S. S. Peck, M. P. P., and Mrs. Peck, Mr. H. Peck, and the Misses Peck, and Mr. E. Young and Miss Stewart, of Bobcaygeon. Messrs. Young, Groom and Illman deserve praise for the way in which they carried the affair through. The supper was first-class, and was served in the basement of the hall.

DOWNPOUR OF RAIN.—Our snow has all gone again, and after a spell of dry weather we have had a downpour of rain for five days. It was all needed, as most of the wells were very low, and the swamps were completely dry.

GOOD TIMES.—There is going to be a very large quantity of ties and logs taken out this winter. Parties are around offering $1 per standard for logs, and from 12 to 15 cents apiece for ties. The effect of the N.P. is felt in this part of the country by the good times we are enjoying at present.

Auction Sale by Gilbert & Moore.

Gilbert & Moore, Auctioneers, have the following list of sales to come off at the date and places mentioned below:—

ON SATURDAY, Nov. 22nd.—A number of horses, among which are a pair of well matched black horses suitable for general purposes. Sale at 11 o'clock a.m., at their Auction Rooms, Market Square.

ON SATURDAY, Nov. 22nd.—In the afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Cluxton House, Peterborough, that valuable farm belonging to Mr. Eugene Sullivan, being composed of north half lot 15 in 6th concession Ennismore, containing 144 acres.

ON TUESDAY, Dec. 2nd.—Farm Stock and Implements belonging to Mr. C. J. Seymour, on his premises east half of the west half of lot 20 in the 11th concession of Otonabee. At the close of stock sale the farm as described above will be offered.

ON TUESDAY, Dec. 9.—Sale of Farm Stock belonging to Mr. Chas. Morriam on his farm near Hiawatha, Indian reserve.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

A FATAL FIRE.

ROME Nov. 20.—A fire occurred on Tuesday in the house belonging to Prince Charles Bonaparte, on the site of the villa, which was burned at the storming of Porta Pia. Three persons were killed at the fire.

WAR PREDICTED.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The most bitter feeling pervades all classes of society here against Russia. The fact cannot be denied that the worst opinion of Russia is universally expressed and it is openly avowed that the Czar and his satellites are bent on obstructing the peace of the world. That there will be a great military ball in Europe is emphatically predicted for an early date. At the various embassies the partners are discussed, and generally run France, Russia, and Italy v. England, Germany and Austria.

RUSSIA'S DUPLICITY.

A correspondent believes that the statement to the effect that papers were found in Cabul compromising the Russian Foreign Office are accurate. Lord Beaconsfield is urged to publish the documents, but declines.

THE KASHGAR REBELLION.

A correspondent learns that the Mussulman rebellion against the Chinese in Kashgar is expected to collapse in consequence of the withdrawal of Russian support. Orders were sent the Russian officers after the ratification of the Kulja treaty at Livadia, which completely altered their attitude. They now refuse all rebels to draw supplies or men from Russian territory.

THE IRISH TENANTS.

MANCHESTER, Nov. 20.—A London correspondent says the Government are placed in possession of much information by the Landlords in connection with the rent agitation in Ireland, which, for obvious reasons, the Landlords cannot make public. These statements show that many tenants in a position to pay rents and willing to pay are kept from doing so by fear of outrage from others, who cannot, or will not pay. It is understood that a large number of processes of ejectment have been and will be applied for, while it is feared that the execution of these processes will produce some difficulty. It is believed that if they are administered only in cases where there is no want of ability to pay, and if time for payment is given to others, the agitation will be much reduced.

THE IRISH ARRESTS.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The speeches for which Michael Davitt, and James Bryce Killen were arrested in Dublin, and James Daly, editor, in Castlebar, were made at a meeting on the 2nd inst., in Gurteen, County Sligo. The following placard is posted in several places in County Mayo. "The hour of trial is come. Your leaders are arrested. Davitt and Daly are in prison. You know your duty. Will you do it? Yes, you will. Balla is the place of meeting, and Saturday is the day. Come in your thousands and show the Government and the world that your rights you will maintain. To the rescue in the mightiness of our numbers. Land and liberty. God save the people. Balla, Balla. Saturday next." All the leading morning journals approve of the arrests except the News, which makes them the occasion for a violent partisan attack. Killen is a lawyer and lecturer on political economy. It is believed that Irish affairs were the subject of deliberation in the last Cabinet Council.

AMERICAN.

MINING OPERATIONS.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nov. 20.—The Chronicle yesterday says that ore was hoisted all last night through the Union shaft. Hereafter 200 tons will be hoisted daily. The ore hoisted last night mills nearly $300, and comes from the twenty-three hundred drift. The hoisting of ore will be resumed at the Sierra Nevada in a few days, and enough will be taken out to keep the Mariposa mill running constantly. Sierra Nevada ore will also be hoisted from the Union shaft. The plan is now to take the ore out of these mines as rapidly as possible.

A VETERAN SPORTSMAN.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 20.—Jas. Shy, aged 94 years, one of the oldest turfmen in Kentucky, died at Lexington yesterday.

MYSTERIOUS ILLNESS.

There are a hundred cases of diarrhœa in the Kentucky Penitentiary. The physicians are unable to determine the cause.

LEGITIMIST BANQUET.

NANTES, Nov. 20.—The banquet to the Mayors and Deputy Mayors, who have been dismissed from office for having attended a banquet in honor of the Comte de Chambord was held yesterday. There was no disorder. After renewing their oath of fidelity the banqueters quietly dispersed. It is stated that the report that the banquet has been prohibited was untrue.

TROTTING HORSE BREEDERS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The National Association of trotting horse breeders has elected H. W. T. Mali, of New York, their President.

COMMEMORATIVE SERVICES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Services in commemorative of Bishop Potter's consecration, 25 years ago, will be commenced on Saturday. On Tuesday a reception will be given at the academy of music with a congratulatory address by Evarts and the presentation of an address by John Hay. A purse will then be presented to the bishop.

A RAILWAY POOL.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The North Western Railway has given notice that it will accept freight via Omaha to Kansas city. The Chicago and Alton notifies shippers that it will take freight for Omaha via Kansas City. As a result of this innovation it is predicted that the great iron pool which has been in operation for ten years will be abandoned.

THE LAKE DISASTER.

OSWEGO, Nov. 20.—The names of the persons lost by the recent lake disaster are as follows, from the dredge Gordon:—Richard Arnold, Rochester; Patrick Hagan, Grand Rapids; Wm. and Samuel Logan, Morrisburg; Geo. Palmer and wife, Vergennes. Three men on the scows were thought to be lost, until a despatch announced that they were safe at Wolcot, thirty miles west of here. The losses on the property are: the tug Thayer, $2,000; tug Becker, $2,000; dredge Gordon, $15,000; ten scows, the aggregate value of which is $9,000, are on the beach, and may be saved. There is no insurance. Opinion is divided as to whether manager Arnold or the captain of the tug Seymour is to blame.

RECOINING GOLD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Assay office today begins the shipment to the Philadelphia mint for recoinage of 45 million of foreign and other gold, which have accumulated here. The shipment to-day will reach eight tons valued at four million.

CHURCH TO BE SOLD.

St. Luke's Episcopal church at Mont Clair will be sold on foreclosure of mortgage for $15,000 on January 22nd.

INSTIGATING CRIME.

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 20.—The conviction of Mr. Zell yesterday for poisoning Mrs. Kiehl was wholly unexpected. Justice of the Peace Winkrop, who because of his relations with Mr. Kiehl is believed to have instigated the crime, will be tried in January.

A BANK PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The committee investigating Congressman Voorhis' bank at Hackensack, reports that the capital is impaired by $75,000. Among the bad debts are $30,000 loaned to Mrs. Voorhis, $9,000 to Congressman Voorhis and $9,000 overdrafts of Voorhis. The liabilities of Voorhis exceed $250,000. Voorhis' health is improved. No further criminal proceedings have been begun.

BIMETALIC CURRENCY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—A Washington special report to the Sun says:—Gen. Walker, who has been seeking to interest foreign Governments in the Bimetalic Conference, had great difficulty in obtaining an interview with Bismarck. The latter explained that Congressman Kelly, of Philadelphia, has been guilty of misrepresenting in the newspapers for which he wrote a statement made by him. He was not bimetallist, as represented by Kelly, but was simply interested in getting the German thaler into general circulation as a subsidiary coin.

EFFECTS OF THE STORM.

PORT HURON, Mich., Nov. 20.—The following disasters occurred last night near Sand Beach Harbor during a terrific gale. The steam barge Whiting went on shore and sunk at 1 a.m. The schooners Hutchinson and Bahamia went ashore. Three of the steam barge Selden's tow are also ashore, and two of them have gone to pieces. The body of an unknown sailor was found on the beach and several others are missing. It is still blowing very hard from the north-west.

THE UTES AND THEIR LANDS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Tribune says that Indian Commissioner Hoyt says that by becoming hostile, the Indians forfeit all treaty rights. The Utes possess altogether nearly 12,000,000 acres of valuable land in Colorado, from which they will be driven if they do not remain peaceful. Hoyt expects that Adams will make a formal demand for the surrender of about half-a dozen Indians. The result will be a test of Ouray's ability to control his people. If the demand is not complied with, it will be the signal for war.

RAILWAY SQUABBLES.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20.—A meeting of the passenger of the roads in the South Western Association, was called by the Hannibal & St. Joseph, which charged the Chicago & Alton with violating the agreement of September 12, by selling tickets to New York, via the Michigan Central, Great Western, and New York Central, at tw dollars less than the regular rates. After a stormy session the meeting adjourned to resume consideration at Chicago next week.

A SECOND SPRING.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 20.—The Hessian Fly has appeared among the wheat in Southern Indiana, and in parts the destruction of crops is threatened. The recent warm weather has produced a second crop of potatoes, with blooming violets, budding lilacs, and frequent blossoming honeysuckles, cherries and plums.

DUPLICATE STATE GOVERNMENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Sun's Augusta despatch says it is highly probable that the action of the Council will give the Democrats a majority in the new Legislature, thus enabling them to elect their candidate for Governor, and to enact such laws as regards registration and voting, as will, in their estimation, prevent the repitition of the frauds alleged to have been committed in the late election. It is claimed by the Democrats that they have Republican precedents for any course that has been contemplated. It is probable that the Republicans will seek to organise a Legislature with a Republican majority, but the Democrats claim that they can do this in no way known to the constitution. In case the Republicans do that, Maine will have in January two Governors, two Executive Councils, and two Legislatures. It is not easy to see how a serious conflict can be avoided.

MURDER FOR INSURANCE MONEY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The administrators of the estate of John M. Armstrong, who was murdered at Camden by Benjamin Hunter to obtain $26,000 insurance on Armstrong's life, are about to begin a suit in Brooklyn against the insurance companies for the amount of the policies. The companies claim that the insurance was assigned to Hunter, and that Armstrong's heirs have no interest in the policies.

BANK ROBBERY.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 20.—Two safes in the Southport post-office were broken open last night, and robbed of $600 or $700. A boat came into the Southport harbor last night, and left at an early hour this morning. A tug is in pursuit.

SCIENCE is a good piece of furniture for a man to have in an upper chamber, provided he has common sense on the ground floor, and a bottle of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam on the shelf, for use in case of a sudden cold, cough, or hoarseness. This Canadian remedy is unsurpassed as a curative agent in croup, bronchitis, influenza, and all pulmonary complaints. For sale by all dealers. w47d118-2w

34 CRUICKSHANK ST., Toronto, May 12, 1879.

Messrs. Milburn, Bently & Pearson.

Gentlemen,—Last fall I contracted a severe cold which, by my neglect, settled on my lungs. I found every indication of the first stage of consumption, and, like many others, when almost too late, commenced to doctor up. I tried many remedies, but got no better; was almost satisfied I was incurable. Accidentally I heard of your Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and as a forlorn hope bought a bottle. I immediately felt relieved. After taking five (5) bottles I am cured, and never felt better in my life. I would heartily recommend your Hypophosphites.

THE GRAND JUNCTION AGAIN.

We published yesterday from the Belleville Intelligencer some of the proceedings before the Council of that city, relating to the application by the Grand Junction Railway Company for an extension of time in regard to the bonus of $20,000 theretofore granted to the Company. It will be seen from the proceedings that the applicants stated their inability to obtain assistance from the town of Peterborough, and that such was owing to the opposition of the Toronto & Ottawa Railway Company. This was hardly a candid statement, either in regard to the town or to the action of the Toronto & Ottawa Company, and it is just as well, perhaps, that the matter should be placed correctly before the public. During the last two or three years the people of this town and the promoters of the Toronto & Ottawa Company have, over and over again, expressed to the Grand Junction people their desire to assist the company to reach Peterborough, providing they would make the slight change of going from Campbellford to the Narrows, or from Hastings to the neighborhood of Norwood and thence to Peterborough. This offer was first made to Messrs. Kains & Robertson when in Peterborough some three years ago, at which time it was agreed that an engineer, at the joint expense of the two companies, should examine the route, as well from Campbellford as from Hastings. The engineer reported favourably as to both routes. Subsequently Messrs. Scott & Boulton attended a meeting of the Grand Junction Company at Belleville, with the view of forwarding the supposed arrangement, consequent upon the favourable report of the engineer, when the Grand Junction Company expressed its unwillingness to make any change in the route. Afterwards Messrs. Bickford, Cowan and Hugel visited Peterborough, and met some of the leading citizens, as well as the promoters of the Toronto & Ottawa Railway, when it was proposed to give such a measure of aid to the Grand Junction Company as would enable them without difficulty to complete their road to this town, providing they went north from Hastings to the neighborhood of Norwood, and thence to Peterborough—the Toronto and Ottawa promoters offering to abate the bonus to their Company for the purpose of affording such assistance. This, however, was not entertained. During this last summer Messrs. Bickford and Cameron came to Peterborough, and were met by a meeting that was a fair representation of public sentiment in the town. Similar proposals were again made on behalf of Peterborough, when Messrs. Bickford and Cameron announced definitely that the route could not be changed. Thereupon Mr. Scott, the President of the Toronto & Ottawa Railway Company, announced that should the town be willing to grant a bonus to the Grand Junction Company to reach Peterborough by the old surveyed route by way of Hastings, between Keene and Allandale, the Toronto & Ottawa Railway Company would abate from their bonus whatever amount the town might be disposed to give. From these circumstances it will appear that the extreme reluctance of the Grand Junction Company to make any deviation from their proposed route, although such deviation would not add materially to the length of their line, was the only obstacle that stood in the way of their obtaining assistance from the town of Peterborough. It also appears from the foregoing statements that, so far from the Toronto & Ottawa Company opposing a bonus from the town, they were willing to abandon their own bonus to the extent of what the town might be willing to grant. It has seemed to us inexplicable that the Grand Junction people should stand so much in their own light by a bigoted adherence to a particular route, except upon the ground that the influence of Hastings on the Board of Directors was the tail that wagged the dog. It should, however, be consoling to the Company to reflect that if they have succeeded in depriving themselves of aid from Peterborough, they have at least permitted Hastings to delight itself with the fact that the road is to be kept away from the rival village of Norwood—although the trade of both places would have been secured to the road had more judicious counsel prevailed.

OUR RAILWAY CONNECTIONS.

We can cordially agree with an editorial in the Examiner, lamenting that the Toronto and Ottawa Railway Company should be precluded, by conditions in the Peterborough by-laws, from commencing the work of construction at present. No doubt there is a growing feeling in the minds of the people of Peterborough that they would gladly see progress made in that portion of the road, which they have always thought the most valuable, namely the connection with Ottawa on the one hand and with the Midland main line at Omemee on the other. It is felt that it would be foolish to wait longer for Toronto, which has declined connection with us, and that it would be well to look to our own interests without reference to the selfish views of the Provincial capital. It has been urged that stipulations which were made under circumstances now changed, should be modified so as to give equal security for the completion of that portion of the road, which is now considered most vitally important. An expression of opinion from the Town and County in favor of the earliest feasible commencement of operations, would, from the liberal aid they have voted, naturally have great weight with the Directors. To the eastward the municipalities have lately voted bonuses till the list is almost complete, and altogether the prospects of the company seem to be most excellent.

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BANK AGENCY.

John Hull, Esq., the enterprising proprietor of the flouring mills on the west side of the Otonabee River, in Lakefield, has during the past week been circulating a petition, the object of which is to obtain a bank agency for Lakefield. The petition or agreement is numerously and influentially signed, and it is so drawn as to pledge the signers thereto to deposit their money in, and do all their banking business through the agency if obtained. The want of a bank agency in Lakefield has long been felt. Visitors have often quizzed the villagers asking them, to their evident chagrin, "But how is it you have no bank here?" The growing industries to the north of Lakefield, such as the wood, tie and stone business, require that something should be done in this matter at once, but the question may be asked, "Will it pay?" At the present time the prospects of a bank agency doing a paying business are excellent indeed. Convenient premises can be obtained at very low rent and taxes are low. A bank agency would be heartily and generally supported by the people of Lakefield and surrounding country. The farmers east and west of the village would patronize it by deposits, as many of them have already agreed to do so. Possibly a bank in Lakefield would not be able at present to employ its funds safely and profitably here, but no doubt it could use the surplus funds elsewhere. Lakefield is year by year becoming, by its increasing industries, facilities for communication, and commercial enterprise, a business centre for that part of the County of Peterborough lying to the east, west and north of the village, it is also through the benign influence of its numerous churches the religious centre. In fact present appearances and the future prospects of Lakefield and its vicinity indicate that a bank agency in its midst would be a paying concern. Taking these circumstances into consideration in connection with the promises contained in the petition above referred to, there cannot be any valid or substantial reason why any bank directorate not having an agency in the Town of Peterborough should not readily accede to the prayer of the residents of the north part of the County of Peterborough, and at once establish an agency in Lakefield.

THE TAX COLLECTOR.

Mr. Charles Payton, the tax collector of the village is succeeding in his work admirably. He has collected more than half of the whole amount on the roll, the major portion of which is paid by ratepayers who are least able to pay their taxes. Mr. Payton is not a person who can be put off with excuses and most people now understand this. Some ratepayers are complaining at having to pay their taxes before the middle of winter, but they are the dilatory ones, those who have paid generally seem satisfied and require that proceedings be begun at once. We call attention to the Collector's notice in our advertising columns.

RUNAWAY.

One of the Douro Councillors left his team standing in Queen street last Wednesday evening while it was raining very heavily, without fastening them. The sound of a tin horn startled the horses, and off they bounded at a rapid pace, along Queen and Church streets. The worthy Councillor started in pursuit, but did not succeed in overtaking them until his own gate was reached. The amiableness or otherwise of the gentleman's temper during that race of about three miles in a very dark and rainy night may be better imagined than described.

WOOD AND TIES.

The prospects of a large business being done during the present winter in the vicinity of Lakefield and Young's Point in wood and ties are excellent. It is currently reported that at least one hundred thousand ties and six thousand cords of wood will be taken out in the north this winter, and delivered here next summer. If, as reported, Geo. A Cox, Esq., the indefatigable President of the Midland Railway, gives this industry his cordial support, times will be lively around here this winter and next summer.

LITHOGRAPHIC STONE AGAIN.

A large ridge of the above quality of stone has been discovered, extending from Fuller's to McCracken's landing in Stony Lake, some three miles in length. The ridge has been examined by Mr. Dillingham, the gentleman refered to in last week's REVIEW, and he pronounces it equal to, if not superior to the lithographic stone in Harvey. It will be thoroughly tested next spring.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The people of Lakefield take an intense and increasing interest in the Trent Valley Canal. This canal would not only make Lakefield an important arm of navigation, but it would open up Stoney Lake with its hundreds of miles of tributary streams, upon which would be floated into Stoney Lake timber of almost every discription. Stoney Lake is surrounded by a large district of hardwood, which would be made available for manufacturing purposes by the completion of this undertaking, giving ample employment to thousands, and causing quiet and industrious towns and villages to be built upon its now comparitively solitary shores.

HAMILTON CORBETT.

On Tuesday evening the celebrated vocalist, Hamilton Corbett, gave an entertainment in Leonard's Hall. The hall was well filled, and he delighted his audience with his English, Irish and Scotch songs and his humorous anecdotes.

THE LASS THAT LOVED A SAILOR.

Something About Her Antecedents—The Sources from which the Opera of Pinafore is Drawn.

The question is often asked, "what makes 'Pinafore' so popular?" It is almost as often answered, "the music." But this explains only one phase of its popularity. In this sense it is popular, because those who hear it are pleased, but it does not explain its popularity in the sense that all classes, both those who understand and appreciate good music, and those who would not attend the rendition of a classical opera, are glad to spend an evening at a Pinafore performance. It must be admitted that there is something about this comic opera besides the music which has aided in giving it a success far beyond the most sanguine expectations—a success far greater than that achieved by a comic opera hitherto. What is this element? The old injunction to opera makers:—"Marry immortal music to immortal verse," seems at first sight to have been totally disregarded. The music is "immortal" enough, but what about the verse? In a word, how much has the thought expressed by the verse to do with the success of Pinafore? In view of the fact also that the public expects much more from Mr. Gilberts' pen, it will aid in elucidating his genius as well as in answering the previous question if we briefly examine the previous history of the characters and sentiment of Pinafore.

It is well known that these are not expressed and delineated for the first time in Pinafore, but that they are drawn from the now famous "Bab" ballads, which Mr. Gilbert wrote for the London Fun when Tom Hood was editor of that periodical. While these ballads are written in much the same strain—all containing a vein of jocular satire and travesty, those in which originate the characters of Pinafore are by no means the best. Some are genuine specimens of ballad literature, and there are materials enough left for two or three comic operas.

In the ballad of "Captain Reece," we have a glimpse at Captain Corcoran and Sir Joseph. These two characters, which in the "Bab Ballads" are combined, the author has separated and elaborated in Pinafore. Captain Reece commanded a "right good crew;" for:

"Of all the ships upon the blue,
No ship contained a better crew
Than that of worthy Captain Reece
Commanding of the 'Mantlepiece.'

He was adored by all his men,
For worthy Captain Reece, R.N.,
Did all that lay within him to Promote the comfort of his crew."

Then follows an allusion to Sir Joseph's "hornpipe."

"If ever they were dull or sad,
Their Captain danced to them like mad,
Or told, to make the time pass by
Droll legends of his infancy."

And when Captain Reece's own fertility, failed to supply amusement for his crew, he asked their pleasure. Then answered the coxswain;

'You have a daughter Captain Reece,
Ten female cousins and a niece,
A ma, if what I'm told is true,
Six sisters, and an aunt or two.

. . . .

If you'd ameliorate our life,
Let each select for them a wife;
And as for nervous me, old pal,
Give me your own enchanting gal."

It seems that "proud lords" had sought her hand for the Captain replies:

'My daughter that enchanting gurl,
Has just been promised to an Earl,
And all my other familee
To peers of various degree.

But what are dukes and viscounts to
The happiness of all my crew.
The word I gave you I'll fulfil!
It is my duty and I will.

Two verses of this ballad are here introduced to show where the transcendent incongruity, exhibited in Pinafore comes from.

"The boatswain of the 'Mantlepiece'
He blushed and spoke to Captain Reece!
'I beg your honor's leave' he said,
'If you would wish to go and wed.

I have a widowed mother, who
Would be the very thing for you—
She long has loved you from afar;
She washes for you Captain R.'"

That same day the Captain saw the dame the "vows" were all "plighted" and a general marriage ceremony took place at the "church on the hill."

"The sisters, cousins, aunts and niece,
And widowed ma of Captain Reece,
Attended there as they were bid;
It was their duty and they did."

Ralph Rackstraw the "audacious tar" is found in the ballad, "Joe Golightly, or "The First Lord's Daughter." Joe was a "Tar but poorly prized."

"He liked his ship at sea,
He loved the salt-sea water,
He worshipped junk, and he
Adored the First Lord's daughter.

The First Lord's daughter proud
Snubbed Earls and viscounts nightly—
She sneered at barts aloud
And spurned poor Joe Golightly."

Poor Joe unpacks his guitar and sings,

"The moon is on the sea
willow!
The wind blows towards the lee
willow!
But though I sigh and sob and cry
No lady Jane for me
willow!"

At last this "combination of elements which are at eternal war with one another" is sent to the blackhole for his continual love whining.

"But Joseph had a mate,
A sailor stout and lusty,
A man of low estate
But singularly trusty.

Says he: 'cheer up young Joe!
I'll tell you what I'm arter,
To that first lord I'll go
And ax him for his darter."

But "The God of day, the orb of love," did not set the "sky ablaze" in this case. His lordship said "get out" and the foremast hand received "twelve years blackhole for lovering the first lord's daughter."

In the "Mystic Selvagee" we find the author's first conception of "Dick Deadeye." Although the character has been much elaborated in Pinafore it is still possible to discover the main characteristics, while the drawing which accompanied the ballad represents almost exactly Dick's usual stage make-up. It seems that,

"Sir Blennerhasset Portico,
A captain of the navy, he,
A baronet and K.C.B."

had a whim that Rodney had been the "greatest tar that ever wielded a capstan bar." As far as he could he imitated Rodney's methods of navigation and of governing his crew, and tried to catch some old veteran who had served with him, and,

"After searching near and far,
At last he found an ancient tar,
Who served with Rodney and his crew
Against the French in 'Eighty-two."

Sir Blennerhasset tells Jasper to speak out when he sees him doing anything "that Rodney wouldn't." Accordingly Jasper unburdens himself of a series of oracular remarks, among others:—

"Upon your maintop-stay I see
You always clap a selvagee;
Your stays, I see, are [illegible],
No vessel, such as Rodney ruled,
Would there be found one!
And Rodney, honoured sir, would grin,
To see you turning deadeyes in."

So the captain turned deadeyes up and took down the selvagee, but soon after Jasper changed his mind and ordered the selvagee up again. No sooner was it shipped than he thought he was right in the first place.

"'O, you be hanged,' said captain P.
'Here, go ashore at Chatham.'"

And old Jasper went ashore, assisted by a boat-hook.

Perhaps no character of the opera is more developed in the ballad than "Dear little Buttercup" as "Poll Pineapple" in the "Bumboat Woman's Story." Poll, too, has once been "young and charming;" but now she evinces unmistakable evidences of "a canker at the heart." But let her speak for herself:

"Ah I've been young in my time
And I've played the deuce with men,
I'm speaking of ten years past,
I was scarcely sixty then!
My cheeks were mellow and soft,
And my eyes were large and sweet.
Poll Pineapple's eyes were the standing toast
Of all the royal fleet."

Now there was a certain "Lieutenant Belaye" whom Poll thought the kindest commander who anchored in Portsmouth Bay.

"Whenever I went on board,
He would beckon me down below,
'Come down, little Buttercup, come,'
(For he loved to call me so.)
And he'd tell of his fights at sea,
In which he'd taken a part,
And so Lieutenant Belaye
Won poor Poll Pineapple's heart."

But in an evil day Lieutenant Belaye received orders to sail in his ship the Hot Cross Bun to the German sea. Little Buttercup did not sit down and weep with the other Portsmouth maidens, but went to a "back, back street," and bought an "oil-skin cap and a second hand suit of slops." She shipped in the Hot Cross Bun as one of the crew, and a fine crew they had, for a "Bun" never did anything wrong.

"When Jack Tars meet, they meet with a
'Messmate, ho! What cheer?'
But here on the Hot Cross Bun it was,
'How do you do, my dear?'
When Jack Tars growl, I believe they growl
With a big, big d——;
But the strongest oath of the Hot Cross Buns,
Was a mild, 'Dear me!'"

One day, after they had put into port, the Lieutenant came on board, with a wife, and the crew fell down "in separate fainting fits."

"And then their hair came down, or off,
As the case might be,
And lo! the rest of the crew were Simple girls, like me."

The denouement of Pinafore is found in "General John," "of the sixty-seventy-first." There was in General John's command a certain Private James, and:

"From the ranks one day, cried Private James,
'Oh! Major-General John,
I've doubts of our respective names,
My mournful mind upon."

After considerable bickering between the two, owing to the fact that there was no one present who had "practiced baby farming" to settle the dispute, said General John:

'But, bring a man of doubtless worth,
If you feel certain, quite,
That we were probably changed at birth,
I'll venture to say you're right.'
'So General John as Private James
Fell in, parade upon;
And Private James, by change of names
Was Major-General John.'

From the copious extracts which have been given, it is easy to perceive how the "Bab Ballads" acquired more than the "whimsical popularity" which Mr. Gilbert ascribes to them in his preface to the collected edition of 1869. It follows naturally that materials taken from them, woven into a connected whole, with point and plan, forming what is now accepted as the wittiest, sharpest and most acceptable satire of the day should now be much more popular. This satire, wedded to the exquisite, emotional music of Mr. Sullivan's, forms a source of amusement which will not down until we are given something better of the same nature.—Rochester Herald.

TERRIBLE NIGHT ON LAKE ONTARIO.

A Tow of Tugs and Dredges Cast Away—List of the Drowned and Saved.

SACKETT'S HARBOUR, N.Y., Nov. 18.—There is great excitement here over the report of a dreadful marine disaster on Lake Ontario last night, and the loss of a large number of lives.

The following particulars have been gleaned from the reports which have come to hand:—

The steam tug Seymour, of Ogdensburg, left Cape Vincent yesterday noon, with a tow consisting of three dredges, two derricks and seven scows, owned by Eckler & Arnold, of Buffalo. She had fine weather until after passing Galloup Island, of Sackett's Harbour, where a gale of wind from the north-east, with a heavy snow storm, set in. The tug and tow got within five or six miles of Oswego when she lost the lights, turned around, and endeavoured to hold the fleet until daylight, but the fleet broke away and were lost with all hands, excepting six who were rescued by two tugs.

Thirty-one persons, including three women and one girl, were drowned. The fleet is a total loss.

LIST OF THOSE SUPPOSED TO BE DROWNED.

The following is a list of those drowned:—Mr. Arnold, one of the proprietors, and Henry Eckler, son of another proprietor; James H. Young, of Buffalo; Patrick Hogan, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Patrick Finnell, Lachine, Canada; Thomas Thompson, Buffalo; Fred. Strans, Buffalo; Mr. Paul, Lachine; Geo. Palmer and wife, Vergennes, Vt.; Ludson Morrison, Welland, Canada; Jerome Mevuson, wife and daughter; Charles England and wife; Chas. Craycough, Lachine; Edward Bowman, Buffalo; Jno. Wood and son, Ogdensburg; Noah Garrow, Ogdensburg; H. Marshall, Ogdensburg; Wm. Scott, Ogdensburg; Capt. Sam Logan and Wm. Logan, Morrisburg, Ont.

LATER PARTICULARS.

OSWEGO, N.Y., Nov. 18.—The tug Charles M. Biter, of Buffalo, was picked up on the lake and towed here to-day. She was abandoned half full of water. The engineer was saved and taken to Sackett's Harbor. The pilot house doors, cabin floors, cabin slide, engine room doors and forecastle scuttle of the Biter were open and the seas washed over and into the boat. She was about sinking, her engine being choked up with coal, and her deck load of coal mostly washed off. The water in the boiler was quite warm, showing that the fires had not long been extinguished.

LIST OF THE SAVED.

A despatch from Sodus Point reports that the tug Judson Morrison arrived with the following saved from the wrecks:—Capt. Thompson, Fred Stroker, Chas. England and wife. Chas. Carrigan, J. B. Young, Henry Hickler, Jerome Morrison and wife, Pat Fennell, and three unknown men.

ONLY FIVE LOST.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 18.—From the best information received here up to midnight, it is believed the only lost on board the tow of the tug Seymour, on Lake Ontario, on Monday night, are Sam Logan and brother, Mr. Arnold part owner, the cook, and her husband, of dredge No. 3. They would have been saved but for the tug Brecker running into the dredge and staving a hole in her, which caused her to founder. Nearly all of the Seymour's tow has been found, and, it is thought, with the assistance that has been sent, they will be all picked up except dredge No. 3, which was sunk by the collision, and the tugs Brecker and O. Thayer, which foundered without any one on board. One of the dredges is in Sodus all right. One is off Sodus Point at anchor, and cannot be reached till morning, but will no doubt be picked up. Exaggerated reports of the disaster have no doubt been circulated, which the latest information does not justify.

OSWEGO, Nov. 19, 1 a.m.—The tug Gardner which left here to-day, picked up one of the dredges and towed it into Sodus. Another dredge off Sodus will be towed in to-morrow. The persons saved from the wrecks before reported were taken to Sodus Point by the tug John Hickler.

The Markets.

REVIEW OFFICE,
THURSDAY, November 20th, 1879.

During the past week the grain market has been stagnant with nothing doing except for actual wants, so that quotations could not be relied on were sales forced. The stock on hand still continues to increase, and now exceeds fifty millions of wheat, corn, oats, barley and rye, as compared with thirty-nine millions at the same time last year, the total increase being in wheat alone. In provisions the market continues firm. Pork, in which our readers will be chiefly interested for the next few weeks, it will be noticed, is bringing a shade more in Peterborough than in Toronto. In view of the "boom" in lumbering operations, and the duty on meats, we have little doubt but that our farmers will realize every cent pork is worth this season. For further information we refer to the special reports to be found below.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

THURSDAY, Nov. 20.—There was little doing to-day on the market. A few loads of hay made their appearance. There were many loads of wood, which found ready sale at our quotations. The farmers are busy making preparations for the real winter, and will in a week or ten days begin to thresh. There will be an increased supply of wheat in about two weeks. It is said by many, first try one remedy, and then another, but we find in the great majority of cases that those who try Hagyard's Yellow Oil for all purposes of a liniment, have no use for any other preparation, it does its work so effectually that none others need to be applied. It is equally good for man or beast, and can be used internally for Croup, Whooping Cough, and Asthma; externally for Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises, Chilblains, Burns, Scalds, and all Pains and Aches, from whatever cause they may occur. Sold by all dealers at 25 cents per bottle. w47d115-2w

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for this fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable. d108-w45-1m

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1879.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

Revival Service.

The Rev. Mr. Torrance will preach this evening in the Bible Christian Church at 7.30. Revival services are being held nightly.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons.

Mr. Augustus Pitou, Manager of the Grand Opera House, Toronto, write to us that Mrs. Scott-Siddons will give a reading here on Thursday, November 27th.

Arrived.

The McDowell Company arrived by the noon train of the Midland Railway, and registered at the Huffman House. There are 22 members of the company exclusive of the agents.

Tonsorial.

Mr. W. B. Nicholson, who is well known in Peterborough, has rented the store on Hunter Street, immediately opposite the Huffman House, where he will open a first-class barber's shop next week.

"H. M. S. Pinafore" To-Night.

The McDowell Shaughraun Company will be here to-night to present to the lovers of music of Peterborough and its vicinity the celebrated comic opera, "H. M. S. Pinafore." Nearly every reserved seat was booked yesterday, and to all appearances the house will be a crowded one.

Furs! Furs! Furs!

Now is the time to buy. Mr. Loch's stock is complete with the finest grades in seal sacques, circulars, fur setts and fur trimmings. Seal is advancing and those who think of buying will do well to call and buy at once. Some special inducements will be offered this season. Repairing done in the best manner.

The Overcoat "Boom!"

T. Dolan & Co. claim to have had a tremenduous "boom" in overcoats this season. At any rate, quite a "hum" has been going on in their clothing department. They have still a fine assortment of overcoats left for men and boys, and they contend that the reason they have had such a "boomy" sale is that their prices are astonishingly cheap.

Midland Central Poultry Association.

The Midland Central Poultry Association met on Tuesday evening last in the Town Hall, and adjourned without transacting any business. The meeting adjourned to Tuesday evening, November 25th, at the same time and place. The business to come before the Association will be the appointing of the examining judges, and the reviewing of the prize list. It is desirable that every member should be present, as the time is fast approaching for the holding of the annual poultry show.

Bank Changes.

Mr. A. B. Braithwaite, who will leave the Bank of Montreal here shortly, will be succeeded by Mr. Budden, not Rudden, as we made the name by a typographical error, a mistake which, strangely enough, is shared by the Examiner. After Mr. Gamble had been ordered to the Bank of Toronto here, a change was made by the bank authorities and he will go to Barrie, while it is probable that the vacancy here will be filled by Mr. J. C. Smith, who, like Mr. Gamble, was not long ago attached to this branch.

The Skating Carnival.

Every preparation is making for the skating carnival that is soon to be given. The Skating Rink will be ready next week. There are a few of the minor improvements that are not yet complete for letting in the water. It is expected, however, that all the necessary preparations will be completed this week, and should the weather keep cold enough there will be a chance for the skater next week. The boys and girls will get out their skates, examine the fixtures and polish them up for the fun that is in store. Due notice will be given in the columns of the REVIEW, of the opening programme.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: North-westerly to northerly gales decreasing in force by morning; partly cloudy colder weather, with passing snow storms. Storm signals are up throughout Canada. The snow storm yesterday afternoon with the wind blowing from the south, softened almost into a rain before night. During the night the wind changed to westerly and north-westerly, with partly cloudy colder weather. This morning was very cold with a strong wind and occasional snow flurries, clearing away at noon.

The Holidays.

The holidays are rapidly approaching, and those who intend making Christmas and New Years presents, are engaged in preparing their lists, with a view to having a pick of the first fresh goods that may be exposed for sale. This is a wise precaution, and will enable all such to secure exactly what they want. The merchants are making every preparation to meet the demands that may be made upon them. Austin is the first in the field, and is ready to fill all lists that may be ready. He has the greatest variety of fancy goods and toys in town, and offers them at lower prices than ever. Read his advertisement in another column of the REVIEW.

Toronto and Ottawa Railway.

Sharing with their Customers.

There is a disposition all around to advance prices of staple merchandise. Raw material in wool, cotton and silk bringing higher figures, makes it imperative upon manufacturers to get more for their goods. A very large advance in the price of wool is so notable that all classes of woollens are beginning to show it. How much it will be and how long it may last no one knows. Many persons look forward to a great permanent advance in prices of everything once more. Munro & Alexander, we understand, offer to share liberally with customers any advance in their stock in hand. It is impossible for the wisest to forecast with any degree of certainty the future course of prices. Hence for the present they feel inclined to look rather to the cost of their stock in fixing prices to sell at, than the immediate market value. Ultimately the latter must govern throughout when thoroughly and permanently established. There is no question but that a moderate increase in price of nearly all commodities is justified, the long period of depression in trade having caused for a time a much lower range of prices than the cost of production.

FIRE PROTECTION.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—In the last two or three copies of your excellent daily, (which your cotem. the Examiner, jealously calls a weekly) I noticed letters from your townspeople, advocating the formation of another fire company, or rather the buying of another engine. We, in Cobourg, have two companies, besides the hooks, and the rivalry is so great between them, that each endeavours to get to a fire before the other; in this way no time is lost, for the intense rivalry is a sure preventitive to any laggardness. Another argument for a second engine is in the danger of a steamer getting out of working order. If another engine, either hand or steam, is present, the danger would be greatly obviated. On account of our hand engine being in working order, the moment she leaves the house, she generally gets water first, and no less than four occasions within the past six months, she has put out the fire before the steamer could get steam up.

Allow me, in concusion, to thank "Brock Street" for his complimentary allusion to the Cobourg Fire Brigade.

Yours, &c.,
A Cobourg Fireman.

Cobourg, Nov. 19, 1879.

A STRANGE CONFESSION.

Kingston Grocer's Bankruptcy—He Speculates to Save Himself on the New York Stock Exchange, and Looses All.

KINGSTON, Nov. 18.—The News this evening publishes the following letter received by the proprietor of that journal to-day from Parkhill, the grocer, who absconded about ten days ago:

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.

DEAR SIR,—By accident a copy of your paper fell into my hands to-day, and I was a little surprised to find so very unkind a reference to me. Had you paused to find out the exact state of affairs I am sure the statements to which I refer would not have appeared. I trust you shall see your way to retract some of them, which are only barefaced falsehoods, before I return. I hope to be in Kingston in a few days to arrive at a complete understanding with my creditors. Perhaps you shall be able to inform the public how many thousand dollars I carried away of the creditors' money. I lost more money on the New York Stock Exchange during the last eighteen months than most people are aware of. My embarrassment began about three years ago, and in order to extricate myself if possible I bought stock on margin through brokers here, and invariably lost. This is where the thousands you say I carried off went. Had I, as you insinuate, studied to rob I might have carried off five or six thousand dollars, but I did not strain my credit to that extent. I kept a cash book, and it is to be seen. If I have lost money in business and by speculation, I am not alone. During the last three years I have carried crushing burthens which few know anything of, and if I have had to succumb, milder language might have been employed to announce the fact. When far more suspicious cases have occurred both in and out of Kingston, the press had nothing to say. However, that is their own business. It is bad policy not to pay the printer. In the case of the News' account I believe it is fully paid.

Yours truly,
(Signed) J. V. PARKHILL.

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head.

OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhoea, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is SCOTT & BOWNE'S EMULSION OF PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. Price 25 cents. d166-w45-1m

TROUBLE IN IRELAND.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Michael Davitt and Jos. Bryce Killen have been arrested at Dublin, charged with having used language in public speeches calculated to incite a breach of the peace. James Daly, editor of the Connaught Telegraph, has been arrested at Castlebar for a similar cause. The prisoners have been conveyed to Sligo for examination.

THE TURCOMAN WAR.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—A despatch from Asterabad, Persia, announces that operations against the Turcomans have been suspended. It is rumored Akhan is marching against the Russians with 15,000 cavalry, 12,000 infantry and 18 guns.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The Times publishes the rules issued for the guidance of newspaper correspondents with the army in India, requiring all correspondents to carry a license, to submit to absolute censorships, to wear a distinctive badge, and placing all correspondents in the field under the Mutiny Act. The Times condemns the rules as fussy, trivial, and vexatious to the British public.

AMERICAN.

TELEGRAPH COMPANIES AT FEUD.

NEWARK, N.J., Nov. 19.—Several persons who were arrested at Newark last night charged with cutting 23 poles of the American Union Telegraph have been released on bail. Charles H. Meddleton, representing the Continental Telegraph Co., was arrested at Elizabeth last night, for interfering with the line.

AN IMPORTANT RAILWAY.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 19.—A new and important railway project in Texas, was inaugurated yesterday, at Dallas, by filing the charter of the Texas Trunk Railway, to run from Dallas south-easterly to the Gulf of Mexico, at or near Saban Pass, with a branch from the main line to Angelina, or Tyler county to Louisiana line, in all a distance of 350 miles. The road will run through the best timbered section of the State, and a great extent of very fine country. The capital stock is $5,000,000, and about 5,000 shares were subscribed on the spot. Wealthy Massachusetts speculators are interested in it.

INFLUX OF SPECIE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Algeria, from Liverpool, brought $1,350,000 in specie.

A MURDERESS CONVICTED.

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Catharine Zell, charged with poisoning Kiehl, was found guilty of murder in the first degree. A motion for a new trial will be made.

THE ARMY OF CUMBERLAND.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—At 10.30 the society of the army of Cumberland held a business meeting. It was called to order by Gen Garfield, who stated that owing to illness the President of the society, Gen Sheridan, was unable to be present. Gen. Jeff. C. Davis, the senior Vice-President, was chosen presiding officer. District Commissioner Phelps, in the name of the people of the district, welcomed the society. Gen. Slocum followed with a short eulogy of Thomas'. A communication from Gen. Sheridan was read, expressing deep regret at his inability to be present. The sky is overcast, and the temperature chilly, but the city presents a gala day appearance. The streets are thronged with people, and the buildings along the route of the procession are handsomely decorated. The Quarter-Master-General's building has all its windows profusely decorated. There are displayed a large number of flags, torn and riddled on the battle fields of the Mexican war. Stretching across the street is a halyard festooned with large flags and supporting a full face portrait of Gen. Thomas. The decorations at the Fourteenth street circle where the statue is erected, are very rich and elaborate. Around the circle are 28 lofty poles united by evergreens, each bearing the ensign and coat of arms of a state, and a panel commemorative of a battle in which the army of Cumberland was engaged, or the name of one of its deceased general officers. At each of the four corners of the pedestal upon which the statue stands, is a pole, 43 feet high, dressed to correspond with the poles representing the States, and flanked by stacks of muskets and field-pieces, the spaces intervening being ornamented with cannon balls. On the circumference of the circle a platform has been erected, capable of seating 1,000. The platform for the speakers is within this, and at its corners are decorated poles, bearing panels inscribed with the names of illustrious generals. Hundreds of other panels scattered throughout the decorations are inscribed with the names of all crops and division commands of the army of Cumberland. The procession was very large, including a number of posts of the Grand Army, several army societies, Gen. Sherman, Hancock, Schofield, McDowell, Davis, Crooks, Weighs and others, also Admiral Porter, Vice-Admiral Rowant a number of rear Admirals and other naval officers, officials, ex-army and navy officers, visiting military organizations and numerous bands formed the first division, in second division were the President and the orator, Stanley Mathews, members of the Cabinet, the diplomatic corps, the Justices of the Supreme Court, the Vice-President, the Senators and officers of the Senate, the speaker of the House of Representatives and officers of the House, the Governors of States and their staffs, the Commissioners of the District, the ex-Mayors of Washington, the Mayors and the officers of City Governments of other cities. The procession was an hour passing. Upon the arrival at the statue, the exercises took place, including prayer, music, unveiling the statue, a salute of 13 guns, a grand hymn, the words of which were by Herbert A. Preston, sung by a chorus of 160 male voices, supported by a full marine band, drum corps, etc.

A HEAVY FAILURE.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Reed and Sons, representatives of several eastern music houses are reported to have failed with liabilities $134,000, and nominal assets $167,000. The house is one of the oldest in the west. The firm claims that the suspension is only temporary.

HIDING IN THE WOODS.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Mr. Soule returned from Union Springs to-day terribly angry. He says Courtney was hiding in the woods near Trumansburg, and he could have no communication with him. The people of Union Springs are very indignant and Courtney's mother, now 73 years of age, was particularly so, and said she would row Hanlan herself. Mr. Soule goes to Toronto to-morrow and gave the agent of the National Associated Press to understand that he would pay the Chautauqua purse of $6,000 to Hanlan.

RUSSIA AND ENGLAND.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Considerable excitement was caused throughout the city yesterday by rumours to the effect that war was expected to be declared at any moment between Russia and England.

EDUCATING A WIFE.

That the wives of the future may be an attractive, accomplished, and serviceable race of women is earnestly to be desired by all who believe in the social value of the domestic life; and it has yet to be decided which is the system most favorable for the developments of these attributes. So unsatisfactory, in the opinion of certain superior gentlemen, is the traditional mode of feminine education, that one occasionally hears of their adopting the arduous expedient of personally superintending the education of their elected wives even from childhood. Having gained the anticipatory and provisional consent of the parents of his future bride, the scientific lover applies himself to the task of seeing that her mind is properly cultivated. He holds periodical conversations with her governesses and masters, sends her books carefully annotated by himself, encourages her to write him letters which are little discourses on various themes connected with the ethical, political, and scientific progress of mankind. At last the day comes when this era of tutelage is to give place to a regime of courtship. The young lady is now "out," and is heartily disgusted with the probationary period to which for years she has been doomed. She recognizes in her mature swain a middle-aged gentleman, whose name and whose epistles have been the terror of her girlhood. The ideas of romance and attachment have disappeared altogether before the progress of culture upon scientific principles; and one might as readily persuade the young lady to fall in love with the angular-faced lecturer of mineralogy as with the prudent Corydon, who is her senior by a decade and a half. Or the result may be somewhat different from this. The young lady may accept the situation, as it is indeed probable she will do; and the gentleman will find himself in possession of a wife, who has been, more or less, manufactured according to his order. But the nature of even this model of brides is traversed by a vein of devilry, and the honeymoon is not over before she has plainly asserted her independence of the spouse who has been her schoolmaster. Or the experiences of the happy and ingenious husband may not be exactly of this kind. The immense majority of women are quite as much the incarnation of the commonplace as Pope's celebrated couplet would lead one to suppose. Perhaps as much might be said of men; but then, inasmuch as men are accustomed to look to women for some relief in the dull monotony of existence, feminine commonplace is more conspicuous than masculine. Supposing that the lady has proved as docile as the gentleman could have wished, what then? The husband finds in his wife a washed-out, pale, inanimate reflection of himself. He sits opposite her at his table; and he feels much as if he was looking in the glass and gazing upon the mirrored image of himself as he was in those days when experience and fraction with the world had taken none of the priggishness out of him.

There may be no cases in which this theory of wife education is not an absolute and melancholy failure. But they are a very small minority. And yet no one can say that there is not an extensive field of action open for anyone who should elaborate a satisfactory system for the manufacture of useful companionable wives. Cramming which is bad enough in the case of boys, is a positive curse to women. The schools which it is the fashion for girls to attend are doing almost as much mischief as could be effected were they suffered to remain in a state of the most unenlightened ignorance. The truth is that an answer has yet to be provided to the really momentous question:—How are we to educate the wives of the future? The fashionable theory, the high advanced intellectual theory, have all broken down. There is but one conclusion—that we are as yet barely arrived at the threshold of a right understanding of the training of the wives of the future. To subject them to educational pressure too severe is to inspire them with a loathing of intellectual culture in all its forms. The problem to be solved is not the instruction of women, but their education, which is a very different thing. Women are agreeable companions—in other words, tolerable wives—in the long run, according as they possess and display an intelligent interest in the affairs with which their husbands are chiefly concerned; in proportion, that is, as their intellectual sympathies and perceptions are maintained on the alert. It is the cultivation of the receptive and assimilative quality in a woman's nature which is the most important feature in her education; and it is this feature which has yet to receive the attention that is its due.

☞To Farmers and Horticulturists

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

BY special arrangement the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.50! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—2 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Force says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, as far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavoured, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $60 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, last season, at the rate of 88 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardiest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kæmpferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine. Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomœa leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

THE inducements held out by all newspapers for new subscribers should be based upon the fact that the larger the circulation the less the cost of each paper, as the cost of editorial labor and composition is the same, whether a large or small number is printed. And as it is only fair that those who have stood by us in the past, through good and evil report, should reap a share of the benefit of an increased circulation, we have determined to make them the following offers:—

With regard to the

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Any person now, and for the last twelve months a subscriber to the WEEKLY REVIEW, who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now or for the last twelve months a subscriber to it, will have the TWO sent to separate addresses for $2.50! Or if accompanied with the names of two other such such persons may have the THREE sent to separate addresses for $3.00!

With regard to the

PROPELLER ASHORE.—The propeller Lake Ontario from Montreal to Hamilton laden with pig iron, went ashore last night on Green Island, in the mouth of South Bay. She is hard on, and lying easy, is not badly damaged.

MONTREAL.

Special to the Review, Nov. 21.

A CENTENARIAN.—James McNeice, of Godmanchester, Province of Quebec, died on Monday last, aged 107 years and 3 months. He leaves a widow aged 98, hale and hearty.

GOOD SLEIGHING.—Seven to eight inches of snow covers the streets, and there is good sleighing.

PORT DALHOUSIE, ONT.

Special to the Review, Nov. 21.

BODY FROM A WRECK.—A small scow came ashore here at 11 a.m., to-day, containing the body of a man, which was recognized by Mr. Quinn, owner of the schooner Pinta as that of Ben Howell, of Oakville. The scow was full of water. There were no other bodies in her. A close look out will be kept along the shore in case the rest of the Pinta's crew are washed ashore here.

OTTAWA.

Special to the Review Nov. 21.

THE FINANCE MINISTER.—Sir Leonard Tilly will, it is understood, shortly pay a visit to the Almonte Woollen Factories, probably at the end of the month.

WINNIPEG RIFLE RANGE.—The Secretary of the Manitoba Rifle Association writes to the Department of Militia, asking for a grant of land on the Point Douglas Common for a permanent range.

TORONTO.

Special to the Review, Nov. 21.

A BRUTE.—A shocking affair was revealed at the police court this morning. James Kelly was charged with biting off one of the fingers of Mrs. Mary Dunn. When the prosecutrix was asked what witnesses she had, she replied, "only my daughter and a girl who picked my finger up from the sidewalk," at the same time exposing her hand to the court.

FARM LABOURERS.—Mr. Donaldson, emigration agent, writes to the County Council representing his difficulties in procuring instantaneous employment for new arrivals, and asks the council to urge the farmers to notify him when they require labourers.

INSPECTING BANKS.—Mr. Thomas Workman, President and Mr. F. Wolferstan Thomas, General Manager Molsons Bank are in town. They are inspecting affair of bank's branches and are now examining matters here.

HANGING flower baskets should be hung where they can have an abundance of light and sunshine, and not near the stove or over a register. They should be turned around every day or so, if the light comes mostly from one side, or the plants grow to one side.

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable. d105-w45-1m

SCIENCE is a good piece of furniture for a man to have in an upper chamber, provided he has common sense on the ground floor, and a bottle of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam on the shelf, for use in case of a sudden cold, cough, or hoarseness. This Canadian remedy is unsurpassed as a curative agent in croup, bronchitis, influenza, and all pulmonary complaints. For sale by all dealers. w47d118-2w

VIOLENT STORM IN RUSSIA.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—During the night of the 16th inst., an exceedingly violent storm burst over Odessa, causing enormous damage. Several ships were sunk at the quays, and the naval establishments suffered heavily.

ENGLAND AND TURKEY.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—A Constantinople despatch says the Porte has made an important communication to the British Government tending to prove that there will be no unnecessary delay in the introduction of reforms. Lord Salisbury has given assurances that his Government fully understands the difficulties of the Porte, and does not wish to complicate the situation by any menace.

MENTAL DEPRESSION.

VIENNA, Nov. 21.—Gortschakoff is suffering from mental depression, and there is little hope of his recovery.

PROTECTION IN SWITZERLAND.

GENEVA, Nov. 21.—The cotton operatives of the Wald have resolved to make a strong appeal to the Legislature to increase the import duties on foreign fabrics, to save the Swiss cotton industry from ruin from cheap English goods.

ROME AND BELGIUM.

ROME, Nov. 21—The Fan-Filla says that the Papal Nuncio to Belgium was stopped on his way to Brussels, fresh difficulties being anticipated through the discovery that Cardinal Nina, the Papal Secretary of State, had been using one language officially to the Belgium ministry, and another privately to the Bishops.

AMERICAN.

THE PAST FORGOTTEN.

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—A special despatch from Middlebury College, Vt., says vacation probably will be held until after thanksgiving, when the students are to return and commence anew, letting the past be forgotten, and they are to promise obedience to the rules.

HEAVY FAILURE.

BOSTON, Nov. 21.—J. Boyd & Co., boot and shoe manufacturers, have failed. Their liabilities are $60,000.

A DEADLY CONTEST.

LINEDALE, Mo., Nov. 21.—On Wednesday Crockett and Nicholl, two well-to-do farmers, fought about a hog. Nicholas was cut 13 times with a pocket knife, and was instantly killed. Crockett was cut 18 times with a dirk, and lived but five hours.

GOING TO THE FAIR.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 21.—Mrs. President Hayes has accepted an invitation to visit the fair in aid of the orphanage of the Methodist Church. She will be the guest of Mrs. Bishop Simpson, and on the occasion of her visit to the fair will be presented with a beautiful fire-screen.

THREE BONANZAS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Col. Dean, in a speech last night, located the three bonanzas, one in Ophir mine, the second in the Hale and Norcross, and the third in the Yellow Jacket. He denounced the fancy rink, and demanded that action be taken by the public to secure fair and honest management of the Comstock mines.

GRANT TO BE CAPTAIN-GENERAL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The Herald's Washington report says that a bill to make Grant Captain-General in the army, will be introduced in Congress at the first opportunity.

NINE LIVES LOST.

The report that three men from the tug Seymour, named Geroux, Woods, and Moreau were safe at Wolcott proves untrue. These make a total of 9 lives lost.

POLITICAL EMIGRATION.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Nov. 21.—The Ledger and Standard, the most influential Democrat paper in Indiana, favors the importation into Indiana of 20,000 Kentucky Democrats to be placed upon farms and employed as laborers or skilled artisans to counterbalance the negro immigration.

IMPORTANT SHIPPING COMPANY.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 21.—The Mississippi Valley and Brazil steamship company has been revived. The charter authorizes barge lines from the Mississippi river towns to New Orleans, forming connection with steamships from the latter city to Brazil. It is also contemplated to run these vessels in connection with the Illinois Central Railway from New Orleans and the Gould combination of railways centering in St. Louis. Assurances are made that if the business men in the cities interested show a disposition to aid the project Jay Gould will subscribe liberally. The National Land Company yesterday elected among its directors Jay Gould and Russell Sage.

RESULTS OF THE STORM.

DETROIT, Nov. 21.—A Sand Beach, Michigan, special despatch says the barge, Prairie State, which went on the reef last night, has gone to pieces; two men are missing. The barge Lewis Wells has gone to pieces to-day. Her captain, W. Little, of Saginaw city, and a sailor named Wood, of London, was found. Wm. Ogden, a sailor, and two others, are missing. The tow-barge Wm. Raynor, also on the reef, will probably be a total wreck; her crew are also saved. The tug Whiting and the schooner Hutchinson were sunk, but probably were not damaged much. The crew of the schooner suffered terribly, but were finally rescued by a volunteer crew, who manned the new life-saving boat recently sent there by the Government, for which no regular crew had been appointed.

RAILWAY RUMOURS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The Tribune reports a rumour that Vanderbilt is negotiating with Jay Gould, Russell Sage, Cyrus W. Field and other friends of the Wabash and Union Pacific Railrailway for the sale of a large block, understood to be 250,000 shares of the New York central stock at 120. The sale is regarded as an indication of the harmony of interests between the managers of the Wabash and Central systems. Vanderbilt last evening said the story was made out of whole cloth and added. "All I can say is I am not negotiating to sell a share of the New York Central stock."

STATUES TO BE ERECTED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A movement has been begun looking to the erection of statues to Hooker and Farragut.

SAVED BY A LIFE-BOAT.

PENTWATER, Mich., Nov. 21.—The crew of the wrecked schooner Mercury were all saved by the life-boat from Ludington.

THE UTE PEACE COMMISSION.

DENVER, Nov. 21.—Despatches from Los Pinos say that the hostiles met the commissioners with the intention of telling a consistent lie throughout, but the Adams coup d'etat brought them to realizing a sense of their position and they are now pleading for peace. They are thoroughly frightened and fears of a winter campaign against them have extracted from them a promise to exactly testify and abide the consequences. They say "we fly fight and Indians ammunition all gone, no food and we starve." They begin to understand the utter futility of further resistance, and now express not only a willingness to submit to reasonable settlement, but also a desire that the Commission should continue to the final settlement. The White River Utes have left Ouray's, and have returned to their camp on Grand River. Ouray says that they have gone for their lodges, and has vouched for their return in six days, when they will make a complete confession as to their participation in the outbreak. Such is their promise to Ouray, but judging from their past conduct little reliance can be placed on their promises. Ouray sent an order to Captain Jack to appear before the Commission, assuring him that no personal danger would be incurred. Ouray believes that Jack will respond, and will also accompany the Commissioners to Washington, should Schurz follow out the recommendation of the Commission in adjourning to meet at Washington. Ouray made a speech which, for depth of feeling, eloquence and keen reasoning, went far beyond any of his previous efforts, by his words surprising and gladdening the sorely-tried and disheartened commissioners. A flood of light was cast upon his previous efforts, all seeming inconsistencies were made clear, and Ouray now stands before the world as the white man's friend. He had been listening to the reading of the testimony of the captives, and when the Commission was announced adjourned, he remained with his head sunk upon his breast in an attitude of deep meditation. Suddenly he lifted his head and began to speak, holding those present all spellbound by his revelations. At times he discarded the interpreter entirely, and spoke in English for a short time. The subject of his speech was as follows. He began by saying that he perceived the commission had lost confidence in him, and believed he was playing false. The whole object of the commission from first to last had been misunderstood by the White River Utes. His authority had gone only so far that they left their camp and came here, but every one of them came prepared to fight. They thought each witness as he finished his testimony, of whatever character it might be would be immediately arrested and put under guard. They had determined to resist this "to the death," and at the first moment in this direction, all the horrors of the White river massacre, repeated, would ensue. "Have you not seen around the hills my Utes day and night? Have you not seen all day one of my Indians at each of these windows watching? Had these Utes attacked you my brothers' blood would have been shed. My word is plighted to the whites, and though it cost me my life no harm can come to them." He then said that the Ungue and Uncompahgre Utes would appear to-morrow, and would testify fully in regard to the Thornburgh fight, and the subsequent massacre. Ungue, it will be remembered, tried to stop the fight, but was not listened to by the Utes. His testimony will bear hard on Jack, as he has before stated that Jack was the leader in the battle. "The White River Utes," continued Ouray, "will all come on together to tell what they know. They understand now, and have not before, that the Commission is not for the purpose of apprehending a single Ute, not even one proven to be most guilty. Guilty or innocent they will all come in together, and what they say will be the truth. They had begun to think that I was working against them, and I was obliged to act as I did, to encourage them in their evasions and lies, in order that I might retain my influence over them, until they could themselves see that it was a peace commission, working for them as well as for the whites. They now see it and there will be no further difficulty in getting them to speak." He then described, in a belief-compelling manner, his sorrow at the troubles in the first place, his subsequent anxiety and constant fear that something might happen to the helpless captives, his efforts for their release and his great joy when he saw the result of the mission of Adams. "I do not want to be chief," he concluded, "as I grow old and am tottering. Let some young man, with the fire of youth in his veins, take my place. I have my farm, which I would rather cultivate and watch the seed planted by me grow up to maturity than be head chief. They all come to me with their troubles; I know everything, and have all their burdens to bear. Washington does not want me to give up my position, but wants me to stay and govern the Utes. I want only to be known as Ouray, the friend of the white man." He went up to Adams and presented him with a beautiful Navajo blanket as a present from his squaw, Chipeta.

AN HISTORIC CANE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The will of the late Dr. Joseph P. Thompson leaves President Lincoln's cane, presented to him by Mrs. Lincoln, to the New York Historical Society. This cane formerly belonged to Henry Clay.

WATCHES, SILK AND WINE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The Consul at Zurich, Switzerland, reports a continued decline in the watch and silk trade with the United States, owing to the rivalry of American goods, and the unusual zeal of the Custom House. As wine in Switzerland is a necessity, the failure of the grape crop will probably necessitate the importation from Hungary and Spain of five million dollars worth of wine.

DISSIPATING A PRIZE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Patrick O'Brien, the compositor who recently won $5,000 in a lottery, was sentenced to the penitentiary yesterday for not supporting his family. He spent $5,000 in six months' dissipation.

THE COLD SNAP.

PORT JERVIS, Nov. 21.—The sudden cold snap is causing inconvenience to the boatmen on the Delaware. The Hudson Canal icebreakers have to be used to keep open a free passage. The mountain streams in this vicinity are entirely dried up.

STOCK EXCHANGE FLUCTUATIONS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—On the Stock Exchange the selling movement inaugurated a few days since culminated in a break this morning of 10 to 20 per cent. Towards noon there was a recovery of from 1 to 10 per cent.

FOUNDERED AT ANCHOR.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 21.—The captain of the schooner Kate Wentz reports that his vessel was ashore, he saw a three-masted vessel founder while at anchor in the bay. Three men in the rigging were probably lost, as there was no help near.

THREATENED STRIKE.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.V.A., Nov. 21.—Fifteen hundred to two thousand miners in Kinawaha valley, it is said, will strike for increased wages next Tuesday.

THE QUEBEC ELECTIONS.

The three Quebec Ministers whose return by acclamation was foolishly opposed by Mr. Joly and his friends, were, on Thursday, returned by overwhelming majorities ranging from three hundred and fifty up to six hundred. To those who rely on Grit statements with regard to the current of public opinion, this result must prove a rude awakening inasmuch as it was up to the last moment certain of a great victory for Mr. Joly and his friends—especially in Levis, where the new Minister has been returned by a majority of over five hundred. The only result of these contests then has been to prove that the Legislative Council and those of Mr. Joly's supporters who recently deserted him, gauged the public opinion of Quebec much better than he did. After the political turmoil of the last eighteen months, so unwisely caused by M. Letellier dismissing advisers who had a good working majority in both branches of the Legislature, we should suppose that the people of Quebec sadly need a political rest, combined with good and economical Government—and which we trust for the welfare of the Dominion, M. Chapleau and his colleagues will at last give them.

ENGLISH TRADE UNDER THE N. P.

In the article of cottons, the statistics show that the National Policy has operated just as its friends declared it would, in a very important particular, viz., its effect upon our fellow subjects in the British Isles. The public was assured that the tariff bore more hardly upon the English manufacturers than upon those of the United States, and that the result would be to decrease the importation from Great Britain and increase that from the United States. The cotton trade shows that the great centres of importation, Halifax, Toronto, St. John, Quebec and Montreal, imported during the months of July and August, 1879, $24,613 worth more of cotton from England than in the corresponding months of 1878, while the importations from the United States decreased no less than $147,037. The same gratifying fact is seen in the iron trade, where the statistics of the months show an increase in the importation from Great Britain of $452,842, and a decrease of $11,443 in the importation from the United States. In sugars there has been a decrease in the importation from both countries—a decrease of $129,786 in the import from Great Britain, and of $286,100 in the import from the United States. The British public have no reason to complain of the actual results as seen in the statistics of our trade, while those who, in Canada, have an earnest desire that nothing should be done to weaken the ties which bind us to the motherland, will find in these figures the proof that the fears excited by the Opposition are groundless.—Halifax Herald.

THE GREAT NORTH-WEST.

The N. Y. Sun, in reference to the account of Prof. Macoun's discoveries in the North West, and says:—"Supposing that the Canadians are right about the extent and richness of their wheat-growing territory in the North West, the mind recoils from a computation of its productive capacity. Man has never before contemplated such an agricultural fact. Should this enormous wheat-garden be successfully cultivated, its annual crop in favorable years would come into the business and interest of the entire globe with a revolutionary force and mastery power heretofore unknown to finance and trade."

Wives should now be obedient unto their husbands. Christmas is coming.

END OF THE COUP D'ETAT

THE CHAPLEAU CABINET TRIUMPHANTLY SUSTAINED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE PROVINCE OF QUEBEC.

Great Victory of Hon. E. T. Paquet in Levis—Messrs. Robertson and Lynch Returned by Handsome Majorities—Hon. Mr. Joly's Utter Discomfiture.

QUEBEC, Nov. 20.—The election in the County of Levis passed off to-day very quietly, and resulted, as was expected, in the return of Hon. E. T. Paquet by a majority of over 500 votes. It was amusing to note the way in which the Radicals reduced their expected majority during the day. In the morning they were to win by 300; at noon 200, and after the close of the polls 30 or 40 would satisfy them. Now they must swallow the pill of utter defeat, and accept their obscurity. Mr. Joly was the only Liberal who spoke the truth during the campaign, for he prophesied that he would be another eleven years in opposition. The news of the Conservative victory was accepted very quietly here, and no torchlight procession, at fifty cents a head, as in the case of Liberal successes, was indulged in. The friends of the Government accept the victory as the voice of the people. It is worthy of remark that in St. Henri, the only place in the County of Levis where Mr. Joly spoke, the Liberal majority was reduced from 198 in 1878 to 86 to-day. It is not likely that full returns will be in till a late hour. The following statement of majorities so far as heard from is official and shows a majority of 704 for Paquet. These figures will be reduced by the returns from St. Lambert and St. Jean, both of which will give a majority for Beaulieu. Putting these at 127, which is far above what is expected, it will leave the majority for Hon. Mr. Paquet 567, which is the very lowest figure it can reach.

STATEMENT OF MAJORITIES.

	Paquet.	Beaulieu.
Notre Dame	257	..
St. Laurent	168	..
Quartier [illegible]	7	..
St. David	67	..
Parish Notre Dame	73	..
Bienville	4	..
St. Joseph	..	43

St. Telesphore	..	4
St. Romuald	..	162
St. Nicholas	13	..
St. Etienne	21	..
St. Henri	..	86
Total	[illegible]	234
Majority so far	704

Over 4,000 votes have been polled to-day in the County of Levis, and that is a very full vote; the number polled in May, 1878, being 4,368, and on this occasion over 500 electors are absent from the county.

SHERBROOKE.

A despatch early in the evening announces that Hon. J. J. Robertson is elected by eight votes to one. No figures have yet been received, but it is certain that Macmaster, the Libeller, is not only ignominiously defeated, but has forfeited his deposit.

BROME.

The return of the Hon. W. W. Lynch by 332 votes completed the triumph all along the line.

LATER.

The latest news gives Paquet 15 majority at St. Lambert and Beaulieu, 14 majority in St. Jean, which will make a total majority for Hon. Mr. Paquet of 569.

Thus ends the coup d'etat of 2nd March, 1878.—Mail.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

We find in the columns of the Port Hope Times the following Peterborough Notes:—

"There is no doubting the fact that for an inland town, Peterborough contains, within and around itself, those "sinews of war" which lead to and maintain an enduring prosperity. Within, it possesses men, both private and public, endowed with considerable business energy and sagacity, while without, it cannot be denied that on almost every side it contains the finest stretches of fine farming lands the fastidious agriculturist could desire. Situated at the head of navigation with such a stream as the Otonabee to float it timber and lumber interests to that haven whither it should be, and surrounded with an entire chain of lakes, so convenient to transport from point to point, Peterborough, now that it has (thanks to Mr. Cox) ready communication per the M. R. R. with the frontier, may, in spite of the fascinations of a Grand Junction and a prospective Toronto and Ottawa Railway, jump to be severely let alone. Peterborough has certainly a metropolitan air and finish about it belonging to few such towns in Canada. George street is a veritable Toronto King, both in directness, magnificent stores and the large and well assorted stocks which each one seems to carry. Peterborough, with its municipal compatriot (Ashburnham), must have a population of some seven or eight thousand souls, and, with the full development of its resources, is destined to become, at no distant day, not only a city, but the centre of a great manufacturing and trading community.

Beyond George street Methodist Church (which, by the bye, Dame Rumor says is somewhat heavily in debt), Peterboro' cannot boast much of her ecclesiastical structures, though it is boldly affirmed that its inhabitants are a goodly and well favoured (not flavored) people. A large section of its inhabitants spring from pure French Canadian blood, while the Anglican Auld Scotian, and Hibernian nationalities are about equally represented. The several peoples however, commingle happily together, and all that is good in good fellowship and true hospitality Peterboro' inherits in a marked degree. The local papers, the Examiner and the REVIEW, are really excellent, especially the latter, which under able and discriminating editorship, is acknowledged by both friend and foe, to be one of the best and ablest conducted daily and weekly newspapers in the vast expanse of our great and growing Dominion. Absence from personal scurrility, devotedness to plain matter-of-fact, and readiness to deal fairly and squarely with every public question of the day, are the chief characteristics of the excellent daily and weekly Peterborough REVIEW. While Peterborough rejoices in a Mechanics' Institute, Cricket, Lacrosse and Foot Ball clubs, for the purpose of promoting the intellectual and physical well-being of its "rising generation," it has an institution, the Huffman House, which, under the benign sway of an "Allan" of the first water, enjoys not merely a local, but a provincial reputation, repairing, by an excellent cuisine, the "inner man" as excellently and as comfortably as it can be accomplished on this terrestrial abode. The "Huffman" is indeed a finely conducted hotel, and to its managing clerk, Mr. A. B. Craig, the travelling public is not only indebted for much civility, but also for much thoughtful care and attention."

A Disclaimer.

Mr. Richard A. Proctor, the astronomer, writes as follows to an American paper in reference to an announcement published in Boston, in which he was mentioned as a lecturer now dead:—"As to my being dead, I cannot but think this is a mistake. The study of science suggests extreme caution about matters of fact. But so far as my own observations extend I find reason to believe that I am yet alive. My friends seem also to think so. You must not think me dogmatic if—failing stronger evidence than I yet possess to the contrary—I decline to accept unhesitatingly the theory that I am no longer living."

34 Cumberland St., Toronto, May 13, 1878.
Messrs. Milburn, Bentley & Pearson,
Gentlemen,—Last fall I contracted a severe cold, which, by my neglect, settled on my lungs. I found every indication of the first stage of consumption, and, like many others, when almost too late, commenced to doctor up. I tried many remedies, but got no better; was almost satisfied I was incurable. Accidentally I heard of your Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and as a forlorn hope bought a bottle. I immediately felt relieved. After taking five (5) bottles I am cured, and never felt better in my life. I would heartily recommend your H. preparation.

MY TRIBUTE.

I will not offer thee as others do
The rapturous tribute of the passing hour.
Nor deem that homage shall be finished with
The presentation of a gem or flower;
But I will fold thy image in my heart's
Most inner lining, like a precious thing,
Too sacred for the gaze of vulgar eyes,
As is the tissue of an angel's wing.
Dost thou not know how on a tired life
A golden sunshine often sheds a ray
That lingers there for all time, 'midst the strife
And worldly sorrow of the darkest day?
So has thy presence filled my soul with joy
Too deep and full to find an utterance here;
A holy spell, [illegible] the world's alloy;
To which I pay the tribute of a tear;
A genuine [illegible]
That such sweet spell [illegible] of the past;
One of those gleams that come in length of years,
Too brightly fair and [illegible] to last.
Sweet lady! knowing thee so brief a space,
Yet hast thou bound me by a golden chain
Of love, beneath the witchery of thy face,
Whose links will break—ah! never more again,
So I will take thine image like a rose
[illegible] away
Within my heart of hearts, guarding it well
From the hot sunshine of the garish day;
And when the hush of night comes on as now,
I'll take it from its secrecy, and trace
The features and the loveliness of mind
That makes so purely fair that classic face;
And in the aftermath, when thou art far,
On the wind's sigh my heart to thine will send
Its simple tribute—the unspoken love
And loyal friendship of a woman friend.

A NORFOLK COUNTY ROMANCE.

A Stranger Digs up a Pot of Gold Hidden by His Father.

KELVIN, Co. Nofolk, Nov. 17.—A correspondent of the Mail says:—Our usually quiet village was excited last week over the fact that a stranger had appeared in the neighborhood, and dug up a pot filled with gold. The stranger, who gave his name as Brown, came to the village on Friday last, and speaking confidentially to a young man of this place, related his story, of which the following is a brief synopsis: Twenty-three years ago his father, with his family, emigrated from England to America. After remaining for six months in New York, they proceeded to Canada. Leaving his wife and two sons in Toronto, the father set out for Norfolk county, with the intention of purchasing some pine land, he being desirous of engaging in the lumber business. Having made arrangements for the purchase of 500 acres of pine limits near the village of Kelvin, he agreed to call in a week and settle for it. He went about a mile east of the village to an hotel, and said he wished to remain over night. After tea he noticed some rather suspicious looking men lounging about, and as he had a large sum of money on his person, he stepped outside with the intention of hiding it, which he did by placing it in an old coffee-pot, which he buried eighteen inches under ground. Next morning he wanted to take it with him, but noticing that he was watched, concluded to let it remain until the next week. He then proceeded to Toronto, and was suddenly taken ill and became delirious. One day he wrote a letter and securely fastened it in a small tin box. Shortly after this he made his will, bequeathing some property in England to the elder, and this tin box to the younger son, possession to be given when they came of age. Shortly after this he died, and the remaining members of the family went to reside in Boston, and soon afterwards removed to Texas. Five years ago the elder son returned to England, and secured his patrimony, and is living there at present. Three years ago the younger son secured his tin box, and found that it contained a minute description of a large sum of money buried beside the hotel, near the village of Kelvin. At that time the young fellow was engaged in herding cattle, and did not consider the buried coffee-pot worth looking after, and continued his herding until about a month ago, when his mother died. He then came to Kelvin to seek his fortune. After telling his story he enquired of his friend where the hotel stood, and being informed that it was about a mile east of the village, the two proceeded to the site of the old building, and after an hour's work succeeded in coming upon the hidden treasure. After amply rewarding his companion, Brown started for Texas.

IF THE ICE BREAKS.

There is always a deal of this fun about in the beginning of winter, and "no end" of boys and girls who want to have "just one skate." One can hardly read a paper without seeing an account of some ducking or drowning accident. I wonder if the little skaters who will read this have ever thought what they would do if the ice should break under them, or they should, by any mishap, fall into the water?

The best way is to keep out, and then you won't have any trouble about getting out. Never venture on ice over swift or deep water, that hasn't been well tested by some older person. Never go near air-holes or shaky places, just to show how smart you are. The safest place on the ice is good enough for a boy who has sense enough to make it worth while for him to grow up. Remember the old story of the coachman who got a fat job, not by showing how near he could drive to the edge of a precipice, but how far he could keep from it. It is not cowardly to avoid danger, when it can be honourably shunned. Foolhardiness is not bravery.

But if you do go through the ice, the first thing is to keep as cool in your head as you will be in body. Wits pluck and breath are the three life-preservers. If you find you are "going under" once, shut your mouth, and hold your nose if you think of it. Come up as quick as you can, and throw your arms well out over the solid edge of the ice, if within reach, or across any floating cake, and hang on!—hang on for dear life! "Holler," if you can; but don't cry—till you are out of the water. Crying is bad for all three of your life-preservers. It scatters the wits, scares away the pluck, and uses up the breath. Don't cry. Shout, if help is near, and hang on. If the ice is firm enough, perhaps you can lift yourself out by your arms, by getting a little help from your knee. If you are so fortunate, don't try to get on your feet at once, but roll over until you are well beyond the cracks, and free from all danger of slipping in. Your weight is thus distributed over more surface, and with your wet clothing it is easier to roll than to walk.

If you are out of the water, and some poor fellow is in, use your wits sharply to save him. If a rail, or board, can be had at once, shove it out to him, and tell him to grab it. Speak bravely and hopeful to him, and direct him what to do. When he gets a good hold, pull steadily, so as not to jerk it away; but swiftly so as to make sure of him. If the ice will warrant it,—as it will around a hole that has been cut out of solid ice,—and there are boys enough, form a line, take hold of hands, and let the strongest take the lead and pull him out, while the line draws them both safely back. When there is nothing better, tie two or three comforters together to make a rope, or pass one end of a long coat to the poor fellow; I have seen a lad saved in this way, when there would have been no time to go for other help. Do something,—do anything that isn't hopelessly reckless,—rather than see a mate drown before your eyes while you stand gaping and helpless by.

And when he is out, let him run to the nearest house for care, if strong enough. The exercise will do him good. If too weak for this, bundle him in your own warm coat and carry him there on the double-quick.

The safest advice of all I have saved to the last: Go to a rink, or slide instead of skate, and you will never "get in."—Uncle Zack, in the Golden Rule.

DRUGGED AND ROBBED.

A New York Farmer's Family the Victims of Canada Thieves.

TROY, N.Y., Nov. 19.—A bold robbery was perpetrated at Gansevoort's station, on the Rensselaer and Saratoga road, on Sunday morning. Dennison Williard a farmer, lives in the neighbourhood. Mrs. Metot, his widowed daughter, lives with him. Her husband recently died in Canada, and she received some money about $900 in bank bills from his estate. Early on Sunday morning burglars entered the house, chloroformed the inmates, and helped themselves to all the money and valuable property that they could lay hands on. Nobody in the house heard them while they were committing the robbery. It is believed they were Canadian thieves, and followed the money from its shipping place in Canada to its destination. Two strange young men had been noticed about the place for a few days before the robbery. They have disappeared. The family of Williard was badly affected by the chloroform, and medical aid was required. Mrs. Metot suffered the most from the drug, but all are now recovering.

OVER THE PRECIPICE.

Death of a Railway Employee at Suspension Bridge.

CLIFTON, Nov. 19.—Michael Sexton, for many years an employee of the Great Western Railway as watchman on the Suspension Bridge, disappeared suddenly on Friday last. No clue could be obtained as to his whereabouts up to this morning, when it was learned that he had been seen near the river bank on Friday evening enquiring the way to Main street. It being feared he had fallen over the bank search was instituted in that quarter by a party of friends, resulting in the discovery of his body a few hundred yards above the railway Suspension Bridge. The bank, at this point is about seventy feet high, and it is supposed the fall killed him instantly, he having the appearance of falling upon his head. There were ten dollars in money and a watch upon his person when found, indicating that the unfortunate circumstance was accidental. The night upon which he was last seen was intensely dark, and it is supposed he mistook the lights on the American side for those on Main street, upon which he lived, and, going in the wrong direction, walked over the bank. An inquest was held by Coroner Robinson this afternoon, when the jury returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts. Deceased was about sixty years of age, and leaves a family of two grown daughters and a young child.

THE POULTRY TRADE.

The poultry trade of Canada, which continues to increase year by year, is a profitable source of income to farmers, and bids fair to attain much larger proportions as the foreign outlet widens, and becomes better understood. Last year considerable quantities of live and dead turkeys were shipped from Canada to the United States and Great Britain, most of which paid both the farmers and the shippers good margins. The mild weather we experienced at the commencement of last season, prevented many shippers from placing their supplies upon the Christmas market of England, but those who ventured received very satisfactory returns. A great many tons of dead turkeys unplucked were shipped from this city and western points to Liverpool about the beginning of last December, which arrived in good condition, and sold well. Each bird was wrapped in brown paper, and packed in boxes containing about ten or twelve head. Consignments of dressed poultry were also forwarded, but we understand that, altough they paid, they did not yield as large net profits as those unplucked. The best time for poultry to arrive in England for the Christmas market is from December 18th to the 23rd. We notice the quotations from St. John's market, Liverpool, on November 6th were as follows:—Turkeys, 5s to 8s each, as to size; geese, 5s to 8s do; ducks, 4s to 5s per pair; fowls, 4s to 5s do. During the past week or ten days consignments of dressed poultry packed in cases have been received by Montreal commission houses, and among them were several cases of turkeys with their feathers on, which were wholly unsuited to the wants of this market. From enquiries lately made by shippers from the Perth district, Belleville, Napanee, Brockville, Morrisburg, Cornwall and Lancaster, as well as from Eastern Townships, dealers here conclude that there are large quantities to come forward, and with seasonable weather a busy time is expected between now and the holidays. Last season part of the surplus stocks of this market was sent to Newfoundland with satisfactory results. American buyers have been purchasing live poultry in the Eastern Townships during the past few days, principally in those districts which border upon the State of Vermont, and have been paying good prices for them. Ontario shippers have begun to forward part of their dressed poultry to Boston, as is usual at this time of the year, but many of them did much better last season in this market than in the American. As heavy losses often result to country shippers from careless dressing and packing, we beg to call the attention of our country friends to the best style of preparing dead poultry for this market, which is as follows:—Abstain from feeding poultry twenty-four hours before killing. Pluck while dry, leaving wing and tail feathers on, and entrails not drawn. Wrap the head in brown paper, tuck it neatly under the wing and tie the body round with a bit of string. One important point which many forwarders neglect is proper packing. All boxes used for that purpose should be perfectly clean, [illegible] and large enough to contain from 150 to 200 lbs. Great care should be taken to pack the goods so that the top represents a fair average of the contents of the case. The bad habit of "topping off" frequently [illegible] customers, and injures the reputation of both shipper and consignee. Upon the cover and head of each package should be marked neatly its gross weight and tare.—Montreal Gazette.

A Black Picture.

A writer in a French newspaper gives a dark picture of the manner in which Russia is going to work to pacify the Caucasus. He states that all attempts to organise the country having failed, it has decided to depopulate it, and orders have been given for the inhabitants to be driven from their hamlets and villages and transplanted to other climes. The mode of operation, he says, is simple: "During the darkness of night a Cossack regiment surrounds a village, and when morning breaks all the inhabitants, without exception, are disarmed, clothed in the gray convict dress and marched away thousands of miles—some to the frozen shores of Archangel, others to Siberia." The idea of peopling the immense tracts of Asiatic Russia with Caucasians has haunted several ill-regulated minds at St. Petersburg, but these mountaineers of the south soon become homesick and die in the melancholy wastes of Siberia. It is colonization backwards. In the sixteenth century there were 8,000,000 inhabitants in Siberia, and now there are only 4,000,000, although there is an influx of 120,000 convicts every year. After alluding to the sanguinary scenes enacted during the Turkish war, the writer says that 2,000 Caucasians have just been transported, and that what remains of the population will speedily follow.

Le Pere De Anbried, of the French Church, on Twenty-third street, New York, devotes his life to visiting the poor and the afflicted, and not only gives the use of Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia, and instant relief is experienced.

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head.

OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhoea, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is SCOTT & BOWNE'S EMULSION OF PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. Price 25 cents. d106-w45-1m

It is said by many, first try one remedy, and then another, but we find in the great majority of cases that those who try Hagyard's Yellow Oil for all purposes of a liniment, have no use for any other preparation, it does its work so effectually that none others need to be applied. It is equally good for man or beast, and can be used internally for Croup, Whooping Cough, and Asthma, externally for Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises Chilblains, Burns, Scalds, and all Pains and Aches, from whatever cause they may occur. Sold by all dealers at 25 cents per bottle. w47d115-2w

From the age of 16 to 80.

Thousands of people, from the age of sixteen to eighty years, are suffering from kidney complaints and other diseases arising from derangement of the urinary organs, who would be relieved by a few doses of Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi, and a permanent cure made by the use of a few bottles. Price, $1. 115,47-2w

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

Business at the Midland Station.

Messrs. Campbell, McNeil and Co. are shipping to Europe, via Portland, at the Peterborough Station, 115 packages of butter. Mr. T. G. Hazlitt is shipping lumber, lath and shingles to Port Hope, and Mr. J. Z. Rogers is shipping lumber to the same point.

Closing of Navigation.

Ice has formed in the Otonabee River and in the Little Lake from below the brick works. Navigation is closed and will probably remain closed for the season. The river above the several dams is also frozen over and will soon be in a condition for skating, unless the weather moderates greatly.

The Skating Rink Improvements.

The improvements at the skating rink are being rapidly completed. The ceilings and supports under the galleries are being whitewashed. It is expected that the whitewashing will be completed by Monday, when the water will be let in. The retiring rooms have been greatly improved and made comfortable, and the rink will be more attractive than ever.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: Moderate to fresh winds; partly cloudy, cold weather, with slight snow in some localities. In Peterborough the thermometer indicated at 8 a.m., 8°; at 10 o'clock it had moderated 4°, making 12°; and at 12, m., 20°. The strong northerly wind last evening was very keen, and ice formed rapidly. The wind to-day is westerly to north-westerly, with a clear sky.

The Market.

The market is again quiet, there being nothing in except wood and hay. There were many loads of wood upon the stand which found ready sale, while the town dealers did a thriving business. Several loads of hay were in, but did not remain long upon the square. No change in price to note. A few kegs of butter made their appearance and was taken at the ruling quotations. One load of spring wheat came in about noon and brought $1.14.

"Pinafore."

The McDowell Company performed the comic operetta "Pinafore," in Bradburn's Hall last night before a crowded audience, who, to judge from their applause and laughter, were well satisfied. The general desire to see this celebrated piece was no doubt the reason for its production, though opera is hardly so well suited to this excellent company as the drama. Before the operetta Gilbert's laughable comedy, "My Uncle's Will," was performed, Mr. and Mrs. McDowell taking the chief parts, and acting them admirably.

The Coming Meteoric Shower.

For the next nine or ten days astronomers will watch the constellation Andromeda with eager eyes to detect the coming of the shower of meteors that will come in contact with the earth on the 27th inst. It is possible that these meteors may have been scattered since they were last seen in our sky, but the probabilities are the other way, and it is regarded as almost certain that they will be promptly at the rendezvous. In that case a brilliant display may be expected. Even if they fail to detect the coming meteors, those who train their telescopes upon the quarter of the sky from which the fire-balls are expected to burst into view, will be well repaid for their labour. The constellation Andromeda, which derives its name from one of the most charming fables of antiquity, is nearly overhead at 10 o'clock p.m. It may be recognised by three bright stars lying in a curved line just south of the W shaped figure in Cassiopeia. The radiant point of the meteors is near the star Gamma, which is the middle one of the three stars just mentioned. This star is one of most wonderful in the heavens. A telescope of two inches aperture easily separates it into two, one deep yellow and the other sea green. These colours are of rainbow depth and purity. A larger telescope separates the green star also into two, one blue and the other golden-hued. There can be little doubt that here are three suns, probably larger than ours, each glowing with a different coloured light, and all apparently connected in one system. The effect upon the worlds lighted by these suns of such contrasts of colour can hardly be imagined. Andromeda contains many other interesting objects, chief among which is the great light-cloud that has been called the Queen of the Nebulæ, and which no telescope has ever yet been able to separate into stars.—Mail.

THE AFGHAN REVOLT.

AFGHANS DISARMING.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Viceroy of India telegraphs that five more Afghan regiments from Turkestan have arrived near Cabul, and will disband and go home. Probably the remaining regiments of Cabul in Turkestan will follow this example, as they have no prospect of pay.

THE AMEER'S CONDUCT.

A Cabul despatch says the inquiry into the conduct of the ex-Ameer Yakoob Khan and his Ministers in connection with the massacre of the British Embassy, has terminated. A report of the inquiry has been forwarded to the Viceroy of India. Nothing has transpired to alter the unfavorable opinion hitherto current regarding the Ameer's course.

PORT HOPE.

NARROW ESCAPE.—The Times says:—An accident which was within a hairbreadth of causing the death of Mrs. and Miss Whitehead, wife and daughter of Mr. Whitehead who lives on the lake shore road between here and Newtonville, occurred at the G. T. R. passenger station on Thursday morning. Mr. Whitehead had driven them in, and had reached the platform corner nearest the town, when the whistle of an approaching engine frightened the horse he was driving. After doing some prancing, and allowing sufficient time for some loungers around the station yard to exhibit their inanity, the horse turned completely around, and ran away as if to cross the siding in front of the Lakeview House. At the same time a freight train was being backed very slowly, and the horse was just quick enough to run the buggy against a car of the moving train. By this time Mrs. Whitehead had become thoroughly frightened and was trying to jump from the buggy. Fortunately for her her daughter held her until the danger was over, and she only succeeded in getting over the buggy when the train officials signalled the driver to stop. As it was, however, Mrs. Whitehead got her leg doubled up, the knee being held tightly between the spokes of the wheel. The car dragged the buggy some distance, and smashed the wheels all to smithereens. Dr. Herriman was sent for and arrived before the express went out, and gave the necessary attendance to the injuries Mrs. Whitehead sustained. She was much more frightened than hurt, but if she had succeeded in jumping from the buggy she would undoubtedly have fallen under the car wheels and been killed. The hackman who noticed the horse run away, by his prompt action, saved the occupants of the buggy from a horrible death, and deserves their thanks. Mrs. Whitehead and her daughter left by the express for Chicago.

THE RINK.—The directors of the Port Hope Curling Club met on Wednesday afternoon in Mr. H. A. Ward's office, to take into consideration the interior arrangement requisite for the management of the curling rink during the coming winter.

WOODSTOCK.

A FARMER DRUGGED AND ROBBED.—This morning, soon after midnight, some person or persons entered the house of Mr. James Carr, a farmer in West Oxford, by raising the kitchen window. Thence they proceeded to Mr. Carr's bedroom, and after using chloroform helped themselves plentifully from a bottle of whiskey found on the dressing table. On Mr. Carr's recovery from the effects of the drug, he found that they had carried a bureau from the sitting-room out in the yard, and ransacked it of everything valuable, including Mrs. Carr's jewellery and trinkets, worth about $100, and Mr. Carr's pocket book, containing $425, nearly all in gold, besides some valuable papers. No clue as yet has been found leading to a suspicion as to who the parties are, but it is evident they are acquainted with Mr. Carr's affairs.

BOBCAYGEON.

HERRINGS.—The Independent says:—A few very good catches of these delicious little fish were made last week, just below the dam. Those that were not caught have returned from whence they came, where ever that may be.

THE BRIDGE.—The stone work of the new bridge may be said to be finished. The contractors, Messrs. Ranney & Waddell, deserve credit for the workmanlike manner in which the contract has been performed, and also for the engineering skill and ingenuity exhibited in the construction of the work.

SLIDE.—Mr. [illegible] has got all the timber in readiness for the rebuilding of the slide and the lock gates.

COBOURG.

BURGLARY.—The World says:—On Tuesday night of this week, some party or parties entered the residence of Mr. R. McAllister, near the railway, on William street, by raising the window and removing some plants. They stole a number of articles, and, singularly, the sum of $40, which they found in the owner's pockets. They also paid their respects to the larder,—showing a decided fondness for milk.

BELLEVILLE.

SALMON.—Several salmon weighing from 6 to 10 pounds each have lately been caught in the bay. These fish are no doubt some of the same which were put into the rivers some years ago as fry by the Fishery Department. It is to be hoped that the species will increase and multiply.

The Queen and the Parrot.

A noted bird-fancier, living in the neighbourhood of the Great Western terminus at Bristol, England, reared a parrot of uncommon beauty, and more over of a disposition to talk. Her teacher was so much pleased with Poll's progress that he determined to present her at Court, and she was accordingly started on her journey. Poll, upon her arrival, was somewhat abashed at the new scene of splendour in which she found herself, and exhibited an unwonted uncouthness and would not speak to anyone. At length however, she was introduced to the Queen, who struck with the beautiful plumage and fine symmetry of the newly-arrived guest, entered with great condescension into conversation with her. Polly's shyness wore off, and before the Queen left her, she said, "If you don't send twenty pounds, I'll go back." The Queen inquired to whom she was indebted for this new acquisition to her aviary, ascertained the circumstances connected with the affair, and gave the orders for the transmission of twenty pounds to the rearer of Poll who accordingly was paid that sum at the West of England Bank in Bristol—an inducement to all teachers to impart profitable instructions to their pupils.

Canadian Sheep in New York.

At the Sixtieth-street cattle yard, New York, on Monday, Nov. 17, 1,279 Canadian sheep and lambs were sold, as follows:—74 sheep, weighing 120 lbs. each, at 4½ cents per pound; 81 sheep, weighing 103 to 104 pounds each, at 4 to 4½ cts. 76 lambs, weighing 62 pounds per head, 5½ cts.; 1,098 lambs, weighing 74 to 76 lbs. each, 5½ to 5¾ cents per pound.

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

RUSSIAN COTTON TRADE.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—An Odessa correspondent says that about a dozen of the most eminent Russian cotton manufactures have lately gone to Egypt to buy enormous quantities of the raw material and all the largest plantations on the banks of the Nile. The chief aim of these merchants, who are stated to be conjointly worth 20,000,000 roubles, seems to be to shake off the yoke of English and Liverpool markets, but all the produce of Egypt will not suffice to meet the wants of the Russian cotton factories.

STEAMER FOUNDERED.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The iron steamer Pollux, from Copenhagen, bound to Amsterdam, is believed to have foundered off Heimskerk. Thirty persons are supposed to have perished.

THE CZAR'S RETURN.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Czar will return to St. Petersburg on the 4th December.

UNIVERSITY DISTURBANCE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 20.—Disturbances occurred among the students of St. Petersburg university recently, resulting in several arrests and the closing of the library by order of the Governor General. Statements in regard to the origin of the disturbances are conflicting.

ALFONSO'S WEDDING.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A Cabinet Council, presided over by King Alfonso, has determined that the marriage of the King shall be solemnized on the 29th of the month. The Court festivities will be on a splendid scale, including reception, processions, banquets, bull-fights and national dances.

CORDIAL RELATIONS ESTABLISHED.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A Constantinople correspondent says it is confidently stated in official circles that cordial relations between England Turkey have been completely re-established.

CHECK FOR MR. LABOUCHERE.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The Judges of the Queen's Bench have unanimously refused the mandamus asked for by Mr. Labouchere to compel the sitting magistrate at Guildhall to permit him to continue his cross-examination of Mr. Lawson, in the examination now pending in the Guildhall Magistrate's Court.

AGRARIAN OUTRAGE.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Between ten and eleven o'clock last night, Thomas Flagherty, a farmer residing at Monasterriden, near Ballaghderen County, Sligo, was dragged out of bed by a party of twenty men with their faces disguised. Having blind-folded their victim, they took him about fifty yards from the house, cut off a piece of his right ear, beat him unmercifully with a piece of bush, took away his gun, and there left him. He alleges the cause of the outrage to be that he had paid his rent before it was due. His landlord is Mr. McDermott, Q. C.

EGYPT AND ABYSSINIA.

ALEXANDRIA, Nov. 20.—The Ministers and Khedive to-day discussed the despatches from General Gordon. The King of Abyssinia demands that his right to Soudan and Nubia be acknowledged; also that he be paid $10,000,000. He refuses to make any other treaty. Mussulmen chiefs and tribes numbering 20,000 have revolted against the King of Abyssinia. The rebels stopped General Gordon's passage. Gordon has asked for reinforcements and that a corvette be sent to Massowah. The Government has complied with these requests.

FOR TEXAS AND BACK.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The steamer Bernessia sailed to-day for New Orleans with sixty-five farmers and families bound for Texas.

A VIOLENT STORM.

Last night a storm was noticed approaching our western coasts, and to-day it has been raging over the United Kingdom. The temperature is very low. A sharp fall of snow was experienced in this metropolis to-day. Snow and sleet showers prevailed along the eastern and south-eastern coasts, and the weather has been unusually wintry with [illegible] gales on our eastern and southern coasts. A storm of extraordinary violence is raging along the north-west coast of Scotland to-day. An immense number of wind-bound vessels had to run for shelter in the Frith of Forth. In the course of a few hours over 150 vessels, some of which were stripped of their canvas, reached various roadsteads for shelter from the tempest. The reports received at the meteorological office indicate that the storm has not yet passed away, although the barometer is rising.

AMERICAN.

THE ARMY OF CUMBERLAND.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—At the society of the Army of Cumberland, Gen. Sherman read letters from Mrs. Anderson and her daughter, denying the charges of disloyalty against General Robt. Anderson, and asking the Society to take action. Sherman offered a resolution, which was unanimously carried, tendering the sympathy of the society to the widow and daughter, and eulogizing Anderson. Gen. Sheridan was elected President. The next meeting will be held at Toledo. The sculptor of the Thomas statue was escorted to a seat on the platform, and received three rousing cheers.

VIOLENT STORM.

OSWEGO, Nov. 20.—The blinding snow-storm, with stiff wind, which commenced last night, continues. Fears are entertained for the safety of vessels.

COLLEGE TROUBLES.

HANOVER, N.H. Nov. 20.—Trouble has arisen in the senior class over the result of the election for class day officers. All the members of the scientific department have withdrawn, refusing to participate in any graduating exercises or any class organizations.

RETIRING LEGAL TENDERS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Journal of Commerce's Washington despatch says it is intimated in official circles that Sherman is seriously thinking of recommending Congress to pass legislation for the gradual and permanent retirement of the outstanding legal tenders.

SCHOONER WRECKED.

PORT COLBORNE, Nov. 20.—The schooner Samana from Toledo to Oswego with seventeen thousand seven hundred bushels of corn went ashore on the reef east of this harbor last night. She lies on a rock bottom with about eight feet of water in her. The crew are all safe. The vessel will be abandoned to the Insurance Company.

ARREST OF KEARNEY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 20.—Union Hall was crowded to suffocation this evening to hear Col. Dean, a prominent stock operator, tell the public of the location of three new bonanzas, which he claims to exist on Comstock, and denounced the management of the mines controlled by Floyd and others. Dennis Kearney, who has for several days announced his intention of breaking up the meeting, was present with a large concourse of followers. Before the meeting was called to order, he attempted to organize a meeting. Confusion ensued; Kearney was arrested and taken to the station house, charged with disturbing the meeting.

LYNCH LAW AT LEADVILLE.

LEADVILLE, Nov. 20.—At one this morning a mob of several hundred forcibly took from the goal a footpad named Stewart, and a jumper of claims named Frodeschan, and hanged them. Frodeschan had been recently concerned in several affrays, growing out of lot jumping, and had been notified to leave town. He was arrested last night for a petty offence. Stewart was one of two highway robbers who, a few nights since, meeting Barber on the highway ordered him to hold up his hands. Barber shot and killed Stewart's companion, and wounded Stewart, so that the latter was unable to escape. The lynching caused great excitement. An immense crowd surrounded the shed where the two men were hanged. All day the bodies remained suspended until late in the afternoon. A placard of warning to all bad characters was suspended around Frodeschan's neck. The authorities have taken no action in the matter.

MR. PARNELL TO BE CALLED TO ACCOUNT.

Mr. Parnell will be invited to attend the Hyde Park demonstration. Mr. Parnell deferred his visit to the United States in consequence of rumors of the intended action of the Government. The journey will now be still further deferred. It is intended to issue another address to the Irish abroad, calling for money to defend all whom the Government may prosecute, and to maintain the agitation. It is stated that Davitt, Killen, and Daly will be indicted for conspiracy as well as sedition. It is also stated that Mr. Parnell's language at the land meetings will be brought before the House of Commons with a view of silencing him in the House. The constabulary are under arms day and night in many towns in Ireland.

UNITED STATES CITIZENS SEIZED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—A telegram states that Mrs. Germor Munoz, of Brooklyn, has been arrested at Santiago de Cuba by the Spanish authorities and thrown into jail without any form of trial, as has her brother-in-law, Cyprian Munoz, cigar manufacturer, of Brooklyn. Both are American citizens, provided with passports. They left here on the steamer on Nov. 3rd. Germor Munoz has telegraphed to Evarts, asking instant interference, and has left for Washington.

WARNED TOO LATE.

WATERTOWN, N.Y., Nov. 20.—There were no weather signals at Cape Vincent when the tug Seymour left that port on Monday afternoon with her tow. Cautionary signals were hoisted about the time the storm commenced.

Grain to Antwerp.

Six steamers and two sailing vessels have taken from Montreal this season, 500,000 bushels of grain to Antwerp, direct.

By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value - which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—3 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Fenty says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Force says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, as far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavored, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $20 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, last season, at the rate of 80 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardiest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kaempferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomœa leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1879.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

THE inducements held out by all newspapers for new subscribers should be based upon the fact that the larger the circulation the less the cost of each paper, as the cost of editorial labor and composition is the same, whether a large or small number is printed. And as it is only fair that those who have stood by us in the past, through good and evil report, should reap a share of the benefit of an increased circulation, we have determined to make them the following offers:—

With regard to the

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Any person now, and for the last twelve months a subscriber to the WEEKLY REVIEW, who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now or for the last twelve months a subscriber to it, will have the TWO sent to separate addresses for $2.50! Or if accompanied with the names of two other such such persons may have the THREE sent to separate addresses for $3.00!

With regard to the

DAILY REVIEW.

Any person now a subscriber to the DAILY EVENING REVIEW who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now on our subscription list, may have the TWO delivered or sent to separate addresses for six months for $3.50, or for twelve months for $6.00!

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

MEETING ABANDONED.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Fenian demonstration at Manchester has been abandoned in consequence of the threatened interference of the police.

ACTION OF THE GOVERNMENT.

The Government offers immediate loans to land owners and sanitary boards in Ireland on the most favorable terms, including the postponement of repayment for two years. It is not improbable the Government may assist emigration. The arrangement of the Government for watching Fenian movements in America is very perfect.

IMPROVEMENT IN IRELAND'S TRADE

A decided improvement is reported in the linen trade of Ireland. Matters at present bear a very encouraging aspect, an increase of ten per cent in wages having been given at all the large mills. This increase brings wages to the level of last year, when a reduction took place of ten per cent.

A MAN WHO PLAYS WITH LOADED DICE.

DUBLIN, Nov. 21.—Mr. Parnell said no earthly power could succeed against the united and determined efforts of Irishmen in the struggle for their soil. Irishmen would show Lord Beaconsfield they knew how to win a battle, and though they played against a man who had loaded dice, their cause was the strongest. He said the land system was already tottering to its fall. Mr. Biggar declared Mr. Parnell the leader of the Irish people. After the demonstration was over Messrs. Parnell and Biggar started for the Balla meeting.

CONDEMNATION OF THE ARRESTS.

DUBLIN, Nov. 21.—The Dewsbury, Bately and Birstall branches of the Irish National Society have arranged for a demonstration on Sunday in aid of the tenant farmers. The Queenstown Town Commissioners have passed a resolution condemning the arrest of Davitt, Killen, and Daly.

MONSTER MEETING IN DUBLIN.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—At a meeting of delegates from Home Rule organizations in London tonight, a telegram from London was read, stating that a meeting then being held there was a great success, and 20,000 were unable to gain admittance.

AMERICAN.

CANAL TRAFFIC.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The intensely cold weather has frozen up an immense fleet on the canals. Large amounts of wheat on board. The boats that were being hurried to this market to realize high rates have been locked up for the winter, and will probably remain where they now are. The grain-laden vessels which left Buffalo in the past nine days, and which are locked in between Buffalo and Troy, amount to 566. Their cargoes consists of 2,756,000 bushels of wheat, 1,612,000 of corn, 60,000 of barley, and 25,000 of oats. The shippers say had the boats reached here before the cold weather set in the large amount of grain they were bringing would have reduced the price, and enabled the shippers to buy for exportation, and the vessels now lying idle would have been eagerly sought after and good freights obtained.

TROY, N.Y., 21.—The Canal Collector at West Troy says he has received no information of boats being delayed on the Erie canal, and that there is no ground for the rumours of the delay.

SYRACUSE, Nov. 21.—The weather is milder to-night. The chances are the canal will not be closed by the cold weather until all the boats reach the tide water.

A LINK WITH THE PAST.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 21.—Dr. French Wessms died yesterday, aged 92. On the occasion of the departure of Lafayette from New York, Wessms delivered a complimentary address. His father was consulting physician during the last illness of Gen. Washington.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

THE EX-EMPRESS.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The Empress Eugenie told Prince Napoleon yesterday that she had put all thoughts of politics aside, and had no care for anything but the memory of her dead son. She has gone to Madrid to see her dying mother. The Empress is very much changed, and looks bent and prematurely old.

SUGAR IN EUROPE.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The deficit in the European sugar crop for 1879 is estimated to amount to about 100,000 tons. The estimate as to the deficit in the French crop, fixed by the Journal des Fabricants de Sucre at from 25 to 30 per cent., is fully confirmed by the latest reports, and the manufacturing season will be fully over by the end of December. Some works have barely enough work to employ the balance of this month. In Austria alone, the yield will be as large as last year, and a very brisk export movement from that country is in consequence anticipated.

NEW LINE OF STEAMERS.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Anchor Line is about to run steamers direct between Leith and New York.

PROTECTING BRITISH INTERESTS.

ADEN, Nov. 22.—In consequence of the menacing attitude of Abyssinia towards Egypt, the gunboat Seagull has been ordered to Massowat to protect the property of British subjects.

DISTRESS IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, Nov. 22.—The Government is determined to abandon all preliminary difficulties which might obstruct the obtaining of loans from the Board of Public Works for the improvement of estates and to expedite the expenditure of money strictly for the employment of unskilled labor. They will immediately give loans to land owners and sanitary boards. They will add to the principal the cost of the preliminary proceedings and the interest on the sum borrowed, allowing two years' grace. Repayment therefore will commence at the beginning of the third year. This concession will only take effect in the districts which the Government will declare to come under the designation of "Distressed Districts." The Irish Times states that it is possible the Government may be induced on the memorial of the Board of Guardians to grant money to assist emigration from localities where other arrangements unable to cope with any threatened calamity.

WOLVES AND THE FLOCKS.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The early snow has driven the wolves from the forests in the department of the Marne. The peasants are organizing mid-night hunting parties to protect the flocks.

MORE ARRESTS LIKELY.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—There are likely to be several arrests in Ireland to-day of well-known ringleaders in the late movements.

MOVEMENT OF TROOPS.

CORK, Nov. 22.—A detachment of troops left here last night for Buttevant, in this county, it is supposed in consequence of urgent private information.

AMERICAN.

N. Y. TERMINAL FACILITIES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The managers of the Wabash Union Pacific and other Western Roads decided to have better traffic facilities to the East. They discussed a scheme of building a road from Detroit to Toledo, parallel with the Lake Shore. Satisfactory arrangements were subsequently made with Vanderbilt to carry freight over the Lake Shore road, and thence east by way of the New York Central. This was chiefly desired on account of the terminal facilities which the Central has in New York.

SHIPWRECKED AND FROZEN.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22.—Captain Westcott and two of the crew of the schooner Minnie Hata, which was lost in Thursday's gale in Chesapeake Bay, were brought here last night. Three of the crew, Wm. Eddy, Jas. Dodd, and James Johnson, were frozen to death. The schooner sunk with her masts projecting a few feet above the water. The men climbed the masts and were soon frozen fast. There was scarcely room for all, and the men lower down were within reach of the sweeping water, so they could not long hold out. On Thursday evening three died encased in ice several inches thick. The survivors clung to the masts the entire night and were rescued in the morning. It is doubtful if they will recover.

RAILWAY ARRANGEMENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The traffic arrangement between the Wabash and Lake Shore companies for the exchange of business have been settled, but are not yet executed. The Great Western of Canada is admitted to share in the advantages of this agreement.

STOCK JOBBING REPORT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The World intimates that the story of Gould's purchase of Central stock from Vanderbilt was invented simply to entrap speculators. It says that large operators were buying stock heavily at their lowest point yesterday.

A VETERAN SPECULATOR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Sun says that the brunt of the present break-down has fallen upon outside operators, who have little money and less experience. Their small holdings have been swallowed up by astute veterans like Gould, who, we hear, had some millions to his credit in the bank this morning, which he disbursed liberally for purchases of all kinds at the lowest prices.

A RUMOUR DENIED.

A capitalist holding close relations with Vanderbilt last night said that there was no transfer of Central stock by Vanderbilt.

REPUBLICANS AND READJUSTERS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—A Washington special report to the Tribune says that the President on Thursday soundly lectured a delegation of Virginia Republicans, who called upon him, for siding with the readjusters. It was claimed that the readjusters' fight was really against the Bourbon ring rule and for better state government, and that they are not repudiators.

MURDERING A HUSBAND.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 22.—Barbara Gordon, a colored woman, who with Miles Whitehurst murdered her husband, has been sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary. Whitehurst received a like sentence.

A MILLIONAIRE'S DEATH.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Peter Goelet, a bachelor member of one of the oldest New York families, died yesterday, aged 80. He leaves an estate estimated at twelve millions, principally in real estate.

COMMERCE AND OFFICE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The World says:—Sherman's enemies are said to be moving to call him to account for an alleged violation statute for bidding the Secretary of the Treasury to engage in trade and commerce. It is alleged that he is a director in the Fort Wayne Railway Company, and is thus engaged in commerce.

SUGAR MANUFACTURE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The forth coming report of the Commissioner of Agriculture will refer to the manufacture of sugar from sorghum and corn stalks. The reports of the condition of this industry from different sections is very favorable. The commissioner says that before many years this country will raise sugar for export.

GEN. GRANT'S TRAVELS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—A passage has been secured by Gen. Grant, on the steamer City of Alexandria, which sails for the West Indies and Mexico on Dec. 27th.

DROWNING ACCIDENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—While seventeen employees were being ferried over the Newton creek to the factory at Blissville yesterday, the yawl capsized. Fourteen of them were rescued. One body was recovered, and two others are supposed to be drowned.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 22.—Sallie Fenn, aged 18 years, attempted suicide last night with morphine. She may recover. The cause is her seduction by a young German.

DROWNED WHILE SKATING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Wm Clair was drowned last night, at Long Island City, while skating.

THE NEW YORK CENTRAL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Tribune says it is now understood that there is an obstacle in the way of the completion of the arrangements for the sale of twenty million dollars of New York Central Railway stock by Vanderbilt. The syndicate of buyers wish to bind him not to sell any more stock for a year. Vanderbilt is reluctant to consent, and denies that he entertains the proposition.

KEARNEY IN BAD REPUTE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Herald's San Francisco despatch says that Kearney's arrest on Thursday night for disturbing a meeting was instigated by his friends and probably saved his life, as the feeling against him was very bitter. The Californians regard him as a curse, and the intelligent workmen believe that he sold them out to influential corporations.

ON THE HILLSIDE.

The Tribune says that it seems probable that the leading speculators are now on the hillside again.

EIGHT THOUSAND NEW CARS.

New contracts with the New York Central affording better facilities to the Western roads will be signed perhaps to-night, but surely tomorrow. By these contracts eight thousand new cars will be placed on Vanderbilt's roads.

The Microscope in the Witness Box.

As the New York Times says, the scientific aspects of the evidence against the Rev. Mr. Hayden, of Madison, Conn., for the murder of Mary Stannard, are truly remarkable; indeed the microscopic exhibition of arsenic and the comparison of arsenical crystals show that the law has a powerful auxiliary in chemistry. After the arrest of Mr. Hayden, and the disinterment of the remains of the dead girl for examination, it was claimed that all of the arsenic which Hayden had bought was still in a box in the barn. There a box was found containing a full ounce. It was shown that the arsenic found in Mary Stannard's stomach could not have been taken from this box. At this point recourse by the prosecution was had to Prof. Dana, who visited England, studied the manufacture of arsenic, and then, by the use of his microscope on the crystals, demonstrated that the arsenic from the girl's stomach was an entirely different lot from that hidden in the barn, and that it was identical with the arsenic sold by Tyler, at the time when Hayden is known to have bought his ounce. The conclusion sought to be established is that a part of the arsenic bought by Hayden was used to poison the girl, and that the rest was flung away, and that the barn arsenic was bought elsewhere afterward merely as a blind. The crystals of the stomach arsenic are three or four times as large as those of the barn arsenic, but none of them are large enough to be visible without the microscope. Hereafter criminals will do well to recognize the microscope as one of the agents of possible detection.

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the lamented and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. Many so-called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable.

UNADULTERATED BOSH.

The Globe says "the protectionists have been stuffing us with unadulterated bosh, when they told us that a nation cannot be prosperous which imports largely," because the freight imports at New York in October were:—

	1879.	1878.	1877.
Entered for consumption	$[illegible]	$[illegible]	$16,[illegible]
Entered for warehousing	4,[illegible]	4,222,[illegible]	5,[illegible]
Free Goods	[illegible]	7,431,612	9,094,[illegible]
Specie and bullion	13,[illegible]	2,[illegible]	867,286
Total entered at port	$[illegible],710	$[illegible]	$[illegible]

and concludes therefrom that "if the balance of trade theory has an atom of sense in it, the United States is clearly going to the dogs faster than any country ever went before." All of which we claim is "unadulterated bosh" on the part of the Globe for the following reasons: First, on the "balance of trade theory" the question is not the gross imports, but on which side the "balance" of the trade is. For instance, if the United States doubled her imports, but trebled her exports, it would be a very substantial proof of her prosperity, although taken by themselves as the Globe does in this instance, the imports would show an extraordinary increase. Secondly we claim that the figures given by the Globe, although unfair and one-sided, prove the very reverse that it would have its readers believe. It will be observed, that while all the other imports for October have increased from $35,278,078 in 1877, to $30,706,171 last year, the imports of gold during the same period has been from $867,286 to $13,369,520! Now, in the face of this fact, what is it but "unadulterated bosh"—a trading upon the ignorance of its readers, which is a deliberate insult—to claim that the balance of trade is not, in favor of the United States. The "balance of trade" is settled between countries, as between individuals, in the payment of gold when the debtor has it, and when he has it not as it so often the case with ourselves, by "mortgages" of one kind or another. That foreign countries have to settle the balance against them in their trade with the United States, in gold to the extent which these returns show they are doing, is the best proof possible, according to the "balance of trade theory," that the United States is in a prosperous condition, and the theory is fully sustained by the fact that that country is prosperous—the Globe's "unadulterated bosh" to the contrary notwithstanding.

A DASTARDLY ATTACK.

The Times in its endeavours to hound the Town Treasurer out of his office, has in its last issue taken a still more disgraceful step in the matter. A tax paper was very unfairly used at the last Council meeting to give the impression that it contained an error by which the corporation might be prejudiced. Advancing now beyond mere insinuation, the Times plainly asserts that "there was an error of $60 against the town" on it. This is a disgraceful and wilful falsehood, for the proprietor of the Times knows well that so far from an error against the town, there was an error in one of the items in favour of the town, but this was not carried into the total, which gave the correct amount of the taxes on the assessment. These detailed items are not required by law from the Collector, and in previous years the Council has paid for the clerical work of placing them on the tax papers. This year, however, the Council on appointing the Collector required them from him, and it was only to oblige the Collector and to further the municipal business that Mr. Edwards undertook the extra work.

We have no mission to defend Mr. Edwards, and would be glad to see the municipal accounts thoroughly scrutinized by competent accountants, let who may suffer from the result, but in the name of common honesty and justice we must protest against these unfair attacks against an old servant of the municipality, to prejudice him in the eyes of the public, at the very time that an investigation is proceeding. Clerical errors in the town accounts may be very serious, but that is no reason why an attempt should be made to convey the idea that there has been dishonesty or an improper use of municipal funds. Still less reason can there be for falsifying what they are pleased to call evidence.

MONEY FOR IRELAND.

Will the American Fenians aid the Farmers in Resisting Evictions?

Despatches received in New York yesterday from London said that the British Government had learned from the British Consul in New York that American Fenians are offering money and arms to Irish tenant farmers to enable them to resist evictions, and that the Irish Executive fully credits the averment that such offers are made, but does not believe that anything will result therefrom.

Mr. Archibald on being shown the despatch, and asked whether he was at liberty to give further particulars replied: "I can give no information whatever."

Col. Thomas Francis Burke said that he did not believe anything of the kind was being done. "Mr. Parnell will be here in a few days," he said, "and he will explain views, and we do not wish to say anything at present. We wish to leave him untrammelled."

Mr. Patrick Ford said that he was not at liberty to say anything in regard to whether arms or money are to be sent to Ireland. "The Irish people on this side of the water have every opportunity to give aid to their brethren on the other side. Landlordism is at the bottom of this trouble in Ireland, and as England is the bulwark, she must be got rid of before that question can be settled."

"Is any part of the skirmishing fund to be used in aid of the tenants?"

"The primary object of that fund was for military purposes, but if it is seen that it can be used in a way relative to those purposes, it will probably be done."

LOWELL, Mass., Nov. 14.—In a meeting held in aid of the Irish tenant farmers speeches were delivered, a subscription was taken, a soliciting committee appointed, and a ladies' movement in the same direction is invited.—N.Y. Sun.

REVIEWS.

We have before us copies of the Sabbath School Presbyterian, Golden Hours and Early Days, bright, beautifully illustrated papers, published by Mr. C. Blackett Robinson, 5 Jordan St., Toronto. Any of our readers desiring to secure suitable Sunday School periodicals for the coming year should send for specimen copies before ordering elsewhere. Prices greatly reduced.

The Canada Presbyterian for 1880 is to be greatly improved. It has always been an excellent paper; but under the editorship of Rev. Wm. Inglis, for twelve years a leading writer on the Globe, we expect to see it make many improvements on its hitherto creditable record. Liberal inducements are offered to Club Agents in each locality; and the premium offer to every subscriber is, we believe, quite unprecedented in the history of Canadian journalism. The publisher announces that he will send to every subscriber remitting $2.00 before 1st January next, or joining a club at reduced rates, a pair of companion engravings, by Maclise, the great English historical painter, entitled "The Death of Nelson", and "The Meeting of Wellington and Blucher after the Battle of Waterloo." These are no cheap chromos; but beautiful engravings fitted to adorn the best homes in the land. These pictures can not be had elsewhere, except through the Art Union of England, and then only on payment of a guinea each. All our Presbyterian readers should subscribe for this family paper, and secure the handsome premium offered with it for the coming year.

TOWNSHIP FRUIT.

LYNX KILLED.—D. Houlighan shot a large female lynx about a week ago in the woods at the rear of his farm, on the 14th con. of Smith. It came into the yard looking for prey, when his dog attacked and treed it. George Barnes, of Lakefield, purchased the skin for a robe, it measured 4 feet from tip of nose to tail. The male one is still lurking about.

DWELLING BURNED.—The dwelling house of Jas. Kearney, sr., 12th con. Smith, was burned to the ground last Wednesday afternoon. The neighbors saved nearly everything.

NORWOOD.

MORE OF THEM.—The Register says:—The number of applications to fill the vacancies in the Norwood High and Public Schools have been largely increased since we last announced the number already received, no less than 153 are now seeking these seemingly desirable situations. Either the position of a pedagogue in this village must be an enviable one, or there must be a great number of school teachers in want of employment as it is not improbable that an equal number are applying for vacancies in schools in different parts of the Province.

LEAKED OUT.—The object of the visit of Mr. Bickford, of the Grand Junction Railway, has at last leaked out, that object being to find out whether there were any favourable symptoms in this vicinity towards the project.—The brevity of his stay here is a proof that the symptoms were not favourable, and that his visit availed nothing.—With regard to the County bonus to the Grand Junction, we understand that Mr. Burnham, the warden, has received instructions to defend any suit brought to force payment of the bonus or any portion of it.

MILITARY INSPECTION.—No. 3 company of the 57th Battalion, "Peterborough Rangers," was inspected on Wednesday last, on the completion of its annual drill, under Capt. Grover. The inspecting officers were Col. Von Straubenzie, D. A. A. G., and Col. Wornsley, B. M., of the 3rd military district, accompanied by Lieut.-Col. Rogers of the 57th. Col. Von Straubenzie expressed his satisfaction at the efficiency of the company.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—The Mechanics' Institute proposes to establish a branch at Westwood. Arrangements have been made for a series of lectures, and of social re-unions.

D. LOTHROP & CO.'S FALL BOOKS.

No publishing house in the country is making more active preparations for the holiday trade than D. Lothrop & Co., and their list of announcements exceeds in extent and attractiveness that of any past year. As usual, the strongest effort has been made in behalf of young readers, and the books offered for their delectation are as beautiful in their outside appearance as they are fascinating inside. Stories in prose, and stories in poetry, funny stories, pathetic stories, stories in natural history and stories about people and places, delightfully written and thoroughly illustrated, form a large proportion of the catalogue, while books adapted to the needs and capacities of older readers are not wanting.

Among the larger and more important books are Mr. Benjamin's American Artists, an elegant quarto volume, filled with portraits of some of our most famous painters, with illustrations from their own hands, drawn expressly for the work; a second volume of Poet's Homes, brought out in the same manner, containing portraits and biographies of Holmes, Brant, Emerson, Paul H. Hayne, John Boyle O'Reilly, and other prominent authors; a new edition of Out of Darkness into Light, a volume which a New York critic calls "a [illegible] work of art;" a [illegible] quarto edition of Pilgrim's Progress on plate paper, with 17 full-page illustrations, splendidly bound; Story of the Prayers of Christian History, by the author of Story of the Hymns; Thoughts [illegible], [illegible] of choice extracts from [illegible], with an introduction by Phillips Brooks; a new edition of Jesus, Lover of My Soul; a gift book for young ladies called Christmas Pie, illustrated by Miss Lathbury; Christmas Snow-flakes, a large and elegant [illegible] volume of original poems by American authors, with [illegible] illustrations, richly and uniquely bound, and Dr. Smith's America, our National Hymn, with several exquisite engravings and a sketch of the author.

Of the books for young people, prominent is Wide Awake Pleasure Book "Y," uniform with the five volumes that have preceded it, yet with a richer and more attractive table of contents than either of them; Don Quixote, Jr., being a history of the further adventures of Miltiades Peterkin Paul; Miss Yonge's Young Folk's History of France and Rome; The Dogberry Bunch; Royal Lowrie's Last Year at St. Olave's; and [illegible] for [illegible], by [illegible] Mathews. [illegible] will be early announced.

But it is the children who have particular reason to feel grateful to the Messrs. Lothrop, who have provided for them a list [illegible] bewildering in its variety and attractiveness. One of the first books to tempt the eye of little patrons is Child Love, a beautifully bound quarto volume, with engravings and coloured illustrations. It contains the "Babyland Classics," old and new, with short rhymes and jingles, compiled and edited by Clara Doty Bates, and is good for all times and seasons of the year. Once upon a Time, by Miss E. E. Brown, is a charming book of story plays, illustrated, of course, and bound in taking style. Then there are Stories and Pictures of Domestic Animals, and Stories and Pictures of Wild Animals, companion books, in large type, in chromo board covers; a new edition of [illegible], Children's Funny Book, a big quarto, full of pictures; the Birthday Picture Book, with thirty full-page engravings and mottoes for each day in the month; [illegible], Babyland for 1879, Baby's Object-Lesson Book, and Baby's Portfolio.

Unusual attractions are also offered in the little "Libraries" and "Series." The Wide Awake Library, containing the eight volumes of the magazine, ought to be in the possession of every family where there are children, and no [illegible] more [illegible] present could be made by parents than this. The Out of School Series, consisting of four volumes by popular writers, is a special attraction. Then there are the Merry and Wise series of 10 volumes; Little Chats with Little Folks, 6 books in a box; Baby [illegible]; [illegible]; the Natural History Series and [illegible].

The presentation book upon which the Messrs. Lothrop are bestowing particular attention, and which, from its peculiar character, ought to have special attraction for every patriotic American, is Dr. S. F. Smith's America, which for nearly half a century has served as our national hymn. It is brought out in large quarto form, magnificently illustrated and bound, and containing, beside the hymn, an illustrated sketch of the venerable author, who is still living. It would be interesting if we could know the various important occasions upon which this has been sung since it was first written. During the war it exerted a wonderful influence at home and in the field in the way of strengthening patriotic feeling, and it has lost none of its popularity or power since. The volume which presents it is artistic and beautiful, and it should be found in the household of every true American.

The five handsomely printed volumes which constitute the Idle Hour series, and which have put off their light summer dress for tasteful cloth covers, claim the attention of all lovers of choice literature. They have all been warmly praised by the press, and in their cheapest form have had a large and steady sale. Their character is not ephemeral, nor are they simply intended as "summer books." One can enjoy the experiences of the Fox Girls who Tried Farming by a coal fire as well as in a hammock, or the [illegible] of the [illegible] who Sailed Up and Down the Merrimac when that famous river is frozen as well as now. My Daughter Susie and Priscilla Hunter are acceptable companions at any time of the year, and there is no particular season to be set apart for Poor Papa.

There are two other series which seem to require special mention. The first, History and Biography, containing five volumes, and Famous Americans, containing the lives of Franklin, Sumner, Webster, and Amos Lawrence. They are books which every boy should read, and will be the better for reading.

Another new book, Waifs and their Authors, is now in press, and nearly ready for issue. It will be in the popular quarto form, illustrated. Of new editions, prominent are [illegible] Life of Israel Putnam, which has been materially reduced in price; Sunshine for Babyland; Pansy's three ever popular books, Mother's Boys and Girls, Picture Book and Our Darlings, all of them enlarged, and in choice bindings. The Children's Almanac, which created a sensation last season, should not be forgotten. It is one of the most useful and beautiful little volumes ever brought out by the publishers, and is sold for hardly more than a nominal price. It will be remembered the calendar reaches over five years, and is as good to-day as it was last year.

MARK TWAIN ON BABIES.

At the banquet given to Grant in Chicago on Thursday night by the Army of Tennessee, Mark Twain was called upon to respond to the toast of "The Babies as they comfort us in our sorrows, let us not forget them in our festivities." Mr. Clemens said:—"I like that. We have not all had the good fortune to be ladies. We have not all been generals, or poets, or statesmen, but when the toast works down to the babies we stand on common ground (laughter,) for we have all been babies. (Renewed laughter.) It is a shame that, for a thousand years, the world's banquets have utterly ignored the baby (laughter), as if he didn't amount to anything. (Laughter.) If you will stop and think a minute,—if you will go back fifty or one hundred years to your early married life (laughter) and recontemplate your first baby,—you will remember that he amounted to a great deal, and even something over. (Roars.) You soldiers all know that when that little fellow arrived at family headquarters you had to hand in your resignation. (Laughter.) He took entire command. You became his lackey—his mere body-servant (laughter), and you had to stand round, too. (Renewed laughter.) He was not a commander who allowed for time, distance, weather, or anything else. (Convulsive screams.) You had to execute his order whether it was possible or not. (Roars.) And there was only one form of machinery in his manual of tactics, and that was the double-quick. (Shouts.) He treated you with every sort of insolence and disrespect—(laughter)—and the bravest of you didn't dare to say a word. (Great laughter.) You could face the death storm of Donelson and Vicksburg, and gave back blow for blow, but when he clawed your whiskers, and pulled your hair, and twisted your nose, you had to take it. (Roars.) When the thunders of war were sounding in your ears, you set your face toward the batteries, and advanced with steady tread, but, when he turned on the terrors of his war-whoop—(laughter)—you advanced in the other direction, and mighty glad of the chance, too. (Renewed laughter.) When he called for soothing syrup, did you venture to throw out any side-remarks about certain services being unbecoming an officer and a gentleman? (Boisterous laughter.) No. You got up and got it. (Great laughter.) When he ordered his pap bottle and it was not warm, did you talk back? (Laughter.) Not you. (Renewed laughter.) You even descended so far in your menial office as to take a suck or two at that warm, [illegible] (laughter)—just to see if it was right,—three parts water to one of milk—(tumultuous laughter)—a touch of sugar to modify the colic (laughter) and a drop of peppermint to kill those immortal hiccoughs. (Roars.) I can taste that stuff yet. (Laughter.) And how many things you learned as you went along! Sentimental young folks still take stock in that beautiful old saying that when the baby smiles it is because the angels are whispering to him. Very pretty, but too thin—simply wind on the stomach, my friends. (Shouts.) If the baby proposed to take a walk at his usual hour, 2 o'clock in the morning—(laughter)—didn't you rise up promptly and remark, with a mental addition which would not improve a Sunday school book—(laughter)—that that was the very thing you were about to propose yourself? (Great roars.) Oh! you were under good discipline—(laughter)—and as you went faltering up and down the room in your undress uniform—(laughter)—you not only prattled indignified baby-talk, but even tuned up your martial voice and tried to sing, "Rock-a-by-baby on the tree top," for instance. (Great laughter.) What a spectacle for an army of the Tennessee. (Laughter). And what an affliction for the neighbors, too, for it is not everybody within a mile around that likes military music at three in the morning. (Laughter). And when you had been keeping this sort of thing up two or three hours and your little velvet-head intimated that nothing suited him like [illegible] (laughter; 'Go on,') what did you do? You simply went on until you dropped in the last ditch. (Laughter.) The idea that a baby doesn't amount to anything! Why, one baby is just a house and a front yard full by itself. (Laughter.) One baby can furnish more business than you and your whole Interior Department can attend to. (Laughter.) He is enterprising, irrepressible, brimful of lawless activities. (Laughter.) Do what you please, you can't make him stay on the reservation. (Great shouts.) Sufficient unto the day is one baby. (Laughter.) As long as you are in your right mind don't ever pray for twins. (Laughter. Mr. Clemens is the father of a pair.) Twins amount to a permanent riot. (Laughter.) And there ain't any real difference between triplets and an insurrection. (Uproarious laughter.) Yes, it was high time for a toast for the masses to recognize the importance of the babies. (Laughter.) Think what is in store for the present crop! Fifty years hence we shall all be dead, I trust (laughter), and then this flag, if it still survive (and let us hope it may), will be floating over a Republic numbering 200,000,000 souls according to the settled laws of our increase. Our present schooner of state (laughter) will have grown into a political leviathan, a Great Eastern. The cradled babies of to-day will be on deck. Let them be well trained, for they are going to leave a big contract on their hands. (Laughter.) Among the three or four million cradles now rocking in the land are some which this nation would preserve for ages as sacred things, if we could know which ones they are. In one of these cradles the unconscious Farragut of the future is at this moment teething (laughter); think of it, and putting in a word of dead earnest, inarticulate, but perfectly justifiable profanity over it too. (Laughter.) In another the future renowned astronomer is blinking at the shining milky way with but liquid interest, poor little chap! and wondering what has become of that other one they call the wet nurse. (Laughter.) In another the future great historian is lying,—and doubtless will continue to lie (laughter) until his earthly mission is ended. In another, the future President is busying himself with no profounder problem of state than what the mischief has become of his hair so early (laughter), and in a mighty array of other cradles there are now some 60,000 future office-seekers, getting ready to furnish him occasion to grapple with that same old problem a second time. And in still one more cradle, somewhere under the flag the future illustrious Commander-in-Chief of the American armies, is so little burdened with his approaching grandeurs and responsibilities as to be giving his whole strategic mind at this moment to trying to find out some way to get his big toe into his mouth (laughter)—an achievement which, meaning no disrespect, the illustrious guest of this evening turned his attention to some fifty six years ago; and if the child is but a prophecy of the man, there are mighty few who will doubt that he succeeded. (Laughter and applause.)

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

SATURDAY, Nov. 22.—The market this morning was a large one in spite of the snow-storm that set in early. The bulk of the offerings were beef, pork and poultry, all of which went off at quotations. There are no changes to note except in sheep pelts, which have advanced to 60 to $1.00. Pork and beef with poultry were in abundant supply and went freely at quotations. Butter is not coming in so plentiful, but prices remain unchanged. Eggs were more plenty to-day and sold readily. Hay went at $6.00 to $7.00. The bountiful supply has had a tendency to check the advance that was attempted last week. There were a few parcels of wheat and oats brought in, and were taken at quotation rates. A few loads of potatoes were on the market, and sold readily. No change in prices to note. All the commodities found a ready sale.

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.50! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value— which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—3 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Force says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, so far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavoured, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $20 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Enrichled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, last season, at the rate of 96 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Nobilis[?]. One of the hardest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kaempferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomoea [illegible]. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B. The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1879.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons.

Our readers will be glad to see the advertisement announcing Mrs. Scott-Siddons' appearance on Thursday evening. The box sheet will be open on Monday.

Violent Assault.

Last night between eleven and twelve o'clock, as a couple of commercial travellers were walking from the Choate House to the Huffman House, they were unwarrantably attacked by a townsman and his companions. One of the gentlemen was very severely injured by the blows and kicks that he received.

Large Receipts of Groceries.

Several car loads of groceries are being received to-day by Mr. J. Garvey, per Midland and Grand Trunk railways. Among them are about 100 half chests of teas. Several car loads of salt have been received of late by this house from Goderich per the Midland railway via Midland City.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: brisk to bright, southerly to westerly winds; cloudy weather with areas of snow or rain. Storm signals are up in the lake. In Peterborough a snow storm set in about 9 o'clock this a. m., and continues as we go to press, with the wind southerly to south-westerly.

POLICE COURT.

SELLING LIQUOR WITHOUT LICENCE.

SATURDAY, Nov. 22.—The time of the Police Court this morning was taken up with a variety of cases, the first of which was Licence Inspector, A. Cox vs. Francis Quinn. The complaint charges Quinn with selling liquor without a licence on Saturday, November 16th.

JEREMIAH MCCARTHY was sworn and said,—He had been out into the country on Sunday afternoon and upon his return he called into Quinn's place, in company with Duncan McIntyre, as a friend and asked him for a drink. They went into the sitting room when they asked Quinn for a drink. He responded that he did not sell anything but ginger ale. Witness told him that he had been out in the country for a walk and wanted something. Quinn said that he had nothing but the ginger ale. Witness said he wanted something and he would take the ginger ale. He could not say if there was any whiskey in the ale. He had drank some liquor in his own house before going out. There might be some intoxicating liquor in it. He could not tell. He did not pay for it. He asked for a drink as from a friend. Quinn told him he sold nothing but ginger ale.

DUNCAN MCINTYRE sworn, said,—He went in company with the previous witness to Quinn's when McCarthy asked for a drink. Quinn said he had nothing but ginger ale. They had two glasses of the ginger ale. He could not say if it was ginger ale. Quinn said it was. To the best of his knowledge there was no intoxicating liquor in it. He could not tell. He lived next door and had known Quinn for several years. Had not been in the house for 4 months until Sunday last. Was never in his house more than three times in his life. There were men in the kitchen, but he did not know who they were. They were from the country. They were not drinking. He was there only a few minutes. He saw no decanters or glasses except the two brought for the witness and his friend. They went in at the back door. He did not know if there were any other rooms but the one they were in. There was a door leading to the front of the house, but it was shut. It was not opened while they were there. He had had a drink at a house in the country—a private house. Did not think there was any difference. Did not think McCarthy expected to pay for the ginger ale. McCarthy asked him to go into Quinn's and he would give them a drink. There was no one drunk in the house that he saw. Did not think there was any one drunk.

J. MCCARTHY, recalled, said he saw parties in the kitchen sitting by the stove. Saw others on the settee in the sitting room. They were none of them drinking.

At this stage of the proceedings the case was enlarged until Thursday morning, Nov. 27.

PARTIAL INSANITY.

Thomas Morgan, of the Township of Galway, was brought before the Magistrate as a lunatic and unable to take care of himself. The magistrate, after asking a few questions of Morgan, decided to remand him to the county jail until Monday, Dec. 1, for medical treatment and for further enquiry.

THE BURLESQUE TROUPE IN TROUBLE.

Mr. D. W. Dumble appeared before the magistrate bearing in his hand a frame of photographs of females representing the style of the performance now exhibiting in town. He was followed by Mr. G. W. Collins, the business manager, and all the male members of the troupe. Mr. Dumble laid a complaint against Collins for exhibiting an indecent pictures or placard in a public place. The defendant pleaded not guilty, and was given time to procure counsel. He soon returned, being unable to obtain counsel, and allowed the case to go on without.

MR. DUMBLE said that in the morning he saw posted upon the wall of the archway of the town hall, leading to the market, the picture which he presented in court. He asked, he said, the defendant if he had posted up the frame of photographs, and the defendant answered that he had. There was a crowd of men and boys looking at it. The picture was an indecent one. There was a troupe now exhibiting in town, of which the picture was an advertisement. The picture was made up of nude and semi-nude photographs. There was on the placard a small bill, setting forth what should be done. Some of the pictures were grouped.

CONSTABLE MCGHEE was sworn and said,—He considered it an indecent picture.

AARON COX, sworn, said,—He would not like the picture exhibited in his house. He would not consider it a proper picture for exhibition in his family.

JAMES CUTLER, sworn, said,—He did not feel inclined to decide as to the indecency of the picture exhibited. He would not object to have the photographs in his house.

WM. RICH was sworn for the defence, and said,—He was one of the troupe now exhibiting in Peterborough. He did not see anything immoral in the picture produced. He had frequently seen photographic pictures exhibited in stores, galleries, and other public places, exposing the person more fully than any of the photographs in the picture in question. The pictures were not the photographs of all the troupe. Some of them were purchased at stores for 15cts., where they are commonly exposed for sale. Only two of the pictures were of the troup. One of them was his own likeness in costume. The pictures had been hung up in many places, and no objection had ever before been raised. The figures all have tights on which forms a covering, and does not expose the person. The troup does not exhibit as represented in the photographs.

H. FRANKLIN, was sworn and said,—He was the manager, and Mr. Collins was the business manager. He could not see anything immoral or indecent in the pictures in question. Had shown the pictures in Port Hope, Bowmanville and Toronto, where no objection was raised. They were intended to show the nature of the exhibition. Only two of the photographs in the frame were exhibited, as shown. The upper corner pictures were of his wife and Mr. Rich.

N. CARSON, sworn, said that he saw nothing out of the way in the pictures. He was himself a showman, and had travelled much, and had seen the same pictures exhibited almost every where, and never heard any objection raised before.

THE MAGISTRATE, after examining the photographs in the frame, gave the following decision: "Having heard the foregoing evidence, I am asked to decide as to the merits on my own judgment. I decline to do so. It is in my view a matter of opinion, and I do not find that the pictures are indecent from the evidence given, and therefore dismiss the case without costs."

THE AFGHAN REVOLT.

EXPEDITION TO GHILZNEE.

CABUL, Nov. 21.—Three regiments of infantry, three squadrons of cavalry, and two guns have gone towards Ghilznee to collect supplies and disperse the malcontents who have gathered in response to the inflammatory preaching of the Mollahs. It is reported that the Afghan leader at the battle of Chara Seid crossed the Bolki frontier and took refuge with the Russians.

BELLEVILLE.

SHIPMENT OF HAY.—The Messrs. [illegible] are about to commence the shipment of hay hence to Boston. They will take a pressing machine and press the hay at farmers' barns, and will ship to England, provided a low enough rate of freight can be obtained.

EXTENSIVE FIRE.—At about noon on Friday, whilst a strong north-wester was blowing, and the air was more keenly and cuttingly cold than it had been this season previously, an alarm was rung from the city hall, denoting that a large fire was in progress. A bright light near the lower bridge showed that the flames were raging there and the engines were taken promptly to the scene, which proved to be the large stone building in which Mr. H. A. Thompson carries on extensive business as a sash and door factory. The fire spread to a brick dwelling closely adjoining, owned by Jas. Cummings, occupied by John McKinnon. Thompson's loss is $3,000; insurance $1,500 in the Lancashire, $700 in the British American, and $1,000 in the Royal. Cummings' loss is estimated, on buildings, at $1,200; insured in the Lancashire for $1,200. McKinnon's loss is $100 on furniture; no insurance. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

PORT HOPE.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—The Guide says:—Last Thursday evening as a couple of men on Mr. John Foott's farm, first con. Hope, were loading a load of hay in the barn, preparatory to coming to Port Hope with it for sale, the binding pole, which was dry cedar, broke, pitching Frank Bartlett, who was leaning on it, to the barn floor on his face, cutting him terribly and knocking him insensible. We are glad to say he will sustain no permanent injury from his fall.

THE RINK.—The covered rink is all ready for flooding, and the water will probably be let in to-morrow. The enclosure to the north is being put in order, and within a few days, a fine sheet of ice will gladden the eyes of all lovers of the finest and healthiest of winter sports, always provided it keeps on freezing.

WINNIPEG.

GREAT PRAIRIE FIRES are raging to the east of the Red River.

PERSONAL.—Mr. C. J. Brydges, Mr. and Mrs. Angus and Major De Winton are here.

THE GOVERNMENT of Manitoba has been reconstructed as follows: The Hon. John Norquay, Premier and Provincial Treasurer; Senator Girard, Provincial Secretary; the Hon. D. M. Walker, Attorney-General; the Hon. John Taylor, Minister of Agriculture, and the Hon. C. P. Brown, Minister of Public Works. This re-organization, includes one representative of the French-speaking population in the person of Senator Girard, where there was previously none.

BOWMANVILLE.

SERIOUS SHOOTING AFFAIR.—Considerable excitement was created in town on Friday morning on the report being circulated that Mr. C. Soper had been shot last night by Charles Payne, one of our tavern-keepers. [illegible] made a bet some time ago, the stakes being placed in Payne's hands. In the interval the amount was garnished, and Payne refused to give up the money. Last night Soper went to Payne's hotel at a late hour, and demanded the amount of the bet. It was again refused, and Soper placing his hand as if feeling for a revolver, Payne drew his and shot him in the lower part of the body.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at 10 cents a week.

STATISTICS ON LONGEVITY.

BY W. E. VAIL, M. D.

Assuming that a reasonable proportion of the readers of the Christian Union possess a desire to remain in the body till they reach the age of 70 or 80 years, I epitomize for their consideration a report made by Dr. Hutchinson, Assistant Medical Examiner of the United States Insurance Company, to the Directors of said Company. Dr. H. last year scattered broadcast through the Northern States circulars containing questions relative to the longevity of the parents and personal habits, occupation, &c., of the answerer, who was to be at least 70 years of age. The investigation was limited to males. One hundred and eighty were returned. Of these 180 men, who were all over 70 years of age, the eldest was 96. Ten were over 90, 58 over 80. The average age was 77 8-12 years. Twenty-eight of the 180 had a consumptive taint of greater or less degree at the age of 30; showing what healthful occupations and hygienic surroundings can do to overcome the power of this great scourge of our race.

One hundred had blue eyes, 41 grey, 25 black, and only 14 brown. Eighty-three had brown hair, 70 black, 14 light, and 11 auburn; "156 were blessed with a full head of hair, and only 24 showed any evidence of baldness. In answer to the very common belief that people with hairy bodies (Esaus) live longer than those with smooth bodies, we find that but 29 of these 180 septuagenarians who were hirsute." Twenty-one report themselves as having poor teeth. Only 8 speak of having weak voices.

As to the important question showing their habits in the use of alcoholic spirits, "at the age of thirty 54 was total abstainers from its use (a rather unusual thing in those days) against 84 later in life; of habitual yet moderate users, at thirty there were 14 against 13 in later life, and of occasional moderate users at thirty there were 105 against 60 later on. Those reported as intemperate users at thirty were 7 against 6 later on.

A physician in the West notified Dr. Hutchinson that he would send him a goodly number of instances where men who had been hard drinkers all their lives hand reached the age of seventy and over. But upon examining them he found to his surprise that only one or two out of his "Old guard of whiskey braves," as he called them, were seventy, though the whole lot were "old looking, gray, bent and feeble."

Of our 180 at thirty 151 were married, and 25 of the remaining 29 subsequently became so, leaving only 4 who "fought it out" on the line of single blessedness. If this statement shall be read by any bachelors, and it does not induce them to repent and get married, then statistics have no influence as a converting power.

As to occupation, at thirty 17 followed the liberal professions, 26 mercantile pursuits, 62 worked at trades, and 77 more or less engaged in agricultural life.

As regards the use of tobacco; at thirty, 64 did not use it in any form, and 113 did either chew or smoke, or both. Not once was snuff-taking reported; 3 made no report. Under the head of residence, the majority spent most of their lives in the country as distinguished from the city; but then the enquiry was pushed more in the country than in the city. Almost all report no vacation or systematic re-creation, but a steady attendance to business during the whole of their lives. Nine used coffee alone, 30 tea alone, 126 both, and only eight instances are reported in which neither one was used. As to diet, nearly all subsisted on mixed animal and vegetable food, and not more than two or three were vegetarians.

Almost without exception were these old men early retirers to sleep and early risers. The ages of 298 grandparents of these old men are given, showing average of 74 4-12, years. The average of 317 parents are given, and show that of the fathers to be 71 2-12, and of the mothers 72 4-12 years. "One interesting case of family longevity we notice. The respondent himself is 92 years old; his father and mother died at ages of 95 and 84 respectively; four brothers reached 77, 82, 85, and 90; two sisters reached 80 and 92. This comprised the whole family, none having died in childhood, early or middle life. Still another item of interest in that of a six-fingered family, in which, for several generations, the respondent's ancestors were supplied with those extra digits; he himself has them, and so also have all his children.—Christian Union.

A POWERFUL ELECTRIC EEL.

M. Marcy, who has for some years been engaged in the study of these very singular aquatic animals, has announced to the Academy of Sciences that he has received a living specimen of the gymnotus or electrical eel from Peru, and that it is lodged in his laboratory at the College de France, where, by the bye, any visitor is admitted to inspect it. The gymnotus is that peculiar fish which at its pleasure gives electrical discharges, and thereby stuns the animal it desires to make its prey. Its principal home is in the rivers and lagoons of South America, where it is the terror of all other animals, not even excepting the cayman, the American crocodile. One of these eels two metres in length can give a shock which will reduce to powerlessness the oxen and horse that come down to the stream to drink at the points it frequents, and thus render them an easy prey to their aquatic enemies. Man himself, although not so sensitive to the shock as other animals, is still liable to very serious inconvenience from its effects. M. Marcy has found, during his investigations, that gymnotus of a metre in length has an electrical surface of about 600 square feet, equal to a very powerful battery. The animal, owing to its length and suppleness of its body, can produce different electrical effects according as it is in a straight line, convex, or concave as regards its prey. Its general mode of procedure is to form a semi-circle and place the fish it is intent on in the diameter of the circuit. When the discharge is delivered, the prey, as if struck by a thunderbolt, is rendered powerless; the gymnotus swims around it, as if to be assured of the efficacy of the shock, and then swallows its victim. These are not the only fish which possess this singular power of launching electrical discharges on their prey or on their enemies. Many others are known, but far inferior in force to the terrible gymnotus. Among them are the torpedo fish and some species of skate which inhabit the coasts of Great Britain and France, and some other species found in the Nile and Senegal.—Galignani.

USEFUL IF NOT NEW.

The following simple rules for preserving health and promoting personal comfort, if not new to some of our readers, are none the less important to every one.

The object of brushing the teeth is to remove the destructive particles of food which by their decomposition generate decay. To neutralize the acid resulting from this chemical change is the object of dentifrice. A stiff brush should be used after every meal, and a thread of silk floss or India rubber passed through between the teeth to remove the particles of food. Rinsing the mouth in lime water neutralizes the acid.

Living and sleeping in a room in which the sun never enters is a slow form of suicide. A sun bath is the most refreshing and life giving bath that can possibly be taken.

Always keep the feet warm, and thus avoid colds. To this end, never sit in damp shoes or wear foot coverings fitting and pressing closely.

A full bath should not be taken less than three hours after a meal. Never drink cold water before bathing. Do not take a cold bath when tired.

Keep a box of powdered starch on the washstand; and after washing, rub a pinch over the hands. It will prevent chapping.

If feeling cold before going to bed, exercise; do not roast over a fire.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1879.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

THE inducements held out by all newspapers for new subscribers should be based upon the fact that the larger the circulation the less the cost of each paper, as the cost of editorial labor and composition is the same, whether a large or small number is printed. And as it is only fair that those who have stood by us in the past, through good and evil report, should reap a share of the benefit of an increased circulation, we have determined to make them the following offers:—

With regard to the

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Any person now, and for the last twelve months a subscriber to the WEEKLY REVIEW, who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now or for the last twelve months a subscriber to it, will have the TWO sent to separate addresses for $2.50! Or if accompanied with the names of two other such such persons may have the THREE sent to separate addresses for $3.00!

With regard to the

DAILY REVIEW.

Any person now a subscriber to the DAILY EVENING REVIEW who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now on our subscription list, may have the TWO delivered or sent to separate addresses for six months for $3.50, or for twelve months for $6.00!

RAILWAY BRIDGE.—The Free Press says work on the Q. M. O. & O. R. R. bridge at the Chaudiere still continues, but will have to be suspended as soon as the ice forms. The bottoms are nearly all in, and the embankment connecting the bridge with the track of the Canada Central railroad is about completed. According to the contract, the bridge was to have been completed on the 12th of December, but the time was extended by the late Government. Efforts are being made to secure the carrying out by the new Provincial Government of Quebec of the designs of their predecessors in reference to the construction of a Union depot at Ottawa.

QUEBEC.

A HUNTER LOST.—A hunter named Perreault left St. Casimir on a sporting expedition to the head of Lake Casimir. He has not since been heard of. It is feared that he went to the Indian reserves, near by, and got shot, or that he has been killed by bears. Some accident, it is the general opinion of the people, must have befallen him, as he did not take food to last him more than two days. Ever since he came to live in that neighborhood he has never been known to be absent more than a week at a time, and it has been decided if he does not turn up within the next four days, to send a party and to scour the woods in search of tidings of him. Perreault's wife and family of three children live in this settlement. Great regret is expressed at his loss, as he was an expert hunter and genial companion.

Tillinghast of New York, E. W. Clark of Philadelphia and Benjamin Williamson of New Jersey, with mismanaging the Company's property. It is alleged that the receivers allowed two contractors to run all the mines. One contractor made $40,000 a month for about a year. It is also charged that coal being sold for 20c. less than other Companie's prices. It is sought to compell the receivers to furnish $300,000 bonds. AN EPISCOPAL WARNING.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A Pastoral letter of Archbishop McCabe, of Dublin, was read in all the Roman Catholic churches yesterday, declaring that all must take part in bearing the burden of the bad harvest in Ireland; that they must take care not to drive God from their side by a violation of His law. The pastoral also says, "unfortunately men proclaiming sympathy for people are disseminating doctrines, which if pushed to their logical conclusion strike at the root of good faith and mutual confidence."

FUEL FOR IRELAND.

MANCHESTER, Nov. 24—London correspondent says that Lord Beaconsfield on Saturday requested the attendance and his official residence of a very active member of the Home Rule party, with whom he conversed a long time about the petition of the Irish members of Parliament, that Government would relieve the distress in many parts of Ireland, the greatest of which results from the scarcity of fuel. Lord Beaconsfield declared that the Government contemplate sending large quantities of coal to be distributed at cost.

MEETING OF IRISHMEN.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—There were gatherings of Irishmen yesterday in various parts of London, to consider the preparations for the demonstration at Hyde Park on Sunday next. Contingents are expected from Manchester, Newcastle, Liverpool, Bristol, Cardiff and Glasgow. The meeting at Manchester yesterday was a great failure.

THE PRESS ON THE ARRESTS.

London newspapers of opposite political views agree that the arrests of Davitt, Killen and Dailey had the effect of reducing the anti-rent agitators to the abandonment of incendiary language in their speeches. The News thinks the agitation will henceforth become more disciplined and organized, while the Times anticipates that it will soon die out, as the audiences at the meetings will soon tire of listening to dull speeches. A disquieting circumstance concerning the meeting at Balla on Saturday last was that military discipline observed by the processionists, evidently the result of training.

RUSSIAN FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A Berlin correspondent says it is no longer a secret that the Russian foreign affairs are about to be taken out of Gortschakoff's hands and entrusted to Prince Walujeff with the title of Vice-Chancellor. Walujeff is believed to be the friend of Germany and pacifically inclined.

ADVANCE OF WAGES.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The tin plate workers of South Staffordshire and East Worcestershire gave notice of a demand of an advance of their wages from five to ten per cent. As the manufacturers have full orders both for home and American consumption, a moderate advance will probably be conceded.

INCENDIARY FIRES.

ALGIERS, Nov. 24.—There is great excitement because of the recently repeated fires. A judicial enquiry is proceeding.

MEETING OF BOERS.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—A Capetown despatch says that a great mass meeting of Boers will be held on the 10th December. Upon the resolutions passed will depend whether we will have the work of re-conquering the Transvaal by force.

AMERICAN.

NEW YORK STATE ELECTION.

AUGUSTA, Nov. 24.—The Governor and Council have given notice that they will be in session from the 1st to the 13th of December to examine the official returns. The Republican senators and representatives elect from every county in the state, will be present at the opening of the hearing on Monday December 1st, each to see for himself the precise nature of the returns of his district in order to have correction made if errors be found.

CORRUPT SOLICITATION.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 24.—The trials of ex-State Treasurer Kemble and several members of the Legislature for alleged corrupt solicitation of members of the Legislature in connection with the Act appropriating $1,000,000 for the payment of losses by riots begin to-day.

ROBBING THE GRAVES.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 24.—Yesterday two negroes, who were arrested for grave robbing, said they were employed by white men. Human fingers were found in the pockets of one of them. A prominent physician is implicated.

A TOWN RE-BUILT.

DEADWOOD, D.T., Nov. 24.—This town which was burned down 8 weeks ago, has been completely rebuilt with superior buildings.

FROZEN STIFF.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Early yesterday morning John Leach was found frozen stiff and hugging a pile on the dock in Jersey City. He had fallen into the water and had climbed the pile, where he remained three hours before his rescue. He lies dying at the hospital.

UNSAFE RAILWAY BRIDGES.

The Times says that Mr. French, auditor of railway accounts, in a forthcoming railway report, will call attention to the insecure condition of many bridges on the western railways which he inspected last summer.

COMMUNIST FUNERAL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—At a communist funeral yesterday 300 socialists attended, carrying the identical red flag borne by the Paris commune. According to the request of the deceased, no religious services were held.

BANK EMBEZZLEMENT.

The examination of Somerset County National Bank, at Somerville, which was instituted last week on the sudden disappearance of Ex-Cashier Freich, shows that half of the bank's capital has been wiped out, and that President Vengtite's sworn statement made in January, representing the bank to be in a flourishing condition, was utterly false. Freich robbed the bank of $40,000 in the past three years.

MOODY AND SANKEY.

ST LOUIS, Nov. 24.—Moody and Sankey will on Tuesday night, inaugurate a series of religious meetings, to continue all the winter.

IMPURE WELL WATER.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 24.—The illness among the convicts in the Kentucky penitentiary is attributed to impurities in the well water, on account of the protracted drought. Nearly 500 prisoners are unable to work.

ROBBING THE MAILS.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 24.—J. Gordon Baugh, a coloured employee in the Post Office, was arrested yesterday, charged with robbing the mails. He was well educated, and quite a literary character. He owned a fine residence here, and entertained many distinguished coloured visitors.

FATAL BRAWL.

RICHMOND, Ind., Nov. 24.—Moorford Wallingford and Theodore Fisher, two friends, visited a concert near Middleboro on Saturday night, both being drunk. Each claimed to be the bully of the neighborhood. Wallingford shot Fisher in the abdomen, probably fatally, but no steps were taken to arrest him.

A MILLIONAIRE'S MAJORITY.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 24.—The widow of the late Col. Colt, gives a grand party to-night in honor of the 21st birthday of her only child Codwell H. Colt, who at his majority comes into possession of a fortune of nearly two millions left him by his father.

A DIVORCE GRANTED.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24.—A divorce has been granted to Mrs. Mary A. Jenks, from Captain Norman F. Jenks, a brother-in-law of Agnes Jenks, the witness in the New Orleans fraud case. Capt. Jenks is charged with deserting his wife for the society of Mrs. Amelia Campbell, the widow of a rich citizen of Norfolk.

NO INTEREST ALLOWED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—A circular from Bishop Corrigan was read in all the New Jersey Roman Catholic churches yesterday, announcing that no interest will hereafter be paid on moneys held in trust for parishioners by the Priests. It is stated that the Bishop desires to have the clergy relieved from the responsibility of caring for savings.

IMPORT OF GOLD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The steamship Mosel has arrived with $1,300,000 in gold.

MALARIOUS FEVER.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 24.—The north-west provinces of India are suffering from a severe epidemic of malarious fever, which has increased to an enormous extent.

DESPERATE CRIMINALS.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 24.—Allen Palmer, one of the gang who robbed the express train at Glendale on the Chicago and Alton Railway on October 8th was brought here from Texas yesterday. He was the man who knocked down the express manager and took $16,000 from the safe. It is now certain that the outlaw Jesse James was not killed by Shepard but merely badly wounded. Jim Cummings, another outlaw, is guarding him in the thick woods near Joplin. A party of armed men left here on Saturday to bring in Cummings and James, dead or alive.

RAILWAY COLLISION.

PALMER, Mass., Nov. 24.—A collision occurred at New London, on the Northern Railway, this morning, at the junction of the Ware River Road, a mile north from here, between the down Brattleboro passenger train and the up freight train. Both engines were demolished, several freight cars were wrecked, and seventeen persons were injured. The collision was caused by the freight train running on the passenger train's time, the freight train conductor's watch having stopped, making him fifteen minutes slow. Both trains were at full speed.

LARGE SALARY FOR GRANT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—A Washington special despatch to the Herald says:—It is stated that $25,000 salary will be paid Grant if he accepts the task of organizing the Nicaragua Canal Company, with $50,000 per annum when the canal is built.

A DRUNKEN BRAWL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—John Hack was shot in the throat early yesterday morning in a drunken brawl on the street. He is in a critical condition.

THE STATE TREASURY EXAMINED.

The Tribune editorially asks if it is true that Governor Robinson has employed an expert to examine the State Treasury.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

The Herald says it is understood that the Democrat programme in Congress will be a general cutting down of the estimates and opposition to all measures looking to large appropriations for improvements in general.

SERIOUS FIRE.

PORTLAND, Nov. 24.—A big fire is raging at Locke's mills, Grand Trunk Railroad, Tibbs & Dearborn's grist mill and spool factory, another grist mill, spool factory and dry house, and Woodsom's store and storehouse on fire.

Bet on the Post Stage.

If the unfortunate but unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would have never sung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable. d166-w46-1m LAKEFIELD AGENCY OF THE REVIEW.—Mr. W. C. Saunders has been appointed Manager of the Lakefield Agency of the Review, and is authorized to receive Advertisements and Subscriptions, and also Orders for Printing. Office:—North of Post Office, Lakefield.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1879.

LAND-LOCKED NAVIGATION.

We quite agree with the Belleville Intelligencer when it says:—"It has been suggested, and with a great deal of force, that, had the Murray Canal been constructed, the recent lamentable disaster on Lake Ontario might have been avoided." But it should have gone one step further and pointed out that had the Trent Valley Canal been constructed, a very large portion of the harvest reaped by Neptune within the last few days, not only on Lake Ontario, but on the Erie and the St. Clair, would have been avoided, and that if the securing of "sixty miles more of land-locked navigation" is worth the cost of the Murray Canal, how much more is the avoidance of Lakes Ontario, Erie and St. Clair to be desired, and how much more is it the duty of the Government to secure a land-locked navigation which avoids these lakes altogether—especially when such can be secured for the trifling sum of $6,000,000?

AT IT AT LAST.

We observe that on the 21st inst., Mr. Hector Cameron, Q.C., obtained a rule nisi for a mandamus to compell the corporation of the County of Peterboro' to issue debentures for $75,000 as a bonus to the Grand Junction R. R. These proceedings have been long threatened, but we cannot believe that either law or justice will ever compell any county to carry out a by-law which has been honestly dead for years.

THE GRAND JUNCTION.

The committee appointed by the Belleville City Council to consider the propriety of granting the Grand Junction an extension of time, to complete the road to Peterborough, has decided against the application of the company by a vote of four to three.

HARVEY.

Council Meeting.—The Harvey Council met at the Town Hall Nov. 17th, 1879. Members all present excepting Chas. McIlmoyle. Minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed. Communications read from Road Commissioners certifying the due performance of certain contracts on roads. From Trustees of School Section 2, Harvey, asking the Council for authority to borrow $250.00 for school purposes. Certificate from F. Crow that B. Ventress had performed his three day's statute labor since the same was returned and entered on the Collector's Roll for 1879. From J. G. Scott concerning the taxes of 1879 on that part of Harvey from lot 13 south to the boundary line inclusive in the 19th concession. On motion the folowing orders were drawn on the Treasurer in favour of the parties named as follows:—George Brummell for crossway $15, and repairing burnt crossway $6—$21; J. Farlington caretaking of Town Hall, year 1879, $6; Frank Crow ditching on the 17th con. line $27.93; Jas. Goodenough turnpiking on said line $14; John Flanigan grubbing out road and one day helping surveyor $2.67; Ralph Murdock cutting down hill, and crossway on 12th con. line $5; James Oliver work done on roads, and commission on grants expended $19; John McKenty expended on roads $48.16, and commission on grants expended $17.50—$65.66; Allen Irwin expended on government road $9; John Edmisson work on 17th con. line between lots 5 and 6 $6; James Coons grants expended on roads $36.75, and commissions $7.50—$45.25; The Clerk was instructed to notify Jas. Dickson, P.L.S., to survey and lay out road between lots 5 and 6 to lot 2 in the 14 concession. Also to notify the County Treasurer to remove from his books all arrears of taxes charged against n. w. 20 acres of lot 8, con. 15, Harvey. On motion a by-law to authorize the school trustees in S. S. No. 2 to borrow $250 for school purposes was read a first and second time, when the Council adjourned till to-morrow (18th November) at 10 o'clock.

Adjourned Meeting.—Nov. 18th, 1879. Council met pursuant to adjournment. All present except Chas. McIlmoyle. Minutes of the 17th inst., read and confirmed. On motion, the by-law to provide for a loan for School Section No. 2, Harvey, was read the third time and passed, and numbered 125, and the corporate seal affixed thereto. On motion the allowance for the road between the east halves of lots 5 and 6, 14th con. Harvey was granted to James Coons, in lieu of forced road on the east half of said lot 6, con. 14. On motion the Reeve was authorized to attend the adjourned land sale of Harvey lands, for arrears of taxes, in the interests of this Township. The council adjourned to meet at the call of the Reeve.

LINDSAY.

Fine Residences.—The Post says:—A number of fine residences have gone up in town this summer. Prominent among them is that of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, corner of Waverley and Victoria-aves., which is among the finest in town. Mr. McBurney has also erected a very fine residence on Melborne-st., and Coun. Pilkie is domiciled in a comfortable dwelling overlooking the river on King-st. Mr. Pyne has a neat little brick house erected on his property on Peel-st.

Accident to a Little Girl.—Cora, the three-year old daughter of Coun. J. W. Wallace, fell through the "wool-sack" or hole in the second storey of the woollen mills Wednesday morning and striking a lead or iron pipe on the floor, a descent of some ten feet, sustained severe injuries on the head. Dr. DeGrassi was called in and rendered prompt assistance. Under his care the recovery of the little one is expected.

Mechanics' Institute.—A meeting of the subscribers to the "Lindsay Mechanics' Institute and library association" will be held in the council chamber on Monday evening next, 24th inst., at 7.30, for the purpose of selecting the directors and other officers for the first year, and to take steps to become incorporated and for making such other arrangements as may be deemed advisable.

How to Medicate a Pig.

At a recent meeting of an English farmers' club, Prof. McBribe spoke of the difficulty of administering medicine to a pig. He said to dose a pig, which you are sure to choke if you attempt to make him drink while squealing, halter him as you would for execution, and tie the rope end to a stake. He will pull back till the rope is tightly strained. When he has ceased his uproar and begins to reflect, approach him and between the back part of his jaws insert an old shoe from which you have cut the toe leather. This he will at once begin to suck and chew. Through it pour medicine, and he will swallow any quantity you please.

MEREDITH vs. WILLIAMS.

An Action on a Deed of Separation—A Wife's Story of Her Trials.

The above case, which, owing to the social standing of parties, created a good deal of interest, has been in progress during the last two days in the Court of Chancery, before Vice-Chancellor Proudfoot. It appears that the plaintiff, who is the father of defendant's wife, holds a deed of separation made by the defendant, in which the latter agreed to maintain his wife during the time she should be living apart from him, and brings the present action to enforce payments under the deed, which have been falling into arrear. The case rests upon a provision in the deed that in the event of the parties coming together and again separating the original trusts should revive. The legality of this provision is disputed by the defendant. Mr. Boyd, Q.C., appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. C. Moss for the defendant.

The only witness examined yesterday was Mrs. Williams, who, on being sworn, identified the deed in question, and in reply to Mr. Boyd stated that the unhappy differences between herself and her husband arose from drunkedness, adultery, and abusive language on his part. His violence made her so frightened and nervous that she objected to live with him; on one occasion he wished her to go and live with him at the shanties where his men were working, to which she objected on the ground that it was not a fit place for her to live. After the deed was executed she gave up possession of their house at Port Hope and released her dowry. She believed her husband owned considerable property, and she therefore thought the amount mentioned in the deed was not unreasonable as an allowance to herself and to her children. He had signed an agreement to stop drinking and behave himself, but broke it, and the last seperation took place in April, 1877. She had heard from himself of certain misconduct in Guelph.

Mr. Moss objected. A wife could not, according to the statutes, give evidence of an admission to her by her husband of misconduct.

His Lordship said that since the consolidation of this statute he could not understand it. The statutes were not consolidated merely; they were new Acts. The act now seemed to be going back a long way in the law of evidence. So far as he understood the act he agreed with Mr. Moss.

The witness proceeded to say that she had heard of his misconduct in other places besides Guelph, and she had the advice of several of her husband's relatives to separate from him. When under the influence of liquor he behaved violently towards her, and used disgusting and abusive language. A week after they separated, he told her that he had been in the inebriate asylum at Buffalo. In conversation since then he frequently told her she was quite right to leave him. He had asked her to return, and promised to do better.

In cross-examination by Mr. Moss, the witness stated that her husband had begun his misconduct in the first year of their married life, and had continued it to the day of their separation; in 1873 he threw a chair and a knife and fork at her, on both occasions immediately after dinner when she had remonstrated with him about his drinking habits; she had not known him to drink before she married him; on the contrary, his mother had told her that he never touched liquor; she had not asked himself, as she believed him to be a temperate man; another wanton act of her husband's in 1873, was his tearing up a piece of honiton lace which he got in her bedroom; she mentioned this circumstance to the nurse and to some other friends, including her mother and her sister; his next act of violence was in February or March of 1874, when he caught her by her hair and struck her on the back; this, as the others, occurred at their home, "The Cone," in Port Hope; no person was present; before he did it she had told the nurse in his presence that he was drunk; he was staggering about the bedroom and talking in a wild, excited manner; she cried out when he caught her by the hair.

Mr. Boyd thought this had nothing to do with the issue.

His Lordship said whether it had or not, he did not think any talking of Mrs. Williams could justify conduct of that kind.

Mr. Moss remarked that there were two sides to the story.

The witness said she could not recall any subsequent instance, for she took care to keep out of his way; on one occasion in 1873, when she was ill, she struck him with a stick or poker on the leg, but it hurt him so little that he went to a dinner party the same evening, and made light of it in conversation with her.

Mr. Moss—Have you never spat in his face? A.—Never.

Mr. Moss—Never? A.—Never.

Mr. Moss—What, never? (Laughter.)

Mr. Boyd said that the case should be conducted without any references of this kind.

The witness went on to state that after the separation in 1874 she went to Cacouna, where she met Mr. Williams, and during the time they were there, they were on very good terms; after remaining there a month or three weeks they came to Toronto, and boarded there for some time; in the February previous to the last separation in 1877 he began drinking, owing to his having lost some money in gambling; she did not think it was because of medical advice.

Mr. Moss—And you would be surprised to hear that it was?

Mr. Boyd remarked that the medical adviser was unfortunately dead. (Laughter.)

The witness stated that at the time her husband, though he did not lay violent hands upon her, acted in a wild and excited manner, and kept the whole house in a state of confusion; she left the house the last time when he was away in Toronto, doing she did not know what; she wrote him a letter, of which she kept a copy, in which she told him that from that time they should live strictly under the deed of separation, and "and what you have told me and others, of your conduct with other women, makes it impossible for me to live with you; had you kept to your agreement I might have;" she conversed with her father, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams, and others about the step she intended to take; Mrs. Seymour, his sister, had told her that her husband was in Toronto following the same courses, and she had heard from others that there was danger of his having delirium tremens. About three weeks or a month before he went to Toronto she told him she would leave him if he did not stop it. She had met him since on friendly terms, and he wanted her to return; during the winter of 1877-8, he paid her occasional visits, and they had conversed in a friendly way.

In reply to Mr. Boyd, the witness stated that she never had any trouble with her husband when he was sober; his drinking was the sole cause of his misbehavior; she added that on a second occasion, when her father had come to defend her, and had got into a scuffle with her husband; she had struck the latter with a stick.

The case was then adjourned till the 16th of December.—Globe.

A Humane Dog.

Two gentlemen who were passing a house in Worcester, Mass., recently, were attracted by a large Newfoundland dog, which kept running toward them and then returning in the direction of a pond in the grove, where something was evidently wrong. They followed the dog to the pond, where they found another dog in the water and unable to get out. His front paws were on the curbstone, but he could not get sufficient hold to draw himself up. He was nearly exhausted, and would probably have been drowned, had not the gentlemen assisted him. The dogs showed their gratitude in unmistakable signs.

MILLBROOK.

Stabbed by her Sister.—An unfortunate tragedy occurred here on Friday night. Mary Hunter, who is subject to spells of illness, during which she is violent in her temper, stabbed her brother, Samuel Hunter, in the side with a butcher knive. His recovery is doubtful. The brother and sister were very affectionally disposed towards each other.

COBOURG.

A Narrow Escape.—The Sentinel says:—As the workmen, six in number, were working at the tower of the new M. E. Church on Tuesday, they had a very narrow escape from what would have been a severe accident. The scaffold on which they were working was being hoisted to the top by a three-strand rope. The rope started to come apart, and two of the three strands gave way, but fortunately it was discovered just as the rope was about to part, and an accident was avoided.

HALIFAX.

The English Mails.—The Allan weekly mail steamship Circassian, Capt. Wylie, arrived from Liverpool via Moville, at half-past four o'clock on Sunday morning, with 160 steerage and 21 cabin passengers, among whom was Sir Hugh Allan. Immediately after discharging, the Circassian will sail for Baltimore. The mails and first-class passengers were despatched on special train at 8 o'clock on Sunday morning, the immigrants, on a separate train, left an hour later.

TORONTO.

Silk or Stuff.—Observing Mr. Bethune in the Court of Common Pleas, sitting without the bar and not wearing his Q.C. gown, Chief Justice Wilson invited him to borrow a gown and come within the bar. Mr. Bethune explained that he had relinquished his gown in accordance with the decision of the Supreme Court in the great seal case. Being asked by the bench for an expression of opinion in the matter, Chief Justice Wilson and Mr. Justice Galt both thought Mr. Bethune was doing what was right in doffing his silk and the title in accordance with the judgment of the Supreme Court, which they also upheld, at the same time adding that they did not express their opinion officially.

SCOTLAND.

The Aberdeen School of Chemistry and Agriculture has enrolled 120 students.

Cookery classes have been opened in Aberdeen with an attendance of 160 pupils.

The Edinburgh Town Council has made a grant of £500 to the Lord Provost to maintain the dignity of the chair.

The Council of Glasgow University has adopted a report in favor of lectureships in large towns on a plan similar to that in connection with English Universities.

A gold medal has been presented to Charles Umphray, Laxo, for his gallant conduct in saving the lives of seven of the crew of the fishing boat Ann, at the entrance of Bressay Harbor.

It is rumored that Mr. Pender, M.P., is to have a baronetcy as the reward of his laborious and successful efforts in procuring the early transmission of telegraphic news to the Government from the Zulu war.

On the 30th October Mr. Thomas Mackenzie Auchnahard, proceeded to Ullapool in a fishing boat, accompanied by other three men. After having transacted some business in Ullapool they left for home, a distance of some 9 miles, shortly after dusk. In returning the boat capsized, and all were drowned.

The first oceanic mail steamer that has been built entirely of steel was launched on the 3rd inst. from the yard of John Elder & Co. It is named the Kinfauns Castle, is 371 feet in length, 43 feet in breadth, and has accommodation of a quite superior kind for 207 passengers. It is to be one of the Cape mail line of Donald Currie & Co.

At the opening of his Greek class at Edinburgh University, on the 30th October, Prof. Blackie had to face audiences more bent on amusement than instruction. When he arrived he was greeted with cheers and the knocking of sticks on the floor and benches. In proceeding with his address the Professor intimated that if the slightest noise was made he would close the lecture and enroll the students immediately. Great interruption followed, during which the Professor retired, and refused to return.

On the 25th October, an interesting phenomenon was witnessed at Lairg. The morning and preceeding night being calm and frosty, the waters of the loch and river Shin were being largely and rapidly evaporated, causing a very dense mist. As the sun fairly rose over the tops of the hills, a mist-bow was observed, forming a complete and distinct arch to the usual height of a rainbow. Perhaps the most interesting feature was the colour, which was of a light lead or grey, the brilliant colours appearing only in the lower portions, and there but faintly.

Mr. J. H. Blackburne, of London, concluded his blindfold game of chess at the Central Working Men's Club, Glasgow, on the 25th October. The contests began on Friday night, his opponents being Mr. J. Gilchrist, Mr. Sheriff Spens, Messrs. W. Bryden, W. Harrison, J. Court, A. Brown, D. Mills, J. Favre, J. Crum and W. Tait. The games which were commenced simultaneously were played by Mr. Blackburne, who sat at the back of the hall, without his seeing any of the boards. Mr. Blackburn won all the games, except one lost to Mr. Court and one drawn by Mr. Mills. The games showed an average of about thirty moves.

A Braemar correspondent says that Hallowe'en was a brilliant success at Balmoral. The bonfire, one of the largest ever built on the royal estates, was lighted by the Princess Beatrice. After the procession of torches the witch was, much in the usual fashion, committed to the burning pile, having been previously condemned as worthy of such by the officiating sheriff. Refreshments having been served round to the numerous company, Her Majesty's health was drunk in a brimming bumper, followed by a similar tribute to the Princess Beatrice. Other favourite toasts were disposed of, and the Queen's Anthem having been sung shortly after the assembly dispersed to their homes.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

THE HOMELY BABE.

BY PARMENAS MIX.

Good nature reigned throughout the car, the day was cool and bright;
The time was passed in merry songs and conversation light,
Though here and there a veteran of railroad travel dozed
Or read some lately published work—with book and eyes half closed.

My journey had been long, and yet my destination lay
Beyond the distant mountains, near a thousand miles away,
And being wearied with my ride, I neither talked nor sung,
But kept my teeth well-closed and made a captive of my tongue.

A well dressed mother looked with pride upon her laughing child,
A handsome babe with dimpled cheeks and blue eyes large and mild—
So handsome that [illegible] to draw all strangers' eyes that way,
And many came and gathered round where the charming infant lay.

No honest pride can equal hers who heard her baby's praise
From the lips of those whose thoughts were shown in their admiring gaze,
And I doubt if great Napoleon e'er felt one-half as proud
As did that happy mother 'mid that kind, admiring crowd.

There was still another infant and a mother just as dear—
She sat alone, unheeded, in a seat far in the rear,
And her scanty garb and thin, pale face on which care's shadow lay,
Said plainly that the light of hope shone dimly on her way.

Her child was far from beautiful, and poorly, sparely dressed,
And she seemed to say as to her heart its form she closely pressed:
"Poor, slighted child, no kind caress but mine brings solace here—
My kiss alone falls on your cheek—my praise is all you hear."

Then for the first time I perceived two brown eyes quite intent,
In watching this poor, lowly pair—the gaze was kindly meant,
For the eyes were full of sympathy and I could read therein
That their owner could enact the role of "Good Samaritan."

Producing two fine oranges, the young man crossed the aisle,
And speaking to the woman with a kind, assuring smile,
He placed the fruit upon her lap and said in accents mild,
"Your child is very quiet—I so love a quiet child."

Her face shone with pure gratitude, her sad eyes grew more bright;—
She felt so proud of what he'd said, and truly well she might,
For had not her babe received the praise of the noblest heart by far—
The truest, tend'rest, bravest heart that beat within that car?

A KU-KLUX STORY TOLD BY A SOUTHERN LADY.

BY ORRA LANGHORNE.

Like the old woman in Western Virginia who declared, three months after the end of the war, that she "did not believe that Gen. Lee had surrendered, because she had never heard of it except through Yankee papers," I have always felt incredulous about the Ku-Klux. We have known nothing of the kind in the Valley and Piedmont Virginia, where my life has been spent; and, as the Virginia press has always stoutly denied that negroes have never been murdered for political causes, I have felt serious doubts as to such things having really occurred. In a journey North, however, three years ago, I met with a lady from South Carolina, who has quite altered my opinion on this subject. This lady was evidently of that class termed by the negroes "quality." Her somewhat haughty manners told of aristocratic birth and association; and, although I did not agree with her, I could well believe that she spoke honestly when she said "It was a good thing to have been born in South Carolina." I am fain to confess that I expressed no Republican sentiments while in her society, knowing full well that a word of that kind would have ended abruptly the conversation which to me, at least, was very interesting. We travelled together all night and part of a day, and, as my new friend's escort left her at Washington, I had ample opportunity to gain the long-desired information as to the true state of affairs in Carolina.

One or two carefully worded expressions of sympathy, which every feeling heart must entertain for the sad condition of her native state, had the effect of making my companion talk freely, and she told a dismal story of the changes wrought by the results of the war. I listened silently and without surprise while she denounced the Centennial Celebration as a "Yankee humbug," invented to draw money from the suffering South, adding that she was going to New York and felt no desire to see the Exhibition. Pride and prejudice are a sorry sight at best, and when clothed in sackcloth and ashes, as so often in the South to-day, the aspect presented is pitiable indeed.

In answer to my enquiry whether she believed that negroes had ever been killed for political reasons, she replied: "Yes. Some have, of course; but the number has been greatly exaggerated. It has only been done when necessary. I know of two or three occasions where one or sometimes more negroes have been killed during a political campaign; but, of course, it was positively necessary or it would not have been done." Here I judiciously expressed incredulity; and she continued, confidentially, "Yes, I know of one case in my own family. I mean the negro had been one of our old family servants. He belonged to my uncle, Judge——, had been my uncle's own servant from boyhood, was a great favorite in the family, could read before the war, and was allowed many privileges. After he became free, he turned politician, grew to be very influential with the other negroes, and went to the Legislature. He was a leader in all the Radical meetings, and nothing could induce him to leave the party. At last the Conservative committee decided that he must be killed, and warned my uncle not to interfere."

"Was this soon after the war?" I asked.

"Oh! no," said the lady. "It occurred two or three years ago."

"Did your family know of it at the time?" I enquired.

"Oh! yes," said she. "The old man had a share in the crop and lived on my uncle's estate. His house was not far from uncle's. The night he died the committee came at the hour appointed, all masked; and one of them shot old Uncle Dick. He ran towards my uncle's house, and we could distinctly hear him begging for his life and screaming; 'Oh! master, save me, Mas' William! For God's sake, save me!' The party all fired into his body, and it was found completely riddled with bullets next morning at uncle's door, where he had crawled!"

"What did your uncle think of the affair?" I enquired.

"Why, he knew that it was necessary," was the answer.

Forbearing comments on her history, I asked if there were any respectable white Republicans in that region.

"No," was her prompt reply. "There are a few Yankees there; and, of course, they are all Radicals, and a few citizens have joined the party of late years. They hold office now; but, of course, no one notices them. They were respectable ones; but of course, no one considers them so now."

I had managed to conceal my cloven foot so well that my new friend said many civil things on taking leave of me, expressed regrets at parting and hopes that we should meet again. For my part, I had come to believe firmly in Ku-Klux, though I did not say so.—N. Y. Independent.

THE CARE OF TOOLS.

We believe—although we are not certain that it is capable of demonstration—that more tools are ruined by want of care than broken or worn out by proper use. It is surprising how ready even the thoughtful workman is to leave to neglect the tool which has just subserved his purpose. Carelessness in the use of tools is a source of enormous annual expense to manufacturers and others, an expense which, if aggregated, would probably surprise even the most observant. On the farm the plow is left in the furrow, the hoe between the rows of corn, the shovel in the pit, the scythe on the tree, and the axe in the log—left to rust and to the liability of accidents. The wood-worker, called away suddenly from the job he is doing, leaves his plane on the board he has been smoothing, to be knocked off by the first passer-by, or allows the auger bit or the saw to remain in the half-pierced timber, to be broken by the first swinging board in the hands of the apprentice. The blacksmith leaves his tongs at the vise when he needs them at the anvil, and the machinist drops tap, drill, reamer, or hammer, where last used.

Order is the "first law in the shop as in heaven and care, no less than cleanliness, is "next to goodliness." Next to the advantage of having a place for every thing is the wisdom of keeping every thing in workable condition. In the machine shop the use of impure oils in drilling, tapping, etc., is an expensive economy. Oil containing mineral or earthy matter is only a grindstone in solution. It cuts and abrades the edges of the tool, while in use, precisely as does the grindstone of buff wheel. Gummy oils are scarcely less injurious. They add to the fraction of the tap or drill, and demand increased strength to resist torsion. A "gummed-up" tap or file is almost useless until thoroughly cleaned. The application of warm soapsuds, benzine, or turpentine, will not always remove this gum. In such a case they can be readily cleaned by covering them with oil, turpentine, or any inflammable substance, and exposing them for a moment to a flame until the liquid takes fire; then card or wipe them and they will be found to be in excellent order. Finishing files not unfrequently become clogged, and when the card is useless to remove the "gurry," this process will be found efficient.

Sometimes, also, in filing wrought iron the tough particles of the iron are torn off by the teeth of the file and lodge, producing scratches on the work, and thus impairing the efficiency the tool. A simple device, which we used for years, that easily and quickly dislodges these clinging particles, is a piece of soft iron wire flattened under the hammer at one end to a chisel point, or disintegrated like a broom and used thus: The point of the file resting on the bench, the handle held by the left hand; then strike across the face of the file, in the direction of the "first cut" teeth, with flattened end. It certainly and thoroughly dislodges the snags, and the file is ready for work. The wire instrument may have a ring turned at the handle end, or be affixed to a wooden handle. No. 8 wire is large enough.

Turning tools, after being tempered and ground, are frequently left wet from the stone until wanted for use. In this state the keen edge is acted upon by rust, and a regrinding become necessary. If not put at once to the oil stone they should be wiped with oily waste. These little matters are more important than they seem at first sight. A saw or chisel which has been used in unseasoned wood, should be carefully wiped and oiled, otherwise it contracts rust, and wears away fast. A new file should not be put upon the scale of cast iron or of unannealed steel, and a file kept for brass or bronze should not be used on a harder metal. Back saws for cutting iron and other metals are often ruined in inexperienced hands. If drawn forward and back too rapidly they heat and lose their temper, when they become almost useless.

A hundred other instances might be adduced to show the depreciation of tools by neglect and the necessity of paying attention to these "little things." The real economist, however, needs but a hint, while the constitutionally careless are slow to see their errors.

ADVICE TO A YOUNG MAN.

And then remember, son, that the world is older than you are, by several years; that for thousands of years it has been so full of smarter and better men than yourself that their feet stuck out of the dormer window; that when they died the old globe went whirling on, and not one man in ten millions went to the funeral or even heard of the death. Be as smart as you can, of course. Know as much as you can, without blowing the packing out of your cylinder heads; shed the light of your wisdom abroad in the world, but don't dazzle people with it. And don't imagine a thing is so, simply because you may say it is. Don't be too sorry for your father because he knows so much less than you do; remember the reply of Dr. Wayland to the student of Brown University, who said it was an easy enough thing to make proverbs such as Solomon wrote. "Make a few," tersely replied the old man. And we never heard that the young man made any. Not more than two or three anyhow. The world has great need of young men, but no greater need than the young men have of it. Your clothes fit you better than your father's fit him; they cost more money they are more stylish, your mustache is neater, the cut of your hair is better, and you are prettier, oh, far prettier than "pa." But, young man, the old gentleman gets the biggest salary, and his homely, scrambling signature on the business end of a check will drain more money out of the bank in five minutes than you could get with a ream of paper and a copper-plate signature in six months. Young men are useful, son, and they are ornamental, and we all love them, and we couldn't engineer a picnic successfully without them. But they are novelties, son. Oh no, nothing of the kind. They have been here before. Don't be so modest as to shut yourself clean out, but don't be so fresh, you will have to be put away in the cool to keep from spoiling. Don't be afraid your merit will not be discovered. People all over the world are hunting for you, and if you are worth finding they will find you. A diamond isn't so easily found as a quartz pebble, but people search for it all the more intently.—Burlington Hawkeye.

MISCELLANEOUS.

RUDE Chicago witness to lawyer: "O, fold your ears and conceal yourself."

ALWAYS forgive your enemies—especially the ones you can't lick.

IT is a noticeable fact that every man who has seen the sea serpent states that its head is the size of a beer cask.

When yesterday I asked you, love,
One little word to say,
Your brother interrupted us;
So please say yes-ter-day.

A rather gaily-dressed young lady said to her Sunday school class "Give me an illustration of the pomps and vanities of the world?" The answer was honest, but rather unexpected:—"Them flowers in your hat."

THE committee on atmospheric influences of the Lime Kill Club announced that they were ready with a report, and leave being granted the chairman submitted a well constructed report regarding the coming winter. The committee had been guided entirely by signs and their reasons for predicting a hard winter were;

1. The thickness of the corn-husks.
2. The unusual number of overcoats in pawn.
3. The anxiety of women to get winter bonnets.
4. The way the frogs have gone down for deep water.
5. The hesitation with which young men climb out of bed in the morning.
6. The unusual number of dog-fights to be observed by a colored man who keeps his eyes open.

The report was accepted and filed and the chairman sat down with a sigh of relief.

IRELAND.

ARRANGEMENTS are being made for the opening of Conlig Lead Mines, county Down, which have been closed for the last twelve years.

MR. LOWTHER, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, has gone on a visit to county Roscommon in order to make himself acquainted with the state of the country.

MR. SHAW, M. P., the leader of the Home Rule party, has drawn up a memorial on the subject of the distress, to be signed by Irish M.P's for presentation to the Premier.

THE Roman Catholic Archbishop of Cashel, has written a letter protesting strongly against any scheme of emigration being adopted as a method of relief for the necessitous in Ireland.

THE Lord Mayor of Dublin has announced at the meeting of the Corporation that in a recent interview with the Duke and Duchess of Connaught His Royal Highness stated that it was his intention to pay a visit of two months' duration to Ireland next spring.

The Way to Health.

The only true way to health is that which common sense dictates to man. Live within the bounds of reason. Eat moderately, drink temperately, sleep regularly, avoid excess in anything, and preserve a conscience "void of offence." Some men eat themselves to death some drink themselves to death, some wear out their lives by indolence, and some by over exertion, others are killed by the doctors, while not a few sink into the grave under the effects of vicious and beastly practices. All the medicines in creation are not worth a farthing to a man who is constantly and habitually violating the laws of his own nature. All the medical science in the world cannot save him from a premature grave. With a suicidal course of conduct, he is planting the seeds of decay in his own constitution, and accelerating the destruction of his own life.

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head.

OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhœa, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is SCOTT & BOWNE'S EMULSION OF PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. Price 25 cents. d166-w46-1m

SCIENCE is a good piece of furniture for a man to have in an upper chamber, provided he has common sense on the ground floor, and a bottle of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam on the shelf, for use in case of a sudden cold, cough, or hoarseness. The steamer Golden-Eye has been taken into the locks where she will have a chance to dry out and receive such repairs as may be needed, to fit her for the next seasons campaign.

New Uniform.

The new uniform in which Constable John McGhee appeared on Saturday for the first time, was made by Mr. Robert Weir of this town. It has been much admired by the Constable's friends. It is a great improvement.

Receipt of Hogs.

It is estimated that 200 dead hogs were brought to town on Saturday and disposed of at $5.00 to $5.50, mostly at $5.25. Messrs. Flavelle took sixty of them for packing. Some very fine porkers were among the lot.

A Cold Post Office.

The Post Office this morning at nine o'clock was a cold, cheerless place. The clerks were moving around with chattering teeth, as though they had a touch of the ague. The query was, "Where's the stoker?" Answer—"Froze up."

Church Anniversary.

The ladies of the congregation of the George Street Methodist Church are requested to meet the trustees in the Bible Class room, on Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, to make arrangements for the approaching anniversary.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons.

We beg to remind our readers that the plan of the seats in Bradburn's Hall for Thursday night was opened to-day. Those who wish to secure choice of seats from which both to hear and see Mrs. Scott-Siddons to full advantage, should not delay.

Monday's Market.

The movement in agricultural products has been very light to-day. Some parcels of wheat, and a few bags of butter came in. There were eight or ten loads of hay in, which sold at $6.50 @ 7.00, mostly at $7.00. Wood found ready takers at quotations.

Make a Note of It.

Our old subscribers are already taking advantage of the offer we have made them, with reference to their obtaining new subscriptions, and new names are rolling in, in a way that if continued, is destined to double our subscription list for 1880.

A Busy Saturday.

The storm of Saturday did not interfere with the trade in town. The storekeepers say that there was more money stirring about and changing hands than on any previous market day this season. This is the beginning of a better trade, it is to be hoped, at all events, people are more hopeful.

An Obstructed Sidewalk.

On the north sidewalk of Hunter street, and east of Sherdian street, there has been deposited for some time a pile of dirt taken from the cellar excavation for a new house. It not only interferes with pedestrians, but is absolutely dangerous on a dark night. It should be removed at once.

Farewell Dinner.

On Saturday Mr. A. D. Braithwaite was entained at a farewell dinner at Turver's Club Restaurant. Mr. H. C. Rogers, President of the Club, being in the chair, and Mr. C. A. Weller, the Vice-President, in the vice chair. There were about twenty at the table. Much regret was expressed at his speedy departure, the loss that would be sustained by the Boat Club and other athletic societies, which he had always supported so zealously, being dwelt upon especially.

The Variety Entertainment.

The variety entertainment at Bradburn's Hall on Saturday evening was slimly attended, which indicates that the tastes of our people do not run in that channel. Peterborough has a taste for refinement, as is evidenced by the vast number of books, pamphlets and newspaper publications sold from day to day. Refined education requires refined entertainments.

Journalistic.

The Port Hope Daily News has expired, after a brief life of eighteen days. Three daily papers could not be expected to exist together in a town of the population of Port Hope, and this result was not unexpected, though hardly anticipated at such an early date. The News will continue for the present as a weekly, which undoubtedly will make less demand upon its resources.

A Good Move.

An association is being organised in Belleville for the purpose of discouraging bar-room drinking. The members are to pledge themselves not to drink any alcoholic beverage whatever in any bar-room, saloon or restaurant in the city under any pretext whatever. The growing popularity of lager beer and the initiation of such associations are steps in the right direction.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: Increasing south-westerly to southerly winds; partly cloudy to cloudy, milder weather, followed by areas of snow or rain towards morning. Storm signals will be continued on the lakes. Gentle south-westerly to south-easterly winds prevailed in Peterborough to-day, with partly cloudy, warmer weather. The sleighing yesterday and to-day was good. It is being badly cut up owing to the weather moderating.

The Snow Storm of Saturday.

The snow storm which began at about nine o'clock on Saturday morning continued throughout the day and well into the night, covering the hard frozen ground with about four inches of snow, making a good foundation for sleighing. Sunday was a cold, but pleasant day. Towards night snow clouds passed over, and this (Monday) morning, there was about an inch of additional snow. The weather had considerably moderated, and the sun shone out brilliantly.

Musical.

A deputation from Omemee was in town last Friday for the purpose of securing some of our local musical talent to assist at a concert to be given under the auspices of the Masonic lodge of that village. They wished it understood that nothing but what was first-class would suit the critical tastes of the residents of that locality. Our popular young baritone, Mr. A. L. Davis, is engaged to sing at a "swell" concert at Cobourg early next month, given in connection with the University.

What We May Look For.

As Christmas Day falls on a Thursday this year, the reproduction of the following old rhyme will not be without interest:—

If Xmas Day on Thursday be,
A windy winter you shall see;
Windy weather in each week,
And hard tempests strong and thick;
The summer shall be good and dry,
Corn and beasts shall multiply;
That year is good for lands to till,
Kings and princes shall die by death;
If a child born on that day should be,
It will happen right well for he;
Of deeds he shall be good and stable,
Wise of speech and reasonable,
Whosoever that day goes thieving about,
He shall be punished without doubt;
And if sickness thee betide,
It shall quickly from thee glide.

Weather Predictions.

Mr. Vennor predicts a cold snap at present, and that between this and the end of the year the thermometer will give us a series of extremely low readings. He does not anticipate very heavy snowfalls, but rather what he designates as dry and extremely cold weather. The neighborhood of the new year, Mr. Vennor thinks, will be again open and mild, with copious rains and a general break up in some localities. February he forecasts as dry and intensely cold, in fact one of the coldest Februarys on record in a number of years. The spring of 1880 is to be early, dry and windy, and is to preface an exceedingly hot and extremely dry summer.

St. Andrew's Day.

It will be observed by advertisement in another column that our "Brither Scots" are going to celebrate St. Andrew's Day this year, as usual, by a dinner at the Choate House, on Monday evening, the 1st December, (St. Andrew's Day falling on Sunday this year.) The dinner will, no doubt be got up in Choate's best style, and the evening prove a pleasant one as is always the case when "Brither Scots" meet. The annual sermon will be preached to the members of the Society in St. Andrew's Church by the Rev. Alex. Bell next Sunday evening, November 30th, at the close of which a collection will be taken up in aid of the charitable funds of the society.

A Startling Picture.

To the eye only is Memphis a clean city. Its surface drainage is perfect. But beneath! Ah! beneath the surface is foul rottenness. The cellars, the vaults and the cisterns are one indistinguishable mass of filth. The cellars are mostly damp and reeking with filth, giving out in hot weather sufficient gas to poison the air of a whole country. Then what is that we drink out of the cisterns? In many parts of the city the contents of cisterns and vaults are interchangeable commodities. In many instances they are side by side, as much as three feet apart. The most of these vaults are ancient, and have been thoroughly cleaned, and the Superintendent of Disinfection, who has built the brick work of half Memphis, says they can not be cleaned. The ancient contents of these vaults have saturated the entire area of underground Memphis, and yet there are some people who call Memphis a clean city!—Memphis Avalanche.

"You see, mamma," said the old colored washerwoman, "since dey's got done here big crayvats we don't hab so much to do. De gemmen puts on a big crayvat now-a-days instead of a clean shirt. You don't know much about these matters, but if you take off all the cravats in this town and make the gemmen show up incidentals you'd see de worst lookin' white men you ebber laid yo' blessed eyes on."

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

THE "HUASCAR'S" CAPTURE.

PANAMA, Nov. 22.—The Chilian report of the capture of the Huascar differs but little from the Peruvian report. The only part of Admiral Grau's body that could be found was a foot and leg, identified by his boot. Taking into consideration the prisoners and wounded and dead, over 60 of the Huascar's crew are still missing. It is believed some were blown overboard and many of them annihilated. The Huascar's engines are in good order, and $20,000 will put her in fighting order. It is stated that Admiral Grau's note-book seriously implicates many people on the coast not interested by nationality in the war. At the time of the Huascar's surrender it was difficult to find anyone to run the risk of coming up to lower the flag, four in succession having lost their life in the attempt, until it was successfuly accomplished by a negro.

THE AFGHAN AND ZULU BUTCHER.

DUBLIN, Nov. 21.—At a meeting to-night to denounce the arrests of Daly, Davitt, and Killen, 5,000 were present. Mr. Dwyer Gray, member of Parliament, presided. The following members of Parliament were present:—Messrs. Parnell, Smyth, Kirk, O'Leary and Biggar. The chairman counselled moderate language. Mr. Parnell moved that the meeting call upon Irishmen to pronounce by public meetings their condemnation of the action of the Government, which is unconstitutional, and illegal, and thus show the world that Irishmen will not be intimidated by persecution. Mr. Parnell accused the Government of entrapping Irishmen by means of paid spies. He advised Irishmen to be calm, because if they attempted to emulate the Government in illegal action or violence or disorder, then they would be doing what the butcher and destroyer of the Afghan and Zulu desires them to do.

MRS. CHARLES DICKEN'S DEATH.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Globe announces that the widow of Charles Dickens died this morning after an illness of 18 months.

THE BALLA MEETING.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The meeting at Balla today lost much importance in consequence of the announcement by Mr. Parnell last night that the expected evictions at Balla with respect to which the inflammatory placards had been circulated calling on the people to assemble to reinstate the tenants had not been made, the rent having been paid, but that there would be a meeting. The discussion now principally turns on the point whether the words used by Davitt or others were within the sedition law, and whether the Government will be able to obtain their conviction. There is much doubt of this, but there is no question of the general desire for some vindication of the authority of the law. It is not believed that there can be any section of the British people nor any considerable number of Irish who do not wish to see the end of an agitation for the non-payment of a debt, and that being ended it is thought that there would be an increased disposition to have regard to the more acceptable claims of Irish politicians.

SECOCOENI'S STRONGHOLD TO BE STORMED.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—A Capetown despatch of the 4th inst. says Sir Garnet Wolseley has determined to storm chief Secocoeni's stronghold. The situation in the Transvaal is very threatening.

FRANCE AND THE AUSTRO-GERMANS

PARIS, Nov. 23.—It is semi-officially stated that St. Vallier is well satisfied with his visit to Varzin. Prince Bismarck received him courteously and communicated the nature of the arrangements between Austria and Germany, which are not aimed against France.

MILITARY SERVICE IN TURKEY.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Turkish Government has ordered the issue of a decree, ordering twenty years' compulsory military service. The men are to serve two years in the infantry, three in the cavalry, and the remaining fifteen in the reserve.

NO DISTURBANCE.

DUBLIN, Nov. 22.—The meeting at Loona Moor, near Balla, terminated at six this evening. Hundreds then marched to the farm of Dempsey, the tenant who was to have been evicted. Much excitement was manifested. A demonstration will be held on Sunday in Dublin, to commemorate the Manchester execution.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES.

DUBLIN, Nov. 22.—Later advices from Balla indicate extraordinary precautions were taken by the Government. More than a hundred policemen were stationed near the place of meeting and some cavalry were in the vicinity ready for immediate action. Mr. Parnell spoke. Besides the resolutions already mentioned, one was passed expressing great satisfaction that the intended evictions have been abandoned, and another urging the people to continue the agitation. Great excitement prevails in the Balla district and the adjoining counties.

CIVIL WAR.

SAN DOMINGO, Nov. 22.—An encounter has occurred between the forces of President Guillermo and Revolutionists at St. Pedro. Guillermo was compelled to retreat to the capital, the Revolutionists are besieging the capital. The only outlet from the capital is on the river side toward the Province of Seybo, where Guillermo has gone to gather fresh troops. The cause of Guillermo is considered lost. He only holds the capital and province of Seybo. The balance of the Republic has declared against him. Business is completely at a stand still. Both friend and foe respect the sugar estates around the city.

THE RECTOR OF ST. ALBANS.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Rev. Alex. Mackonochie officiated at St. Alban's church, in this city, yesterday. He refused to admit the Bishop's nominee and officials.

RUSSIA PEACEFULLY DISPOSED.

VIENNA, Nov. 22.—A Vienna despatch says for some time prior to Prince Bismarck's visit to Vienna, Russia was making vast war preparations, and massing a force in Russian Poland along the railway lines. There is a complete change in the present regime. Russia is now peacefully inclined. The appointment of Walonjieff as Gortschakoff's successor would be an efficient guarantee that such a change has taken place.

IMPROVEMENT OF TRADE.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The Globe, in a review of the commercial and industrial position of the French metropolis shows that during a fortnight past, 1,300 emigrants from Paris left Havre for the United States. Notwithstanding this fact, reports are generally favourable, and in many branches of Parisian trade, it is said, the hands are working overtime. In the Porcelain trade, for instance, business is reported very brisk and active. An export movement to Chili, Paraguay, Brazil, Mexico and China prevails. The state of trade in other branches is rapidly improving, and a large proportion of Parisian commercial houses report that an important revival of trade is asserting itself.

INSURGENTS WORSTED.

HAVANA, Nov. 23.—In Santiago de Cuba the troops on the 16th inst. attacked a camp, killing six insurgents and burning 400 huts. In Las Lunas two insurgent leaders have surrendered with seven men. In Santa Clara the Spaniards defeated forty insurgents.

AMERICAN.

TO INVADE CANADA.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—A Pottsville despatch says the Irishmen of Pennsylvania coal and iron regions are intensely excited over the recent arrests in Ireland. In nearly every village where the Irish nationalists have lodges meetings will be held to-morrow to take action. The members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians are said to be anxious for enlistment in an army to invade Canada.

DAMAGES FOR A COLLISION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—In the suit for $30,000, brought by the owners of the schooner Job Leonard against the British steamship Arragon for the loss of the schooner by collision with the Arragon in 1877. Judge Choate decides that the fog horn signal was blowing just before the disaster occurred, and that both vessels were at fault and libellants will have decree for half their damages and costs, and a reference to compute the amount of their damages.

RESCUED SAILORS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The steamer Andes arrived to-day with the crew of the schooner Francis Burritt who were removed while the latter was sinking on Nov. 21st.

PERU BLOCKADED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—A despatch dated Valparaiso Nov. 19th, states that all the Peruvians ports, the blockades of which were raised about a month ago, have again been blockaded and now are once more cut off from communication with the outside world.

THE ERIE CANAL STILL OPEN.

ALBANY, Nov. 22.—Superintendant Clark says the canal is all right except at Rome and Auburn, where anchor ice causes blockades. Both places will be cleared this afternoon.

THE STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The stock market today is strong. Speculation is very firm, and the flurry of yesterday has subsided. Prices advanced steadily from the opening till noon, when an improvement of ½ to 7⅞ have been established, the latter in Delaware and Hudson.

THE NEW FRENCH CABLE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—In his congratulatory message over the new French cables, the President of the French Republic telegraphed to President Hayes expressions of his most cordial sentiment. President Hayes replied that he hoped the cable might never be the vehicle of any other messages between the Governments and the people of the two countries than those of friendship and respect.

THE CAPTAIN-GENERALSHIP.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—A Washington despatch says that ex-Confederate General Joseph E. Johnston is the leader of the plan to make General Grant Captain-General of the army. Johnston was Quarter-Master-General of the United States army when Grant was captain.

34 CRUICKSHANK ST., Toronto, May 13, 1878.
Messrs. Milburn, Bently & Pearson,
Gentlemen,—Last fall I contracted a severe cold, which, by my neglect, settled on my lungs. I found every indication of the first stage of consumption, and, like many others, when almost too late, commenced to doctor up. I tried many remedies, but got no better; I was almost satisfied I was incurable. Accidentally I heard of your Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and as a forlorn hope bought a bottle. I immediately felt relieved. After taking five (5) bottles I am cured, and never felt better in my life. I would heartily recommend your Hypophosphites.
w47d115.2w Respectfully yours, W. ELDRIDGE.

It is said by many, first try one remedy, and then another, but we find in the great majority of cases that those who try Hagyard's Yellow Oil for all purposes of a Liniment, have no use for any other preparation, it does its work so effectually that none others need to be applied. It is equally good for man or beast, and can be used internally for Croup, Whooping Cough, and Asthma, externally for Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises, Chilblains, Burns, Scalds, and all Pains and Aches, from whatever cause they may occur. Sold by all dealers at 25 cents per bottle. w47d115-2w

A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—3 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Force says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, so far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavored, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present sold in England at $20 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, last season, at the rate of 86 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardiest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kaempferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomoea leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Roe's New Ageratum, bearing the largest flower of any of the Ageratums.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B. The above collection of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would leave unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Tyrant," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved satisfactory, until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable. d195-w45-1m

CABLE.

AUSTRALIAN WHEAT FOR EXPORT.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The agent-general for South Australia has received a telegram from Colly, stating that reaping has commenced in the northern districts. It is estimated there will be 375,000 tons of wheat for export.

LOANS FOR THE TENANTS.

DUBLIN, Nov. 24.—Mr. Parnell will visit Daly and Davitt to-day. The report is current that the Government has arranged to advance money to the tenants on the security of their landlord to be repaid in a term of years. Mr. Parnell denies that he has advised the tenants never to pay their taxes.

TEN THOUSAND PRESENT.

At a land meeting to-day at Aghadower, near Castlebar, County Mayo, 10,000 persons were present.

MR. GLADSTONE IN SCOTLAND.

EDINBURGH, Nov., 24.—Mr. Gladstone is expected to-day. Great preparations have been made to give him a tremendous reception. Liberal Edinburgh will turn out by thousands. He is not expected to open the electoral battle till Tuesday, when he will address the electors of Edinburgh in the Music Hall. On his arrival to-day, he will be met at the station by the Earl of Rosebery, and driven directly out to the Earl's seat at Dalmeny Park, where he will rest after his journey. It is almost impossible to over-state the enthusiasm of Scottish Liberals over the coming election contest.

ARRAIGNMENT OF THE PRISONERS.

DUBLIN, Nov. 24.—The prisoners arrested last week were charged before the magistrates at Sligo to-day with sedition. The enquiry will be very protracted. Mr. Parnell and a number of priests were present. There was no demonstration. The prisoners were brought to court under a heavy escort. A great crowd is in Sligo. Extra police have been drafted.

OUT OF GAOL INTO PARLIAMENT.

After the policemen present at the meeting had been examined, Mr. Monroe appeared for the committal of Daly, who was accordingly committed for trial, bail being accepted. Killen and Davitt were remanded for further examination. On the news of Daly's liberation reaching Castlebar there were great rejoicings. Illuminations were prepared to celebrate his arrival. Mayo will insist upon his being its future representative in Parliament.

CONFERENCE WITH BEACONSFIELD.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The prominent Home Ruler, whose presence Lord Beaconsfield requested at his official residence on Saturday, is Mr. Philip Callan, the member for Dundalk. Mr. Callan laid before Lord Beaconsfield the results of a minute personal examination in the north-west and western districts of Ireland, which showed the farmers and laborers in the remote mountainous districts needed help in the way of both food and fuel.

THE DUKE OF CUMBERLAND.

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—It is asserted the Duke of Cumberland has become reconciled to the thought of renouncing his claim to the throne of Hanover and accepting as a compromise a guarantee of succession to the dukedom of Brunswick.

DEFEAT OF PERU AND BOLIVIA.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Despatches received today from Valparaiso confirm the anticipation, which have been entertained for some time, of the result of the pending land battle between the united forces of Peru and Bolivia and the Chilian army. A pitched battle has been fought before Iquique, which has resulted in the crushing and overwhelming defeat of the allied armies The defeat of the allies was most disastrous, and if the despatches are to be fully credited, nearly one-half of the Peruvian and Bolivian troops were destroyed. The generalship of the Chilian commanders proved to be far superior to that of their antagonists, and the bravery of the allies was not a sufficient match for the skilfulness of their opponents. The popularity of the Chilian Government in consequence of this splendid victory is greatly enhanced, and the journals which sought to dissuade the Government from aggressive military measures are now suffering under a weight of reversal of public feeling.

AMERICAN.

THE LATTER DAY SAINTS.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 23.—One hundred and twenty Latter Day Saints from the Southern States left here on Saturday, en route to San Luis Valley, Colorado, where there is already a colony of 300 to 400. This is the fifth party from the South this season. They get cheap lands from Colorado, and conform to the law, prohibiting polygamy.

GEN. SICKLES' DAUGHTER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A World's Washington special says that the statement that Gen. Sickles' daughter has eloped with a man named McCarthy is generally credited in Washington among the members of the foreign legation. It is stated that the elopement has been planning for the last two years. McCarthy is a handsome, well educated man. He visited Washington in 1871 and claimed that he served under Maximillian in Mexico and escorted the Princess Salm Salm out of that country. He organized the Texas Land and Copper Company, which was a bubble that cost its members a good deal of money. He afterwards made a fortune as chief of the mining bureau in Chicago and there married his present wife. He has another wife in Canada. He obtained $20,000 from a Spanish Minister in 1877 on forged letters relating to Cuban affairs. It is rumored that a girl, formerly well known to Washington society, was a confidant of Miss Sickles in Paris, and aided her in meeting McCarthy. McCarthy was once arrested in New York for a diamond robbery, but acquitted.

A MILLIONAIRE'S WILL.

The will of the late James McKenna, brass founder, disposes of property valued at a million. Five nephews and nieces get $20,000 each; three of his workmen $500 each; four Roman Catholic churches of this city, $2,500; and two Roman Catholic charitable institutions, $1,000 each. The residue of the estate goes to his brother and sister.

POLICE ARRESTS.

The number of arrests by the police of this city during the year ending October 31st, was 68,000, including 18,000 females.

RIVAL CONSULS.

The revolution in San Domingo has resulted in giving two rival consuls from that republic to New York. Hippoato Bellino, who represents the old government, is recognized by the American Government.

A CASE OF SUICIDE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Eliza Burghayer, aged 22 years, who was employed as a domestic in Jersey city, was found in the basement of her residence with her throat cut and her head nearly severed from the body. The police think it is a case of suicide.

A CELEBRATED LIBRARY.

The sale of Bayard Taylor's library commenced yesterday at auction in this city. Low prices were received.

TWO CENT POSTAL CARDS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The Tribune's Washington despatch says that the two cent postal cards will be ready on Dec. 1st. They will be available without an additional stamp for use in all the countries of the postal union.

LOST IN THE STORM.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The barque Havana which has arrived from Havana, reports the loss of two seamen on Saturday in a storm.

A BOXING BOUT'S RESULTS.

Ex-Coroner J. Mahon, of Jersey City, known in sporting circles as "Steve Taylor," in a boxing bout in a variety theatre of this city, on Thursday evening, suffered the rupture of a blood vessel in his nose. His condition is critical.

A CONFESSED THIEF.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Albert Lavergne, aged 30 years, called upon the police last night, and stated that in 1876 he was in the jewelry business with his brother-in-law in Paris. He was given $30,000 worth of diamonds to sell to a party but sailed for this country under the name of Abraham Levy. He sold the property in New York and the Black Hills, and squandered the money. Finding himself penniless he decided to give himself up. The French Consul will dispose of the matter.

PAUPER IMMIGRATION.

The commissioners of emigration have written to Evarts, calling attention to the increased number of paupers and cripples, adults and children constantly arriving from Italy, serving under a species of servitudes. Evarts promises his co-operation in the endeavor to stop the evil, a bill for the purpose will be introduced next Congress. Instances are frequent of poor authorities shipping their paupers here.

THE COMING MESSAGE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The President's message is in type but telegrams purporting to give its substance are purely imaginary. It will recommend that no Financial Legislation whatever be had.

"WHAT'S IN A NAME?"

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Frank Leslie, the publisher has began suit against his son Henry and other, to restrain them from publishing a pictorial weekly paper with the name of Frank Leslie's as part of the title. Henry claims that he has been frequently known as Frank Leslie jr., and is entitled to use of the name.

NEGRO EXODUS.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 25.—Trustworthy information from Mississippi says the colored exodus is ended for the present. The negroes say that the demeanor of the whites toward them has changed for the better, and their bulldozing has ceased.

TEA, COFFEE AND SUGAR DUTIES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Three millions have been saved to the government by the new regulations for weighing and grading imported sugars Many congressmen favor the removal of the duty on tea and coffee to supply the deficit caused by the reduction. Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1879.

THE TORONTO AND OTTAWA RAILWAY.

THE Belleville Intelligencer, as well as some other papers along the lake shore, is becoming excited beyond all show of reason over that dreadful Toronto and Ottawa Railway.

The Intelligencer copies from the REVIEW of the 21st instant, the following innocent and apparently harmless language:—

> "No doubt there is a growing feeling in the minds of the people of Peterborough that they would gladly see progress made in that portion of the road, which they have always thought the most valuable, namely the connection with Ottawa on the one hand and with the Midland main line at Omemee on the other. It is felt that it would be foolish to wait longer for Toronto, which has declined connection with us, and that it would be well to look to our own interests without reference to the selfish views of the Provincial capital."

And forthwith it deduces these exceedingly peculiar conclusions. (1) That the Company has abandoned their enterprise, except from Peterborough to Ottawa. (2) That the promoters have been representing their intention of building a road from Toronto to Ottawa, and thereby misleading the people. (3) That the road from Peterborough to Ottawa would be of no use, and could not be sustained for want of traffic. And, unmasking in conclusion the cloven foot, (4) that it is much better for the people of this Town and County to abandon the project, and come to the rescue of Belleville and their pet scheme, the Grand Junction Railway.

The policy of the promoters of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway is perfectly well understood all along the line of the projected road, and the President of the Company has stated it fully and fairly all along the line, from Ottawa to Toronto, at every meeting he has attended, and that policy is to obtain the municipal aid for as much of the line as possible before the ensuing session of the Legislature, with a view to then making application for Provincial aid. It is expected that by that time about a million of dollars will have been obtained outside of the city of Toronto. With that amount of aid, and reasonable assistance from the Government, the Company believe in their ability to complete the entire road. It was also stated at Ottawa, and all other meetings, that should the Government not aid the westerly portion of the road at present, by reason of the assistance from Toronto being wanting by the next session of the Legislature, there was no reasonable doubt but that the construction of the eastern section being once under way, it would seem to the people of Toronto their manifest interest to assist in completing the road to Toronto at the earliest possible moment.

This being the well understood policy of the Company as gathered from the public utterance of the promoters, what is there in the above harmless extract at all inconsistent with that policy? Under that policy the Intelligencer would remember that Ottawa has voted $200,000, Lanark, $75,000; and about another $100,000 is now in course of being voted, and although the Intelligencer may for the moment rest under the impression that outside of Belleville, and the railway influence there, the human intellect is somewhat defective, we nevertheless venture to point out that in all these localities there are very clever, shrewd, and far-seeing men, upon whom the interested appeal of the Intelligencer will have but an indifferent influence.

Our contemporary seems to be under the impression that no aid has been voted between Peterborough and Toronto, he will be surprised to learn that all the bonuses have been carried between these points. He seems also to be much concerned by the fact of their being no possibility of reaching a million of dollars without the aid of Toronto; he may be surprised to learn that by the end of the year there will have been voted within about $50,000 of the million, and that the company will not be at all dependent upon Toronto for procuring the million. The Intelligencer respectfully asks, with that concern for our welfare here that is truly gushing, that the people have an opportunity of voting again on our county and town by-laws. Such a reasonable and wholly disinterested request may probably be gratified.

The incessant carping, the unfair and unmanly opposition which the papers along the front have indulged in with reference to the Toronto and Ottawa Road from its inception until now, should of itself be sufficient evidence of the interest they have in defeating the scheme and keeping the back country for ever tributary to these fine gentlemen on the front. As the prospects of the road are brightening and doubts yielding to certainty, the dreadful Toronto and Ottawa is a most disturbing element with our contemporary. In the suggestion that a road from Omemee to Ottawa would not be a serviceable road, the fact seems to have been forgotten that it would connect the Quebec with the Ontario system and give a through connection in competition to the Grand Trunk by a distance not any greater than by the Grand Trunk from Toronto to Ottawa, although of course not quite as short as by the direct route.

The article in the Intelligencer is no doubt now put forward in order to affect the voting on Friday next in several municipalities, and at a time when there is no opportunity of disabusing the minds of the people of its many absurdities before the election on these by-laws.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

THE Town Council last night certainly did one good thing in memorializing the Dominion authorities in favour of the Trent Valley Canal, and voting a contribution in aid of the preliminary expenses. The minor municipalities of the County of Peterborough should now do their part in forwarding this undertaking. It will not be long before the delegation may be received at Ottawa, and the Reeves should at once call a meeting to choose delegates. The only expenses they will be expected to incur, is the personal expenses of such delegates, and this is a very small matter in comparison with the good that must result to the whole district from the construction and maintenance of an important work.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

THE AUTHORITIES CORDIALLY SUPPORTING THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL

More Buncombe Talk to the Electors—The Assessment and Collector's Rolls—The Auditor's Proceedings—Tax Remissions.

The Council met on Monday evening, Nov. 24th, pursuant to adjournment.

Present the Mayor and Councillors Cahill, Taylor, Smith, McBain, Rutherford, Robertson, Denne and Griffith.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From W. Mills and Jas. Hogan asking to have access to the town books till seven o'clock, as they were delayed by having to give them up at 4 o'clock.

From W. H. Moore asking to have a fence on Rubidge street removed. Referred to the Street Inspector.

From John McMahon in regard to some taxes improperly claimed from him.

From Thos. Pratt as to an error in his tax paper.

From Michael Heffernan asking for remission of taxes.

From John Morrisey calling attention to the case of a destitute Frenchman whom he had kept for 10 days, and asking for remuneration.

From J. J. Lundy, Chairman and H. H. Smith, Secretary, as to the Trent Valley Canal scheme, asking for a memorial to be adopted, a deputation to be appointed to go to Ottawa and for financial aid.

From Eliza Johnston asking for remission of taxes.

From J. S. Bird complaining of the dog tax of a departed tenant being placed against his property.

The communications as to taxes were referred to the Finance Committee.

THE AUDITORS.

Councillor SMITH said they could not expect the Town Clerk to wait till such a late hour.

The CLERK said he was willing to come at eight o'clock in the morning, and stop an hour later in the afternoon.

Councillor RUTHERFORD asked if the auditors were legally appointed.

The MAYOR said he believed there was some doubt in the case of Mr. Mills, on account of his having been a councillor.

Councillor ROBERTSON said, it was quite as illegal for the Mayor to sit in that chair when he was a commissioner of the Town Trust.

Councillor DENNE accused Councillor Rutherford, and others of wishing to check enquiry.

Councillor SMITH said he thought Mr. Mills' appointment was legal, and no technicalities should be used to check enquiry. He then made a personal explanation, denying a charge which had been made against him of having moved against the Treasurer, because he was of a different political party, in order to remove him, and to have a friend appointed in his place. He denied this emphatically, on the contrary, he had always supported the Treasurer for his present position, in spite of pressure brought to bear upon him on more than one occasion.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Councillor SMITH explained the action the Trent Canal Committee had taken in regard to interesting other municipalities, &c. He read letters and extracts of others from members of parliament, showing the interest that was felt in the project. He asked them to pass the memorial, to appoint delegates, and to vote a sum for preliminary expences. He moved, seconded by Councillor ROBERTSON,—That the Treasurer be and is hereby instructed to place to the credit of the committee appointed, to promote the construction of the Trent Valley Canal the sum of $150, as requested in the communication from the Chairman and Secretary of said committee. Carried.

Councillor CAHILL also spoke in favor of the grant, dwelling on the benefit that such a work would render this neighborhood. He related a conversation with Mr. McQuade, who was strongly in favor of the project.

The motion was carried.

HUNTER STREET BRIDGE.

The CLERK read the report of the Special Committee on the Hunter Street Bridge contract as follows:—

The Special Committee on the Hunter Street Bridge contract met this day. Present, the Mayor and Messrs. Denne, Douglas and Taylor. After having heard explanations from Mr. Ranney, the engineer, Street Inspector Johnston and the contractors, it was decided to recommend payment of the balance due on contract, say one hundred and four dollars, the amount claimed for extras not being allowed.

JOHN J. LUNDY,
Chairman pro tem.

After a short discussion the report was adopted.

THE ASSESSMENT ROLLS.

Councillor CAHILL read a report of the Town Treasurer to the Finance Committee, which they had instructed him to lay before the Council.

To the Finance Committee of the Town Council of the Town of Peterborough:—

GENTLEMEN,—In respect to the list of apparent discrepancies and errors of assessment given me by the committee to investigate and report upon, I beg leave to do so as follows, viz:—

The case of Geo. Tanner in 1871 is correct.

1872. That of James Alexander is also correct, $800 is the proper amount for which he was assessed.

1874. Stenson, Robert & Son, is paid and entered so.

1875. Burnham, Rev. Mark, paid his taxes, and although so marked and entered, it is not debited on the Collector's Roll for that year.

1874.—Stenson, Jas. T., gave a cheque to the Collector for 1874 for the full amount of his taxes.

1876. John Elder also gave a check to the Collector for his taxes for 1876.

The two last parties appear to have paid no taxes in the years named.

The 5 parties above them paid a part only. The 2 above them seem to have paid in full, but are credited only in part. The others are referred to above.

Respectfully submitted,

J. EDWARDS,
Treasurer.

Councillor DENNE said it was now clear that there were blunders. As to the case of the Rev. Mark Burnham the amount had been inserted afterwards. The Treasurer when asked said it had been added by the Collector. The report was received.

BOX FOR TENDERS.

Councillor ROBERTSON'S resolution to have a box for holding tenders, of which he had given notice, was carried.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Memorials in favour of the Trent Valley Canal to the Dominion Government and to the Minister of Railways and Canals, were signed and sealed.

THE ASSESSORS.

Councillor DENNE moved, seconded by Councillor ROBERTSON, that the Clerk be instructed to present the address with an account of the omission of takes in account of the Dickson estate for the assessment of 1879, and report to the Council at its next meeting.—Carried.

ACCOUNTS.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor TAYLOR, that the following accounts be paid:—

Wm. Helm repairing watercart	$ 3.00
McKee & Davidson, hardware	12.26
Toker & Co., printing	1.50
" " stationery	2.75

ARREARS OF TAXES.

Councillor ROBERTSON moved, seconded by Councillor DENNE,—That the Collector be instructed not to press Messrs. John McMahon and Montgomery for their arrears of taxes till after the present audit is made.—Carried.

TREASURER'S BONDS.

Councillor MCBAIN called attention again to the Treasurer's bonds.

OPEN MEETINGS.

Councillor ROBERTSON moved for the first reading of a by-law to amend the by-law providing for meeting of Committees.

The motion was lost on a division.

Councillor CAHILL moved that in future all matters of business coming before this Council be disposed of in open Council, and that referring matters to committees be abandoned.

He thought it was not right to make Committee meetings public, as it was inconvenient in the case of contractors and other matters. If they were to do all their business in public, they might as well do it in open Council without Committees.

Councillor DENNE seconded the motion, saying they should act in public.

Councillor ROBERTSON called attention to the practice in Toronto.

Councillor SMITH said it would interfere with the public business. There were cases in which they had to make investigations, have parties before them to explain matters, and other things, which could not be so well discussed in public.

Councillors DENNE and GRIFFITH supported the motion.

Councillor RUTHERFORD showed the inconvenience that would arise if this important change were made. They could not sift matters so well in public.

The MAYOR, after some further discussion, ruled the motion out of order, as a by-law would be needed.

The Council then adjourned for two weeks.

DISHONEST TACTICS.

The Hamilton Spectator says:—

"It appears now that the Toronto Globe, Stratford Beacon and Hamilton Times were astray in their conclusions concerning the Paris pork factory, which they proclaimed had been wiped out of existence by the N. P. The proprietor of the establishment says that he is fully satisfied with the N.P., and that so far from injuring him it has done him good, and he confidently expects that it will enable him to do an unprecedentedly large and profitable business as soon as the season opens this year. If his business has been killed he has not been notified of the fact. The system of misrepresentation concerning the effects of the tariff seems to be growing chronic with our Grit confreres. If they go on this way they may in time come to themselves believe the falsehoods they utter, but repeated exposures will prevent the public from doing so."

From the age of 16 to 80.

Thousands of people, from the age of sixteen to eighty years, are suffering from kidney complaints and other diseases arising from derangement of the urinary organs, who would be relieved by a few doses of Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi, and a permanent cure made by the use of a few bottles. Price, $1. 115,47-2w

It is said by many, first try one remedy, and then another, but we find in the great majority of cases that those who try Hagyard's Yellow Oil for all purposes of a liniment, have no use for any other preparation, it does its work so effectually that none others need to be applied. It is equally good for man or beast, and can be used internally for Croup, Whooping Cough, and Asthma, externally for Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises, Chilblains, Burns, Scalds, and all Pains and Aches, from whatever cause they may occur. MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

ANTI-FAT.

The subject of obesity and its treatment has of late years received much attention both from doctors and their patients. The interest excited by the appearance of Mr. Banting's "Letter on Corpulence" will not be readily forgotten. The medicinal agents most commonly employed in the treatment of this condition are acids—chiefly in the form of lemon juice and vinegar—strong alkalies, and iodide of potassium. Of late, however, a preparation known as "anti-fat" has been extensively advertised, both in this country and in America, possessing, if we may accept the statements of the proprietors, very remarkable powers in removing that super-abundance of fat which is so frequently a source of anxiety and discomfort to those who indulge too freely in the pleasures of the table. Anti-fat is said to be a fluid extract of Fucus vesiculosus, a common sea weed, known in this country as sea wrack or bladder wrack, and in France as Chene marin or Laitue marine. It is largely employed on the coasts of Scotland and France in the preparation of kelp; while in Ireland, curiously enough, it is found to be invaluable for fattening pigs. It contains, as might be expected, large quantities of iodine, chiefly, according to Gaultier de Claubry, in the form of iodide of potassium.

Fucus vesiculosus was at one time officinal in the Dublin Pharmacopœia, and is by no means a new remedy. Pliny describes it under the name of Quercus marina, and says that it is useful for pains in the joints and limbs. In the eighteenth century it was largely employed by Gaubius, Aunel, Baster, and others, in the treatment of scrofula, bronchocele, and enlarged glands, and even for scirrhous tumors. Its charcoal, known as Æthiops vegetabilis, was used in the same class of cases. The fucus has also been found useful in skin diseases and asthma. On the discovery of iodide, in 1811, by Courtois, the salpeter manufacturer of Paris, it for a time fell into disrepute. In the year 1862 its use was revived by Professor Duchesne-Duparc, of Paris, who, while using it experimentally in the treatment of psoriasis, found that it possessed the singular property of causing the absorption of fat.

The fucus can be taken either as an infusion made by steeping half an ounce or a small handful in a pint of boiling water, or in the form of pill or liquid extract. The dose of the infusion is about a cupful, but it is so abominably nasty that few people can be induced to take it. The pills contain each three grains of the alcoholic extract; and, to begin with, one is taken in the morning, an hour at least before breakfast, and another in the evening, about three hours after dinner. The dose is increased by a pill a day, until the patient is taking ten every morning and evening. It is directed that ten pills should be taken dans la meme seance, and that a greater interval should not be allowed to elapse between each pill than is necessary for the the process of deglutition. The fluid extract may be given in drachm doses, and its is said the best results are obtained when both the solid and liquid extracts are taken. In favourable cases the sufferer may expect a reduction in weight of from 2 to 5 pounds a week. Unfortunately, however, the fucus appears to be somewhat tardy in its action, and the patient should lay in a good stock of the drug before commencing treatment. In successful cases one of the earliest effects is an excessive diuresis, and the urine is said to become covered with a film of a beautiful nacreous aspect. In one carefully recorded case the patient did not observe this, but noticed that his water was very high-colored, and that its odor was extremely offensive. The next action of the drug is usually on the bowels, and the patient has many calls to relieve himself, without, however, being able to pass anything more than a little mucus. Sometimes the feet and body exhale a peculiar fusty smell, so that the patient is a nuisance both to himself and friends. After this, as a rule, the reduction in weight takes place. Occasionally, however, the opposite effect is produced, and the patient gets stouter than ever; in fact, fucus has been recommended as an "anti-lean."

By some authorities it is stated that the fucus should be gathered at the period of fructification about the end of June, and that it ought to be rapidly dried in the sun; while other and equally eminent authorities insist that it should be gathered only in September, and that it should be allowed to dry slowly in the shade, a high temperature, according to them, destroying its active properties. It is generally agreed, however, that the roots and stalks should be rejected, and that the fucus gathered on the west coast is superior to that of the east. We understand that as a matter of fact most of our fucus comes from Billingsgate market, it being extensively employed for packing fish.

It must be confessed that we know little or nothing of the mode of action of this remarkable drug. We are told that it "stimulates the absorbents," but that is throwing very little light on the subject. What we want is a real, sound systematic study of its uses and properties, both in the physiological laboratory and at the bedside. When it has been thoroughly and carefully worked out, as so many drugs have been of late years—pilocarpine and gelsemin, for example—we shall be able to form an opinion as to its value, but at present we are quite in the dark.—London Lancet.

HOW TO GET EGGS IN WINTER.

The farmer who leaves his poultry to roost in the apple-tree at the corner of the barn, and to pick up their living at the pigs' trough and in the barnyard, may (says an American contemporary) occasionally get an egg in winter. But as a matter of fact there is on most farms a great dearth of eggs from November to March. With a warm shelter and suitable feed, pullets that begin to lay in the fall will continue to lay through the winter. It is mainly a question of feed. The staple feed is Indian corn, especially in the West, because it is the most plentiful and the most convenient. It furnishes plenty of fat and keeps up the heat of the fowls, but is poor in albumen and the phosphates. They want a variety of grains and vegetables, and, to do their best, one feed daily of warm cooked meal and vegetables. Most farmers have milk, and if this can be added it will be all they need. Butchers' scrap cake is good, and may safely be kept in the poultry yard, where the fowls can help themselves at pleasure. Boiled potatoes or turnips, mashed and mixed with Indian meal, make an excellent feed for laying hens. Fowls are particularly fond of cabbages and turnips at all stages of their growth, and eat them raw greedily every day if they can get them. We have found so good results from feeding cabbages to laying hens that we always lay in a good supply for the winter. Refuse from the butchers, and offal from the fish market, also furnish good material for making eggs. These are accessible to most villages, and can be had at a small cost. A hen is only a machine for producing eggs. If you want the finished product, you must put the raw material into the hopper. It should not be forgotten that there is a liberal grinding going on in the gizzard, and the laying bird should have free access to gravel, with sharp grit, broken oyster and clam shells, which assist in reducing the grain and forming egg shell. With a plentiful supply of egg-producing food, hens will lay well in winter, when eggs bring the highest price.

Fever and Ague.

There are some situations where fever and ague prevails every season, and this is the case in the vicinity of creeks and swamps. An acquaintance of ours, who has resided for several years on one of these creeks, never has had a single case of fever and ague in his family, while all his neighbors have been more or less affected with it every season. He attributes his immunity from this troublesome disease to the use of a good fire in his house every chilly and damp night in summer and fall.

ENGLAND.

THE Bishop of London has 475 churches and upwards of 25 chapels on his visitation list, and until this year had no coadjutor.

THE Liverpool Corporation has purchased the local tramways for £30,000, the company getting seventeen years' lease of all the new lines.

DR. W. GRACE, the champion cricketer, has been appointed by the Bristol Board of Guardians as medical officer of the parish of St. Philip, Clifton.

A BEQUEST of £42,000 has been left to the town of Brighton for various charitable and public purposes by the late Mr. W. E. Davis, once known as the "Leviathan Bookmaker."

MRS. BUTLER, painter of the "Roll Call," has been commanded by the Queen to paint the portraits of the more prominent of those who took part in the defence of Rorke's Drift.

THE celebrated chestnut at Totworth, which was said, half a century ago, to be the oldest tree in England, still stands, the pride of its noble owner (Earl Ducie) and the boast of the district. Its present dimensions are as follows:—Circumference, three feet from the ground, [illegible] feet; spread of branches from north to south, 86 feet; from east to west, 88 feet.

ON the spot where Thomas Clarkson, the English philanthropist, resolved to devote his life to bringing about the abolition of the slave trade, has just been erected an obelisk bearing an inscription recording that resolve. It is on the roadside where Clarkson rested while on a horseback journey from Cambridge to London in 1785. The stone was erected by Mr. Arthur Giles Potter, and was solemnly unveiled in the presence of a large company.

THE family of Lampton, in England, have had an uninterrupted possession of the estate of their name from the twelfth century—a very rare instance of continuity. The Earl of Durham is the present head. The family was only ennobled in 1828 in the person of the well-known Governor-General of Canada, son-in-law of Earl Grey of Reform bill fame. The first Earl was an ardent reformer, and the present supports the Liberals. His house, Lambton Castle, a magnificent abode, has, through some blunder, been so honeycombed by collieries, that it has to be supported by enormous massive underground pillars. The Earl is one of the half dozen greatest colliery owners in England.

THE death was announced lately at the Chorlton Board of Guardians, of Charles Cartwright, aged 64, who has been for many years an inmate of the workhouse, and for some time past had held an office of a subordinate kind in the house. It was stated that he had run through two fortunes of £40,000 and £20,000 each. He lived contentedly in the workhouse, and employed a portion of his time in writing poetry, and also sermons for some clergymen with whom he was connected. When in possession of his wealth he drove regularly to his works in a carriage drawn by four horses, and he seemed unable to restrain his extravagance when temporarily out of the workhouse. At one time his friends allowed him £1 a week, which, according to the clerk to the guardians, he used to spend in driving about in cabs, smoking expensive cigars, or dining at the most expensive restaurants.

Petroleum as a Remedy for Consumption.

Dr. M. M. Griffith, of Bradford, Pa., reports some astonishing results obtained by the administration of crude petroleum to consumptives. He claims that out of 25 cases of well-marked tuberculosis so treated 20 are to all means of diagnosis cured; the rest have been materially benefitted; and none have been under treatment more than four months. The nausea attending the use of ordinary crude petroleum led him to adopt the semi-solid oil that forms on the casing and tubing of wells. This, made into three to five grain pills by incorporating any inert vegetable powder, was administered from three to five times a day in one pill doses. The first effect, he says, is the disappearance of the cough; night sweats are relieved, appetite improves, and weight is rapidly gained.

It is to be hoped that Dr. Griffith has not mistaken some self-limiting phase of throat or bronchial consumption of the lungs; also that continued trial of the alleged remedy will justify the high opinion he has formed in regard to its efficacy.

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head.

OR A WISE PRECAUTION

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhoea, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is SCOTT & BOWNE'S EMULSION OF PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. Price 25 cents. d136-w65-1m

BOTH for $2.80!

☞To Farmers and Horticulturists

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.50! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—2 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. B. Force says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, as far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavoured, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $30 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, last season, at the rate of 86 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kaempferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomœa leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1879.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

Volunteer Drill.

Companies one and two of the 57th, have made arrangements for drilling every Thursday night during the winter, in the Drill Shed.

Skating Rink Water Works.

The water pipes were all completed yesterday, and are now ready for use, when needed in letting in the water for freezing. The hose to be used for the purpose is already on hand.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons.

On enquiring at Messrs. Wilson & Davis', we learned that a great number of seats had already been taken for Thursday night. Those who wish to have a favourable opportunity of hearing and seeing Mrs. Scott-Siddons should secure their seats at once.

Weights and Measures.

We learn that the Inspector of Weights and Measures at Belleville, seized several illegal measures in the market of that city, on Saturday. It would be well to accept this as a caution, that measures and weights not authorised by the law will not be tolerated.

Company No. 3, 57th Battalion.

Company No. 3 of the 57th battalion meet this evening for drilling, at the Drill Shed. Ashburnham. The Gas Company have been putting in the gas and expect to have it all ready for use to-night. The company are making strenuous efforts to excell their comrades in the other companies in their drill. They had better look to their laurels.

Lumber Shipments.

The lumber shipments from this point have not yet closed for the season. A train of platform cars passed up to Lakefield this morning. Others are loading at the station and at the upper mills. There is a large amount of business being done by the Midland for this season of the year; a considerable increase upon former years.

The Midland Poultry Association.

The Midland Central Poultry Association will meet this evening at the Town Hall at half-past seven o'clock. The members are reminded that business of great importance will come before the meeting. The selection of judges, and arrangement of the prize lists for the coming annual show are among the matters to be discussed.

A New Window Shade.

Mr. John Watson, the sign and ornamental painter has just completed a new and beautiful window shade for Messrs. J. D. Tully & Co., which is very attractive. The ground work is a pale blue. The lettering, "Chemists and Druggists," is in gold leaf, and shaded dark blue. The bordering is gold leaf and vermilion, and dark blue shading, with handsome border pieces. This is another evidence of the superior workmanship of our own artists.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: brisk south-westerly to north-westerly winds; partly cloudy, colder weather, with snow flurries in some localities. Storm signals continue on the lakes. Peterborough escaped the rain fall predicted yesterday. Last night was a pleasant one. This morning was cloudy to partly cloudy, with occasional snow flurries. The warm, congenial sunshine of a part of the day has thawed the snow; but in the afternoon the weather became colder, with the wind coming out from the north-west.

Assaulting School Children.

We have lately heard great complaints of the conduct of some boys living in the neighborhood of the South Ward School. It appears they do not attend the school themselves, but take delight in assaulting the children who are regular attenders. In one instance at least they committed a violent assault on one of the pupils, and threats of what they will do in the future have been freely used. We have had the names of three of them given to us for publication, but for the present we have determined to withold them, both to give them another chance, and also to spare if possible the friends and relations whom they seem resolved to disgrace. We hear that the School Board is determined to try an appeal to the law if this misconduct continues.

SKATING AND CURLING.

Arrangements for the Coming Season—Programme of Curling and Skating.

The admirers of the skatorial art will no doubt be pleased to learn that arrangements for the coming season are about completed. At the Annual meeting of the Company held last month the financial statement was presented showing the enterprise to have proved a financial success, so much so that the management have deemed it advisable to offer further attraction to their patrons for the season of 1879 and 1880. It appears quite evident that the Directors do not wish to extract from the public more than will pay interest on the outlay, from the fact that they have placed the season tickets within almost everybody's reach, viz:—Gentlemen, $3.00; ladies, $2.00; children under twelve, $1.50; family tickets, first two in the family, full rates, and all over two half rates. Members of the Curling Club wishing to skate can procure a season skating ticket at $2.00. The management have secured the services of the Fire Brigade Band to play on Friday evening of each week, from 7.30 till 10 p.m., also on all carnival nights, which of itself will be a great improvement on last season. For the past month the building has undergone a thorough overhauling. The dressing rooms have been changed, the curling rink ceilings have been whitewashed, and the flooding apparatus is all completed. Mr. A. Stewart has been appointed as caretaker, and Mr. Gouldie as his assistant. They will attend to the carrying out of a few important arrangements which the Directors have made, such as sweeping the skating rink at intervals during the evening, &c. Mr. J. I. Davidson and Wilson & Davis are authorised to sell tickets. There are other detailed improvements which would take up too much space to enumerate.

"SANDY AND THE STANES"

seem inclined to create a "furore" during the season. Already they have been to work arranging for a grand "bon-speil," to be held about the 15th of January, 1880, when it is expected that eighty brooms will be in motion on the ice at the same time.

The Peterborough Curling Club offer a silver cup, valued at fifty dollars, for competition by clubs of this district, and invitations have been sent out, asking the different clubs to participate. Satisfactory answers have been received from the following clubs:—Orillia, Bowmanville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Newcastle, Lindsay and Keene, who have all intimated their intention of participating in the contest. This "bon-speil" will, no doubt, be the leading feature of the season. A silver cup, now held by Mr. J. F. Dennistoun, will be played for by points by all members of the club. There is also a silver medal, held by the enthusiastic President of the Club, Mr. Adam Hall, which will be played for by what is termed the thirteen point game. The Managing Committee have procured four champion belts, now on exhibition in Davidson's bookstore window, to be held by the victorious rink, who are bound by the conditions governing the right of possession, to accept all challenges, and, in the event of a defeat, to take off the belt and hand it over to the victor. The outlook for the coming season is cheering, and it is hoped that a larger number than last year will avail themselves of the opportunity of participating in these healthful exercises.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

TUESDAY, Nov. 25.—The Police Magistrate sat this morning, and heard several cases. The first case was that of Constable McGhee vs. C. Daly. The complaint charges the defendant with having been drunk and disorderly on the public streets. It is further charged that the defendant failed to obey the summons to appear on the third of October last. In answer to these charges, the defendant acknowledged the drinking, but to the charge of not obeying the summons, he said he did not want his name to appear in the papers. This, the Magistrate said, was his own fault. He had nothing to do with the papers, and if he would get drunk he must expect to have his name appear in the papers. He was fined $1, and $4 costs.

THE NUISANCE CASE.

The case of McDonald vs. Dudsford was again enlarged until December 9th, awaiting the action of the Town Council.

COUNTY JUDGE'S CRIMINAL COURT.

JUDGE DENNISTOUN held a county judge's criminal court this morning.

ALBERT MCCUTCHEON pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing $19 and a pistol from Wm. Moore in Otonabee. He was sentenced to three years in the Reformatory.

MARGARET MCCUTCHEON pleaded not guilty. Mr. Moore and Constable Cook, and Esau Tucker gave evidence of the facts. The judge found her guilty of receiving the property, knowing it to be stolen, and sentenced her to one month in the common jail.

I. O. G. T.

The members of Friendship Lodge No. 146, I.O.G.T., will not forget the meeting this evening. Many of the stay-aways have promised to be present. They meet in their Hall on George Street at half-past seven o'clock. Good Templars of other lodges will meet a cordial welcome.

Air as a Stimulant.

The exciting and stimulating properties of pure oxygen are well known, and every one has felt the invigorating influence of fresh air, yet no particular application has been made of these beneficial properties of a substance so cheap and universal. When the body is weak, the brain fatigued and the whole system in a state of lassitude, just go into the open air, take a few vigorous inspirations and expirations, and the effect will be instantly perceived. The individual trying the experiment will feel invigorated and stimulated, the blood will course with freshness, the lungs will work with increased activity, the whole frame will feel revivified, and nature's stimulant will be found the best.

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

IT is particularly requested that subscribers not receiving the REVIEW regularly will at once make the fact known at this Office, in order that all cause of complaint may be removed as speedily as possible.

MELANCHOLY DISASTER.

THE STEAMER "WAUBUNO" WRECKED NEAR PARRY SOUND.

No Trace of Passengers or Crew—A Former Toronto Journalist Aboard the Ill-Fated Vessel—Large Quantities of Wreckage.

COLLINGWOOD, Nov. 24, (9 a.m.)—Fears are entertained for the safety of the Georgian Bay Transportation Company's steamer Waubuno, which left here on Saturday morning at four o'clock for Parry Sound, as nothing has since been heard of her.

The steamer Magnettawan left here at 10 a.m. on Saturday and arrived at Parry Sound at noon to-day, having laid behind Christian Islands from 12.30 on Saturday till this morning. She reports seeing nothing of the Waubuno.

PARRY SOUND, Nov. 24, (noon).—Considerable excitement was caused here this morning by news from Waubaushene that the wreck and cargo of a steamer supposed to be the Magnettawan had been seen by fishermen in the Georgian Bay yesterday. About two hours after the news first came the Magnettawan arrived all safe, and reported that the steamer Waubuno, owned by the Georgian Bay Transportation Company, left Collingwood about four o'clock Saturday morning, heavily laden with freight and a few passengers, among whom was Mr. B. N. Fisher, editor and proprietor of the North Star, and recently of Toronto. The Magnettawan left Collingwood at 2 p.m. Saturday, and encountered a very heavy sea before she reached Christian Island, where she lay at anchor until this morning, when she came in here without seeing any sign of the Waubuno.

COLLINGWOOD, Nov. 24.—The wrecking tug Mary Ann left here this afternoon in search of the missing steamer Waubuno, but it is expected nothing will be heard from her until to-morrow morning.

The tug Mittie Grew left Parry Sound at 2 p. m. to-day, and returns with the report of finding a metallic lifeboat and portions of flour barrels. The metallic lifeboat could possibly have been washed overboard, not being tied.

LATER PARTICULARS.

PARRY SOUND, Nov. 24.—The tug Mittie Grew just returned and reports having found a portion of the wreck of the steamer Waubuno near the haystacks, about five miles north-west of Moose Point, fifty miles from Collingwood and thirty from Parry Sound. The life boat was found bottom up. The shore of the Islands is strewn with the cargo and wreck of the steamer. No trace of the passengers or crew. The tug returns in the morning to resume the search.

It is supposed the ill-fated steamer had thirteen passengers aboard.

DESCRIPTION OF THE VESSEL.

The Waubuno was built in Thorold in 1865 and was 135 feet in length, by 18 feet 5 inches in breadth, and 7 feet in depth. Her gross tonnage was 465 tons; her registered tonnage being 293 tons. She was regarded as one of the strongest boats on the upper lakes, but it is feared that she was too heavily laden, having a large amount of freight on board. If she had prudently sought the shelter of Christian Island until the gale abated she would have escaped destruction; but, no doubt, the captain had full confidence in her ability to weather any storm she encountered when he proceeded on his perilous journey.

STABBED BY HIS SISTER.

A Very Melancholy Domestic Tragedy near Millbrook.

The residents of Millbrook and its immediate vicinity were painfully startled on Friday night by the report that Mary Hunter had stabbed her brother Samuel in the abdomen, and that the injury he had received was such as precluded the possibility of recovery.

So far as can be ascertained by interviews with the residents of Millbrook and by a special telegram, the Times relates the facts as follows: The father of the brother and sister in this painful case resides within a mile of Millbrook, and is a well-to-do farmer. As is the custom at this season of the people on the farm had been engaged on Friday killing pigs, and the day's work had passed over in a highly satisfactory manner. Towards evening, the family went away from the immediate scene of the day's labors, with the exception of Mary and Samuel. Mary, who is aged about 25, has for some time past been subject to epileptic fits, and their effect on her has been such as to weaken her mind very considerably. She and the brother, on whom she inflicted such terrible injury, have been on the most friendly terms, albeit he is five years her junior. The brother has always been most affectionate in his bearing towards his afflicted sister, and that she, in her right moments, was similarly disposed towards him cannot be doubted.

After the business of the day was concluded the twain stood conversing with one another, when Mary suddenly, and without any momentarily cause became afflicted with one of her serious spells of illness, which make her violent in her temper, and seizing a butcher knife she stabbed her young relative in the abdomen. He sank down with a loud cry, and his sister sat down by his side, but apparently did not realise what she had done. It is supposed that the blood of the pigs, which were killed during the day, had excited her weak mind and overstrung nerves, and that she is not really responsible for the deed.—Port Hope Times.

COBOURG.

BURGLARY.—A heavy silk robbery was perpetrated in the dry goods establishment of P. McCallum & Sons, of this town, sometime between last Saturday night and Monday morning. It is supposed that the perpetrators found access to the store by the workshop, from which entrance was made to the store through an heating register. They then helped themselves to the most valuable silk goods in the warehouse, including a large amount of silk handkerchiefs. They must have been disturbed, for in their hurry they left six pieces of silk on one of the workshop tables. The loss is a heavy one, probably between $1,000 and $2,000, and is the heaviest that has ever occurred in this town. The authorities along the line have been telegraphed to be on the look out, but as yet no clue has been obtained of the guilty parties.

PORT HOPE.

ACCIDENT.—The Guide says:—John Coghlin, an old employee of the Midland Railway Company, had a foot crushed some years ago, and amputation of the leg below the knee having been necessary, he has since worn a wooden leg, and has been employed about the railway yard. On Saturday evening he met with another serious mishap to the same limb. While stepping out of the door of his house, he slipped and fell, breaking the thigh bone. Although doing comparatively well, it will be a long time before he will be able to work again.

Profitable Reading.

In these days all men and women read something, but the trouble is that by reading in a single vein, which so strongly appeals to their individual tastes and personal idiosyncrasies that it is not study at all, they lose their power to study anything else. The rule for successful and profitable reading would, in the light of these facts, seem to be to read only what one does not like to read. That reading which costs no effort, and necessarily dissipates the power of study, is that which we know to be important in itself, and in its bearings upon broad knowledge and culture should most engage our time and attention. The trouble is, not that we do not read enough, but we read so much of that which simply pleases us as to destroy our power to read that which will edify and enlarge us.

24 CHURCHMAN St., Toronto, May 13, 1879.

Messrs. Northrop, Bently & Pearson.

Gentlemen,—Last fall I contracted a severe cold, which, by my neglect, settled on my lungs. I found every indication of the last stage of consumption, and, like many others, when almost too late, commenced to doctor up. I tried many Remedies, but got no better; was almost satisfied I was incurable. Accidentally I heard of your Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and as a forlorn hope bought a bottle. I immediately felt relieved. After taking five (5) bottles I am cured, and never felt better in my life. I would heartily recommend your Hypophosphites.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1879.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

THE inducements held out by all newspapers for new subscribers should be based upon the fact that the larger the circulation the less the cost of each paper, as the cost of editorial labor and composition is the same, whether a large or small number is printed. And as it is only fair that those who have stood by us in the past, through good and evil report, should reap a share of the benefit of an increased circulation, we have determined to make them the following offers:—

With regard to the

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Any person now, and for the last twelve months a subscriber to the WEEKLY REVIEW, who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now or for the last twelve months a subscriber to it, will have the TWO sent to separate addresses for $2.50! Or if accompanied with the names of two other such such persons may have the THREE sent to separate addresses for $3.00!

With regard to the

DAILY REVIEW.

Any person now a subscriber to the DAILY EVENING REVIEW who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now on our subscription list, may have the TWO delivered or sent to separate addresses for six months for $3.50, or for twelve months for $6.00!

CANADIAN TELEGRAMS.

PARRY SOUND.

Special to the Review, Nov. 26.

THE MISSING "WAUBUNO."—The tugs Mittie Grew and Rescue have just arrived. They can find no trace of the passengers of the ill-fated steamer Waubuno. Large quantities of the cargo have been picked up. The Mary Ann left for Collingwood this morning.

OTTAWA.

Special to the Review—Nov. 26.

THE BANQUET.—The arrangements for the banquet to Sir John Macdonald have been completed.

HORSES FOR THE STATES.—Several Americans are in the city buying horses.

CANAL WORKS.—The work on the Grenville Canal will give employment to 200 men this winter. It is said that wages will be fixed at $1.25 per day, an advance of 25 cents over last year.

LUMBER.—Considerable quantities of lumber are being shipped by rail to the American markets.

From the Morning Papers.

PARRY SOUND.

THE MISSING "WAUBUNO."—We had nothing further about the Waubuno on Tuesday than had been sent the previous night. A tug went down this morning with a gang of men. We will send full particulars to-night when the tug returns.

BELLEVILLE.

MINING MACHINERY.—The Intelligencer of Tuesday says:—The new machinery for the Gatling Gold Mining Company, which has been manufactured at Brown's foundry, will be forwarded to-morrow. It weighs in all about seven tons.

PERTH.

TERRIBLE MURDER.—A horrible tragedy was enacted here last night. About 7 o'clock a young man of unsound mind, named Benjamin Mitchell, attacked a lame man named William West, at the latter's house with an axe, striking him several blows with it and breaking in his skull. West lived about an hour after. Mitchell, who is said to have been half drunk at the time, was at once arrested.

PRESCOTT.

KILLED BY MACHINERY.—About 5.30 last evening, while John Murphy, an employee in the Prescott brewery, was about starting some of the machinery in motion, he was accidentally caught in the belting and in getting himself clear he missed his footing, throwing him to the stone floor below, where he received such injuries to his head that he died this morning. Mr. Murphy had been in the employment of the brewery for many years. He leaves a wife and family to mourn his loss.

THE AFGHAN REVOLT.

A FORAGING EXPEDITION.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—A despatch from Cabul says that the forces under Gen Roberts who left Cabul on a foraging expedition, had several engagements in rebel villages.

By Telegraph to the Review.

SEVERE COLD.

CABUL, Nov. 26.—The cold here is severe, being twenty degrees of frost. The majority of the European troops have already been hutted.

TELEGRAPH OPENED.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Telegraphic communication with Cabul and Candahar has been completed, and this morning's London newspapers publish despatches from both these points, dated Tuesday night.

REMEMBER, that by subscribing now, every new subscriber will get the REVIEW till 1881 for [illegible]. Let no time be lost. We trust every section will be thoroughly canvassed. Send for specimen copies at once. Balance of year free to subscribers for 1880.

MORE THAN VAPOUR.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—A report was current some time since that Lord Beaconsfield was only holding on to his premiership and staving off the time for the general elections to close his career with some dramatic effect. A report is current at the clubs this afternoon that there is something more than vapor in the rumor.

ANOTHER RUSSIAN CRUISER.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Two million five hundred thousand francs is to be paid an eminent Marseilles shipping firm for a volunteer cruiser on an improved principle to those of the Philadelphia build, by the Russian Government. She is to be got ready with all despatch, when other orders will be given the French firm for a fleet of similar vessels.

GERMANY'S LINE OF DEFENCE.

Capt Kirchhammer, of the Austrian General staff, an officer of considerable reputation, says that the defensive line of Germany, formed by the rivers Preger, Vistula, Netze, Warthe and Oder, is is not exceeded in strength by any other on the European continent. The natural strength of this line, moreover, has been greatly increased by the fortifications which the Germans have since the year 1871, been uninterruptedly erecting on it, paying the cost out of the French indemnity. The permanent entrenched camp of Konigsberg is an imposing example of the modern art of fortification, and even more care has been bestowed on Posen and Thorn. The shortest road to the heart of Germany crosses the line between these towns, and the Russians could not advance in this direction without attacking Thorn, which Prussian engineer officers have during the last six years been laboring to convert into a fortress of the first class. The weakest point of the German defence is Upper Silesia, where there are scarcely any natural obstacles to an invader, and it is to be this point that a Russian invading army would probably direct its efforts. But in order to do so with safety, it would have to make sure of the neutrality of Austria, who commands the whole region of the Vistula from Galicia. Similarly if Germany were to attack Russia, her first step would be to occupy Russian Poland, but she would first have to secure her flank and rear against an Austrian advance from Bohemia. Thus neither Russia nor Germany could attack the other's country without the premission of Austria.

MINERS' WAGES IN GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The colliers throughout Lancashire and Chesire yesterday demanded an increase of 10 per cent. in their wages. They also desire the introduction of a sliding scale of wages. The masters will reply next week. The North Staffordshire colliers demand a similar advance. The ironmasters of Lanarkshire and Ayrshire yesterday decided to rescind the last advance of sixpence in the wages.

AMERICAN.

ROMAN CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—An announcement has been made of the policy of the Roman Catholic Church in New England towards the public schools. The Archbishop, following the advice of the Pope to the European bishops, has directed all priests in the arch-diocese of New England to establish at once parochial schools, and to threaten the parents who refuse to patronize them with the curse of the Church. In localities where the influence of the public schools is thought to be particularly injurious to the Roman Catholic youth, the priests are instructed to withdraw the children at once, even if there be no parochial schools in the vicinity.

INCREASED REVENUE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The annual report of the commissioners of internal revenue predicts that the receipts from the internal revenue taxes for the present fiscal year will reach $115,000,000. During the last three years there have been three thousand one hundred and seventeen illicit distilleries seized. During the past fiscal year $113,449,000 internal revenue taxes were collected. The receipts from distilled spirits for 1879 compared with 1878, show an increase of $2,140,000. The increase in the production of manufactured tobacco during the last fiscal year is 12,026,000 pounds, of cigars and cigarettes 194,177,719 in number.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

GLADSTONE IN SCOTLAND.

EDINBURGH, Nov. 26.—Mr. Gladstone, on Thursday, will speak at West Calder, where the enthusiasm to hear him is so great that they have built a temporary hall, no place in the town affording room for the people.

COUNTESS DE MONTEJO'S DEATH.

MADRID, Nov. 26.—The obsequies of the Countess de Montejo, mother of the Empress Eugenie, were held on Monday and were attended by all the distinguished people in Madrid. The Empress Eugenie is in retirement at the Levia Palace, except her own relatives she has received nobody. Her sorrow is very deep. She received telegrams of condolence from all the sovereigns of Europe. Madrid is in mourning.

ATLANTIC CABLES.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—The Standard says a notable feature in the stocks yesterday was the upward movement in Anglo-American and direct United States Cable shares, on rumors that the working of the new French Cable would be unavoidably postponed for some time.

THE DUKE OF BRUNSWICK'S WILL.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—The tribunal of Brunswick has decided that the late Duke of Brunswick, who left his fortune to the town of Geneva, had been legally deprived of the right to dispose of his fortune. The tribunal therefore decide that his will is null and void. As Geneva has already spent a large sum on the monument to the late duke and the opera house, the town will be in a sad predicament if it has to restore the money.

GLADSTONE'S SPEECH.

EDINBURGH, Nov. 26.—Mr. Gladstone, on receiving the Liberal address here, made a long speech. He insisted that a dissolution of Parliament ought to have taken place ere now, but he said the Government abstains therefrom because it knows the country is against it, and because it desires to give England and Europe a new surprise.

THE CZARINA'S HEALTH.

ROME, Nov. 26.—The Czarina, whose ill-health suggested her removal from Cannes to Florence, has been obliged to postpone the journey on account of increased weakness.

DEMONSTRATION IN HYDE PARK.

John O'Connor Power, Home Rule member of Parliament for Mayo, will preside at the demonstration in Hyde Park on Sunday. Among the speakers will be Justin McCarthy, Sullivan and Redmond, Home Rule members of Parliament. Several London and Provincial Contingents will assemble at Trafalgar Square at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and will march to Hyde Park, where the meeting begins at 3 o'clock.

A DEPUTY TO BE PROSECUTED.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Le Temps says that though M. Baudrey d'Asson, the organiser of the legitimist banquet in Lavannie, is deputy, the sanction of the Chamber of Deputies to prosecute him on a charge of inviting to civil war, is unnecessary as the offence was committed during the recess of the Chamber.

AMERICAN.

DEMOCRATS AND THE TARIFF BILL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The Tribune says:—General Garfield thinks the conflicting interests and views among the Democrats will prevent an agreement upon any tariff bill next winter.

THE CAPTAIN-GENERALSHIP.

No sponsor for the proposition to make Grant Captain-General can be found.

THE TELEGRAPH SYSTEM.

The rumours about the revival of the project to bring the telegraph system of the country under Government control also lack any responsible origin.

INCREASED COMMERCE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A Washington special report to the World says:—The report of the Chief of the Bureau of Statistics shows that the value of the total foreign commerce of the United States for the past year, both imports and exports, was larger than for any previous year excepting 1873 and 1874. The value of the exports of domestic merchandise was larger than any previous year.

AN AGED SUICIDE.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 26.—Wm. Watts, aged 74, formerly a wealthy and influential citizen of Boone County, Kentucky, recently became financially involved, and his homestead was sold by the sheriff. On Sunday he was found dead in a neighbor's barn, having committed suicide by hanging himself.

A CLERICAL DISPUTE.

HOLYOKE, Mass., Nov. 26.—The French Catholics have signed a petition for the removal of Father Dufresne, the priest who was lately mulcted in $2,400 for excommunicating the hackman who attended a Protestant church. Father Dufresne threatens to excommunicate the Catholic witnesses against him at the trial.

DISORDERLY COUNCILMEN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—John Curtin, a Hoboken Councilman, was arrested yesterday, charged with assaulting a tailor, Lawrence Buckley, also a Hoboken Councilman was arrested last evening during the session of the Council, charged with drunkenness, disorderly conduct and an assault on a conductor.

STOCK EXCHANGE SEATS.

A hundred and three proposals were considered yesterday by the Stock Exchange for the forty seats to be sold. The average price offered was $14,500.

DEALING WITH STREET MOBS.

The eleventh brigade of National Guards had a drill at Brooklyn last night by the light of the moon in street firing, with the object of illustrating different plans of dealing with turbulent mobs.

THE NICARAGUAN CANAL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The Herald says that Admiral Ammon held a long interview with De Franco on the subject of the Nicaraguan Canal, it is expected that the first year's revenue after the canal is in operation will be ten millions. It is estimated to cost a hundred millions, or the same as the Suez Canal. It is also estimated that if only 2000 vessels pass through the canal yearly the Company can pay a dividend of 6 per cent. It is expected that the toll would be fixed at not less than $2 per ton. It is understood that President Hayes, in his message, will refer to the project of the Nicaraguan Canal and the advisability of extending American protection to the employees. It is expected that resolutions will be presented in Congress in the first day's of the coming session, pledging the support of this Government, and guaranteeing to the company the peaceful enjoyment of its rights. It is stated that the passage of such a resolution would be followed by an announcement from a leading banking house of Europe, of its willingness to assume the subscriptions for two-thirds of the entire amount necessary for the construction of the canal.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

CAMDEN, N.J., Nov. 26.—Frank Rayner, captain of the schooner Grace Watson was found drowned in the river early yesterday morning. A nephew, who slept on the schooner, says he saw two men standing over Raynor's body on the deck the night before.

THE UTE COMMISSION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Schurz has received the following telegram this morning from Gen. Hatch:—"Los Pinos, Nov. 24.—We have information that the White River Utes are on their way, including Jack. We are now of opinion that we shall be successful in carrying out your wishes. At all events we have patience enough to try. As far as danger is concerned the commission have not given that a thought; they must take their chances."

ERIE RAILWAY BOARD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The Sun says of the Erie election, yesterday, of new Directors:—Dickson is President of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, and was a member of the Erie Directory two years ago; Horace Durbee is a director of the Western Union Telegraph Co., and a member of the Stock Exchange; William L. Strong is at the head of a large dry goods commission house in this city, Boston and Philadelphia. Whether these gentlemen represent Vanderbilt is a matter of conjecture. Dickson is known to be on friendly terms with him. Durbee is a director with him in the Western Union, and Strong is said to be intimate with him socially. The election shows Jewett still has the approbation of the London trustees. No one questions his re-election to the Presidency.

INFLUX OF GOLD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The Lessing, from Europe, to-day brought two and a half millions in gold coin.

SOME STUBBORN FACTS.

The Trent Valley Canal has been so often talked about and so little has yet been accomplished that we are not surprised that people are disposed to look upon the present agitation as one destined to end as all its predecessors have done, viz: in nothing. While it is possible that such may again be the result, we are somewhat sanguine that it will be otherwise and that it will prove one more instance of the value of the old adage to "try, try again."

Believing that the ultimate result of the present agitation depends much upon those locally interested putting their shoulders energetically to the wheel, we propose to call the reader's attention to what we consider to be a few stubborn facts of inestimable value, and which should be brought prominently forward in our canal campaign.

The first and foremost of these is the fact, of which too many are ignorant, that railways cannot carry heavy freights as cheaply as canals. We know that many, who might reasonably be expected to be better informed, are under the impression that the days of canals are passed and gone—that they have been, in fact, superseded by steel rails. We have before us at this moment a report of a select committee of the United States Senate, appointed in December, 1872, "to investigate and report upon the subject of transportation between the interior and the seaboard," presented to that body in 1874, and which contains an immense amount of interesting and valuable information upon a question, in the proper solution of which is involved the future of this continent, and especially of our Dominion. This committee, after examining witnesses in New York, Oswego, Montreal, Buffalo and Chicago, and taking the evidence of those interested in railways as well as water carriage, unanimously found that "the uniform "testimony deduced from practical results in "this country and throughout the commercial "world is, that water-routes, when properly lo-"cated, not only afford the cheapest and best "known means of transport for all heavy, bulky "and cheap commodities, but that they are also "the natural competitors, and most effective re-"gulators, of railway transportation."

The next fact to which we would direct attention is, that just as the great lakes form a natural outlet for the interior trade of this continent, so do the waters of the Trent Valley provide the means of connecting the waters of the Georgian Bay direct with those of the St. Lawrence at a moderate cost, thus bringing tide water at Montreal (in miles) as close to Chicago, Duluth and Thunder Bay as Buffalo, and not only as close in miles, but very nearly as close in cost of transport as Buffalo, when insurance and other items, incident to the Buffalo route and not to the Trent Valley route, are taken into consideration.

Another, and the last stubborn fact to which we shall allude on the present occasion is, that while in miles it is shorter from the Georgian Bay to Montreal, than from Buffalo to New York, the number of miles of canal navigation on the first named route is under one hundred miles as compared with over three hundred and fifty miles on the latter, and that the lake and river (land-locked) navigation on the first is about three hundred and twenty miles as against one hundred and fifty on the latter. As one mile of canal navigation cost more than double that of lake and river land-locked navigation, the result is that both being converted into canal navigation, we have the following result:—

Erie Canal	350 miles
Hudson River 150 miles—½ of canal say	75 "
Total from Buffalo to New York	425 "

Trent and St. Lawrence route.

Actual canal, say	100 miles
Lake and river 320 miles—½ of canal say	160 "
	260 "

Difference in favor of the Trent Valley route between the Georgian Bay and Montreal, as compared with the Erie Canal from Buffalo to New York, 165 miles!

MODEST MEN.

The Ottawa Citizen says:—

"The Globe's idea is that the Grit factory men kept out of the Finance Minister's way, in order not to hurt his feelings by showing that he had robbed and ruined them! How delicate—how considerate—how moderate! Men who are being "robbed" are always delicate about confronting the robber. Men who are being "ruined" are always modest about proclaiming it, or complaining of their fate. And Grits are proverbially delicate about wounding the feelings of Tory Ministers. We regret to say that the Globe's excuse is too attenuated to hold water. We must ask our contemporary to try again. Nothing like perseverance you know; think of Bruce and his spider, and—spin us another yarn!"

AQUATICS.

The Hanlan-Courtney Fiasco—Courtney is Sick and Can't Row.

Trumansburg, N. Y., Nov. 24.—Charles E. Courtney, the Union Springs sculler, now lies very sick at the residence of W. H. Ogden, three miles north of this place. Mrs. Courtney has been visiting at Mr. Ogden's, and Courtney went there last Tuesday from Rochester. The same day he took to his bed with a heavy cold. Dr. Flickenger, his attendant physician, says the complaint is lumbago, combined with inflammation of the kidneys, and that in consequence he will be unable to row in the coming race.

After the Rochester meeting of Hanlan, Courtney, and Blaikie, Courtney objected to Blaikie and insisted upon Eustis as referee. That gentleman then wrote to the Union Springs oarsman urging him strongly to withdraw his objection to Blaikie and row a square race under some conditions or terms, and at the same time declining positively to act as referee. It was hoped by the referee and public that this straightforward letter would influence Courtney to withdraw his objections and send in his $500 forfeit, which was then due. Until to-day Mr. Eustis letter remained unanswered, when the following was received from the oarsman's brother:—

"My Dear Sir,—Charley is laid up with a lame back now, but as soon as he is able to get up he will answer you himself. There is no chance for a race at present. You know what the result would be for a man to try to row when he is so lame that he cannot turn over in bed.

"John F. Courtney."

The probabilities of a race this fall being exceedingly slim, Blaikie will retain the $6,000 for a little time, and then if there are no developments towards a contest he will doubtless pay the money over to Hanlan.

MR. SOULE IN TORONTO—INFORMAL MEETING AT THE WALKER HOUSE.

Mr. Soule arrived in town yesterday morning, and last night had an informal meeting with Messrs. Hanlan and Douglas at the Walker House. The conversation principally related to subjects already well ventilated through the press, and Mr. Soule was naturally somewhat reticent on questions relating to his future course of action. He appeared to be in earnest to have the race come off, and stated that his only reason for withholding the $6,000 was to keep faith with the public, who had been led to expect a race. He assured Hanlan that he would have a fair show, as any appearance on his (Soule's) part of favouring either oarsman would only react against himself. He thought that in case Mr. Blaikie was unable to bring about the race, and if no evidence was brought to show that the men wished to divide the purse without rowing, Hanlan would be entitled to the purse, as he had throughout, acted in the more straightforward manner.

Hanlan, on his part, expressed his willingness to do anything in reason to bring about a meeting with Courtney, but was anxious to have the matter settled as soon as possible, as it was preventing his carrying out other engagements. Nothing definite, however, was done, as Mr. Soule declined to commit himself in any way, in case the Courtney party should accuse him of "standing in" with Hanlan.

ANOTHER SCULLING PURSE.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 24.—The president of a manufacturing company here offers a prize of $7,000 for a five mile sculling race on Onondaga Lake, near Syracuse, on the 4th July next, the race to be open to all first-class scullers in the world—Hanlan and Courtney barred. Entrance, $300.

A TERRIBLE FIRE.

A Horse Railway's Stables on Fire—The Cries of the Burning Horses—Several Firemen Buried in the Ruins.

New York, Nov. 25.—Early this morning a fire broke out in the car stables of the Eighth Avenue Horse Railroad Company, on the west side of Eighth Avenue, running nearly the length of the block between 49 and 50 streets, thence running through half way down the block towards Ninth Avenue. The fire originated in the south-east corner. All the horses and cars excepting those on the road were in the building, the horses were in the stalls on the second floor. In less than 20 minutes about of them with a number of cars were rescued. The building was pretty well stocked with hay, straw and feed which had been coming up for the past week. About an hour after the fire broke out, all hopes of saving the building were given up. During the progress of the conflagration there were loud reports caused by the falling walls. The origin of the fire is not known. The loss is very heavy. A hundred horses perished in the flames. The piteous whining of the agonized animals could be heard above the roar of the fire. The firemen made a determined attempt to reach them after the employees had abandoned work, but they were driven back. The building contained 1200 bales of hay; 2000 sets of harness, enormous quantities of robes, blankets and whips, 2000 bushels of oats, 1500 bushels of ground feed. The loss is said to be $150,000. A delegation of the employees asked for an increase of pay last evening, and not meeting with a favourable reception, left in bad humor. This probably gave rise to the rumor that dissatisfied employees had fired the building. A brick wall fell upon the ladder on which were Chief Campbell, Foreman John Welch, and Fireman Henry C. Mount, and John Regan of the same company. They were all buried under the smoking ruins. Their fellow workers dug them out quickly, all badly injured. It is reported that Fireman Mount is dead.

WIDE AWAKE $2.00 a year. BABYLAND 50 cents a year. } Edited by ELLA FARMAN.

These are the two Illustrated Magazines you want for your little folks and your young people the coming year. There are few portions of the English-speaking world where they are not circulated; and warm commendations come from residents in such far-off countries as India, China, etc. It may be interesting to New England teachers, who are introducing these two magazines into their schools, to know that they are also used as text-books in foreign lands. A recent order from Bulgaria, where one of our brightest New England ladies uses them in her school, includes sets from the beginning, as she finds them better adapted than any other magazines for translation into the language of the country.

Although the brightest and freshest writers and artists are employed on the magazines, they will, as heretofore, be kept at their old prices, that they may be within the reach of all—emphatically the magazines for the People.

Ruth Erskine's Crosses. By Pansy. Boston: D. Lothrop & Co. $1.50.

"Among the few prominent publishing houses which make a specialty of Sunday-school literature, none deserve more highly at the hands of the Christian public than D. Lothrop & Co. Their presses seem consecrated to the making of books and papers—pure, wholesome, and safe—for the young. In this day, when money-making seems to be long the line of the issuance of vicious and trashy stuff, it is a matter for congratulation that purely secular houses can sternly resist the tide and devote themselves to the publication of only what is elevating and good.

These remarks are called forth by reading the above book, and after a long acquaintance with the publications of this house.

Two years ago the writer suggested in these columns to Mrs. Alden, who writes under the pseudonym of "Pansy," that she follow up the "Four Girls at Chautauqua" and the "Chautauqua Girls at Home" with an account of their life after marriage, their real life, as marriage is often made an excuse for the withdrawal of young people from active service in the Church. In "Ruth Erskine's Crosses" we find an answer, in part, to our suggestion. We say in part, for the book does not wholly meet our thought, and yet we are not quite sure but that our disappointment is to be found in the fact that Pansy has given us real and not ideal life.

The book is a worthy contribution to the series, and the series ought to be in every Sunday-school and young people's library in the land."—New York Christian Advocate.

"At No. 32 Franklin Street, Boston, we enter D. Lothrop & Co.'s publishing house, on the corner of Hawley Street. There salesroom is a large one, measuring 40x120 feet, high studded, and lighted as it is upon three sides is peculiarly pleasant and admirably adapted to the comfort and convenience of book-lovers. Besides this room, Lothrop & Co. occupy two floors above, respectively for binding and composition. The extent of their transactions is something wonderful, and we echo the exclamation of the good man of Uz, "Of the making of many books there is no end," when we are told that this one house alone has a list of publications numbering nine hundred volumes, makes every year more than half a million books, and will issue this fall a hundred entirely new works. The firm has many specialities, among which may be mentioned albums, of which they are the largest importers in New England; miscellaneous books for home reading, all of which have undergone the scrutiny of an eminent corps of readers, whose duties it is to see that nothing harmful or vapid shall emerge from the house; religious works, Bibles, Prayer Books, Hymnals, etc., together with Christmas, Sunday-school and day reward cards, stationery, etc. Every one, of course, knows that this is the meeting-place of Wide Awake and Babyland, though everyone may not know that it is also the birthplace of more juvenile, holiday and gift books than are published by any other single concern in Boston."—Boston Transcript. 2d134

COME UP, COURTNEY.

Under the above caption the New York Sun gets off the following bit of poetical advice to the Union Springs oarsman:—

> Come up, Courtney! Come up and come out!
> Better be careful, now, what you're about;
> Smiling the people may stand for a while,
> Cowardice causes the wrong sort of smile.
>
> Come up, Courtney! Step up like a man!
> Do, with a bold heart, the best that you can;
> Whether you win, or whether you lose,
> All will be ready to give you your dues.
>
> Come up, Courtney! Be honest and true!
> This is the making or marring of you;
> Many may style you, as oddly they sneer,
> Quite too unlucky, and rather too queer.
>
> Come up, Courtney! Don't higgle and squirm!
> Be, for a little while, loyal and firm;
> Friends of fair dealing all over the land
> Ask you to play the full strength of your hand.
>
> Last chance, Courtney! Step up to the scratch!
> What if this Hanlan, be more than your match;
> Though you may honestly lose a square race,
> Better is that than the blush on your face.

NOTES FROM THE NORTH-WEST.

In the Neighbourhood of the Riding Mountains.

OCTOBER 5th.—We are having the most beautiful weather now that could be wished for. The leaves which have been of every shade are fast falling off the trees; and our tormentors, the misquitoes, are all but gone, though the flies are still pretty bad, and the work can go on much more pleasantly than at first and quicker too. I rode down to the Riding Mountain House the other day for our mail—35 miles—and I do not think I ever saw a more beautiful sight than the woods, were along the banks of the river. The roads follows along the bank all the way down, and on each side of the river there is prairie land. In some places it is half a mile wide, in others only a few yards. Then behind this the woods slant gradually up to the tops of the hills. The principal wood is white and black poplar, the tops of the hills are covered with spruce pine. It looks really magnificent, with the river winding like a silver thread through the valley. All the party are now in excellent health and spirits.

OCTOBER 18th.—We had a splendid snow storm last night, but it has turned to rain to-day, and as the line we are working on is a long way from camp, and over an exceedingly rough part of the township, we thought we would take a holiday to-day, which will enable us to get some overdue letters written, and the remains of our clothes patched together to face the nor'-wester once more. We have had some very severe frost at nights, but the days (until to-day) have been delightful—Indian summer weather. We have had two or three nights of frost, and the thermometer as low as 12° above zero, and the following mornings the marshes bore our weight, until the sun had got quite high. This half-and-half weather is very disagreeable, for the ice is not quite strong enough, but we must expect this state of affairs until the weather actually sets in for winter. We have rattled through most of this (our second) township at a good rate, because there is a good deal of level land, with patches of prairie. We have been very much deceived in the extent of one of the principal lakes which enter our townships. I must say, though, that it will materially shorten our work, although it will necessitate our moving back westward to our old camp, number six, for until the ice forms on the lakes we can make no possible use of them, as we have no canoes or boats of any description, nor can any be had in the country. We cannot build a decent raft either, for the timber is all poplar and spruce, the former so heavy it will scarcely float, and the latter so hard to cut and so full of knots as to be impracticable in its green state. We have, however, at different times rattled small rafts together to hold one or two persons, out of dead dry timbers, but their floating qualities are as precarious as railway bonds, and their speed far too slow to please our progressive party, so that we have postponed all the lake lines until the ice forms well. Another benefit to be derived from the frost is that our shoulders and backs will be much relieved by moving across the lakes on "jumpers" instead of backing our weary loads for miles through the woods. We have not seen any moose yet, though we often see their tracks quite fresh about the marshes, as if they could not be far away, but we have no time to look after them. They are very timid, and are said to have such a keen sense of hearing that they can distinguish the difference between the sound of a branch broken by a human being or wolf from that of the same broken by the wind. Indeed we make such a noise shouting and chopping that they must hear us for miles off. I have often heard of the clearness of the atmosphere out here, but nothing could equal it, as we find by experience when our two parties are working (often a distance of two miles between) we can hear the voices and the axes going as distinctly as if but a few yards intervened. It becomes a nuisance sometimes with us, when signals are given by our party, they are mistaken for those of the other. The sunsets, too, are most magnificent. Nothing can equal the variety of brilliant colors when the sun happens to set in a bank of clouds and sends its rays almost to the zenith, and the different belts of clouds are shaded from violet to intense red. The days are shortening now very fast; the sun does not rise till 6.45, and it sets at 4.45, so that when we have long walks to and from work we have very few working hours during the day. But with all, we are doing far more than at first coming here. We are up every morning at 4 o'clock, and have breakfast at 5, and off before 6 a. m. to work, and home at 6 p. m., and are all safely in bed at 7.30 p. m. excepting Saturday evenings, which are always our concert nights. On that occasion we never retire before 9 o'clock. All the songs we ever knew are raked up and given forth to the breeze, the most humorous member of the orchestra accompanying on the tin pans. Our only audience consists of an occasional owl or two, who usually roost near us and add their mournful "Hoot! Hoot!" by way of applause to the end of each verse. We have appointed G. W. our meteorological observer, and he has been dubbed "professor." His duties are to note the reading of the thermometer three times a day, and every change in the weather. Our stock of newspapers has assumed enormous dimensions from being so long delayed on the road, and only getting them now, which during the first few weeks after coming here would have been a great boon to us. But every mail now brings us at least a bushel of reading matter. How we longed for news from the world, of the war, and various other subjects, and the way the first bundle was devoured would delight the heart of an editor to any extent. We may safely say now that the worst of our work is over, and every move after this will bring us nearer civilization. After all we cannot go home and say that we never enjoyed ourselves out here, for in spite of hard tack and sometimes short rations, we often make the woods ring with a good hearty laugh, very often, be it said, however, at some one's expense. I think the air here has a very beneficial effect on one's spirits as well as constitution. Of course, I now speak of the present time, for when the flies and other torments were in season, they surely tried the patience of the meekest and most placid temper. I may add, as an illustration of the extremely salubrious climate, that the flies were out for a short time a few days ago after a severe frost the night before. In Ontario the black flies generally disappear before the mosquitoes become very bad, but here it is different for the mosquitoes have long ago disappeared, while the other chaps are still to the fore on any warm hour of the day, but, of course, in much smaller numbers. We see the reflection in the sky almost every evening of the immense prairie fires raging south and west of us, and have several times had a slight experience of them near us, but the prairies here are so small that they burn off in a minute or two. I can most readily understand the great danger of a person trying to escape from one of these dreadful fires. His chances on horseback would be very small, for the fire travels with the wind at such a tremendous rate. Since the flies have gone and the nights become cold, we have been camping in the woods. There are some beautiful little groves of spruce with small openings here and there just large enough for our four tents and fires. These openings are surrounded by a perfect barricade of spruce, growing so thickly as to be impassable until a path has been cut through them. These beautiful groves make first-rate camps, and with a good fire, would almost answer the purpose without tents. The lake we struck on our meridian line is the most beautiful sheet of water I ever saw, it is perfectly free from marsh or weeds, and has a wide sandy beech, and all the shores are formed of abrupt spurs of hills, thickly covered with tall straight spruce of the darkest green. There is such a feeling of loneliness that comes over us when we stand looking out on the deep blue sheet of water, where there is not the least sign of animal life, except a few gulls and loons dipping up and down. This lake is about six miles long by three wide and is known by the name of "Waw-saygumee-saw-gi-gum," which when rendered into English means, Clear Water Lake. There is another lake down in the south-eastern township of this block, about the same size, it has a longer name, so long that we call it Long Lake for convenience. We are all looking forward to our return trip, and in our total ignorance of winter affairs here, we have all sorts of schemes. It will be a tramp of more than 200 miles from where we leave off work to Winnipeg; but if we can only get our luggage carried for us we can easily carry ourselves. If the trail is well beaten we shall make at least 30 miles a day, in which case we require no guide for all that we have to do is to stick to the main trail. You seem surprised at the length of time the letters take to come, but when you think of the way they are carried, your wonder will cease. However, now that all our missing letters and papers have turned up, we shall forgive the Post Office Department, for this part of their jurisdiction must pay but a small revenue. Although I must say that since our advent together with Mr. Thompson, we fill a large flour bag (our mail bag) every mail. Of course, the letters we write are but a mere fraction of what we receive, we therefore beg and entreat of our friends not to feel hurt if their letters remain long unanswered, but if they are of a forgiving nature, and have any sympathy for poor exiles, to continue the correspondence which causes such joy in camp every mail-day, after three long weeks of silence. Sunday, Nov. 2nd, thermometer down to zero the last two nights; ice is forming fast on the lakes and the marshes are frozen up; I hope they will keep so, but we have not had the usual amount of Indian summer that belongs to this country. There are at present four inches of snow on the ground, which has much improved the travelling.

IRELAND AND THE IRISH.

The Canadian Invasion Idea Abandoned Sine Die—A Socialist View.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The English speaking branch of Socialists in this city held a special meeting last night, to make arrangements for holding a mass meeting to express the sympathy of the American Socialists with the farmers of Ireland. Thomas Brennan, president of the Shoemaker's Union, said the curse of such movements in behalf of the Irish nation was that professional Irish politicians crept in and delivered speeches to serve their own purposes. He hoped no one but an American, or one of some nationality not Irish, would be permitted to speak. A committee to draft suitable resolutions was appointed.

The excitement among citizens of Irish birth in the coal and iron regions of Pennsylvania relative to the condition of affairs in Ireland seems to find no active sympathy as yet in this city, and many meetings in Pennsylvania announced for yesterday were attended by [illegible]. Veteran members of the Fenian Brotherhood anticipate no raid into Canada by Irishmen from any part of this country. They generally consider such an attempt not only useless but hopeless at this cold season of the year, with limited numbers and preparations, unless a majority of the Canadian people were ready to join them, and of this they realize that there is not the slightest probability. They could expect sympathy only from the Irish population, and the larger portion of these are thought to be connected with Canadian government, and would abstain from active aid, thinking Irishmen, as a rule, have no idea of any future attempt upon Canada unless the United States should invade it in the improbable event of a war with England. In that case the American army would find no lack of Irishmen in its ranks. No change in the disposition of the Irish skirmishing fund is reported by the trustees. It now amounts to $[illegible]-449, and they say it is safely invested and likely to continue so until an opportunity arises for its effective use. The Fenian Brotherhood has been fast declining since the death of Jas. O'Mahony about two years ago. Its membership has largely fallen off through lack of interest, and Fenianism is becoming merged into a general movement of the Irish people.

Ontario Mica.

It may not be generally known that since the introduction of the new tariff the mica mines of the Ottawa district are being extensively developed. Formerly mica was placed on the free list, and the result was that the American article was exclusively used by Canadian manufacturers. The duty of 20 per cent., however, recently imposed, has induced Canadians to invest their capital, and our manufacturers now not only use Canadian mica, but are supplied with a cheaper and better article. So long as the Americans had the monopoly of our market, there was no encouragement for our capitalists to invest their money, but with a reasonable protection they got a market, and now the country benefits by it, and so it is throughout the piece.

An Angry Sister.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Miss Parnell, a sister of the Irish agitator, writes to the Tribune as follows:—

SIR,—It is not necessary, in commenting on the actions of a stranger in a country on the other side of the Atlantic, to use libellous expressions. In your editorial of to-day you say that Charles Parnell smiles significantly when [illegible] peasant-cries out for shooting landlords. As his sister, well acquainted with Parnell's character and views, and a student of his speeches, [illegible] not alone of mendacious cables from London, I denounce your scandalous despatch as an impudent falsehood and libel.

Yours obediently,
F. PARNELL.

IT is said by many, first try one remedy, and then another, but we find in the great majority of cases that those who try Hagyard's Yellow Oil for all purposes of a liniment, have no use for any other preparation, it does its work so effectually that none others need to be applied. It is equally good for man or beast, and can be used internally for Croup, Whooping Cough, and Asthma, externally for Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises, Chilblains, Burns, Scalds, and all Pains and Aches, from whatever cause they may occur. Sold by all dealers at 25 cents per bottle. w47d115-2w

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 26.—At 9 o'clock this morning the appearances were that there would be a slim market. There were only two country teams on the square and three hucksters teams. At 10 o'clock, however, the platform was well surrounded and the square had assumed its wonted bustle. The morning was a splendid one although the sky was overcast, and a large number of farmers and townspeople assembled to enliven the scene. Of the general market we might note apples as in fair supply, and prices ranged from 60 to 75 cents per bag. As compared to the number of buyers, apples may be said to have been abundant. There was one lot of citron of good size, offered at 8 to 10 cts. each. Potatoes were plenty and sold at 65 to 70 cts. per bag, several loads were unsold at half past eleven o'clock, they being held firm at 70 cents. We quote 65 to 70 cents. Turnips were selling at 20 cts. per bag. Several loads of turnips were sold at 10 cents per bushel. Cabbages were again plenty. Bell was selling his fine large heads at 40 cts. a dozen. One lot of beeswax was offered to-day at 45 cts. per lb. There was one fine lot of geese feathers for which forty cents was offered. Beef was again plenty and sold at $3.00 to $3.50 for the fore quarter and $4.50 to $5.00 for the hind quarter. Pork made its appearance in large quantities and the prices ruled at $5.00 to $5.25 for packing, while $5.50 was paid by private parties, and 6 and 7 cts. for the quarter. Mutton steady at 5 and 6 cts a lb. Poultry was in fair supply. Chickens at 25 and 30 cents per pair. Turkeys 40 to 70 cents each, geese at 35 to 45 each. Some fine ones were sold at 45c. weighing 12lbs. Ducks, 40 and 45c. per pair. Butter was not so plentiful to-day, roll butter went at 18 and 20c. Keg do. for shipment at 17 and 19c. Some very choice lots brought 20c.; the market is not so firm and the immediate prospect is against a rise. Heavy shipments have been made to the principal butter centres which has had a tendency to weaken the market. Lard brought 10c. to-day. Wheat nominal, only a few loads in at $1.15 for spring and $1.17 for winter. There is no speculation in wheat at this market. No barley in. Several lots of peas were in to-day and sold at 60 and 62c. Some parcels of oats which were readily taken at 31 and 33c. Some few parcels of rye were in to-day and sold at 56c. Hay was again plentiful at $6.00 and $7.00. Wood was greatly affected by the weather and found slow sale at $1.50 and $1.75 per load of soft cut wood. Hard wood $2.50 and $2.75 cut and $2.00 $2.50 for uncut.

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under his Head.

OR, A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is necessary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to [illegible] colic, diarrhoea, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is SCOTT & BOWNE'S EMULSION OF PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. Price 25 cents. d108-w45-1m

Not as the Poet Sings.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would have unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable. d108-w45-1m

SCIENCE is a good piece of furniture for a man to have in an upper chamber, provided he has common sense on the ground floor, and a bottle of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam on the shelf, for use in case of a sudden cold, cough, or hoarseness. This Canadian remedy is unsurpassed as a curative agent in croup, bronchitis, influenza, and all pulmonary complaints. For sale by all dealers. w47d115-2w

From the age of 16 to 80.

Thousands of people, from the age of sixteen to eighty years, are suffering from kidney complaints and other diseases arising from derangement of the urinary organs, who would be relieved by a few doses of Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi, and a permanent cure made by the use of a few bottles. Price, $1. 115,47-2w

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW

AND

RURAL NEW YORKER,

BOTH for $2.80!

To Farmers and Horticulturists

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.00! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—2 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Fosse says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, as far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavored, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $50 per bushel at wholesale.

THIRD. Mold's Ennobled Oats. Mr. Mold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the RURAL NEW-YORKER it yielded, that season, at the rate of 86 bushels per acre.

FOURTH. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardiest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

FIFTH. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

SIXTH. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kaempferi. Hardy.

SEVENTH. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

EIGHTH. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomœa leptophylla. Hardy.

NINTH. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

TENTH. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.00. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1879.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

Bargains in Hats.

Miss Semple has just received thirty dozen of hats in brush beaver and felt, which will be sold at wholesale prices.

The English Mail.

We beg to remind our readers that the English mail is now made up at 5.40 p.m. every Wednesday, in order to be in time for the Allan line of steamers, which have commenced for the winter to sail from Halifax, instead of Quebec.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: moderate to fresh winds; partly cloudy weather. Peterborough wind north-easterly to south-easterly, cloudy to partly cloudy, mild, thawing weather.

Novel Duck Hunting.

We learn from a gentleman who was duck shooting at Idyl-Wild, in Rice Lake, when the recent cold snap came on so suddenly and severely, that the next morning he was able to catch a number of wild ducks whose feet had been frozen to the ice.

Good Hunting.

A party consisting of Messrs. Alex. H. R. Speeule, Wm. White, John Crow and James Spaniard, have been still hunting in Burleigh, near Long Lake, and were very successful. They shot nine deer in two days. Mr. Crow killed six more in two days. They have averaged two or three deer a day.

A New Sign.

The new sign over the store of Mr. Maxwell Hall, grocer, on George Street, near the Montreal Telegraph Office, is an improvement to this fine block. It stretches across the entire front of Mr. Hall's store. The ground is black, with white lettering, the prevailing style of the day. W. M. Green painted it and adds another mark to his credit for fine sign painting.

Able to be Out.

We learn that Mr. J. Cremack, the commercial traveller, who was the victim of the unprovoked assault on George street a few nights ago, and who was so badly marked about the face as to prevent his being able to attend to business, will start on his trip again to-night, though still bearing marks which his physician says he will carry with him for the the balance of his life.

The New Lamp.

The Gas Company have put in a new lamp on George street in front of the store lately occupied by James Hogan & Co. The lamp shade is a cylindrical glass, open at the top and bottom, being swung from a metalic frame by a flange. It is supplied by Messrs. Noah L. Piper & Son, Toronto. It affords a clear bright light, there being no metal frame at the sides to obstruct the rays.

The Business at the Railway Station.

There was considerable life manifested at the Midland station to-day. A large number of cars arrived with oil, salt and general merchandise for Peterborough and Lakefield, while several cars are loading with lumber, skins and manufactured goods. The employees are kept busy, which is an indication of an improved condition of trade.

Large Hogs.

Among the porkers brought on the market today we observed a lot of three, weighing 312, 373 and 465 pounds, a total of 1,600 pounds. These were raised and fattened by Mr. John Stark of Otonabee. Mr. Braddie of Harvey had one hog among his that weighed 345 pounds. To-day there were several lots of very fine hogs. Mr. J. Flavelle bought the first lot above mentioned.

Street Improvements.

The long talked-of and sought for improvements on Bethune Street at the Murray Street crossing, have at last been begun. The water course through Mr. Toole's planing mill has been closed and a new drain cut through to the brook along Bethune Street in continuation of the former drain. This is to be cribbed and covered, and when completed will afford relief to a greatly annoyed community. The timber is being hauled for the cribbing of this water course, and the street will soon assume its natural state, so as to admit the passing to and fro of teams.

The Midland Central Poultry Association.

The Midland Central Poultry Association met last evening in the Town Hall, the Vice-President, Mr. John Taylor, was in the chair. There were present a goodly number of the members. It was decided to hold the poultry show on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, February 10th, 11th and 12th, 1880. Some of the rules were amended. The entrance fee for members was fixed at 35 cents and for non-members 50 cents; members yearly dues $1. The prize list will be revised and will be ready for publication in December.

A Reviving Industry.

The cheese box factory and planing mill of Mr. William Toole is soon to be in full operation. Mr. Toole has so far advanced the work of rebuilding and improving, that he has been enabled to get out a large number of staves. He will have his planing machine in operation next week, and it will not be long before he will be in full operation. The work of filling in the old water course and opening the new one on Bethune Street has hindered his improvements greatly. He will now push the work forward and we shall hear the sweet music of revived industry in that neighborhood.

Railway Change of Time.

The change of time take place on the Midland to-morrow as follows:—The early morning train for Port Hope and the Grand Trunk leaves at 6.20 instead of 6.45 as heretofore. The second train leaves here at 10.20 a.m. for Millbrook, Lindsay and Midland. The third train leaves at 3.00 p.m. for Millbrook, Port Hope and Lindsay. The fourth train leaves at 5.45 p.m. (instead of 6.25 as heretofore) for Millbrook, Port Hope and the Grand Trunk. The trains leave Peterborough for Lakefield at 8.10 a.m. and 12.20 p.m. The trains arrive in Peterborough as follows: From Lakefield 10.20 a.m. and 3.00 p.m. From Port Hope, 8.10 a.m. and 4.35 p.m. From Port Hope and the Grand Trunk at 12.20 p.m. and 9.25 p.m. From Lindsay at 8.10 a.m. and 4.35 p.m., and from Midland City at 4.35 p.m.

PORT HOPE.

SHIPPING MISHAPS.—The Guide says Monday night was a rough one, and one or two mishaps occurred. The Two Brothers lost her bowsprit, which had been sprung in a previous gale. She will be detained thereby, and will not likely leave again this season. The Bercke struck the pier in entering the harbor, widening the gap, made by the Cavalier a short time since. One of her yard arms also struck the iron railing round the top of the lighthouse, and carried away a portion of it.

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday evening last as Mr. John Fogler, 2nd con. Hope, was shaving kindling with a drawknife, the former broke, and coming with full force against the leg, severed the cord that connects the knee-cap. Mr. Fogler will be laid up for some weeks, and it is doubtful if he ever recovers the right use of his leg.

COBOURG

A BOY'S SUDDEN DEATH.—On Monday afternoon, Arthur C. Dumble, a son of Mrs. T. Dumble, Jr., when returning from school, fell dead on Havelock street, just opposite the Ladies' Seminary, and almost in sight of his mother's door. It seems he was troubled with an affection of the heart, and running home or being excited produced the melancholy result. His father died at Harwood some years ago, from the same cause.

ARRESTED.—Last Saturday evening, Chief Constable Elliott, acting under instructions from Toronto, arrested at the Grand Trunk Station, Cobourg, one William Marshall (with a half dozen aliases), who is wanted on a number of charges. The prisoner was taken before P. M. Stanton, who remanded him to await further action by the Toronto authorities and on Monday, Detective Reburn came down with the necessary papers, and escorted William to Toronto on the evening train. He is accused, among other charges, for committing a forgery for $800, on Mr. Alex. Purse, a saloon keeper of Toronto.

ROBBED OF HIS ALL.—One of the most daring and inhuman robberies that have occurred in this vicinity for a number of years took place on Monday night at Cold Springs, a village half way between here and Rice Lake. The victim, Mr. Alexander Hoskins, is a man of small means, who, previous to his opening a business in the village, travelled around the country peddling a small stock of goods. Having by hard labour and industry made a few dollars, he settled down in Cold Springs and started a small store in a general way. They cut the lock off the front door of the store, and once in, they collected all the goods the poor man had in the world, consisting of dry goods, boots and shoes, and other things, amounting to about $1,000, and carried all of them away in a waggon. When Mr. Hoskins came down to business in the morning, the same as usual, he was thunderstruck to see that all the shelves were completely empty, only a very few groceries and a small amount of glassware being left. The police and the detectives are on the look-out, and it is thought that those who robbed P. McCallum & Son's the night previous had something to do with this burglary.

OTTAWA.

SCIENCE TRIUMPHANT.—The most unique experiment was made on Sunday between the Dominion Methodist Church, on Metcalf street, and the residence of a Chaudiere gentleman, viz., the transmission, by telephone, of the whole morning and evening services—sermon, choir singing, &c., for the benefit of an invalid, who for nearly 4 months has been confined to the house. The invalid having expressed a wish to hear divine service, it was resolved to make the experiment, which resulted successfully. The telephone, which in outward appearance is but a small box, 4 x 6 inches, was placed upon the pulpit immediately to the right hand of the pastor, and was probably unnoticed by the largest portion of the congregation, yet it was quietly gathering in every word that fell from the speaker's lips, and every note from the organ and choir, and re-uttering them with remarkable distinctness at the other end of the wire, distant about a mile and a quarter, where, lying upon the couch, the invalid heard and enjoyed the service.

A Dreadful Prophecy.

Dreadful times are at hand. In 542, 100,000,000 people perished because three planets were in perihelion, according to Gibbon, and in 1665 a similar perihelion produced the London plague and the death of millions in Europe, Asia and Africa. In 1882 five planets will be in perihelion. What shall become of us!

The DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at 10 cents a week.

DANGERS AROUND.

Mrs. Beecher in the Christian Union says:—If people will sleep in some portion of the underclothing that has been worn through the day, and perhaps after a morning's bath resume that same garment, it may be accounted an untidy habit; but how few will see that it can have any effect on the health. But reflect a moment. Whether drenched with prespiration from hard work or warm weather, or only saturated with the natural exhalations that rise from the body at all seasons, no one doubts that it would be more cleanly to remove all articles of clothing worn through the day, and hang them up to be thoroughly aired, while other well-ventilated garments are put on at night; but who advocates that course on hygienic principles? Most partially understand that if there are any obstructions by which these vapors, or exhalations, come to be thrown off from the body, injury to the health will follow: is it not therefore sensible to suppose that if the garments which receive and absorb them are kept on the body these vapors will be again absorbed, with poisonous results?

But if one is accustomed to complete change in the day and night garments, and neatly folds and lays them in the wardrobe, closing doors and windows to exclude dust and flies, or, as is often done, put the night attire under the pillow of the owner, what has been done to prevent injury to the health? Nothing. Is it any great trouble, on retiring, to hang the garments, as they are put off, one by one, where they will be thoroughly dried and aired? It will not take five minutes extra time. Leave the party, the ball or social converse by the fireside five minutes earlier if too tired to attend to this duty properly. And in the morning don't be late to breakfast—that's bad; but even that departure from good breeding is less reprehensible than to throw the nightclothes in a heap, leave the bed unaired and the windows unopened. Rise five minutes earlier if need be; hang up the nightclothes where they will have the full benefit of the pure, fresh morning air; raise the windows; throw off the bedclothes, hanging them loosely over chairs; put the pillows in full range of the windows, and pull the matrass over the foot-board, and go to breakfast with a clear conscience.

Do not be in too great haste to have the bed made. Leave it and your night clothes long enough for the sun to to dry off the morning dew that may have dampened them. Hang the night garments up in the closet, but never fold them to be put under the pillows. By strict observance of this method one may be sure of sweet, healthful changes, for morning and night, and exemption from more suffering and disease than people are willing to believe can spring from such light neglects.

There is much said of watchfulness and constant care respecting free circulation and cleanliness in cellars; particularly in milk and vegetable cellars. Too much cannot be said on those points. But how far do housekeepers learn through the evidence of their own senses that such advice and minute directions are carried out? Go to the milk cellar. Well, the pans look bright and clean and smell sweet; so do the churn, the butter bowl and other butter utensils. Ah! the odor comes from the corner, and every article seems clean. But you have only looked into the pans, bowls, etc. You have moved nothing. Lift up some of the things near the spot where the odor is offensive. Aha! what have we here! Surely Joan has left her old scrub-cloth up in this corner since wiping up the cellar floor. This is only one item. Others will be found on examination.

Do you now understand why the milk and butter have tasted badly this week? Nothing is so easily injured as milk, unless it is the health; and if these odors are allowed to exist day after day, with no real, thorough, active effort to trace the evil, how long will it be before the health will begin to suffer from the same causes?

If the milk cellar gives the first warning, and the mischief is cast out there, how more than probable that a much more injurious state of things will be found in the vegetable cellar; and poison from that source will bring much more serious results. We do not think it is safe to store vegetables or green wood in the cellars of dwelling-houses. The exhalations from a large mass of fruit or vegetables packed into a cellar are poisonous even before decay commences, and also the vapors or gas from green wood; and separate buildings ought to be provided for them. Every year we hear of one death after another in homes that seem the perfection of comfort and elegance; but when the blow has been repeated again and again some one rouses up and sees the necessity of investigation. The sewage is found defective, or vegetables or unseasoned wood have been stored directly under the home rooms. The poison from these causes naturally rises, and those who day after day think themselves blessed in the enjoyment of such a lovely home, are breathing disease and death with every hour's enjoyment. One and another remembers when too late that at times some disagreeable odor was perceptible in the air of the rooms, but no danger was thought of.

24 Cumberland St., Toronto, May 15, 1879.

Messrs. Milburn, Bently & Pearson,

Gentlemen,—Last fall I contracted a severe cold, which, by my neglect, settled on my lungs. I spent every symptom of the first stage of consumption, and, like many others, when almost too late, commenced to doctor up. I tried many remedies, but got no better; was almost satisfied I was incurable. Accidentally I heard of your Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and as a forlorn hope bought a bottle. I immediately felt relieved. After taking five (5) bottles I am cured, and never felt better in my life. I would heartily recommend your Hypophosphites.

TORONTO CUSTOM HOUSE

SERIOUS IRREGULARITIES BEING INVESTIGATED BY THE GOVERNMENT

Public Moneys used for Private land Speculations—Worthless Cheques Taken From Brokers and Held.

Special to the Review.

TORONTO, Nov. 27.—Very serious irreglarities are known to have occurred within the past few months at the Custom House of the port of Toronto. The parties principally concerned are the Collector of Customs, Mr. James E. Smith, and one of the subordinate officers, a Mr. Mackay, through whose hands all the cash received for duties at the Custom House passes daily, and who, if report be true, have acted in a manner calculated to excite the gravest suspicious in the minds of the public, and place themselves in an exceedingly awkward position. Mr. Johnson, assistant commissioner of customs at Ottawa has for some days of the past week been making an examination into the books at this port. He has discovered that the cash has been short, and that a gross sum of about twenty thousand dollars is involved, and that the Collector has had to return in hard cash about half this sum and Wm. Mackay has been laid under tribute for a similar amount; in fine that the cash received for duties at Toronto has been doing double duty in payment of duties, and has also been used by the Collector and his assistants for their personal use. The cash thus taken has been returned by the Collector, who raised money, it is understood, by mortgaging his property. Mr. Mackay has given security to the government for the amount he borrowed, some $10,000 or $12,000. The money has been used, it is understood, in land speculations in which the collector was deeply interested and in which it is claimed he was very successful. The most strenuous efforts are being made to "square" the Government, but the Government awaits Mr. Johnson's report, although the matter was a subject of discussion at the Privy Council to-day. Prompt action will be taken. It is also understood that some thousands of dollars of worthless checks were given in payment of duties by customs brokers, who had received the cash from merchants doing business in this city. These merchants gave their cheques in good faith to the brokers and the latter had their own cheques held by the customs, while the money was used by the brokers for purposes not intended by the merchants. The names of a number of prominent men in Toronto have been mentioned in connection with the Collectorship, which will soon be vacant. Amongst these are Mr. J. B. Robinson, M.P., for West Toronto; Mr. Angus Morrison and Mr. William MacDougall, Mr. Alexander Manning and Col. Arthurs are Smith's sureties, but neither will have to be called on to make the deficiency good. It is expected that both Smith and Mackay will be arrested.

OSHAWA.

Special to the Review, Nov. 27.

NARROW ESCAPE.—The rough cast dwelling owned and occupied by Wm. Trew, in John street, together with its contents, was destroyed by fire at two o'clock this morning. The inmates escaped in their night dress. There was a partial insurance. The loss is $1,200.

BROCKVILLE.

Special to the Review, Nov. 27.

TWO MEN DROWNED.—On Tuesday evening Saml. Edgar and Jas. Nulty, of Mallorytown, who had been attending the Chancery Court here, started in a skiff for home, it being then very rough. Nothing has been heard of them, and there seems no doubt the boat was swamped and the men drowned.

MONTREAL.

Special to the Review Nov. 27.

SHIPPING COMPANY.—The Canada Shipping Company has re-opened its stock book for further subscriptions.

A RESERVE FORCE.—It is rumored here that the Imperial Government intends establishing a reserve force of 10,000 men in Canada, composed of the militia of the Dominion, for active service at home or abroad, if required.

TORONTO.

Special to the Review, Nov. 27.

A LIBEL SUIT.—Mr. Patrick Boyle, of the Irish Canadian, has entered an action against the Globe for libel, placing the damages at a very heavy figure. The action arises out of an article in the Globe this morning on the printing contract, charging Mr. Boyle, Mr. Mackintosh, Alderman Starrs and others with being concerned in an arrangement whereby several of the lowest tenders for the Ottawa Government printing were withdrew, and the contract was secured by McLean, Rogers & Co.

OTTAWA.

RAILWAY PROJECTS.—The new railway project from Sault Ste. Marie to Montreal is likely to receive a start, for it is said a survey party will soon set out on a prospecting tour for a proper route. It is also said that next spring the route for the main line of the C. P. R. from the Canada Central extension to English River will be put under survey.

A CUNNING RUSE.—The license inspector for the the County of Ottawa paid Hull an official visit yesterday. His presence was soon known and there was considerable commotion among a number of unlicensed vendors of the exhilarating fluid, but they were equal to the emergency. They quietly secured small pox cards and placed them in the window. This was most effective in its results. The inspector naturally did not care about entering places where the dread disease apparently existed, and so the violators of the law escaped.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

GERMANY AND THE VATICAN.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—It is generally understood that the negotiations between the Vatican and the German Government have met with serious, if not fatal interruption. The result is alleged to be due to the impracticable nature of Bismarck's demands. Bismarck is also accused of duplicity in his dealings with the Papal Nuncio, regarding the May laws. The report that Prince Hohenlohe was shortly coming to Berlin on an important mission is now pronounced a canard. There are rumours that Prince Bismarck contemplates a visit to Lord Beaconsfield next summer.

DAVITT COMMITTED.

DUBLIN, Nov. 26.—Davitt declared he had been convicted of Fenianism in England on the evidence of professional perjurers. His cross-examination of the police witnesses failed to weaken the evidence against him. He was committed for trial, bail being accepted.

TROOPS FOR CUBA.

MADRID, Nov. 26.—Eleven hundred soldiers leave Barcelona on the 30th inst., and 1st December for Cuba. Two frigates also proceed shortly to reinforce the Cuban squadron.

THE POSSESSION OF GUSSINGE.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—The Porte has telegraphed to Ahmed Mukhtar Pasha to occupy Gussinge with fifteen battalions, and has asked the Powers to insist upon Montenegro postponing the advance of its troops.

THE AUSTRIAN-GERMAN TREATY.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Special despatches say the negotiations between Germany and Austria for a new commercial treaty have been suspended, as there is no prospect of an agreement upon its provisions. The delegates have been unable to agree respecting the date for the commencement of the treaty. It is also believed Germany is indisposed to accept the favoured nation principle.

IN FAVOUR OF HOME RULE.

EDINBURGH, Nov. 26.—Mr. Gladstone in a speech to the electors at Dalkeith this afternoon, expressed himself in favour of giving Home Rule to Ireland, but in local matters only.

ROUMANIA'S JEWS.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—The lengthy circular in in which M. Boerescu endeavours to prove to the European Cabinets that Roumania has done all that was possible to carry out the provisions of the Treaty of Berlin, with regard to the Jews of Roumania, is probably intended for Cabinets which have as yet not recognized Roumanian independence. Austria-Hungary, however, has already done this, thereby showing confidence in the new Roumanian state. It was more important for her that Roumania should be her friend than that the Jews should be emancipated. A very remarkable change for the better has indeed taken place in the relations of Roumania towards Austria-Hungary since the war, and there is every wish in Vienna that Roumania may be freed from the difficulties caused her by the Jewish question. The acceptance of the new laws by the Roumanian Jews will, it is hoped, put an end to the agitation on their behalf by their co-religionists abroad.

NEARLY A RIOT.

DUBLIN, Nov. 26.—Sligo was on the verge of a riot last night, and the police had to clear the streets. They made several arrests. Davitt telegraphed to Newcastle that he would keep his engagements to speak there on Sunday and Monday, and will attend the monster meeting at Glasgow. Last evening the police patrol were stoned. Later in the evening Davitt was serenaded by two bands. The police paraded the streets this morning. Further reinforcements have arrived. No fresh disturbances.

ANTI-REPUBLICANS IN OFFICE.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—At a caucus of French Deputies belonging to the pure Left, great complaint was made of the maintenance in public offices of anti-Republicans. The caucus directed its bureau to wait upon the Cabinet and insist upon changes in the staffs of various departments.

EGYPT AND ABYSSINIA.

ALEXANDRIA, Nov. 26.—Further information confirms the report of Gen. Gordon's mission to Abyssinia has been unsuccessful. The King insists upon his demand for the possession of Massowah and the payment of a large subsidy. He threatens to detain Gen. Gordon and declare war against Egypt.

THE PORTE'S DEBTS.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—The Porte's financial affairs are very much straitened, and its condition is considered desperate. The Palace purveyors have stopped furnishing supplies, pending payment of their bills.

THE ANGLO-PERSIAN ALLIANCE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 26.—The Golos publishes an editorial article showing a marked change of feeling toward Persia. Evidently the relations between the two countries are not now friendly. The tone of the article seems to confirm the recent intelligence of an understanding between England and Persia.

THREATENED CRISIS IN BELGIUM.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—A crisis in the Belgian Cabinet is apprehended in consequence of the pressure by the Extreme Left for the withdrawl of a Belgian representative at the Vatican, which Ministers oppose.

MR. DELANE'S ILLNESS.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Mr. Delane, ex-Editor of the Times, died of hereditary Bright disease, from which he had suffered terribly. He had an apoplectic stroke before he would resign his office. He was very abstemious. The obituary notice of him in the London Times yesterday was probably written by Mr. Walker, M. P., chief proprietor.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—A number of men erecting a station on the East side elevated railroad, were removing a derrick this afternoon, when John Keeland was ordered up the derrick to cast off the head-line. He went up and began to descend by the fall line. He was cautioned; but paid no attention. Suddenly the derrick fell, driving Keeland's head against the sharp edge of a rail, severing it from the body. The head dropped to the sidewalk, while the body was caught in the ropes.

THE OWNERSHIP OF LEADVILLE.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 26.—An important case, involving the title to all the property upon which Leadville stands, was decided by U. S. Judge Hallet to-day. The title to the land upon which the town stands and suburbs, has been derived through patents from the Government for placer mining ground. The case was the St. Louis Smelting and Refining Co. v. Thos. Kemp et al., brought by the Company to recover leases purchased from the patentee, Thos. Stowe, by the company, and which were taken possession of by the defendants. The Court decided that the patent was void, on the ground that it appeared the patentee's tract of placer mining ground was composed of several different placer claims, for which he had not made as many different applications, and had as many surveys made by the Surveyor-General, posted as many different notices, nor done $500 worth of work in all the different claims conveyed to him, constituting the tract included in the patent. The case goes to the United States Supreme Court.

EVER FAITHFUL.

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio, Nov. 26.—Dr. Jno. A. Brown, on Monday evening, returning from performing a surgical operation, hitched his team to the roadside, and with a dog and gun started for a tramp through the woods. Not returning, his friends organised a search and found the body half a mile from the carriage. He had fallen upon his face, grasping a gun loaded and cocked, with both hands, and died of heart disease. The dog had remained by his side and worn the path around on his guard.

THE "CHAMPION" DISASTER.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—The report of the local board of inspectors concerning the collision between the Champion and Lady Octavia declares the disaster wholly due to the absence of a proper lookout on the Champion, and that the fault rests mainly with Leonard, the first mate. If he had survived, his action would have been condemned in severe terms. Credit is given to the officers and crew of the Lady Octavia for the prompt manner in which they went to the rescue of the passengers and crew of the wrecked steamer.

RUSSIAN JUSTICE.

In a recent number of St. Petersburg Wiedomosti is reported the following quaint episode from a police court of the Russian capital:—"On the 18th ult. two persons appeared before the Magistrate of the court in question, one of whom, a civilian, was enveloped from head to foot in bandages, while the other wore the gay uniform of a Guard officer. 'How often?' laconically inquired the Magistrate, addressing the bandaged individual. 'Who can count them up?' replied the latter in scarcely articulate accents. 'My lower jaw is dislocated, my nose torn, one eye knocked out, my skull fractured, one wisker as good as gone, my left ear mangled, and my arm lamed.' 'Well, but about how often?' urged the Magistrate. 'First he hit me about seven times on the nose; that was the beginning. Then he twisted his hand in my beard and tore out one whole whisker. Then he hit me about fifty times in the face.' 'That is to say, he administered fifty cuffs to you?' 'There or thereabouts.'" "At 2 copecks a cuff," observed the Magistrate, making a hasty calculation on the paper before him, "that makes exactly one ruble." "But, for pity's sake, what about my skull, and my whisker and my jaw? My arm, too, is disabled for at least two months to come!" "Don't excite yourself; I'll reckon it all up in due time. Let me see; 4 copecks for the skull, 1½ copecks for the whisker 30 copecks for the arm." * * * After a brief pause, "Is there anything else?" "And my eye." "Ah, yes, quite right; I forgot the eye. Let us say 7 copecks for the eye. The total will be 1 ruble 42½ copecks." Then turning gravely toward the defendant in uniform, the Magistrate pronounced sentence. 'For molesting this man and doing him grevious bodily harm, you have to pay 1 ruble 42½ copecks, or go to prison for two days and a half.' Pulling out his purse the officer handed two ruble notes to the Magistrate, exclaiming:—'There is no need to talk about prison. There are 2 rubles; you can give the change to the usher of the court for a dram. 'If—addressing the plaintiff—'I had known what it cost, you hound, I would have given you something to howl about.' 'Excuse me,' interposed the Magistrate, 'I fine you 10 rubles for making use of such expressions in my presence.' With a grimace of dissatisfaction the officer laid down a 10 ruble note on the Magistrate's desk and left the court; whereupon the latter doled out a 1 ruble 42½ copecks to the complainant, put the rest of the change and the 10-ruble note into his pocket, and observed, 'The proceedings in this suit are terminated. Usher, call the next case!'"

From the Morning Papers.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

A PLUCKY WOMAN.—An attempt was made by a tramp to rob the station house on the railway at Kerwick. There were only two women in the house at the time, but one of them struck the would-be robber to the floor. Just then the whistle of an approaching train was heard and the tramp escaped into the woods. There was a large amount of money in the house at the time.

BELLEVILLE.

GOLD MINING.—The Intelligencer says:—Preparations for mining on an extensive scale are being made at the Gatling mine. Messrs. G. & J. Brown shipped to the Gatling mine this morning a bed for crusher weighing 3 tons, also jaws weighing 2,800 lbs., and two wheels weighing 1,700 lbs. Total cost, $700. They are also making for the same mine an iron floor, weighing 2,020 lbs. They have also in course of construction a steam-pump, a small cylinder steam winch, and a skip for hoisting ore out of the mine.

The Rarity of Charity.

The warden of the States Prison at Bangor, Me., recently related a curious story. A young woman who served out a sentence of five years found means of education, and becoming thoroughly reformed and a Christian, left the prison in appearance a lady. She was employed by a dry-goods firm in Portland as saleswoman, and gave perfect satisfaction to her employers, till one day a wealthy lady of the place entered the store and recognized her. Calling the proprietor aside she told him that the girl had been in the State Prison. He replied that he knew it, but that they were well satisfied with her. "Well," said the lady, "if you keep her in your store, I will neither trade with you myself, nor suffer any of my friends to, if I can help it." So the proprietor, rather than lose his customer, called the poor girl in and discharged her.—New York Tribune.

STORING IN CANAL BOATS.

A PRETTY little row is now going on in Brooklyn anent the canal boats being ordered to find winter quarters elsewhere than at the docks. It seems that hitherto it has been the practice for the canal boats to be used as storehouses for grain &c., during the winter season to the great advantage of the owners, as it enabled them to make the boats earn money all the year round, and to the equal advantage of the owners of grain, as it enabled them to store and handle their grain at less cost than if it were sent to the elevators. Under these circumstances it is not surprising that there should be a row over the matter, and that the elevator people, alias the railways, were being blamed for bringing about an order of affairs which must prove beneficial to themselves.

THE WHEAT ZONE.

MR. TAYLOR, United States Consul at Winnipeg, has written a long letter to the St. Paul Pioneer Press in reply to criticisms on his statement that "three-fourths of the wheat lands of North America are situated within the Dominion of Canada." He supports his assertion by weighty authorities, and detailed data, concluding as follows:—

"I have no pride of opinion as to the accuracy of an impromptu estimate of proportions north or south of the boundary. I would cheerfully waive it, confessing to an arithmetical inaccuracy, if assured of a general acceptance of the opinion with which the article of the Pioneer Press concluded, namely, that "in the Hudson Bay Territory, outside of the old provinces, 200,000,000 acres are adapted to wheat raising." That admission is more than enough to justify a railroad policy, which will push, within ten years, the locomotive from Winnipeg fully 1,000 miles beyond its present bounds on Red River."

THE TRENT VALLEY.

As another indication of the growing interest which is being taken in the projected Trent Valley Canal, we find the following in the prospectus of the Trent Valley Advocate, which has just been started at Trenton:—

"The village is an important factor in this section of the Province, being in the neighbourhood of one of the grandest schemes the Canadian Government have ever yet undertaken, viz:—The Trent Valley Canal. While the Advocate issues from here, we will endeavour to record the local proceedings of the village and surrounding country, at the same time encouraging any enterprise or scheme which may be for the benefit of Trenton and the advancement of her interests. We intend to establish a regular corps of correspondents throughout the entire section of the Trent Valley at as early a date as possible, who will promptly forward us everything of importance in connection with the Trent Valley Canal scheme."

It is pleasing to notice the prominence being given to Canada and Canadian interests, both in the mother land and south of the lakes, of late. For instance, a copy of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, now before us, contains no less than two leading editorials devoted to Canadian subjects.

The DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at 10 cents a week.

MORE REFLECTIONS ON COURTNEY.

The following letter from Courtney's family physician, a gentleman of intelligence and integrity, shows how much reliance may be placed in the story of illness certified to by "Fleckinger, M.D.":—

"Union Springs, Nov. 12, 1879.

"Charles E. Courtney:

"DEAR FRIEND,—I hope you will cast aside all apprehensions, and with your vigorous health and excellent habits go into the race with a full determination to show that such life is always sure of reward. I know you will win. Will come to Washington and care for you if you wish. I know that you are all right for this race.

"Yours in haste,
"BEN. J. FORDYCE,
"Family Physician.

"P.S.—Indeed, I never saw you when you were really so well and strong.
"B. J. F."

John Courtney says that on Tuesday last Charley announced his intention of going over to Owasco Lake and row against time for that special purse of $1,000, and invited his friends to take their watches and accompany him. He intended to row in Frenchy Johnson's shell, the coloured oarsman being there at the time. He didn't go, however; neither did he tell Mr. Soule of his intention. If he could row for $1,000 in Frenchy's shell, why not for $6,000? is a question that naturally arises, and it will be a very ugly one for Courtney to answer.

THE DEAF MADE TO HEAR.

Singular and Touching Results Attained by a Simple Little Invention.

There has been a great deal of fun made over attempts to make deaf people hear, and the wonderful Edison with his megaphone has done not a little to encourage the general amusement, but a man deafer than Edison has shown that people born deaf or made deaf by disease can actually be made to hear to a greater or less extent, and so can be freed from many of the inconveniences formerly inseparable from their condition. This fact was shown yesterday at the audiphone parlors, No. 41, East Twenty-second street, where the audiphone was exhibited by Mr. R. S. Rhodes, of Chicago. Dr. George M. Beard, the well-known electrician, in introducing Mr. Rhodes, said he had not thoroughly examined the instrument, but believed it would prove more serviceable to those who were almost completely deaf than to those who were partially deaf, providing that the auditory nerve was not destroyed. While Dr. Beard was speaking Mr. Rhodes sat listening to him with an audiphone and when Dr. Beard had finished Mr. Rhodes rose and in the high-pitched voice common to deaf people, said Dr. Beard had stated the case exactly. He himself had been deaf for twenty years and had tried every form of ear-trumpet without benefit. He had fallen into the habit of placing his watch between his teeth and listening to its ticking, and one day it suddenly occurred to him that he could hear articulate language in the same manner. He then began experiments to find a proper medium for conducting sounds to the ear through the teeth, and after two years perfected the audiphone which he has since used. Mr. Rhodes then exhibited the audiphone and explained the manner of its use. It resembled an ordinary Japanese fan—a square fan with the angles rounded off and made of vulcanized rubber. The flexible fan part was adjusted in a semi-cylindrical shape by means of cords attached to it and held in place by a clamp or wedge on the handle. Mr. Rhodes explained that deaf persons could appreciate a high-pitched tone better than a lower pitch and that therefore the arc of the audiphone would need to be arranged to suit bass or treble voices.

AGAINST THE TEETH OF HIS UPPER JAW,

The interesting part of the exhibition was the introduction of a class of deaf-mutes from the Washington Heights Asylum. This class included two young ladies, a young girl, two young men and two boys. The first person experimented upon was a young man who had been deaf for fifteen years and who began the study of articulate language three years ago. He was a very energetic young man, and he and Mr. Rhodes began a conversation, each with

AN AUDIPHONE AGAINST HIS EYE-TEETH.

It would be hard to describe the manner in which the young man replied to Mr. Rhodes, but it may be represented somewhat in this fashion. When the inventor of the audiphone asked the young man how long he had been deaf, the young man answered, [illegible] without moving a muscle of his face, "Fif-teen y-ears a-go." Then Mr. Rhodes went behind the young man and put to him a question which met with no response; and Mr. Rhodes coming in front of him asked, "Didn't you hear what I said?" The young man answered, "Nevare." The ladies in the audience applauded, but there was no other allusion to "Pinafore."

The next subject was one of the two young ladies. She adjusted the audiphone with feminine intuition, and as she had been deaf since the age of two years, Mr. Rhodes attempted with her the experiment of teaching her almost immediately the difference between two sounds. He pronounced the letters "A" and "O," at the same time making the corresponding deaf-mute signs, and after a moment he blindfolded the young lady. Then he pronounced the same letters, varying their order and each time the young lady raised her finger and made the deaf-mute sign of the letter which had been spoken to her. Then chords were played on a piano and organ while the young lady held the audiphone in her mouth, and it was shown that she could hear the sounds perfectly.

The experiment with the other young lady of the class was very touching.

SHE HAD BEEN BORN DEAF,

and she showed the greatest eagerness when she was given an audiphone and promised that she should hear. The experiments made with the other young lady of the class were repeated successfully with her, and she was then asked if she ever heard her own voice. She answered in the negative, and she was instructed by means of signs and by placing her hand on Mr. Rhodes' throat so as to feel the vibrations of the vocal chords how to produce a sound. She was then given a double audiphone—one which there are two disks between which the voice is thrown—and she endeavoured to make a sound. At first she was unsuccessful, but on the second attempt she made a long, wailing sound which was in strange contrast to the brightness of her face. Her face flushed and she sank into her seat and pulled her veil over her face. The instructor asked her if she had heard her voice, and she answered that she had. She could describe the effect it had upon her only by saying that it was a "curious sensation."—New York World.

Wonderful Recovery.

A singular case of recovery from insanity through an injury occurred recently in the Homœopathic State Asylum for the Insane. A male patient, 21 years old, while in a state of violent irritation, sprang up to the gas fixture, caught hold of a slender tubing, and swung himself with considerable force. The fixture gave way and the patient fell, striking his head on the stone pavement. Instantly he arose, walked out of the ward, and gave a clear account of the accident he had met with. He had, in fact, recovered his mind, though he suffered greatly from the external injuries to his scalp. This case is not alone of its kind. Some physicians have seriously tried to raise the question of the application of sudden and violent shaking of the head to the treatment of insanity; but as the question of the dose is one of great difficulty, this heroic method remains optional with the patients themselves.

LAKEFIELD.

From our Own Correspondent.

PUBLIC SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

The Board met pursuant to adjournment on Tuesday evening, the 25th instant. Members present:—John Hull, Esq., Chairman of the Board in the chair, and Messrs. John Clarin, R. C. Strickland, Thomas Casement, W. C. Sanders, and G. J. Galvin, the Secretary of the School Board.

A communication from Miss Duff thanking the Board for her advancement from the 3rd Department of the school to the 2nd Department, and asking the Board to re-consider the question of salary, was read by the Chairman.

Six applications for positions in the Lakefield School as teachers were read and presented to the Board by the Secretary.

After a good deal of discussion on these applications, it was moved by W. C. Sanders, seconded by John Clarin,—That the application of Miss Braden be accepted, and that she be and is hereby appointed teacher of the Third Department of the Lakefield Public School at a salary of $220 per annum; and the application of Miss Munroe be accepted, and that she be and is hereby appointed teacher of the Fourth or Junior Department of the Lakefield Public School at a salary of $200 per annum. The appointments to take effect on the first of January next.

It was moved in amendment by G.J. Galvin, seconded by R. C. Strickland,—That Miss Sarah J. Shields be appointed teacher of the Third Department at a salary of $225.00, and that Miss Munroe be appointed teacher of the Junior Department at a salary of $200.00. Upon the question being put to vote, the Chairman declared the motion carried.

Moved by W.C. Sanders, seconded by Thos. Casement,—That Miss Duff's communication be received, but that under existing circumstances this Board cannot see its way clear to make any change in the salary at present.—Carried.

Moved by John Clarin, seconded by R. C. Strickland,—That W. H. Casement, Esq., be and he is hereby appointed Returning Officer to hold the next school election and that the same be held in the Council Room in Lakefield, according to the school law.—Carried.

Upon motion the Board then adjourned to meet again on the regular meeting night.

EXCHANGE OF STREETS.

There has not for some time past been any proper means of egress or ingress to or from the steamboat landing on Church street. True, there has been the Concession line from Church street to Water street, by means of which and Water street, a street could have been made to the wharf, but this street would necessarily pass around three sides of a square instead of the one side. The streets and highways of any municipality are just so much public property, and are set apart for the use and convenience of the public as a public, and no consideration of private convenience should be allowed to interfere in the discussion of the advisability or inadvisability of having a public street opened or closed, provided no private rights are interfered with. The bulk of public travel to the steamboat wharf would necessarily come from the south and would pass along Church street, and thence north by the concession line to Water street, thence west to the wharf. Now the council propose to close up this concession line from Church street to Water street, and open a street immediately west of the railway track from Church street to Water street, terminating at the wharf. The public would by this means have direct access to the water's edge, without crossing the railway's tracks. Ross & Co. very generously made this offer to the Village Council. They offered to give the Corporation, in lieu of the concession from Church Street to Water Street, 66 feet, or an equal amount of land, to the said line from Church Street to Water Street, but in a far more convenient position, when the use for which a street is designed is considered. It should be borne in mind that this exchange does not in any way interfere with the reserve, or wharfage, along the river. The Council only propose to give the concession line from Church street to its intersection with Water street. This can be seen at once by referring to notice in another column. It is a very important feature in the consideration of this question that Water Street, or the reserve of 66 feet along the eastern bank of the Otonabee River in Lakefield, is not interfered with in any respect whatever by this contemplated exchange. Leaving the desires or conveniences of Ross & Co. out of the question entirely, and looking at the matter from a public point of view, as we are bound to do, there cannot be any valid reason why the Village Council should not complete this exchange at the earliest possible moment. In fact, we have yet to learn that the few opposed to it can advance a single argument in favor of the position they take in the matter.

FROZEN OVER.

Geo. Cochrane, the indefatigable Fishery overseer of this district, [illegible] over Chemong, or Mud Lake, on Monday afternoon last on the ice on foot, on fishery business. Mr. C. succeeded first-class as far as the ice was concerned, but his visit in other respects was a decided failure, and after retracing his cautious steps he was heard to remark that "he would not cross Mud Lake on the ice again this week."

SHANTYING OPERATIONS.

Mr. R. C. Strickland has been away to the back country for the last couple of days, making arrangements to start a shanty for the purpose of taking out a large quantity of ties and cedars this winter, on the shores of Stoney Lake.

MEATS.

Three or four farmers from Scott's settlement beyond Apsley, were in the village on Wednesday with pork and beef. These products of the back country were very much admired on account of quality and appearance, and found a ready sale at fair prices.

A WELCOME CHANGE.

The agent of the Review has received a letter from a subscriber of the late News in which he says:—"We have had a copy of the Peterborough Evening Review, and see by it the arrangement made with the late Lakefield News. We think it an admirable one, and one which is very fair to the subscribers of the News, and will be beneficial to the village generally."

PLENTY OF STAGES.

Mr. Carveth, Mr. German, and Mr. Chapin have each been simultaneously impressed with the conviction of the need for further means of communicating between Lakefield and Peterborough. They have therefore each started stages and have already made one trip. It is doubtful how long this competition will continue.

A SOLITARY SKATER.

A young man went over to the marsh to test the ice after the recent cold snap, but returned disgusted with the prospect for skating.

LUMBERING.

Mr. Jno. McDonald, of Point St. Charles, Peterborough, passed through Lakefield on Wednesday last with three teams loaded with shanty supplies, going to the neighborhood of White Lake for the purpose of taking out logs, etc.

ACCIDENT.

Last week a young man named George Alford was working with Mr. R. Q. Dench, of Lakefield, skidding logs. The young man became entangled between the skid and the sleigh, and had his foot very painfully jammed. We understand that he is getting around again all right.

CHEAP RAILWAY FARES.

The Midland railway, anxious as usual to oblige the public, have announced half rate tickets from Lakefield to Peterborough and back for the night of Mrs. Scott-Siddons' reading.

THE MIDLAND TRAINS.

A report was circulated by some croakers that we were to have only one train a day, but this turns out to be incorrect. The two trains a day will be run nearly as usual, starting at 9.30 a.m. and 1.30 p.m., and arriving at 8.45 a.m., and 12.55 p.m.

STEAMERS.

Navigation closed here on Friday last. The Steamers Orator and Chippewa were in Stoney Lake the whole of Thursday night, not being able to leave their moorings on account of the heavy wind prevailing during the night. On Friday it took the two steamers the whole day to reach Lakefield with a scow each, but just before dark, by each helping the other, success crowned the earnest toil of Captains Secret and Lillicrap and their efficient crews with home for the winter. We understand the results of the season's operations to the owners of these steamers has been satisfactory, and that the prospects for the next season are very encouraging. We are glad to be able to make this announcement, because Captains Secret and Lillicrap are so affable, painstaking and courteous to the public, that we are glad to see such efforts meet public approval. These two steamers, small though they be, have caused, directly and indirectly, a large increase in the general trade of Lakefield, and also to the bustle and activity which gives a place an active, life-like appearance. Here is a reminder of some of the advantages of the Trent Valley Canal.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL MEETING.

The Reeve, John Dinwoodie, Esq., has been requested by a petition of the business men of the Village to call a public meeting for the discussion of the Trent Valley Canal scheme. The meeting takes place on Tuesday evening next at 7 o'clock in the Council Room. We hope to see a good turn out. There is no doubt, but that the Village Council will be governed largely by the discussion of this public meeting. One very important conclusion to be arrived at is, whether Lakefield will step forward and take her proper place and responsibility in the achievement of this grand undertaking. We have no fear as to the result, but would urge those ratepayers who have Lakefield's advancement at heart, to turn out and make this a successful meeting.

ORANGE LODGES.

The two Orange Lodges of Lakefield will hold their December annual meetings in the Orange Hall on Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week. The old lodge meets on Monday evening and the young lodge on Tuesday evening. The officers for the ensuing year will be elected at these meetings.

WINTER QUARTERS.

Mr. James Blondell, ship carpenter of this village, is now busily engaged with a number of men taking the steamer Chippewa out of the water and putting her into winter quarters.

Good Pressed Beef.

We commend to our many new house-keeping readers the following, which has been partly given in former years. Take any fresh lean beef—the cheaper pieces, as the upper part of the leg above the "soup pieces," answers very well; that containing tendons or plenty of gelatine is even preferable, and some of the round steak or any other lean portion may be used with it. Boil slowly covered until so tender that the meat will fall from the bones. (It is better to keep a closely fitting pan of cold water over the cooking kettle, to condense and cause to fall back the rising steam containing the escaping flavor.) Use only so much water as is needed to prevent burning. Take out the meat, mix and chop it fine. Put it into a tin pan or other deep dish. Skim off any excess of grease from the cooking liquor, and add to it a tablespoonful of Cooper's or other good gelatine for each 3 or 4 lbs of meat. When dissolved pour it into the chopped meat; put on it a large plate or tin that will fit into the dish, and place upon this 12 to 20 lbs. weight—flat-irons will answer. When cold it is a solid mass, from which thick or thin slices may be cut, and are marbled in appearance, and are very excellent for sandwiches, or for a tea or breakfast dish, and will keep several days even in warm weather if set in a cool place. It is tender, juicy, digestible, nourishing, convenient and economical withal.—American Agriculturist for December 1.

Six Hours of Dancing.

And now Miss Carrie Willing, of Williamsburg, a young lady of eighteen, has distinguished herself by her wonderful powers of endurance. At the reception of the Unique Club, held on Wednesday evening, she astonished her friends, and waltzed into public notoriety by dancing from 10 o'clock in the evening till 4 o'clock in the morning. This she did without intermission, and she used up nine partners. She didn't even have a blister on her feet and did not appear in the least fatigued after her extraordinary performance.—N. Y. Star.

Lumber from Straw.

A recent inventor claims to be able to make hard-wood lumber from common wheat straw. The straw is first made into a pulp and then into ordinary paste-board. As many of these sheets are taken as required to make the thickness of lumber desired, and then are passed through a chemical solution, the composition of which is not stated, and afterwards the sheets are passed through rollers and the hard lumber, impervious to water, comes out ready for use.—American Agriculturist.

Not on the Poet Stage.

If the unfortunate and unhappy Kirk White were alive, it is more than probable that he would have unsung his poem commencing "Come Consumption's Ghastly Throng," as the remedy for that fell disease has now been discovered. It is Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. Many so called remedies have been offered to the public, but none have proved trustworthy until this preparation was given to suffering humanity. It not only relieves in every case, but in most cases permanently cures; at the same time is perfectly palatable.

d166-w45-1m

It is said by many, first try one remedy, and then another, but we find in the great majority of cases that those who try Hagyard's Yellow Oil for all purposes of a liniment, have no use for any other preparation, it does its work so effectually that none others need to be applied. It is equally good for man or beast, and can be used internally for Croup, Whooping Cough, and Asthma, externally for Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises, Chilblains, Burns, Scalds and all Pains and Aches, from whatever cause they may occur. Sold by all dealers at 25 cents per bottle. w47d115-2w

He Sleeps with a Revolver Under His Head.

OR A WISE PRECAUTION.

On the borders of civilization it is customary with men to sleep with a revolver within easy grasp. This precaution is deemed necessary to insure the safety of their personal property. The sagacious housewife, to prepare against a sudden attack of sickness in her family of little ones, takes the wise precaution to arm herself with the most potent remedy known to science for the routing and putting to sudden flight, colic, diarrhoea, inflammation of the bowels caused by colds, or what is more often the case, the eating of green apples or other unripe fruit before retiring. The weapon is Scott & Bowne's Emulsion of Palatable Castor Oil. Price 25 cents. d166-w45-1m

---

Science is a good piece of furniture for a man to have in an upper chamber, provided he has common sense on the ground floor, and a bottle of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam on the shelf, for use in case of a sudden cold, cough, or hoarseness. This Canadian remedy is unsurpassed as a curative agent in croup, bronchitis, influenza, and all pulmonary complaints. For sale by all dealers. w47d115-2w

From the age of 16 to 80.

Thousands of people, from the age of sixteen to eighty years, are suffering from kidney complaints and other diseases arising from derangement of the urinary organs, who would be relieved by a few doses of Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi, and a permanent cure made by the use of a few bottles. WIDE AWAKE $2.50 a year. } Edited by BABYLAND 50 cents a year. } Ella Farman.

These are the two illustrated Magazines you want for your little folks and your young people the coming year. There are few portions of the English-speaking world where they are not circulated; and warm commendations come from residents in such far-off countries as India, China, etc. It may be interesting to New England teachers, who are introducing these two magazines into their schools, to know that they are also used as text-books in foreign lands. A recent order from Bulgaria, where one of our brightest New England ladies uses them in her school, includes sets from the beginning, as she finds them better adapted than any other magazines for translation into the language of the country.

Although the brightest and freshest writers and artists are employed on the magazines, they will, as heretofore, be kept at their old prices, that they may be within the reach of all—emphatically the magazines for the People.

Ruth Erskine's Crosses. By Pansy. Boston: D. Lothrop & Co. $1.50.

"Among the few prominent publishing houses which make a specialty of Sunday-school literature, none deserves more highly at the hands of the Christian public than D. Lothrop & Co. Their presses seem consecrated to the making of books and papers—pure, wholesome, and safe—for the young. In this day, when money-making seems to be long the line of the issuance of vicious and trashy stuff, it is a matter for congratulation that purely secular houses can sternly resist the tide and devote themselves to the publication of only what is elevating and good.

These remarks are called forth by reading the above book, and after a long acquaintance with the publications of this house.

Two years ago the writer suggested in these columns to Mrs. Alden, who writes under the pseudonym of "Pansy," that she follow up the "Four Girls at Chautauqua" and the "Chautauqua Girls at Home" with an account of their life after marriage, their real life, as marriage is often made an excuse for the withdrawal of young people from active service in the Church. In "Ruth Erskine's Crosses" we find an answer, in part, to our suggestion. We say in part, for the book [illegible], and yet we are not quite sure but that our disappointment is to be found in the fact that Pansy has given us real and not ideal life.

The book is a worthy contribution to the series, and the series ought to be in every Sunday-school and young people's library in the land."—New York Christian Advocate.

"At No. 32 Franklin Street, Boston, we enter D. Lothrop & Co.'s publishing house, on the corner of Hawley Street. Their salesroom is a large one, measuring 40x110 feet, high studded, and lighted as it is upon three sides is peculiarly pleasant and admirably adapted to the comfort and convenience of book-lovers. Besides this room, Lothrop & Co. occupy two floors above, respectively for binding and composition. The extent of their transactions is something wonderful, and we echo the exclamation of the good Man of Uz, "Of the making of many books there is no end," when we are told that this one house alone has a list of publications numbering nine hundred, following makes every year more than half a million books, and will issue this fall a hundred entirely new works. The firm has many specialties, among which may be mentioned albums, of which they are the largest importers in New England; miscellaneous books for home reading, all of which have undergone the scrutiny of an eminent corps of readers, whose duties it is to see that nothing harmful or vapid shall emerge from the house; religious works, Bibles, Prayer Books, Hymnals, etc., together with Christmas, Sunday-school and day award cards, stationery, etc. Every one, of course, knows that this is the nesting-place of Wide Awake and Babyland, though everyone may not know that it is also the birthplace of more juvenile, holiday and gift books than are published by any other single concern in Boston."—Boston Transcript. 2d124

BOTH for $2.80!

☞ To Farmers and Horticulturists

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

By SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the Weekly Review and the Rural New-Yorker, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.50! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the Rural New-Yorker, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

First. The Cuthbert Raspberry—2 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Pease says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, so far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."—

It is at once the highest-flavored, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

Second. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea, [illegible] in England at $20 per bushel [illegible].

Third. Hold's Bearded Oats. Mr. Hold, of England is the introducer of this variety. On the farm of the Rural New-Yorker it yielded, last season, at the rate of 86 bushels per acre.

Fourth. Abies Sibirica. One of the hardiest and most beautiful Evergreens known.

Fifth. Seeds of Magnolias, Soulangeana, Lennei, Acuminata, Fraseri, Glauca and Umbrella.

Sixth. Seeds from Seedlings of the beautiful and new Iris Kaempferi. Hardy.

Seventh. Seeds of the Splendid Pipe Vine, Aristolochia Sipho. Hardy.

Eighth. Seeds of the Man-Root, Ipomoea leptophylla. Hardy.

Ninth. Seeds of Bebb's New Aquilegias—bearing the largest flower of any of the Columbines.

Tenth. Hybrid Pentstemons. New, beautiful, hardy. N.B.—The above rare collections of seeds are estimated to be worth over $2.50. Many of them cannot at present be purchased.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1879.

TOWN AND LOCAL NEWS.

Board of Education.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education will be held at the Collegiate Institute on Tuesday evening, December 3rd.

The Mail Changes

By reference to the Peterborough Post Office advertisement on the first page of the EVENING REVIEW, the public will note the changes of the time of the arrival and closing of mails.

Mechanics's Institute.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mechanics' Institute on Friday evening to make arrangements for a removal to new premises, the engagement of a Librarian and other business.

The Railway and Mrs. Scott-Siddons.

The Midland Railway Company issued round trip tickets from various points along the line to Peterborough to-day, giving opportunity to all who wished to hear Mrs. Scott-Siddons at the Opera House this evening. The tickets, we understand, are at reduced rates.

The Telephone.

The Dominion Telegraph Company have erected a "call bell telephone" for Dr. R. C. Burritt, from his residence to his office. The doctor will have a boy stationed in the office at all hours of the day and night, for the accommodation of his patients, who can, through the telephone, communicate with him their wishes.

Found Drunk on the Street.

Early this morning Theodore Barchard, of gymnastic notoriety, was found drunk upon the street by Constable McGhee and taken to the lock-up. Barchard was at the fire and assisted the firemen, after which he imbibed freely and became unable to find his home. The Constable provided for him.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day, are: Brisk winds; cloudy weather with areas of snow or rain. The weather has considerably moderated the past day or two in Peterborough. Last night the moon made a faint attempt to light the earth, but before morning there was a fall of 1½ inches of snow. The day has been cloudy to partly cloudy with a drizzling rain. Wind moderate, from easterly to south-easterly. Sleighing is disappearing.

The Meteoric Shower.

Professor Swift says of the meteoric display which is expected to-night:—

"It was predicted by a few and disbelieved by many, that about the 27th November, 1872, a meteoric shower would be the result of the earth's passage through the debris of the comet. The prediction was fulfilled far beyond the expectations of the most sanguine believer. The comet which produces the shower of November 27 (which by the way was never seen till the evening of that date in 1872) is the periodic comet known as Biela's. Within a day or two of the 27th of November—probably on the evening of that day—we may look for a shower, with much assurance that one will occur."

Town and County Teacher's Association.

The Town and County Teacher's Association hold their annual meeting on Friday and Saturday of next week, the 5th and 6th of December, in the Collegiate Institute building, on Friday at 10 p.m., and on Saturday at 9 a.m. The programme of both days has been arranged, and is in the hands of the teachers. It is said to be an interesting one, and is likely to call together a large number of the friends of education. Mr. James L. Hughes, the Public School Inspector for Toronto, and Mr. J. H. Knight, Inspector for East Victoria, are expected to take part in the proceedings. On Friday evening there will a lecture by Mr. J. L. Hughes.

Prof. Gardiner's Entertainment.

The literary and scientific entertainment given by Professor Gardiner in the Friendship Temple Hall, George street, last evening was attended by a large and appreciative audience of students, parents, patrons and teachers of the Collegiate Institute and Public Schools, who were well pleased with the astronomical illustrations, curiosities in mathematics, and the various excellent recitations given by the Professor in French, German, Spanish, Italian, Turkish and Russian. As last evening was not sufficient to exhaust the excellent programme, it will be continued on Friday and Saturday evenings.

Important Improvement.

A great improvement has just been completed at the dam at Whitla's Rapid. A new sluiceway, 30 feet wide, has been constructed, the dam being cut away for 65 feet from the junction with the wing dam. Two piers have been built, one 60 feet, and the other 45 feet long. Between three or four thousand feet of square timber of large dimension, and 200 cords of stone have been used in the construction. This work has been executed in a very satisfactory manner under the foreman, Mr. Thomas Pratt, who has had charge of so many other improvements on these waters. This new sluiceway, besides facilitating the control of the depth of water, will draw the current of water away from the lock canal closely adjoining it, and will thus check in some measure the deposit of saw-dust and other mill rubbish.

Immigrant Farmers.

We are requested to publish the following communication, addressed to W. H. Scott, Esq., M. P. P.:—

DEPARTMENT OF IMMIGRATION, ONTARIO,
TORONTO, 13th October, 1879.

DEAR SIR,

I have the honor, under instructions from the Hon. the Commissioner of Immigration, to ask you to furnish me with the names of two or three successful immigrant farmers in your Constituency, who may be willing to allow their names to be published in a pamplet on Ontario for immigration purposes. You will please furnish, among other things, their native place, the date of their arrival in this Province, the time engaged in farming operations in Ontario, their capital on commencing, their present means and standing, with perhaps, a few facts relating to their early struggles.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient Servant,
DAVID SPENCE,
Secretary.

We have been asked by Mr. Scott to request that any gentlemen who may be willing to permit the use of their names for the purposes indicated to afford him the desired information, that it may be forwarded to the Department.

Fire this Morning.

This morning at half-past two a fire was discovered by John White, 'bus driver, issuing from the one and a half storey building on George Street, adjoining the Dublin House, and lately occupied by Francis Quinn as an inn. The building was of wood, and one of the old land-marks of Peterborough. It was once known as the Farmers' Retreat, and formed a part of the Ryan estate. Lately it has been owned by Messrs Jas. T. Dolan and John Garvey, and was valued at about $250, although paying rent on about eight hundred dollars. Quinn had just removed to the corner of Charlotte Street, and the house was vacant. The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary, and it was the second time within a few days that an attempt had been made to destroy the property, for what purpose is not known. The adjoining property was not damaged. The few firemen who became aware of the fire were on hand promptly, but their exertions were directed to the protection of the adjoining property. The walls of the Dublin House were much heated, but no perceptible damage was sustained. The building destroyed was not insured. John White, who discovered the fire, sounded the alarm, giving the new rule as proposed by the Mayor, two strokes in quick succession indicating the number of the ward. There was a mistake in the continuous ringing at intervals. The strokes for the ward should be maintained, and continuous rapid strokes should only be used to indicate a general alarm, to call the citizens to the rescue. This is only needed when a general conflagration is imminent.

Preparing for the Day and a' wha Honor St. Andrew.

We hear that the Dinner Committee of the St. Andrew's Society have reported that the arrangements for celebrating the anniversary are progressing very satisfactorily. Tickets have been placed in the hands of the Committee, and also with a number of store-keepers in town, from whom they may be obtained. The Committee have good reason for expecting a much larger gathering this year than for some years past. This speaks well for the perseverance and patriotism of the few members of this Society who, under many discouragements, have stuck firmly together to keep the Society alive for the last two or three years. It has been rather a surprise to us to find that so many Scotchmen in Peterborough, who love to boast about the traditions and institutions of their country, should have given the cold shoulder to their National Society for some time past; and we would feign hope that they would again resolve to give it their generous support. Being again upon the eve of the celebration of St. Andrew's Day, the present is an opportune time to urge Scotchmen throughout the town and county to identify themselves with their Society. We extract the following very appropriate remarks from the Scottish American Journal:—

"A feeling of patriotism should prompt every one to seek membership with a St. Andrew's Society; and, added to this, is the strong impulse which springs from the desire to imitate the example of Scotland's patron saint in relieving the distressed. No Scottish heart can be insensible to that bright example, and in emulation of it many who are not yet formally identified with the charitable work of the Scottish Societies will doubtless seek initiation into membership with the St. Andrew's Society of their respective localities. This is a favourable time for such action to be taken. The reports to be presented at the annual meetings will show the need of more active co-operation. It should be the aim of all to render the societies still more effective in performing their work, by adding at once to both their membership and funds. No further application should be needed. Volunteer service should be prompt and hearty."

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

THURSDAY, Nov. 27.—The Police Court was visited this morning by Theodore Barchard in company with Constable McGhee, looking as though he needed a physician. He attended the fire on George street this morning, and is said to have overtasked himself, necessitating his taking his whiskey straight. The result was that it straightened him. The Magistrate, in view of his having before visited the Police Court, concluded it was time for him to mend his ways, and gave him 14 days in jail to lay the ground work for reform.

REVIEWS.

THE LAST CHANCE.—As the Independent of New York will withdraw all its premium offers Dec. 31st, 1879, only a short time remains in which any one can get Worcester's Unabridged Pictorial Quarto Dictionary (retail price $10) and 3 years' subscription to the Independent for $9, the price of the subscription alone. The Independent claims to be the largest, ablest, and best religious newspaper in the world. It has bought the copyright of Rev. Joseph Cook's famous Boston Monday Lectures and is publishing one each week. To tell all of its good things would occupy too much space. See advertisement in this paper.

THE TRENT VALLEY ADVOCATE.—We have just received the first number of the Trent Valley Advocate published at Trenton. It presents a creditable appearance for a first issue and is well patronized by advertisers. It is independent in politics.

A WONDERFUL SQUASH.

From the Helena (Montana) Herald.

Among those exhibiting at the Territorial Fair this year is James R. Johnson, a farmer, of the Prickley Pear Valley, whose ranch lies seven miles north of Helena. He has a splendid collection of grain and vegetables—among the latter a squash of nearly forty pounds weight, which has a history too remarkable to pass unrecorded. It is of the California mammoth variety, and considerably the smallest bulb of several of the same kind shown in the same collection. Some six or seven weeks ago—when little more than ten pounds weight—this squash was accidentally severed from its vine by the tread of a farm employee. Mr. Johnson deplored the accident, the vegetable being a favorite, and the first to set from the blossom, and he entertained great expectation from it. The hired man, seeing his distress, suggested that the squash be taken and raised by hand. Johnson confessed he did not know what that meant. "I will grow and mature it if you will furnish the milk," was the reply. "Go ahead and do it," said Johnson, who smiled grimly, thinking that the Yankee hired man was disposed to play a "josh" on him. The "orphan vegetable," with the stem and a few inches of the vine left intact, was taken to the house and deposited in a garret room, where it could get a sun bath part of each day. The stem was wound with several layers of cotton cloth, and this was submerged in a dish of new milk morning and evening. The squash fed hungrily on the lacteal fluid. On the start it absorbed a pint of milk in a few hours. This was presently increased to a quart, and twice a day it was thus rationed to the first day of the fair on Monday last. It thrived wonderfully on its novel bringing up, and neighbors who dropped in to see it from time to time expressed their surprise and astonishment at this singular mode of vegetable production. They watched it nurse, and could easily detect the healthy appetite draining the nutritious drink. Everyone gave the squash repeated shakes, and pressed their investigations to learn whether there was any internal evidence of all the milk which the vegetable had consumed. The squash prospered amazingly, expanded in size continually, and when taken away for exhibition weighed within a fraction of 40 pounds. There were many at the fair whose curiosity was greatly excited about this squash, and Mr. Johnson promised to cut the vegetable in the presence of witnesses and exhibit to them its "true inwardness." This was done this morning before a large concourse of people, and the amazement of the multitude may be pictured but not described when it was opened to their wondering eyes. Divided carefully in the middle, the top half was removed, disclosing a globe of beautiful golden-hued butter, with plump filled seeds peeping out from all sides of the luscious-looking ball. Its weight was estimated by many of the best judges at 10 lbs., and was as fresh and fragrant to the smell as a spring-blown daisy. It was the unheard-of novelty more than the surprising beauty of the sight that raised the enthusiastic outburst of the crowd as they viewed this remarkable blending of farm and dairy produce. The "meat" of the squash, in richness of color, equalled that of the butter-ball, and after everybody has had a fair chance to see and satisfy themselves of the genuineness of both, and investigate to their heart's content the unfune exhibit, it will be divided up and parcelled out to a dozen or more parties, to whom also will be given portions of the butter for trial. Mr. Johnson receives from the citizens of Helena a special premium of $20 for this rarest specimen of a "butter squash" ever raised by hand, or for that matter, by nature's own process. We think it will be generally acknowledged a wondrous product, the counterpart of which has probably never before been seen or heard of in Montana or any other part of the world.

MILLBROOK.

HUNTER RECOVERING.—A correspondent of the Port Hope Times says:—The young man Hunter, stabbed by his sister, is improving very rapidly and unless inflammation sets in he will be walking over the face of the earth once and soon again. It seems the sister has been subject for a length of time to St. Vitus (or St. Anthony's) dance, leading eventually to fits of an epeleptic nature during the continuance of which she goes into the most violent convulsions, and speaking about fits I am informed she had no less than three attacks on Monday. It might not be out of place in this connection to suggest that this sister would be much more advantageously situated, were she under the continuous surveillance of some medical superintendent, devoting his whole attention to cases of a similar nature. We leave the philantropists to further deal with this case, which in all truth is one of very rare occurrence.

IMPROMPTU.

TO MRS. SCOTT-SIDDONS.

She stood before me like a poet's dream,
  When, heaven-inspired, he paints ethereal grace;
Refinement in its fairest, purest form,
  Lighting the features of her sculptured face.
Eyes deep and liquid as a mountain tarn,
  Lying refulgent under fringe of jet;
A high, white brow, on which the holy charm
  Of intellect in glowing lines was set.
Her hair was simply gathered in its wealth
  Of glittering folds behind the shapely head,
Falling quite unadorned below her face,
  Like bright, untangled skeins of silken thread.
Some shimmering satin fabric fell in folds
  Of golden lustre draped with careless grace
Around her form, while here and there peeped out
  A fairy web of softly folded lace.
As thus she stood like some fair picture drawn,
  Her parting lips gave forth in rising swells
A rhythm wonderful and musical—
  The changing "[illegible]" of unforgotten bells,
Softly and tenderly their music fell
  In magic cadence on my spell-bound ear;
Now bursting forth with wild, impassioned force,
  Now whispered low, now muffled, loud or clear.
Beautiful woman! In thy fragile grace
  Thou'st won my poet heart by thy soft spells,
And in the coming years my spirit, tired,
  Will long remember thy sweet "sound of bells."

THE INDEPENDENT

THE INDEPENDENT appeals to cultivated men and women. It discusses current questions of religion, philosophy, and politics. It is wide-awake. It is not afraid. It sets people to thinking. It welcomes fresh truth. It has numerous departments. It publishes more religious discussion than the religious reviews, more poetry and stories than the popular monthlies, and gives more information than any annual cyclopedia. It has a larger corps of the most famous writers than any other journal of any sort in the country. It makes strong friends of those who read it. TRY IT FOR NEXT YEAR.

We have purchased the newspaper copyright of the Boston Monday Lectures for 1879—1880, to be delivered, as heretofore, by the REV. JOSEPH COOK, beginning Nov. 3rd, and the same will be given verbatim to the readers of The Independent weekly, together with the Preludes after revision by the author.

Sermons by Eminent Clergymen in all parts of the country will continue to be printed.

PREMIUMS.

☞We have decided to withdraw on the 31st day of December, 1879, all the premiums now offered by us to subscribers, a full list of which appears below; so that those who would avail themselves of our liberal offers must do so before December 31st, 1879.

WORCHESTER'S UNABRIDGED

Pictorial Quarto Dictionary.

Bound in Sheep, 1854 pages, Over 1,000 Illustrations. Issue of 1879.

Our contract with the publishers of the Dictionary expires Dec. 31st, 1879, and Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co. absolutely refuse to continue the contract beyond that date on the same favourable terms. We are, therefore, compelled to withdraw the Dictionary premium at the expiration of the present year; but we purposely give ample notice, so that our subscribers and the public in general may avail themselves of the surprisingly low terms to get the Dictionary, in connection with The Independent. We will send this Dictionary to any person who will send us the names of Three New Subscribers and Nine Dollars; or who will on renewing his own subscription, in advance, send us Two New Names additional and $9.00; or who will renew his own subscription for three years, in advance, and send us $9.00; or, for a new subscriber for three years and $9.00.

The regular price of the Dictionary alone at all the book-stores is $10.00, while the lowest price of three subscriptions is $9.00. Both the Dictionary and the three subscriptions, under the extraordinary offer, can, therefore be had together for only $9.00

The REV. JOSEPH COOK'S BOOKS,

entitled "BIOLOGY," "TRANSCENDENTALISM," "ORTHODOXY," "CONSCIENCE," "HEREDITY," and "MARRIAGE," embodying the author's previous remarkable Monday Lectures. They are published in handsome book form by James R. Osgood & Co., of Boston. We will mail a copy of either volume, postpaid, to any subscriber to The Independent who remits us $3.00 for a year in advance; or any subscriber may remit $5.50 and we will send him The Independent for two years in advance, and two volumes, postpaid; or any three volumes, postpaid, to any one subscriber who remits $8.00 for three years in advance.

Subscription Price $3.00 per annum in advance, including any one of the following Premiums:

Any one volume of the HOUSEHOLD EDITION of CHARLES DICKENS'S WORKS, bound in cloth, with 16 illustrations each, by Sol. Eytinge.

24 CRUICKSHANK ST., Toronto, May 12, 1879.

Messrs. Milburn, Bently & Pearson,

Gentlemen,—Last fall I contracted a severe cold, which, by my neglect, settled on my lungs. I found every indication of the first stage of consumption, and, like many others, when almost too late, commenced to doctor up. I tried many remedies, but got no better; was almost satisfied I was incurable. Accidentally I heard of your Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and as a forlorn hope bought a bottle. I immediately felt relieved. After taking five (5) bottles I am cured, and never felt better in my life. I would heartily recommend your Hypophosphites.

AN ALSATIAN EXILE KILLED.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—A sensation has been caused by the killing of an Alsatian exile by a German gend'arme. The Alsatian was clandestinely visiting his parents at Dannemare, within the German frontier. He fled from the gend'arme, who fired. The villagers were very much excited, and tried to lynch the gend'arme.

THE CAPITAL OF FRANCE.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—In the opening session of the Chamber of Deputies to-day, M. Gambetta congratulated the House on the restoration to Paris of the legal title of capital of France. This restoration, he said, would render closer the bonds of national unity, and it attested the confidence in the good sense and patriotism of the population of Paris. M. Gambetta besought the Chamber to forego all useless and passionate scenes, and concentrate its efforts on securing the grandeur of the country and strengthening the Republic.

ITALIA IRREDENTA.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The aggressive tendencies of certain influential parties in Italy are still the subject of much comment in Austria-Hungary. It is stated that although the Italian Government repudiates all connection with the plans of the Italia Irredenta party against Austria, Signor Cairoli is on intimate terms with the leaders of the movement, and that he has, through his friend Signor Saffi, recommended the anti-Austrian pamphlet "Pro Patria" to be largely circulated in Italy.

TURKISH EXODUS FROM BULGARIA.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—From Sofia, it is stated that affairs in Bulgaria are in a very dangerous state. The Turkish inhabitants are leaving the country in large numbers, partly from fear of being enrolled in the Bulgarian Militia, and partly in consequence of the hostility with which they are treated by the Bulgarians. The Turkish peasants are only waiting for the close of harvest sales to emigrate to Constantinople and Anatolia, and it is probable that in a very short time the Turkish element will have disappeared from Bulgaria altogether.

BONAPARTIST POLICEMEN.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—In the Council-General of the Seine yesterday, Deputy Raspail furiously attacked M. Andrieux, accusing him of knowingly keeping in the police force notorious Bonapartists, some of whom had by false evidence caused men to be shot or transported. M. Andrieux refused an explanation. A vote of censure was passed by 30 to 7 on Andrieux, who got the vote annulled by President Grevy as political, and beyond the powers of the Council.

THE PROGRAMME OF THE ITALIAN CABINET.

ROME, Nov. 27.—The Ministry submitted to the Chambers to-day, as part of their programme, the gradual abolition of the remainder of the grist tax, an increase of the duty on petroleum, and the reorganization of the taxes and charges on all Government grants and concessions. They also expressed the desire of the Cabinet to hasten the electoral reforms. The Chamber received the new Ministry very coldly.

THE TRIALS NOT TO BE PRESSED.

A London correspondent says it is generally believed, if the release of the Irish prisoners on bail is not followed by an exhibition of defiance, the trials will not be pressed. It is thought that the exhibition of the authority of the law has already done good, which might be dissipated if the Government pressed the trials and failed to obtain a conviction.

CREATION OF BISHOPS.

ROME, Nov. 27.—The Propaganda Fide has approved the proposal of Cardinal McCloskey for the establishment of three bishoprics in America under the jurisdiction of the Archbishop of New York. The Propaganda will instruct Cardinal McCloskey as to the most suitable location of the See.

PRINCE BISMARCK'S HEATH.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—The North German Gazette publishes the following letter from Prince Bismarck, dated Varzin, Nov. 15th:—"In consequence of reports circulated by the press respecting my health, large numbers of friendly counsels and medical remedies reach me from all parts of Germany, and from England more especially. However gratifying these proofs of sympathy, I am, unfortunately, not yet well enough to thank the senders by letter. I, therefore, beg all those who have given me pleasure by their benevolent wishes to help me, to accept my most sincere thanks through this channel."

DEATH IN AN OIL TANK.

PETROLIA, Nov. 27.—To-day while William Brownscombe was engaged at Frank Smith's refinery in cleaning out a car-tank, which had contained crude oil, and while using benzine to render the tank fit to hold distillate, he became overpowered by the gas. Mr. Geo. Cook, foreman of the works, sprang in, and assisted in lifting him out, but in doing so, he became asphyxiated, and by the time he was got out, life was extinct. Cook leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss.

KU-KLUXING IN GEORGIA.

ATLANTA, GA., Nov. 27.—Ten men from De Kalb County, were to-day taken before the United States Commissioner, charged with Ku-Kluxing a man named McAlpine, his son and daughter. All three were terribly beaten, but it did not appear that it was done for any political reasons. In violation of the United States statutes, the case was therefore dismissed, but will probably go before the State courts. It is claimed the girl was intimate with a negro.

BISMARCK'S GRANDSON.

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—It is announced that the Countess Rantzau, the only daughter of Count Bismarck, has been delivered of a son.

ATTACK ON A MINISTRY.

ROME, Nov. 28.—Signor Trinchera, of Nicotera's group of deputies, yesterday made an attack on the Cabinet in the Chamber of Deputies in language so violent that he was called to order several times. He asserted that the new Ministry was an insult to the Chamber and the country.

THE SPANISH MARRIAGE.

MADRID, Nov. 28.—The special representatives from France, Italy and Germany to the marriage of King Alfonso, presented their credentials and presents to the King yesterday. The English representative presents his to-day. Preparations for festivities are being vigorously pushed. On the 29th the marriage will take place. On the second day there will be a reception at the palace and a gala performance at the opera. On the third and fourth days there will be two bull fights, a State concert, illuminations, a banquet at the Palace and a gala performance at the theatre. Besides these official festivities, balls are announced in the several Embassies, and at the houses of the Nobility. The King and his sisters visit Arch-Duchess daily. The King's mother arrives to-day.

TURKISH GENERAL MURDERED.

CETTINGE, Nov. 28.—Ahmied Mukhtar Pasha, the Turkish general has been massacred by the Arnauts at Gusinje.

GERMAN FREIGHT TRAFFIC.

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—It is reported that the German Post Master-General is preparing a proposal to be presented to the Reichstag, under which the Post Office Department will have charge of the entire freight traffic of the German railways and will become the general carrier for the public.

ENTICED BY A FRIEND.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 28.—A young married woman from New York was released on Wednesday from forcible detention in a disreputable house in this city, into which she declares that she was innocently enticed by a woman named Farrell, who had rented rooms from her in New York, and invited her to visit Baltimore.

LITERARY VOTERS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The Times' Columbia, S.C., correspondent believes that the Legislative session will be very long. The main fight will be on the Registration Bill, requiring every voter to write his name in the registration books, besides providing other qualifications.

SECRETARY McCRARY'S VIEWS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The Times' Baltimore despatch says that Secretary McCrary in an interview declared he thought well of the project to make Grant Captain-General of the army for life. He believed Grant could be elected President, but is rather in favor of Blaine. Regarding the foreign missions, he thought so far as utility was concerned, they might as well be abolished, but such action might be considered as unfriendly by other nations. Special agents could do the work of ministers when required. He favored the the transfer of the Indians to the War Department.

BLOOD POISONING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Alfred Linderberg, aged 5, died on Wednesday it is supposed of blood poisoning from vaccination.

LAKE LIGHTS AND HABROURS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The following appropriations are among those to be submitted for lighthouse stations on Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence River:—Sunken Rock light, St. Lawrence river, $5,000; Cross Over Island, St. Lawrence river, $5,000; Tibbet's Point, Lake Ontario, $10,000; Sackett's Harbor, Lake Ontario, $2,000; Thirty Mile Point, Lake Ontario, $5,000. The Harbor improvement estimates include the following:—Buffalo, $300,000; Charlotte, $9,000; Great Sodus Bay, $10,000; Little Sodus Bay, $2,000; Oak Orchard, $1,000; Oswego, $300,000; Plattsburg, $3,000.

A WHALE STORY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Capt. Foster of the steamboat Wm. Fletcher reports that while on a fishing excursion yesterday, off Sandy Hook, he saw a whale 30 feet long, and narrowly escaped collision with it. Several passengers corroborate his story.

A TERRIBLE FALL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Martin Wagner, aged 45, was yesterday morning hoisted up on the dome of Atlantic brewery, Staten Island. While descending, he fell through the well of the elevator, the distance of a hundred feet, and was instantly killed.

CUT TO PIECES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The engineer of the train which arrived at Hunter's Point on Wednesday morning, found the pilot of the locomotive bespattered with blood. An investigation showed that Samuel Johnson, a colored hostler, while intoxicated, went to sleep on the track, and was cut to pieces.

INTER-OCEANIC CCANAL.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 28.—Senor De Franco, agent of the Inter-Oceanic Canal, has paid his respects to the President, Evarts and Thomson. The President expressed a very warm interest in the enterprise. He said he hoped to see it well under way before he retired from office. Evarts, who is also warmly interested, will take part with Ammen and De Franco in maturing the plans.

VESSEL SUNK.—Information has been received in this city to the effect that the steamer Fitzroy, Capt. Henry Gibbs, which arrived in the Thames from Montreal on the 24th instant, was severely damaged by a collision and had to be tak-n near the shore and sunk. The Fitzroy left Montreal for London on the 10th, with a crew of 22 men, and was laden with fifty or sixty thousand bushels of grain.

SHIP ON FIRE.—An incipient fire occurred yesterday afternoon in the main cabin of the steamer Polino, at present in Mr. Dinning's dock. The captain and crew immediately commenced work to extinguish the fire, assisted by Mr. Leclance, foreman of the yard and the gang-men. The fire was under some control when the fire brigade arrived, and the men of the brigade, setting to work with a will, at 1.30 p.m. the fire was extinguished. The damage is estimated at about $1,500. Its origin is unknown.

LINDSAY.

Special to the Review, Nov. 28.

THE MAILS.—A number of the leading business men met Mr. Spry, Post Office Inspector, at the Benson House this morning to discuss improvements in the mail arrangements of Lindsay, which under the new time-tables of the railways, are far from satisfactory. After hearing various suggestions, it was arranged that the 4.20 Midland train south should carry mails and to petition the Postmaster-General to retain the early morning train south and to have the early morning train north from Port Hope carry mails as well.

TORONTO.

Special to the Review, Nov. 28.

THE CUSTOMS IRREGULARITIES.—Collector of Customs Smith was much better this morning and was present in the Court of Chancery when the case of Smith vs. Close was resumed. The friends of Mr. Smith claim that he has been led into this in order to save others, and that when the whole story is published it will atone considerable extenuate for Smith's misdoings. It is whispered that the irregularities have been going on for years but that it was only lately that the Collector got himself into the whirl and thus gave himself away to a subordinate. The minister of Customs has, it is understood decided that Mr. Smith shall be removed, and it is expected that to-day Mr. Douglass, Chief Surveyor of the port, will receive instructions to take charge of the Customs House, pending a new appointment. Mr. C. J. Campbell, a brother of the Post-Master-General, an able, efficient and trustworthy man, personally is named for the position. Mr. C. W. Bunting, Member for Welland, went to Otttawa at the earnest solicitation of Smith's friends to see what could be done for Smith, but found that nothing would avail. The array of facts presented to the Government was so staggering that dismissal will be a mild way of dealing with the matter. The leader of the Government said he could hardly credit such a state of matters, and that, as far as he was concerned, he could not, and would not interfere, and that while he would do all in reason to save a friend, still in a matter of this kind no amount of persuasion could induce him to sacrifice the public interests, and more especially at at a leading port like Toronto.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

The unwonted activity of the Town Councillors and their evident appeals to their audience in the Council Chamber, the quiet canvassing and button holding at the street corners, and the public and private suggestions that so-and-so would make a good candidate, are all signs that the municipal elections are not far off.

We venture to urge upon the ratepayers that they would do well to pay more attention to this matter than is their custom. It is time even now that they should exert themselves to secure fit candidates, without waiting till men, hardly fit for the position, take the field, and then saying that there is very little to choose between them.

We learn that several of the best members of the Council declare their unwillingness to serve again. This makes it all the more important that good selections should be made to fill the vacancies. It can hardly be claimed that even the present council is fully up to the standard that might reasonably be expected in such a town as Peterborough, and the possibility of its deteriorating next year should be carefully avoided.

While we strongly recommend the municipal voters to lose no time in being prepared with satisfactory candidates, to the same time we must caution them against falling into the error of promising their votes too readily to the first applicant simply because he asks them. Unless the candidate is one of undoubted fitness for the position, the voter thus canvassed would do well to withhold his promise for a time in order to see if better men take the field.

Of almost equal importance with the Council in the management of our town affairs is the Board of Education, whether we consider the nature of their duties or the magnitude of their financial operations. Hitherto we have all been too lethargic in regard to the School Board elections, candidates being elected almost as a matter of form by two or three voters, while the majority hardly knew who was in the field.

By the recent changes in the law the polling for school trustees will take place a week after the election, and we hope this salutary change will lead to more interest and more care in their selection.

The welfare of the town is in a large measure dependant upon the action of those who administer its municipal affairs, and indifference in regard to their selection is the sheerest folly.

INFANTICIDE.—Mary Ann Wetherup, who was arrested on Wednesday afternoon on a charge of infanticide, was brought up before W. L. [illegible], M.P., and remanded until Thursday next, when the charge will be fully investigated. About twenty witnesses have been subpœnaed.

TAKING REFUGE.—The propeller Kincardine ran in here on Thursday morning for shelter, slightly damaged.

THE HAND OF AFFLICTION.—The Star says: We are sorry to learn that our respected townsman, Mr. Kingsley Calcutt, on Sunday last received a paralytic stroke by which he lost the power of his left side. Mr. Calcutt and his family have the sympathy of the public.

FIRE PROTECTION.

To the Editor of the Review:

DEAR SIR,—I confess to having been forcibly and favorably struck by the letter of a Cobourg fireman in an issue of the DAILY REVIEW last week, relative to the working of hand engines at fires. Their cheapness, their simplicity, readiness for use, adaptibility to the application of the most untutored hands without skill or knowledge of steam pressure, their little liability to derangement, together with their perfect safety under the very highest pressure—all combine to recommend them to our very favorable consideration. Who that has ever been present at a brisk fire, where the grand, highly polished and highly ornamented steam engine—I am not now referring to that of Peterborough—was expected to save property and do wonders, has not stood with a lingering and aching expectancy, watching the steady onward progress of the fire, and beholding its hungry flames glut to a satiety their voracious appetite, long before the first sprinkle of water escaped the nozzle of the steam engine?

How different is the case with a good hand engine, if properly preserved and in readiness for use, for, without these conditions, no engine is of much use, and can only give the bitterest disappointment in the very moment of need, as I purpose showing by a single illustration. Some will say "a hand engine is wholly inadequate to compete with a large fire." To this my reply is—A good hand engine, thoroughly complete in all its appurtenances, in sound working order, with a properly drilled staff, will do more to arrest a fire in its early progress, from being so very much more readily put in action, and fully as much to staunch its fury after having been fully established, as any steam engine I have ever seen at play on a fire. I admit this is a broad assertion, but I speak from my own experience only, and I regret to say, though I have not travelled much, my experience is by no means an limited one, as the fire fiend seems to haunt my footsteps like that of the famous actress. I have witnessed fires and the means to extinguish them in London, Hamilton, Guelph, Toronto, Port Hope, Lindsay, Peterborough, Cobourg, Belleville, Prescott, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, River du Loup, Cacouna, and New York, but the fiercest, the greatest cauldron of fire, and though in a small compass, the one promising the greatest destruction of beautiful property that I have ever witnessed was in the "Old Limestone City;" and that before the age of steam engines in Canada. Permit me to give a brief sketch of it to illustrate what I have said of the hand engines:—In January, 1865, I arrived in Kingston by the midnight train, and put up at the old Anglo-American, which is situated quite near the City Hall. It was what may well be called a truly wild night. Immense quantities of snow, as fine and as dry as the sands of a simoon in the Sahara, were whirling in every direction, as if battling fiercely with the tremendous and almost continuously occurring gusts of wind from the north-west for a resting place. The eddies in these great currents of air, formed by the tall buildings, made this fine snow rise again and again, penetrate the inmost recesses, and completely blind the traveller. I retired at once, the better to be prepared to meet the storm and elongated visages of the Professors of Queens' on the morrow. Before sleeping I heard the ringing, clanging and clashing of many bells, and the stentorian voice of a lusty policeman crying "Fire! fire!" far above the noise of the angry storm. From the great commotion, I knew the fire was neither far off nor of little importance. On reaching the office I enquired of the clerk where the fire was, and was answered in an almost tearful tone, "O! it is our beautiful market buildings—the pride of of our city, and the finest in all America." He was not far astray, the Kingston City Hall, fronting on Ontario street, occupying almost a whole block—with its then immense north wing extending back almost to King street, was, no doubt, as seen from the lake, one of the grandest, most imposing, and most magnificent piles of greystone masonry anywhere in the continent. This north wing was used as butcher's stalls, store rooms, &c. I afterward learned that in it were stored away several hundred barrels of pork, as well as several hundred or thousand barrels, boxes, and tubs of tallow, lard and butter—the very elements to constitute a good hot fire. On reaching the scene the whole interior of this wing was one seething, roaring, boiling mass of liquid fire, lashed into the most intense fury by the fierce and howling storm of that dreadful night. It appeared like an immense cauldron in which might have been forged the thunder bolts of Jupiter, and ever and anon long hissing tongues of flame angrily leaped from each window, searching something on which to vent their envenomed wrath—some to exhaust themselves among the whirling gusts of snow in midair, others climbing with lightning speed the walls of the main building, lapping, licking, and scorching window sills, eaves and every particle of combustible matter in their maddened course. But when the beautiful dome surmounting the centre of that fine wing went down with a roaring crash, and the sad parting peal of its bell into the midst of that molten mass, the tremendous billows of smoke, cinders, sparks and flame, with spurts and gusts of liquid grease on fire, resembling flashes of chained lightning, playing festive and frantic revels among and in midst of their more indolent neighbors, that were sent up through the murky sky and ever eddying snow, made it appear as if some mighty god or goddess dipped her ladle into the crater of Vesuvius or Stromboli and began sprinkling the heavens with melting and flaming lava. I beg here to be excused for dilating a little on the scene which was at once wildly beautiful and savagely grand, and made an indelible impression in the mind of at least one beholder. When I arrived at the scene two hand engines were attempting to play on the terrible flames—I say attempting to play, because the hose which had evidently been but ill preserved were continually bursting—the poor firemen were rushing about frantically—calling to the men at the engines to stop every few minutes, while they adjusted this coupling, took out that rotten link of hose to replace it by one equally bad, and perform sundry other requirements, until the frozen water from the bursting hose had rendered their clothes so completely stiff they were quite unable to bend. I sympathized keenly with a poor fireman whom I overheard saying to a comrade in an agonizingly despairing tone:—"Bill, what will we do? these (adjective) hose are all rotten!" Poor fellow! it was not his fault—no men could have worked more heroically than did they against the combined and contending elements of fire, air, and water not only congealed into blinding snow, but water escaping from badly preserved hose. It was not their fault if the hose were rotten. The City Fathers were alone responsible for that. By this time all the valuable archives of the various city offices in the main building were being hurriedly removed. The beautiful and costly pictures of the two splendid halls, as well as deeds, depositions, and documents from the City Chamberlain's and City Clerk's offices were being hurriedly and excitedly carried to places of greater safety. Every one felt and said in a lamentably wailing tone: "our beautiful city building is doomed." I will not soon forget the look of abject misery depicted on the visage of the worthy City Clerk, (whom I saw that night for the first time), as he rushed from the office wherein he had reigned as Mayor, Alderman, and Clerk, all at one and the same time, loaded with papers, and with a face that will respond to the geometrical definition of a line. He cast many a long, lingering look above and behind! When matters were in this desperate state, but quite early in the fire, the cry went round, "the military engine is going to work." Many shook their heads ominously and said, "their hose are much older than our own and will not stand the frost of this night, besides their engine is never used," little dreaming in their innocence of British military discipline, that nothing is allowed to rust, that everything and everyone is kept constantly posted in duty, though that duty may not be demanded once in twenty years. At the east side stood the military hand engine, no larger apparently than the others, and surmounted by an officer in full uniform with drawn sword in hand—everything was in readiness without the least disturbance or commotion. They could have been earlier on the ground, but the military do not turn out at fires unless in cases of emergency or where military property is in danger. Both were the case now, as the magazine lay right in front and only across the street from the main building, which if burnt must necessarily entail the frightful calamity of the explosion of the magazine. It was really edifying to observe the quiet dignity of that tall, shapely and splendidly built officer [illegible] voice ringing out far above the hissing snow and roaring flames giving words of command and encouragement to his men. His words, which I remember as distinctly as the night they were uttered were, "Now boys, let us see what we can do with this hot fire." Eighteen soldiers—Royal Canadian Rifles—were drawn up a few yards away ready to man the engine. They were "marking time" in "open order" to keep their feet warm and ready when they got the commands, "right turn," "forward," to march nine in either side of the engine and then at the proper time "inward turn to your engine." Without further ado at it they went. No other words were spoken, and all was accomplished in a quarter the time required to record it. There were no breaks in hose, which though old, were oiled and carefully kept. The powerful stream that these eighteen stalwart men sent through the nozzle was directed to the junction of the wing with the main body on door, window and eave (fortunately it was tinned roof) and soon began to tell. There was not the slightest hitch or stoppage, not even a leak at the couplings, and in about fifteen minutes eighteen fresh men were marched to the spot recently vacated by those at the pump. Again were rung out the same commands, and the men fell in each as his predecessor fell out without even a slackening of the force, and each succeeding fifteen minutes or so a fresh relay relieved those at the pump. The only words spoken by the officer who majestically paced up and down on top of the engine in addition to the commands given, were ever and anon at short intervals such as, "drive it home boys," "make her squirt every drop she is able," "good boys, burst her if you can," &c., &c., but she would not burst worth a cent (if you permit me using an Americanism.) For two long hours in that bitter blinding snow storm, did that brave officer pace his engine, and did those strong and willing hands relieve and relieve each other with the precision and noiselessness of the best regulated chronometer, until all danger for that magnificent pile was over. And Kingston, I feel certain, retains to-day a lively and grateful recollection of that timely assistance, and long will preserve it among its most cherished memorials. I by no means wish to be understood to say the Kingston civil engines did nothing, they did all in their power under the circumstances, but it was the opinion of every one whom I heard express an opinion that were it not for the military engine, the whole building must have perished. I am free to confess I have never seen better work performed by more ostentatious appliances. When I returned to my hotel before daylight, whether from assuming the military air shown me by this brave officer, or from the congealing of water from a bursted hose near which I was standing and which completely deluged me, I felt very little inclined to bend, in fact I was "as stiff as old Pinagon." I have jotted down the particulars of this fire to illustrate how absolutely necessary is the proper preservation of any appliances, and how much I value the good, old time-honored, and easily worked hand engine.

Yours, &c.,

A Remarkable Month.

February, 1880, will be a very remarkable month. It will have five Sundays. This honor falls to the lot of only three years in the present century, namely, 1824, 1852, 1880. From these numbers, it would seem that there are five Sundays in February once in 28 years, but this is not the case. 1880 plus 28 is 1908, but February will not have the leap year. The years will be 1920, 1948 and 1976.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW
—AND—
RURAL NEW YORKER,
BOTH for $2.80!

☞To Farmers and Horticulturists

A Remarkable Clubbing Offer!

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT the WEEKLY REVIEW and the RURAL NEW-YORKER, (which is a 16-page illustrated agricultural weekly) will BOTH be sent to one address, one year, for ONLY $2.80. Every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the plants and seeds of the

GREAT SEED DISTRIBUTION,

free, which itself, is valued at $2.50! By this great offer we have secured to our readers two of the best papers, and a selection of valuable seeds, total value—which we agree to send for the remarkable low price mentioned above! A full illustrated description of the seeds and plants will be sent to all who apply for a sample copy to the RURAL NEW-YORKER, New York City. Below we give a condensed list of the seeds and plants that are offered:—

FIRST. The Cuthbert Raspberry—3 Plants. E. P. Roe says of it:—"As far as I can now judge, it seems to me the most valuable raspberry, and I have planted five times as many of this variety as all others put together."

Judge Parry says:—"The Cuthbert is far ahead of all the others in abundance of fruit, size of berry and hardiness."

T. S. Foote says:—"No Raspberry can be more highly recommended for general purposes."

Charles Downing says:—"I consider it the most promising Raspberry before the public, so far as tested."

J. T. Lovett says:—"It is the perfect Raspberry."

It is at once the highest-flavoured, largest, most prolific and HARDY variety of Red Raspberry known.

SECOND. The Telephone Pea. The new English Pea. At present held in England at $20 per bushel at wholesale.
